

Citizenry Approves Unit of Approval

PREDICTED BY JAS. ROLPH JR.

Officials and Business Men Join in Praise of the Combined Sites

Three times three for the world's greatest exposition!

San Francisco awoke yesterday from its lethargy of waiting, and the choice of the site for the Panama-Pacific celebration was hailed with delight and general rejoicing. The selection was heralded unanimously, not as a compromise decision, but as an inspiration.

"The best site of all; the most wonderful that any city in the world could offer," was San Francisco's answer to the directors when the decision was announced. From every angle was predicted the word of approval, and from nowhere any criticism. Following are a few of the expressions given by prominent citizens during the day:

JAMES ROLPH, JR.—My personal choice for the exposition site was the Lake Merced site. Now, that the location and general plan of the exposition have been definitely fixed by the board of directors, I rejoice in the fortunate selection that has been made, and am particularly gratified at the fact that the directors were unanimous in their adoption. I believe that the spirit which actuated the directors in their selection of a brilliant result typifies the new spirit of our city's future. I believe that the great plan will be executed with the same unanimity, and the same same dash and vigor with which it was conceived. The fact that the visiting hosts which are bound to pour into the city from the east and from the west will be enraptured by the atmosphere of a great world fair, and before they set foot on our soil will emphasize our geographical importance as the central meeting place of the world's civilizations, and the fact that our water front will be permanently beautified and improved by the project will be of lasting benefit to every inhabitant of this growing seaport. It appears to me that the plan now adopted has been a cause to complain with, children, the citizens of the great San Francisco of the future, will say: They builded better than they knew. But, apart from material benefits to be expected from the great work begun on a great scale, I foresee that the magnitude of our contemplated achievement will reflect upon all of us the inspiration to mind the success of the city and forget the interests of individuals.

THOMAS R. MURPHY, chief engineer of the fire department—As near as it has been possible, I have given the district included within the boundaries of the fair site my closest attention, and congratulate the committee upon the excellent choice. From every angle the section speaks the wisdom of the men who had been given the matter to decide. From the standpoint of fire protection, I may say that things could not have been arranged better for the men who may have to contend with any conflagration. The fact that the buildings it will be found that they will all be within easy access of adequate water supply, and this, of course, is a great consideration. No fire chief would have cause to complain with conditions as he will find them under the plans. The arrangement for the general scheme of the fair will meet with approval from every fireman in the world. It is a splendid plan. San Francisco has added to its glory in bringing about this early settlement of a tremendous question. To have lingered along with the matter, where have been detrimental to our interests, and I am glad that those responsible saw the advantage of getting down to work. In this respect the Call is to be congratulated. The paper has been alive to the interests of the city in everything bearing upon the exposition.

D. AUGUSTIN WHITE, chief of police—It is needless for me to say that I am immeasurably pleased with the selection of the committee in selecting a site for the fair. It is an announcement to the world that when we do things in San Francisco we do them properly after a due amount of consideration. There was no haste shown, and the result of the deliberations have, I believe, met with general satisfaction. As head of the police department, I am glad to see the fair from my own viewpoint. As any one can see, the polling of this new city of grandeur will be one of the most important factors. The crowds in the city will be tremendous, and the original element, as is the case in all big gatherings, will be prominently represented. Additional men will be needed as members of the police force, but this is a matter to be settled by others to settle upon. I can only suggest it was pleasing to note the stand that the Call took in urging an early settlement of the site matter. We should all join hands now never before in our history and show to the world the grandest international exposition ever given.

JUDGE JOHN HUNT—The directors have proved their far-sightedness and impartiality. They have chosen an important site. The improvement of Telegraph hill and the creation of permanent attractions in the park and at the civic center means the realization of the dreams of us who are old "young San Franciscans." The work is before us. We must up and at it.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY CHARLES M. FICKERT—Most certainly I am thinking of the matter of public utility to the city the great boulevard system will be when the fair has passed into history and the magnificent water front we are to leave as a heritage. Where the site selected the entire state, officials and those in private life must shoulder behind the really big men of the fair directors and make the exposition the greatest in history.

JUDGE JAMES M. TROUT—I am delighted. The combination of the two favored sites proves the quality of the men who sat in judgment as directors. With amusement for the fun seekers at Harbor View and substantial attractions in the park and elsewhere, thousands will see more of the city than had the fair been in one section. A great work is before us. United, we are capable of accomplishing it, and the compromise arrived at assures unity of action.

LOUIS SAMUELS, General Manager D. Humboldt Lane House—Now that the site question is settled, there will be better feeling throughout the city. I have full confidence in the judgment of the committee, and feel well satisfied in their decision. It can result in only permanent good to the city.

F. F. COYLE, Manager of the City of Paris—This site for the exposition is unique. It gives a better opportunity for display, and that is the first con-

GOVERNOR SAYS SITE CHOICE IS BULLY

By GOVERNOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON

The outcome of the fair site problem is bully. I think the city and the entire state are to be most sincerely congratulated on the result that was reached today. The directors of the exposition company have made the very best possible selection. It is a selection that embodies not only everything desirable for exposition purposes, but that includes, as well, a scheme that will result in lasting benefit to San Francisco. We should all be proud indeed of the conclusion of what appeared to be a vexatious matter, and the directors deserve the thanks of all of us who are so intensely interested in the success of the fair. Their first step has been an eminently successful one. May every future problem with which they have to deal be settled in a manner equally successful!

