Thousands Fill Streets of City Hoping to Get a Glimpse of Royalty

KING'S GUESTS SPEND THE DAY EXCHANGING CALLS

Elaborate Entertainments Are Held in Honor of Foreign Dignitaries

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT IS THEIR MAJESTIES' HOST

LONDON, June 21.—London was taxed to its capacity today. It was coronation show day, and thousands flocked from the suburbs to the city west end to see the decorations and watch the preparations for tomorrow's great event.

The decorations were practically completed and afforded a never ending source of attraction for the crowds, which, in vehicles and afoot, formed a continuous, ever moving mass from Victoria embankment to Westminster Abbey and Buckingham palace. Thousands stood hour after hour on the steps of the new Victoria memorial which afforded a point of vantage from which the movements in the palace yard could be seen.

Military Arrives

The patience of the crowds was rewarded by the appearance from time to time of regiments of infantry, accompanied by bands, which were arriving to take part in lining the route of tomorrow's procession from the palace to the abbey, and the passing of state carriages containing Dominion premiers, members of every parliament and legislature of the empire, who had come to pay homage to the sovereign and who were received in audience by the king and queen this morning.

The day was filled with interesting events. Royal carriages with scarlet clad footmen and motor cars with crowns emblazoned on hoods went to and from, conveying the king's guests to entertainments arranged in their honor, or to pay formal calls one upon another.

Religious Services

This being the day for special intercession for the king and queen, services were held in all the churches, and meetings at public halls were addressed by the bishop of London, the bishop of Ripon and other leaders of religious thought.

Other attractions of the busy day included the drive of the king and queen through the west end to the national horse show at Olympia, where there was a special performance, including a parade of foreign officers; a review of the Canadian troops by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, at the Chelsea barracks; the duke of Connaught's dinner to the king and queen and visiting members of royalty, foreign envoys and dominion premiers at St. James palace; Lord Derby's dinner to the dominion representatives at Derby house and innumerable private Naval Visitors Ashore

The senior officers of the foreign ships assembled at Spithead, among whom were Captain Charles A. Gove, commander of the American battleship Delaware, and his companions, accompanied by British naval officers, came to London today to be the guests of the nation for two days, and proved an added source of interest in the cosmopolitan multitude already here.

The sky was overcast today, but according to the forecasters there is every reason to expect a fine day for the coronation.

In the absence of Premier Laurier the Canadian troops at the Chelsea barracks were reviewed this afternoon by Sir Frederick W. Borden, the Canadian minister of militia and defense.

During the day Captain Gove and the other officers of the Delaware, accompanied by Major S. L. H. Slocum, American military attaché at London, called at the foreign office, where they were introduced to the chiefs and shown through the interesting parts of the building.

Hammond Visits Grey

John Hays Hammond, special ambassador from the United States, had a quiet morning. This afternoon, accompanied by Ambassador Reid, he visited Sir Edward Grey, British minister of foreign affairs, at the foreign office. Tonight the special ambassador attended the dinner given by the duke of Connaught.

By 5 o'clock this evening enthusiasts already were taking up vantage points in the more open parts along the route of tomorrow's royal progress, where they kept an all night vigil.

Hindus Protest
VANCOUVER, B. C., June 21.—As a protest against their treatment by the Dominion government and against the extravagance, as they describe it, of the coronation celebrations in India next December, the local Hindu colony refused today to participate in the coronation celebrations here next Thursday.

Outpost Skirmish Between the Rebels and Federals Prepares for Battle Today

SAN DIEGO, June 21.—This afternoon the advance guard of Governor Vega's force of federals en route from Ensenada to Tijuana encountered General Mosby's outposts at Carrizo, about 20 miles southeast of Tijuana. In the skirmish that followed two federals were killed.

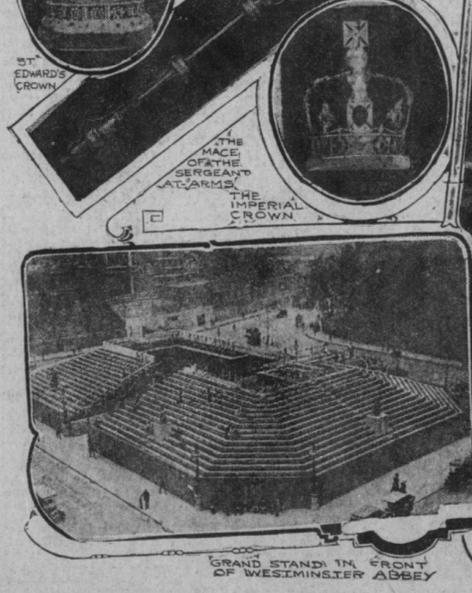

Governor Vega and his force of 500 men or more reached the Dupes ranch at Carrizo at 12:40 p. m. Two hours later the skirmish, which was brief, occurred. The advance guard of the federals withdrew to their main camp after some shots had been exchanged and the insurgents retired to Tijuana, where they arrived this evening, and reported the affair. They brought with them the horses of the two federals who were killed.

The fight for the possession of Tijuana is expected tomorrow. Mosby is supposed to have about 300 well armed and desperate men. More than 200 white men answered to their names when the roll was called this morning. The rest of his force is composed of halfbreeds and Indians.

This evening the insurgents held up a construction train on the San Diego and Arizona railroad near Tijuana. Under guard the train was brought to the line and held there until arrangements could be made for another engine and other cars. The insurgents have the latter tonight on a sidetrack just below the boundary line, where it is held, to be used, if desired, to send them eastward in haste. Two of Mosby's men are detailed to run the engine.

