WARRANTS FOR LORIMER SLUSH FUND KEEPERS

Tilden, Cummings and Benedict Ordered Arrested by the Illinois Senate

Packer and His Bankers Refuse to Produce Bank Account of Former

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—Edward Tilden, Chicago packer, and William C. Cummings and George M. Benedict, prisoner and cashier of the Drovers' trust and savings bank of Chicago, were ordered arrested on a contempt charge by the Illinois senate tonight. The vote was 49 to 7.

This action was taken on recommendation of the senate bribery investigation committee after Tilden, Cummings and Benedict, through their lawyers, had refused to produce Tilden's personal bank accounts for May, June, July and August, 1909.

Lorimer Evidence Sought
The committee believes these bank accounts will show evidence of the use of money in the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate. Tilden had submitted an affidavit before the committee saying these accounts show nothing directly or indirectly hearing upon the election of Lorimer.

He also offered, in a letter to the committee, to allow one member of the committee to go to Chicago and examine these bank accounts. Tilden made the express stipulation that he should be allowed to designate the member.

Committee Spurns Offer
The committee took the position, in which it was sustained by the senate, that it could not allow Tilden to dictate the conditions upon which the bank accounts should be investigated. The committee also insisted that the subpoena served upon Tilden, asking for the banking record, was sufficiently specific and was not a so-called "drag net" subpoena, as was contended by his counsel.

Lieutenant Governor John C. Oglesby, immediately following the adoption of the committee recommendations, announced that he would not assume responsibility of issuing the warrants for the arrest of the three Chicago men. Senator Helm then placed the responsibility upon the body of the senate, directing Lieutenant Governor Oglesby to issue a warrant for the arrest of Tilden.

Warrants Are Issued
When this motion had been adopted the senate adopted similar motions in relation to Cummings and Benedict.

Warrants for the three men were placed in the hands of E. H. Hatfield, assistant sergeant at arms, and he was directed to go immediately to Chicago and make the arrests.

Attorney Sears, counsel for Tilden, before leaving the senate chamber told Senator Jones, floor leader, that habeas corpus proceedings will be started in Chicago tomorrow morning.

The senate order for the arrest of the men followed an entire day of argument by counsel for both sides and debate by members before the body of the senate.

Former State Senator Cyril B. Jandus of Chicago was a witness before the senate committee tonight.

Jandus appeared with his bank accounts for the year 1909. They showed that Jandus made two deposits aggregating $4,125 in June and July, 1909.

He was unable to give the source of these deposits. In no other months in 1909 did Jandus deposits amount to more than a few hundred dollars.

MANUSCRIPT HUNTERS ROOT FOR THE BACON

Long Sought Works Object of River Digging

CHEPSTOW, England, April 26.—Dr. Orville W. Owen of Detroit and his lieutenants started afresh today delving into the mud of the River Wye for Bacon's secret. The American is thoroughly optimistic and believes that the boatlike structure discovered in the bed of the river is the long hidden cache supposed to contain the Baconian manuscripts.

CRY OF KILL THE UMPIRE MAY BE HEARD AT HAGUE

MINNEAPOLIS, April 26.—That disputes between nations should be settled by an umpire, as disputes between rival American baseball teams are settled, was the keynote of an address delivered by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, the French statesman before the students of the University of Minnesota today.

Senator's Report Calls Stephenson's Election Corrupt

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

MADISON, Wis., April 26.—The senate judiciary committee of the Wisconsin legislature today recommended the adoption of a joint resolution requesting the United States to investigate "the manner, means and methods by and through which Isaac Stephenson secured his election to the senate."

The resolution is a substitute for the Husting resolution on the same subject introduced earlier in the session.

The committee resolution is expected to pass the legislature, though supporters of Senator Stephenson will do everything in their power to defeat it. Senator Henry Bodenstab, Milwaukee, a supporter of Stephenson, was the only member of the committee to dissent from the committee's recommendation.

The resolution recites the findings of the senate investigation committee which were to the effect that Stephenson committed bribery and that his campaign managers committed bribery and other acts in violation of the corrupt practices law to secure his election and that therefore his election was null and void. It also recites the recommendations of the senate investigation committee that the United States senate be asked to investigate the action of Stephenson and that prosecution be commenced against the persons guilty of the perjury of corrupt practices in connection with the election.

