

MAGUSHLA DEPICTS THE DAYS OF BURKE

Actor Strives to Maintain a High Grade of Irish Literature Period Before the Union With Great Britain Arouses His Enthusiasm

By ARTHUR L. PRICE

Chauncey Olcott is for a revised Gaelic movement. Not that he disapproves of the worthy objects of the modern propagandists of Gaelic literature and art, but he feels that they have gone back too far for their period. He would have the Irish cut and the public interest themselves in the bright days of Edmund Burke, O'Connell and Richard Brinsley Sheridan, instead of seeking that legendary period when Ireland was so free that it had a king in every county.

Olcott is to appear at the Columbia theater beginning Sunday in an Irish play by Rida Johnson Young, entitled "Macushla," which is Gaelic for "pulse of my heart." The period of that play is the latter part of the eighteenth or the early part of the nineteenth century, and with intense Irish loyalty Olcott thinks that is the halcyon period.

Olcott talks of his Irish entertainments, and with some force, but it would be interesting to hear Yeats or some of the other Gaelic folk debate with him on the subject.

"The success of the modern Celtic revival has demonstrated beyond all doubt the feasibility of establishing a high grade of Irish dramatic literature, and I am very confident that in a very short time we shall have works of a high class performed on our stage which will deal with Irish subjects and be written by Irish authors," said Olcott.

"To my mind," he continued, "there is no richer period for the playwright, or for the actor, than that which we have placed the story of Macushla. The nineteenth century was unusually prolific in the production of great men. What a glorious roster of names! Statesmen, authors, orators and patriots! Here we have Edmund Burke, Rowan, Phillips, O'Connell, Henry Grattan, John Phillips, Curran, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, Shields, the Emmetts and a legion of others. There was an excellent reason for this great showing. Before the union with Great Britain, Ireland had its own parliament, where the laws governing the country were promulgated and the people took active interest in everything that was done in and for the country. This was then one of the fashionable centers of Europe, and its society so high a standing that its gentility and nobility found all the advantages there that might be desired by the aristocracy of other countries. They were not obliged to go to London for a chance to dive into the social swim, as they are at present, and all of the beautiful estates in the most picturesque portions of the country. There is hardly any doubt that this was the halcyon age of Ireland, at least of modern Ireland."

Mrs. Fluke in her newest production, "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh," is a source of much enjoyment these days at the Columbia theater. The play is broad comedy. It is played with delightful tact by star and company. There is a continuous laugh, and the performance gives unusual amusement. The Fluke engagement will come to a close on Saturday night. There will be a matinee on Saturday.

There will be only two more evening performances of the military extravaganza, which during the last two weeks has entertained Idora audiences. An entirely new spectacle will be presented Saturday evening, called "A Night in Japan." Thirty ballet girls will appear as Geisha maidens, singing a number of Japanese songs and doing some artistic Oriental dances. Only Hippodrome stage, and the amphitheater will be decorated with 10,000 Japanese lanterns. John Weber's band is one of the most popular that has ever played at the big Oakland pleasure park.

Theodore Roberts, who will direct the production in the citizens of the Venice at the Alcazar theater next week, as well as play the part of Shylock, will introduce innovations into the presentation. Roberts will give a setting for the first act, which he believes to be new in the history of Shakespeare's story of Venice and her people—Jews and Gentiles.

"I will have the first act played in one scene," said Roberts, "and instead of a number of separate scenes, as the text provides. This scene will be laid in front of Shylock's shop, or bazaar, in a street in Venice. The shop will have the shop filled with rich oriental goods, hangings and ornaments, as would have been the shop of a Venice merchant.

"There we can have all the necessary action that transpires in the first act. There will be a balcony, where part of the action will be shown; there will be the street, where the citizens of Venice pass, and there will be shown the exterior and sufficient of the interior of Shylock's shop.

"The Merchant of Venice" may be played either as a charming comedy with Portia as the heroine, or as a heartrending tragedy, with Shylock's grief the dominant note. We shall emphasize Shylock's situation.

"When we played the piece in Portland recently I introduced this plan of mine in a rudimentary way, but I shall elaborate it with this production." In the Alcazar production the part of Portia will be taken by Miss Florence Roberts, Thurlof Bergen will be Bassanio and Theodore Roberts, Shylock.

A handsome series of stage pictures is promised.