In taking the construction train the insurgents disclaimed any purpose to damage property. They said they

Scornful Prisoner Has Bail Raised to $2,000
When George C. Heifeld, accused by his wife of having threatened her life, expressed his contempt for the law in Judge Sullivan's courtroom yesterday morning, he was given a lesson in the force and effect of the statutes. The offense not being particularly serious in the case of Heifeld, the bail had been fixed at $25.

When Mrs. Heifeld made her statement to the judge, however, the prisoner made a remark which indicated how lightly he regarded the situation, and Judge Sullivan promptly ordered him into the dock and raised his bail to $2,000.

VESSELS MUST CARRY WIRELESS APPARATUS

Government Officials Will Enforce Law Requiring It
All the steamers operating on this coast, with the exception of four, failed during the month of May to comply with the government regulations requiring vessels covering routes of more than 200 miles in length and carrying 50 or more passengers to have wireless apparatus on board which will transmit messages at least 100 miles. Those vessels which fail to comply with the requirements before July 1 will be stopped from running at that time by the government authorities until they do so. The steamers which have proved that their wireless instruments fulfill the government regulations, according to trial messages flashed between the ships and the navy wireless stations, together with the distances over which the message passed, are: Rose City, 188 miles; Beaver, 116 miles; Governor, 135 miles, and Santa Rosa, 123 miles.

NEWLYWED IN JAIL TORN FROM BRIDE

Kidnaped in Auto by Wife's Father and Rushed to Prison as Perjurer

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SAN JOSE, June 21.—Torn from the arms of his bride of three days at Gilroy last night, placed under arrest at the instance of his angry father in law, rushed through the night in an automobile for 30 miles in the custody of a constable, and finally landed in prison in this city, with the understanding that a charge of perjury would be brought against him, was the exciting experience of Kenneth McAlpine, an automobile dealer of San Francisco and a son of J. G. McAlpine, a jeweler of Gilroy.

The girl in the case is Mrs. McAlpine, until a few days ago Miss Florence Anna Smith, the daughter of James P. Smith of Burlingame, vice president of the Western fuel company. McAlpine was still in prison here at a late hour and the present whereabouts of Smith and Mrs. McAlpine is unknown, but no charges have been filed against the young man as yet and no effort has been made by his attorney to obtain his release.

McAlpine had been boarding in San Francisco at the home of Mrs. James Smith at 2027 Hayes street. Last Saturday he and Miss Smith, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. B. Ross Main, left San Francisco in an automobile run to the Geysers, in Lake county. When the party arrived at Santa Rosa, McAlpine and Miss Smith decided to be married. They went to the county clerk's office there and procured a license and were shortly afterward united by Rev. Father John M. Cassin, Main acting as best man and Mrs. Main attending the bride. The bridal party stayed a day or two at the Geysers and yesterday afternoon

WORLD FIELD OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Prayers and Songs for Salvation Open First Session of Triennial Convention

SERVICES ARE PLEDGED FOR CAUSE OF CHURCH

Men of State and City Extend Hand of Fellowship to Visiting Host

Hopes and Aims of Organization Are Shown in Addresses of the Evening

WITH the nobly phrased assurance of the twenty-third psalm, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want," recited in profound chorus by 8,000 voices, the thirteenth triennial convention of the International Sunday school Association of North America assembled for its first session last evening in the Coliseum in Baker street, facing the broad park avenues that lead to the edge of the American continent and the Pacific ocean.

Under the bare rafters of the vast hall the delegates stood and solemnly committed themselves to divine influence. Then there were speeches of greeting and of compliment, made by Californians, San Franciscans and delegates from various parts of the continent. There were militant hymns sang and fervent prayers uttered, and the work of the convention was put under way.

San Francisco fared tolerably well in the exchange of pleasantries. The visitors did not hide the fact that they hoped to be able to do good here, and, for the city, Mayor McCarthy skillfully and humorously made their frank purpose more easy for them by establishing the thesis that while San Francisco is better than most cities, still, he added, "no people are so good that they can not become better."

Delegates Voice Thanks

The delegates were gratified to be in San Francisco and in California, not solely because of what vast opportunities they might believe exist here for the spread of salvation, but also on account of the cool summer climate and the delightful scenery and the other manifold advantages of the state.

The delegates made a flying start at their convention work last evening. That is, they were well under way with their work before they assembled in the body of the whole to carry on their concentrated labors. During the day six separate departments of Sunday school work met in special conferences throughout the city, discussing problems of the work which has to do with the school in which the bible is the single, dominant textbook and the theory of salvation is the one problem which has its solution under earnest consideration.

Conferences Pave Way

In churches and halls throughout the city the conferences met to prepare the way for the great convention which gathered 8,000 strong last evening in the Coliseum. Vice President A. B. McCullis of Providence, R. I., presided over the meeting last evening in the absence of President John Sites of Louisville, Ky., who is unable to be present.

The convention was greeted on behalf of the state of California by State Senator Boynton, representing Governor Johnson; by Mayor McCarthy on behalf of the people of San Francisco; by Rolla V. Watt, representing the businessmen of San Francisco, and by Rev. H. H. Bell, chairman of the San Francisco local committee on the convention.

Responses were made to the greeting by Vice President McCullis, Justice J. J. Marlar of Toronto, Can., and Prof. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn. The chief addresses of the evening were made by Rev. David G. Downey of Chicago, corresponding secretary of the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, the evangelist.

State Songs Sung

The delegates assembled early, many being in the hall by 7 o'clock. They divided into state groups and sang their hymns and songs. The Kentucky group sang "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Black Joe." The Ohio people devised a strident yell of the football field, but with a religious connotation, that started impetuously, "Hit the Line Hard."

During the evening the international tone of the convention was made manifest when Marion Lawrance, general secretary of the association, proposed a resolution that greetings and the well wishes of the convention be sent to King George of England on the event of his coronation today. Immediately the Canadian delegates were