The resolution will come up Friday.

ALASKA URGES ACTION ON COAL LAND CASES

Cablegrams Sent to Taft Asking Court Hearing

CORDOVA, Alaska, April 26.—Merchants and mine operators of the Copper river district have started a flood of cablegrams to President Taft urging him to endeavor to obtain a hearing of the Alaska coal land cases before the supreme court at the present term. For months many merchants have been obtaining extensions of credit with wholesale houses in the belief that an early settlement of the coal cases would be made. Business men say that if the coal cases are not decided in May there is no hope of native coal being available for the local markets until 1913.

WIFE DESERTER LOCATED BY NEWSPAPER DISPATCH

Los Angeles Woman Applies for Pension, and Report Leads to Charge of Bigamy

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., April 26.—The strange romance of a California man was revealed here today. Fighting his way through the civil war, marrying, going to California in the early days, deserting his wife and three children at Los Angeles, disappearing for 16 years, marrying in this city again and keeping his secret from wife No. 2 at the age of 67, is part of the history of Fred A. Clark, who was betrayed by a publication of a story from Los Angeles telling of the action of Mrs. Clark in a petition for a pension, and being informed by the pension department that he lived in this city.

Sixteen years ago Clark walked out of his California home. When years passed and he did not show up, Mrs. Clark at Los Angeles applied for a pension. She doubted that her missing husband was alive, but addressed a letter to Fred A. Clark here. Mrs. Clark here had read the story in the Chicago papers, and when the Los Angeles letter arrived she managed to get possession of it.

"He is gone as though he were dead," said Mrs. Clark. "It might as well have been a funeral, for I never care to see him again."

Perhaps the strangest part of the case was that the news dispatch which first linked the California and the Benton Harbor Clark as one also restored to the missing man a sister whom he had not seen for 50 years. She resided at Madinet, Wis. Reading of the case, she corresponded with Clark here, and soon their relationship was established.

HUMMING BIRD EGG IS LAID BY 8 POUND BERKELEY HEN

BERKELEY, April 26.—Not to be outdone by Oakland, which claims to be the home of a hen laying eggs of almost ostrich size, Berkeley broke into the limelight today as possessing the hen which has broken all records for laying the smallest sized egg.

Carl Schmitt, a contractor and builder and incidentally a chicken fancier of 1609 Stuart street, is the possessor of an egg laid by an eight pound black mirror hen. The egg is but three-eighths of an inch in diameter and but an inch long. It is smaller than most birds' eggs and a robin's egg looms up large beside it.

LOCHINVAR OF THE RAISIN BELT USES AUTOMOBILE

Her Ma Is Outwitted, Parson Dragged From Pulpit and County Clerk Kidnaped in Shirtsleeves

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

FRESNO, April 26.—Seizing his betrothed from the very arms of her mother, Herbert M. Shaw, a young clerk of this city, rushed away with her in an automobile tonight and the two were married by Rev. Duncan Wallace, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Shortly before 6 o'clock the young man, dressed to be married, securing an automobile, he rushed to the home of the bride, but was informed by the mother that he could not see her. Brushing her aside, he rushed through the house to the girl's room.

"Hurry up and get your clothes, we're going to be married tonight," he shouted, and she did as she was ordered.

The mother expostulated and followed them to the machine, getting into the automobile.

"Well, if you are going to town with us we won't get married tonight," said Shaw, and the three went back to the house.

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

As the mother reached the porch the two turned and ran for the auto and sped away to town, leaving the mother at home.

Strait for the Calvary Presbyterian church the machine headed. The pastor was conducting a missionary service, but this did not daunt Shaw, and he rushed up to the pulpit, seized the minister by the arm and led him out of the church. Wallace did not have time to get his hat. The congregation crowded out of the church to watch the performance.

Rev. Mr. Wallace was put into the machine and it was headed for the residence of D. M. Barnwell, county clerk. Barnwell was watering his lawn and was in his shirt-sleeves. Shaw would not wait to let him get his coat, but made him get into the machine, and the party went to get a license.

The wedding ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Kohler.