There will be a "return home" aspect in the appearance at the Orpheum next week of Al Johnson, the blackface monologist and comedian. Johnson is a San Franciscan who made his start in amateur theatricals around the bay. Then he graduated onto the Orpheum stage and has made a success. Now he will pass into more extensive work, as he is to accept a part in one of the Shubert musical productions.

Johnson's presence at the Orpheum this week is said to be due to a desire to visit his parents in this city. He has combined the vaudeville impulse with the filial and will appear at the Orpheum afternoons and evenings and at the old home the rest of the time.

Two talented women will appear at the Orpheum next week. They are Emma Dunn, in a dramatic sketch, "The Baby," by John Stokes, which is said to be brimming with maternal feeling; and Willis Holt Wakefield, the entertainer and singer.

Emma Dunn played the part of mother in Richard Mansfield's production of "Peer Gynt," and also starred in the play "Mother." In the piece to be produced at the Orpheum she takes the part of a German immigrant woman, deserted by her husband, who is forced to put her child in a foundling asylum.

Willis Holt Wakefield is a gifted pianist, a charming story teller and singer of delightful songs. She has

POPE LAUDS THE U. S. Joins in Move for World Peace

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Pope Pius, in an autograph letter received today by the ambassador in Washington, applauds the lead taken by the United States in the worldwide campaign for international peace. Although the pontiff does not mention President Taft especially by name, a copy of the letter was forwarded tonight to the White House. It is expected the president, because of his well known peace views, will refer to the cordial sentiments of the ruler of the church. The letter follows:

"To our venerable brother, Diomedes, titular archbishop of Larissa, apostolic delegate to the United States of America:

"Venerable brother, health and apostolic benediction. We are happy to learn from you that in the United States of America, under the leadership of many of the highest and noblest spirits, the more judicious members of the community are fervently desirous of attaining to the advantages of international peace. To compose differences, to restrain the outbreak of hostilities, to prevent the dangers of war, to remove even the anxieties of so called armed peace, is indeed, most praiseworthy, and any effort in this cause, even although it may not immediately or wholly accomplish its purpose, manifests, nevertheless, a zeal which can not but redound to the credit of its authors and be of benefit to the state.

POPE COMMENDS THE WORK FOR PEACE ALREADY DONE

"This is especially true at the present day when vast armies, instrumentalities most destructive to human life, and the advanced state of military science portend wars which must be a source of fear, even to the most powerful rulers. Therefore, we most heartily commend the work already begun which should be approved by all good men, and especially by us, holding, as we do, the supreme pontificate of the church, and representing him who is both the God and the Prince of Peace; and we most gladly lend the weight of our authority to those who are striving to realize this most beneficent purpose.

"For we do not doubt that the same distinguished men who possess so much ability and such wisdom in affairs of state will construct in behalf of a struggling age a royal road for the nations leading to peace and conciliation in accordance with the laws of justice and charity, which should be sacredly observed by all. For inasmuch as peace consists in order, who will vainly think that it can be established unless he strives with all the force within him that due respect be everywhere given to those virtues which are the principles of order and its firmest foundation?"

PRAYS FOR FINAL DAWN OF PEACE

"As for the remaining aspects of the matter, we call to mind the example of many of our illustrious predecessors, who, when the condition of the times permitted, rendered in this very matter also, the most signal service to the cause of humanity and to the stability of governments; but since the present age allows us to aid in this cause only by pious prayers to God, we, therefore, most earnestly pray God, who knows the hearts of men, and inclines them as he wills, that he may be gracious to those who are furthering peace among the peoples and may grant success to the nations, which, with united purpose, are laboring to this end, and that, the destruction of war and its disasters being averted, they may at length find repose in the beauty of peace.

"As a pledge of divine favor and a proof of our benevolence, we most lovingly grant you, benevolent brother, the apostolic benediction.

"Given at Rome at St. Peter's, the eleventh day of June, 1911, and the eighth year of our pontificate. P. IUS, X."

The letter, it is understood, was inspired by the recent Jubilee at Baltimore, when Cardinal Gibbons celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. On that occasion many of the speakers dwelt enthusiastically on the growth of the faith of the people, and President Taft being among those who lent their hearty indorsement.

not been here for several years, as her talents were demanded about New York.

A thrilling feature of the Orpheum show will be the act of the Charles Abbeard, who will appear in the coronation of King George which will be shown at the Orpheum. This will give the British residents and others a chance to see the coronation. The Americans had their patriotism stimulated by the motion picture operator on the fourth of July, when a film showing Francis Scott Key writing "The Star Spangled Banner" was shown.

