A tourist, while travelling through China accompanied by a Chinese valet, was leaving his steamer for a short trip on shore, when he was suddenly interrupted by his valet exclaiming "Lockee door, lockee door."
"Why should I lock my door?" The Chinese would not rob me, would they?" asked the tourist.
"No, no; Chinese no rob. Lot missionaries on board; better lockee door."

Her hat obscured his view at the theatre, and in a kindly voice he leaned forward and asked her to remove it.
A stiffening of the head was her only answer. After a few minutes he repeated his request. Then she turned on him.
"There is no demand for my doing so," she said.
"No demand?" he echoed.
Then he rolled his overcoat and placed it on his seat, sat on it, and, getting his hat from under his seat, placed it on his head.
In a moment there was a cry of "Take it off! Take that hat off!"
And with a swift movement the lady unfastened her hat pins and removed her hat. So did the man.

The hours were passing, and still the bore remained with her. "Do you like music?" she inquired, listlessly.
"Yes," he replied, "I am always carried away by music." She flew to the piano and played several airs. Then she turned and looked at him.
"You are not gone yet?"
"No," he answered.
"But you told me that music always carried you away."
"Yes," he retorted, "but I said MUSIC."

A little fellow had been taught to have no fear of anything for God was always with him.
One night a terrific electric storm came up, he being upstairs, while his parents were below.
He became frightened when he found himself alone and called down to his mother that he wanted to come down. His mother answered him to have no fear, for God was with him. The storm became more violent, so the little lad called his mother again, saying: "Mamma, you come up here with God and let me come down and stay with papa."

A man went into a restaurant and ordered a portion of duck. After waiting an hour the man went up to the waiter and said: "Look here; how long am I going to wait for that portion of duck I ordered?"
"Till somebody orders the other half," said the waiter. "We can't go out and kill half a duck."
WILLIAM M'HENRY, 442 Whitton street, Jersey City, N. J.

An enterprising Yankee came over to England and decided to open a shop in Liverpool. He obtained premises next door to a man who also kept a shop of the same description, but was not very pushing in his business methods, preferring to jog along in the same old conservative way. The methods of the Yankee, however, caused the old trader to wake up, and with the spirit of originality strong upon him, he affixed a notice over his door, with the words, "Established 50 years," painted in large letters.
Next day the Yankee replied to this with a notice over his store to the following effect:
"Established yesterday; no old stock."

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

THE BEST FLYING AEROPLANE
THE BLERIOT JR.

Just like the famous Bleriot that flew across the English Channel and has taken the lead at late aviation meets. Very light, yet strong. Best flyer of all the junior models. Strong fabric stretched on frame of tough reed. Flies 150 feet or more. No work required—all ready to fly when received from us.

It flies high and swift by its own power. Every boy should own this actual flying model of this famous aeroplane. Just the model for experimenters. It will demonstrate the principles of flight. Send to-day 75 cents by money order or registered mail and we will send you the aeroplane prepaid.