RAKER ASKS STATE CAUCUS TO BOOST FUEL OIL FOR NAVY

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Representative John E. Raker has written a letter to his fellow members of the California delegation suggesting a state caucus to consider legislation pertinent to the state and especially advocating the use of fuel oil by the United States government on transport ships and other vessels on the Pacific coast. His letter is as follows:

Dear Congressman: Respectfully suggesting the advisability of a meeting of the California delegation in congress for the purpose of discussing legislation pertinent to California; among other things the matter of using fuel oil by the United States government on transport ships and other vessels on the Pacific coast. It is unnecessary to call attention to the commercial benefit that would accrue to our state in case this was done and as to the question of expediency and cheapness there can be no comparison as between coal and oil. I suggest that the California delegation get together and appoint a committee from among our number to call upon the secretary of war and urge a careful consideration of the matter.

Awaiting your pleasure, I am yours most truly,
JOHN E. RAKER, M. C.
The members to whom the letter was addressed have not yet decided whether they will accept the suggestion.

WOMAN CERTAIN ONE OF ACCUSED IS DYNAMITER

Indicted Trio Are Spirited Into Los Angeles in Speeding Automobiles

MEN ARE HANDCUFFED AND SHACKLED

Detectives Fight Way Through Immense Throng in Pasadena and at County Prison

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—"It's undoubtedly Bryce." With these words Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll of San Francisco, who gave the police a detailed description of the man known as J. B. Bryce, said to have been the person who purchased the dynamite from the powder works at Giant, a part of which, it is alleged, was used in the blowing up of the Times plant, today made her first identification of J. B. McNamara as Bryce.

Under instructions from District Attorney Fredericks, Mrs. Ingersoll returned here Tuesday from San Francisco, where she has been since testifying before the special grand jury which investigated the Times disaster. Today, in company with Eulah Hitchcock, a special woman detective in the employ of the district attorney, Mrs. Ingersoll went to Pasadena in an automobile to get her first glimpse of J. B. McNamara.

McNAMARA NOT HUSTLED INTO AUTO
When McNamara, handcuffed to Private Detective Barry of the Burns agency, was taken from the Santa Fe Limited he was rushed to the sidewalk, but was not hustled into an automobile, as had been McManigal a few moments previously, being compelled to stand for a few moments awaiting a car.

The delay was intentional. Close by, in another machine, sat Mrs. Ingersoll with the woman detective.

That's McNamara," said Miss Hitchcock, indicating the prisoner. Mrs. Ingersoll gazed intently at the man a few seconds, and then as his hand, with which he had been concealing his features from the press photographers, fell away for an instant, Mrs. Ingersoll sank back in her seat and was heard to say: "It's undoubtedly Bryce."

When the auto containing McNamara finally whirled away, the car in which Mrs. Ingersoll was riding fell in behind it, and both the man said to be Bryce and the woman who declared she knew him in San Francisco by that name were returned to this city.

Mrs. Ingersoll soon after her arrival here was placed in care of the woman detective, who has been her constant companion ever since. She will be held under cover by the district attorney, it is said, until her testimony is needed in the case.

PRISONERS LODGED BEHIND BARS

John J. McNamara, secretary of the international bridge and structural iron workers' association; his brother, James B. McNamara, and Ortie E. McManigal, the alleged dynamite conspirators accused of having blown up the Times newspaper plant last October, killing 21 men, are in the Los Angeles county jail tonight, surrounded by extra guards. All three are charged with deliberate and conspired murder.

Before 2 o'clock this afternoon all three men were behind the bars of the county prison, three blocks from the ruins of the dynamited newspaper building, but no attorneys came to visit and consult them, and there will not be any conference between the accused men and counsel until tomorrow.

It is not known when the prisoners will be arraigned, and District Attorney John D. Fredericks, who said yesterday that the state was ready to go to trial at once, announced that this formality would not await the convenience of the defense.

O. M. Hilton, chief counsel of the western federation of miners, who came here yesterday, presumably to join counsel for the defense, started today to establish headquarters and a working force to launch the battle, but stopped all preparations when he received a telegram from President Ryan of the iron workers' association saying that all matters pertaining to the defense of the international secretary and his reputed confederates were in the hands of Indianapolis lawyers.

"There is almost an infinity of things suffering to be done at once," said Attorney Hilton. "But although this is a struggle that means much to union labor, as well as life or death to the accused, there have been no preparations and there is no money in sight except the fund aggregating $250,000 pledged by President Moyer of the western federation of miners.