The Empress theater offers for next week a little of everything, from grand opera to lofty tumbling. The attraction will be Edmund Stanley and company, including Mlle. Hortense Mazarotte and Miss Belle Storey. They will present a grand opera, in miniature, entitled "A Royal Romance." The operetta has just enough plot to justify the introduction of excerpts from grand operas, and the opera will be given by the Four Londons. Two men and two women take part in this act, which is one of the sensational acts in vaudeville.

Others who will appear are the Four Dancing Buzs, Caron and Herbert, acrobats, Pearl and Roth in a talking act and Somers and Storke in a funny play.

PARK COMMISSION VOTED ABOLISHED

ALAMEDA City Council Passes the Ordinance Last Night

ALAMEDA, July 5.—The city council passed tonight the ordinance abolishing the park and playground commission by a vote of 11 to 2, overriding the protests of several prominent citizens who spoke in defense of the commission, and were applauded by a crowded lobby.

Councilmen Alfred Morgenstern and C. D. Spence, who have championed the commission, not only voted against the ordinance tonight, but spoke against it. The ordinance was taken up by Assemblyman Sumner Crosby, former Assemblyman Frank Otis, W. W. Cooley and Wilson G. Welburn, who protested against the ordinance. Only Morgenstern and Spence voted against the following standing for the ordinance: President E. B. Bullock and Councilmen Krumb, Walker, Ellis, Probst, Hammond and Cristensen.

PARTY OF AUTOISTS EXCITES INTEREST

Postoffice Robbers May Have Been Its Occupants

PETALUMA, July 5.—Considerable interest was caused today by a party of automobileists who passed through Petaluma at 9 o'clock this morning, south bound. One of the party was a man in woman's clothes. A report of three persons seen in an automobile, one disguised as a woman, was made immediately after the robbery of the postoffice at Healdsburg some weeks ago. This party were also south bound.

WRECK OF MAINE CAUSED BY HER OWN MAGAZINES

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The loss of the battleship Maine was caused by the explosion of her three magazines. No such effect as that produced on the vessel could have been caused by an explosion from without. Such is the opinion of General William H. Bixby, chief of engineers, U. S. A., who has returned from a personal inspection of the work of raising the Maine.

Englehart, Entertaining and music all night."

When the police captains report to their new districts this morning, it is understood that White will immediately hold council with them and many changes are predicted in the rank and file of the common patrolmen. Men now in the central police district, brought in by Captain Duke in compliance with former Chief John E. Seymour's orders, will quickly follow Duke's footsteps to the Potrero station. According to the orders issued last night by White, Captain James Kelly of the harbor station comes to the central police district. In the eyes of the officials of the present administration, Kelly is the most important of all, and the man whom they place there must be one who follows "program." Kelly has already shown that he is in accord with the plans of the administration, when he reported to White one day ahead of the balance of the captains when they sent their reports to Seymour who was at that time chief and White was termed "acting chief."

O'Day Gets Reward

Captain Thomas S. Duke, brought from the fog belts of England by Seymour, must report to White at the Potrero station. Captain Colby, whom Duke replaces, will take charge of the southern district, which Captain Patrick J. Lynch is to take over. Captain Takes the Mission district while Captain Gleason, who has presided over the destinies of that station for some time past, goes to the harbor station.

Captain M. O. O'Day, chief of the park district, goes to the harbor station, vice Kelly. Captain Henry J. O'Day, who endorsed himself into the position of chief of the harbor district, administration by swearing to charges against former Chief Seymour, alleging incompetency, is rewarded by being transferred to the Bush street station. Captain J. J. Dwyer, who has continued enforcement of the rules and regulations of the department in the strictest manner possible has gained for him the enmity of those "higher up," or literally "shoved" into the fog belt, or that station known as Ingleside.

Nine of the 11 lieutenants have been switched. They will, in general, follow in the footsteps of the old captains to the newly selected districts. Lieutenant Dan Sylvester is transferred from the Harbor to Ingleside station. Lieutenant H. J. Gleason, from the Harbor to Potrero station; Lieutenant Clarence Coogan from the Mission to the Harbor; Lieutenant W. E. Dinan from the Park to the Harbor station; Lieutenant J. J. Key from the O'Farrell to the Park station; Lieutenant H. J. Wright from the O'Farrell to the Central station; Lieutenant Thomas L. Tobin from the Central to the O'Farrell; Lieutenant Fred F. Green to the Bush from the Southern station, and Lieutenant Marcus Anderson from the Bush to the Southern station.

