

In the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys

DRIBEGROOM HELD AS WIFE DESERTER

Abandonment of Family Causes Arrest After Honeymoon of a Week

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SACRAMENTO, March 29.—The marriage in Sacramento of Albert C. Sipe of Modesto and 14 year old Miss Becker of York, Penn., last week had an unfortunate ending, Sipe being in jail in Modesto on a charge of deserting a former wife and a 5 months' old child in Pennsylvania. Detective Cook of York wired officers for Sipe's arrest and said that he would come west to get him. Sipe denies the charge and his girl wife is standing by him. She says she was an old schoolmate of his in the east. She came to Sacramento only last week and was married to Sipe upon her arrival here.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN LARGER BUILDING

Three Stockton Lodges Interested in the Project
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Members of Charity, Truth and Stockton lodges, I. O. F., are looking over plans for the remodeling of the Odd Fellows building at Main and Hunter streets. August 1 a lease on property adjoining the building on the east will expire. The plans, as submitted for the consideration of the Odd Fellows, provide for building a four story structure covering the entire property, which has a frontage of 70 feet in Main street and 150 in Hunter.

GRAVE ENDS MYSTERY OF HALF A CENTURY

Family of Prospector End Their Long Search
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
GRASS VALLEY, March 30.—Fifty years ago William Linscott left his home and young wife in Maine and started for California to seek his fortune in the gold fields. He wrote one letter to his family, postmarked Grass Valley. Afterward for half a century his whereabouts were a mystery.

TROUBLESOME AFFINITY MAKES HIS FINAL EXIT

Love's Cornucopia Overflows No More
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
CHICO, March 30.—Alexander Bowers, who has been before the public for a week or more, has lost his meek ticket. He is no more the affiant, Eller, following the row at his home yesterday before the coroner, has asserted himself, and Bowers left the household. Mrs. Eller has been given another chance by her husband. Mrs. Eller and Bowers parted recently, but came back on agreement that they would both be permitted to live with Eller.

MERCHANTS FAVOR PLAN TO SUPPLY ARSENAL SITE

Location Will Be Given if State Puts Up Building
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SACRAMENTO, March 30.—Deciding if in the city in the Eller family troubles, which have been before the public for a week or more, has lost his meek ticket. He is no more the affiant, Eller, following the row at his home yesterday before the coroner, has asserted himself, and Bowers left the household. Mrs. Eller has been given another chance by her husband. Mrs. Eller and Bowers parted recently, but came back on agreement that they would both be permitted to live with Eller.

INSPECTORS NAMED TO AID WAR ON SQUIRRELS

Health Service Begins Fight in Contra Costa County
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
MARTINEZ, March 30.—The fight for the extermination of the ground squirrels in Contra Costa county has started and William O. Pryor of the United States health service has arrived here to make his headquarters while the campaign for stamping out the pests is being carried on. The following inspectors have been appointed to represent his office in the various districts in the county: No. 1, Carl Blum; No. 2, Andrew Murphy; No. 3, Charles Rose; No. 4, William Wildes; No. 5, John Trembath.

OPEN EYED DETECTIVES CATCH BLIND PIGGERS

Four Arrests at Madison and Guinda
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
WOODLAND, March 29.—Detectives from San Francisco in an automobile swooped down upon blind pigs at Madison and Guinda, the dry section of this county, last yesterday and made four arrests. At Madison the detectives drank at mad drink establishments kept by George F. Tilly and A. Andreazzi, and afterward arrested the two. At Guinda warrants were served on W. S. Gray and Dave Davis. The raid was made under direction of District Attorney Bailey and Sheriff Moore.

MARRIAGE LICENSES GRANTED IN STOCKTON

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Marriage licenses were granted today as follows: Lawrence F. D. Spidel, aged 21, Antioch, and Emma Multon, 21, Stockton.

Dr. W. E. Gibbons, Who Was Injured in Runaway Accident

Horse Frightened by Car Drags Rig into Collision in Stockton
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Dr. W. E. Gibbons was injured today in a runaway accident that occurred in Center street near Washington. He was driving north in Center street when his horse took fright at a streetcar. It shied, locking the wheels of the buggy with those of a rig going north. The horse broke away, carrying a portion of the shaft with him, and the doctor fell out of the buggy and across one of the wheels.

PHYSICIAN THROWN OUT OF HIS BUGGY

Horse Frightened by Car Drags Rig into Collision in Stockton
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Dr. W. E. Gibbons was injured today in a runaway accident that occurred in Center street near Washington. He was driving north in Center street when his horse took fright at a streetcar. It shied, locking the wheels of the buggy with those of a rig going north. The horse broke away, carrying a portion of the shaft with him, and the doctor fell out of the buggy and across one of the wheels.

GRAVE ENDS MYSTERY OF HALF A CENTURY

Family of Prospector End Their Long Search
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
GRASS VALLEY, March 30.—Fifty years ago William Linscott left his home and young wife in Maine and started for California to seek his fortune in the gold fields. He wrote one letter to his family, postmarked Grass Valley. Afterward for half a century his whereabouts were a mystery.