PRESS CLUB WELCOMES ITS PRESIDENT HOME

Members Make Merry at Feast and Jinks

W. W. Naughton, president of the Press club, who has just returned to San Francisco after an extended trip to Australia, was the guest last night at a dinner in his honor given by his fellow club members. Several speeches of welcome were made by different members of the club, and "Uncle Bill" responded with a brief outline of his reception at the hands of the newspapermen and press clubs which he visited in the cities across the Pacific.

W. J. Ahern, vice president of the club, sketched the history of club affairs during the period of Naughton's absence and turned the reins of leadership over to Naughton. Several of the guests who were present, also took a hand in the after dinner festivities.

The latter part of the evening was given over to an informal jinks, which included a number of excellent sketches and vaudeville turns. A notable feature was the presentation of the moving pictures of the coronation, which have just arrived in San Francisco.

The following changes affect the sergeants: E. H. Herlihy, from Bush to Central; Thomas Rousey, from Park to O'Farrell; E. F. Leonard, from southern to Potrero; James McGovern, from harbor to Mission; Philip Fraher, from harbor to southern.

Chief of Police Gus White did not put in an appearance at police headquarters last night, although he announced earlier in the evening that he would be at office. Evidently White does not wish to discuss the shakeup and wants the changes to take effect without criticism other than they are "for the good of the department."

Active preparations were in order at the segregated houses in Commercial and Jackson streets last night for raising the lid, which had been promised them for Saturday night instead of July 5, the original date set for the reopening. Watchmen were engaged yesterday to guard the entrances, and word was given out generally that they would surely reopen at midnight July 5.

Ordered Back to Street

White has ordered Behan and Furman back to the street. White has not announced any successors to Behan and Furman and it is thought from the present condition of affairs in the police department that there will be none.

Percy D. McPartland, head of the bureau of identification, has been ordered back to the street. Arthur T. McQuade has been detailed as a detective sergeant and falls back to the rank of corporal and ordered to take McPartland's job. Ed O'Dea, at present acting as sergeant, has been detailed as a detective sergeant at a salary of $150 to special duty with the detective department at a salary of $120, or the salary of a policeman. The appointment of the office will regulate itself back to the days of Martin's regime. Captain Eugene Wall will still be captain of detectives. Sergeant Steve Bunner, who has been acting as night captain of detectives under the Seymour policy, has been ordered back to the Harbor station as sergeant, another decrease in salary. Thomas Ryan will resume his former position as night captain of detectives.

The "Push" Rewarded

The "push" have been rewarded. Policemen Dan Driscoll, "Bill" Young, Guy Ward, Dave Sullivan and Frank McGrayan, all put back to the streets by Seymour after they were in the detective bureau by grace of the "push" policy. Young, Ward and Sullivan, while they were identified with the detective bureau under Martin, distinguished themselves by making their headquarters days of McPartland's regime. Captain Eugene Wall will still be captain of detectives. Sergeant Steve Bunner, who has been acting as night captain of detectives under the Seymour policy, has been ordered back to the Harbor station as sergeant, another decrease in salary. Thomas Ryan will resume his former position as night captain of detectives.

Commander Who Had Been on Sick Leave Succumbs to His Illness

[Special Dispatch to The Call] MARE ISLAND, July 5.—Lieutenant Commander Alfred A. Pratt, U. S. N., former navigator of the cruiser Colorado, Pacific squadron, died at the yard hospital yesterday. He had been on sick leave three months, receiving treatment at the yard hospital. He was placed on the retired list of the navy Monday by the "plucking board."

Commander Pratt had been considerable active service. Entering the naval academy in 1859 he was graduated in 1863. During the Spanish American war he was attached to the cruiser Marblehead, stationed in the West Indies. In 1894 he came to this coast to join the Olympia. He was ordered to the Pensacola at Goat Island in 1908.

Commander Pratt joined the Colorado early this year, but ill health forced him to leave the vessel.

Pratt belonged to the Army and Navy and Bohemian clubs of San Francisco and also was a member of Sycamore lodge of Masons, Sycamore, Ill. He leaves a widow in this city. Arrangements for the funeral will be made on the arrival of his brother, Lloyd A. Pratt, of Seattle.