TROUBLESOME AFFINITY MAKES HIS FINAL EXIT

Love's Cornucopia Overflows No More
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
CHICO, March 30.—Alexander Bowers, who has been before the public for a week or more, has lost his meek ticket. He is no more the affiant, Eller, following the row at his home yesterday before the coroner, has asserted himself, and Bowers left the household. Mrs. Eller has been given another chance by her husband. Mrs. Eller and Bowers parted recently, but came back on agreement that they would both be permitted to live with Eller.

MERCHANTS FAVOR PLAN TO SUPPLY ARSENAL SITE

Location Will Be Given if State Puts Up Building
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SACRAMENTO, March 30.—Deciding if in the city in the Eller family troubles, which have been before the public for a week or more, has lost his meek ticket. He is no more the affiant, Eller, following the row at his home yesterday before the coroner, has asserted himself, and Bowers left the household. Mrs. Eller has been given another chance by her husband. Mrs. Eller and Bowers parted recently, but came back on agreement that they would both be permitted to live with Eller.

INSPECTORS NAMED TO AID WAR ON SQUIRRELS

Health Service Begins Fight in Contra Costa County
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
MARTINEZ, March 30.—The fight for the extermination of the ground squirrels in Contra Costa county has started and William O. Pryor of the United States health service has arrived here to make his headquarters while the campaign for stamping out the pests is being carried on. The following inspectors have been appointed to represent his office in the various districts in the county: No. 1, Carl Blum; No. 2, Andrew Murphy; No. 3, Charles Rose; No. 4, William Wildes; No. 5, John Trembath.

OPEN EYED DETECTIVES CATCH BLIND PIGGERS

Four Arrests at Madison and Guinda
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
WOODLAND, March 29.—Detectives from San Francisco in an automobile swooped down upon blind pigs at Madison and Guinda, the dry section of this county, last yesterday and made four arrests. At Madison the detectives drank at mad drink establishments kept by George F. Tilly and A. Andreazzi, and afterward arrested the two. At Guinda warrants were served on W. S. Gray and Dave Davis. The raid was made under direction of District Attorney Bailey and Sheriff Moore.

MARRIAGE LICENSES GRANTED IN STOCKTON

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Marriage licenses were granted today as follows: Lawrence F. D. Spidel, aged 21, Antioch, and Emma Multon, 21, Stockton.

PACIFIC WARSHIPS ARE IN FINE TRIM

Mare Island Officials Report Few Vessels at San Diego Will Need Repairs
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
MARE ISLAND, March 30.—Mare Island officials who have visited the cruisers and torpedo boats of the Pacific fleet at San Diego, state that the war craft are in the best of shape and that the machinery division at Mare Island will not have many repairs to make when the vessels arrive here in May.

STOCKTON IS NEXT TO HAVE A FASHION SHOW

Three Day Exhibition of Styles and Implements
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—The committee in charge of arrangements for the Stockton style spring show, to be held April 6, 7 and 8, has offered three prizes of $25 each for the best decorated show windows. A number of automobile firms will participate in the auto show to be held in Hunter street square. Exhibitions of harvesting implements, engines, etc., also will be held.

BANK CLEARINGS OF STOCKTON INCREASE

Total of $952,701 for Week Is 58 Per Cent Gain
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—The bank clearings for the week ending today are $952,701.63, as compared with $602,837.05 for the corresponding week last year. This shows an increase of 58 per cent.

FRANK SAVAGE TO MARRY VALLEJO GIRL

Street Superintendent's Son Is Engaged
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
VALLEJO, March 30.—Frank Savage, son of Superintendent of Streets Savage, and Miss Helen Bariloff will be married soon after Easter.

GRASS VALLEY TO HAVE LETTER CARRIERS

Sidewalks to Be Repaired Before Service Begins
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
GRASS VALLEY, March 30.—Grass Valley will have a new mail delivery system beginning July 1. The receipts of the local postoffice have been in excess of the amount required for some time, but owing to the condition of the sidewalks in the city the postoffice department has repeatedly refused to install the service. Last night Postmaster Tyrrell appeared before the trustees and an ordinance was passed requiring sidewalks to be repaired at once all over the city.

DELEGATES CHOSEN FOR I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—Charity lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., has elected the following delegates to the grand lodge, which convenes May 5th at San Francisco: Fred Stevens, F. A. Kent, Levi M. Toal, J. E. Hall, E. A. Trethewey, C. W. Blokford, A. E. Barker, J. N. Jensen, C. C. House.

DEPOSITORS OF BANK TO TAKE ACTION

Effort on Foot to Rehabilitate Shasta County Institution
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
REDDING, March 30.—Over a thousand depositors in the Bank of Shasta county, with deposits aggregating $600,000, will meet in Dreamland theater Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans looking to rehabilitating the institution, the depositors participating to the exclusion of the management that wrecked the pioneer institution. The call for the meeting was issued by John William Hare, Judge Francis Carr and Carl R. Briggs, a committee appointed by Mayor George H. Gronwald at a preliminary meeting held a few days ago. Every depositor, it is expected, will be notified in time to attend the meeting.

STOCKTON LOT, 50 FEET WIDE, SELLS AT $60,000

Hammond and Yardley Holding Changes Hands
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—The Ruhl-Goodell company has purchased the Hammond & Yardley property at 233 East Weber avenue. The property has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 125. It is directly opposite the courthouse. There is a two story structure on the lot and the purchase price is said to have been about $60,000. John Hammond and John Yardley have owned the property for 40 years.

BANK GUARANTY ACT EFFECTIVE IN NEBRASKA

Law Passed Two Years Ago Is Upheld by Court
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
LINCOLN, Neb., March 30.—The bank guaranty act became effective in Nebraska at noon today when the mandate of the United States court was received. This mandate reversed the decision of Judges Mungler and Van Derventer and puts into operation the act guaranteeing bank deposits which was passed two years ago.

ANTIOCH POPULATION IS NEARLY DOUBLED

Census Shows 674 in 1900 and 1,124 in 1910
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Population statistics of the nineteenth census announced today include:
Place. 1910 1900
Antioch, Cal. 1,124 674
Forest Grove, Ore. 1,172 1,936
Hillsboro, Ore. 2,016 1,098

WISCHA ELMAN and the VICTROLA

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

Victrolas $75, $100, $150, $200
Victor Talking Machines $10 to $100
Any Victor or Victrola on the Easiest Terms
"HOUR OF MUSIC"—Player-Piano and Victrola Recital Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in our Recital Hall. Public cordially invited. Take elevator to eighth floor.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

FOUR FAIR RIVALS FOR QUEEN OF MAY

Young Women of Dixon Announce Desire to Preside Over Carnival
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
DIXON, March 30.—There are four candidates in the race for queen of the May day carnival to be held here. Announcement of the candidacy of these was made last evening at the first meeting of the general committee to discuss plans for the carnival. The candidates are Miss Bernice Marshall, Mrs. Grace Robben, Miss Ida May Garnett and Miss Grace King.

STOCKTON LOT, 50 FEET WIDE, SELLS AT $60,000

Hammond and Yardley Holding Changes Hands
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—The Ruhl-Goodell company has purchased the Hammond & Yardley property at 233 East Weber avenue. The property has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 125. It is directly opposite the courthouse. There is a two story structure on the lot and the purchase price is said to have been about $60,000. John Hammond and John Yardley have owned the property for 40 years.

BANK GUARANTY ACT EFFECTIVE IN NEBRASKA

Law Passed Two Years Ago Is Upheld by Court
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
LINCOLN, Neb., March 30.—The bank guaranty act became effective in Nebraska at noon today when the mandate of the United States court was received. This mandate reversed the decision of Judges Mungler and Van Derventer and puts into operation the act guaranteeing bank deposits which was passed two years ago.

ANTIOCH POPULATION IS NEARLY DOUBLED

Census Shows 674 in 1900 and 1,124 in 1910
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Population statistics of the nineteenth census announced today include:
Place. 1910 1900
Antioch, Cal. 1,124 674
Forest Grove, Ore. 1,172 1,936
Hillsboro, Ore. 2,016 1,098

WISCHA ELMAN and the VICTROLA

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

TESTIMONY HELD DEAD

Evidence in Big Fresno Land Suit Involves Late Judge Holmes
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
FRESNO, March 30.—The Flske Fresno estate suit, involving title to about $1,000,000 worth of business property in this city, was submitted to Judge Crowe of Santa Barbara today on briefs, following the reading of a large number of depositions. It will be several months before a judgment is rendered, unless the depositions in the case were not read in open court, it being stipulated that the judge might read them privately. In the course of the hearing today

STOCKTON LOT, 50 FEET WIDE, SELLS AT $60,000

Hammond and Yardley Holding Changes Hands
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
STOCKTON, March 30.—The Ruhl-Goodell company has purchased the Hammond & Yardley property at 233 East Weber avenue. The property has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 125. It is directly opposite the courthouse. There is a two story structure on the lot and the purchase price is said to have been about $60,000. John Hammond and John Yardley have owned the property for 40 years.

BANK GUARANTY ACT EFFECTIVE IN NEBRASKA

Law Passed Two Years Ago Is Upheld by Court
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
LINCOLN, Neb., March 30.—The bank guaranty act became effective in Nebraska at noon today when the mandate of the United States court was received. This mandate reversed the decision of Judges Mungler and Van Derventer and puts into operation the act guaranteeing bank deposits which was passed two years ago.

ANTIOCH POPULATION IS NEARLY DOUBLED

Census Shows 674 in 1900 and 1,124 in 1910
[Special Dispatch to The Call]
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Population statistics of the nineteenth census announced today include:
Place. 1910 1900
Antioch, Cal. 1,124 674
Forest Grove, Ore. 1,172 1,936
Hillsboro, Ore. 2,016 1,098

WISCHA ELMAN and the VICTROLA

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite record for the Victrola?"
Miss Elman played the selection—a token not only of his graciousness, but to the Victrola, the nearest possible reproduction of his genius.

At a recent concert in this city a lady in the audience sent up her card as follows: "Will Mr. Elman kindly play the Minuet in G by Beethoven, of which there is an exquisite