MCCARTHY SEES BIG PROSPERITY AHEAD

By MAYOR P. H. MCCARTHY

I am glad the fair site has been settled. It should have been settled some months ago. Now that harmony maintains, let us proceed with the good work and bring to San Francisco that degree of happiness and prosperity to which our people are justly entitled. San Francisco is, however, from the standpoint of business, one of the most prosperous cities in the United States, for these dull times we hear so much about maintain all over the country more distinctly than they do in San Francisco.

I have fought hard that the permanent improvement accruing from this expenditure of money to be spent in the construction of the fair visitors. For one thing, our $500,000 auditorium, for which we have bonded by other permanent improvements will be of inestimable value to San Francisco and the people.

Let us all pull together, as we did in Washington, when we fought for the fair and won from the national government the right to hold this great exposition in San Francisco. By so doing success will crown our efforts.

ALL OF OAKLAND PLEASED, SAYS MOTT

By MAYOR FRANK K. MOTT

OAKLAND, July 25.—The selection of the fair site is a reason for gratification to Oakland and to Alameda county as well as to San Francisco, for the people of this side of the bay are as intensely interested in making the Panama-Pacific exposition the greatest world's carnival ever held, as are the citizens of the metropolis.

From now on, more than ever, there is a community of interest between Oakland and San Francisco. Whatever may be done on our side to add to the success of the exposition will be well and earnestly done. Our business men will not be found wanting, and if it is necessary, I am sure this county will contribute money for the financing of the fair in whatever sum we may need to raise.

The exposition will be another bond between these two communities of Oakland and San Francisco. Whatever will be for the good of San Francisco in this great project will be for the good of Oakland. We will have some attractions for the fair visitors. For one thing, our $500,000 auditorium, for which we have bonded by other permanent improvements will be of inestimable value to San Francisco and the people.

Let us all pull together, as we did in Washington, when we fought for the fair and won from the national government the right to hold this great exposition in San Francisco. By so doing success will crown our efforts.

BERKELEY'S MAYOR IS HIGHLY PLEASED

By MAYOR J. STITT WILSON

BERKELEY, July 25.—The directors of the exposition made no mistake when they included Harbor View in the exposition site. The people of Berkeley, and the people on this side of the bay generally, are much pleased by the selection. It is just what we want.

As I understand it a large part of the exposition will be located at Harbor View. This will be a good thing to develop the water front and show the commercial greatness of San Francisco and the cities on the shores of San Francisco bay.

It is also a thing that the permanent buildings are to be located in Golden Gate park. This is one of the most beautiful parks in the world, and none but permanent structures should be erected there else its beauty be marred.

The combination sites seem to be the best way out of the difficulty of the directors of the exposition in picking but one. The fair will then be in the city, not on its outskirts, and the carnival spirit will reign.

The sentiment of Berkeleyans seemed to be in favor of Harbor View for the location of the fair. Now that this section is to be included in the site realty dealers, business and commercial men rejoice in the selection. Berkeley will probably have direct connection with the fair by a ferry system. This ferry will form a direct means of travel between the two cities which may be permanent.

The fair is but the beginning of the vast development of San Francisco and the cities on the east side of the bay. Its possibilities for development are many fold, and now that the world will be invited to come here for the exposition, I predict a great increase in wealth and population of the cities around the shores of the bay. Berkeley, its people and its officials, will give every aid to San Francisco in making the Panama-Pacific exposition the greatest in the history of the world. I want to protest strongly against the use of University City, a term suggested for part of the fair site. Berkeley is the University City, and as such is known to the state. There should be no confusion of names allowed to creep in. Now is the time to put an end to such misnomers.

"GET BUSY NOW, CALIFORNIANS," SAYS NOY
By MAYOR W. H. NOY
ALAMEDA, July 25.—Now that the directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition have selected a site for the great fair it is up to the people of California to get busy and unite their efforts in working to make the exposition a memorable success. The residents of the city of Alameda will gladly do their share toward that end. The selection of a double site that affords magnificent areas for land and naval features was, in my opinion, a happy choice of the exposition directors.

HURRAH! THREE TIMES THREE IS PEOPLE'S SHOUT

Directors Commended on All Sides for Wisdom of Their Choice

United States district court—I think the result is a very happy one indeed and I believe should bring all the conflicting ideas as to where the fair should have been placed into harmony. Of course it was desirable that the board of directors should reach a conclusion at an early moment, as the delay was giving rise to ideas that were inimical to success later on. I believe this dividing the location into two different sites, with connecting boulevards, will prove most advantageous and beneficial, as the visitors to the exposition will not be compelled to spend all of their time at one place, but can alternate between the two. So far as to the ultimate benefits to be derived, this can be appreciated by everybody upon the slightest consideration. It will bring a large number of persons here who will eventually settle in this state. The benefits will not be confined to this city and county by any means, nor only to the state, but will extend along the coast.

A. J. FREY, vice president of the Pacific Mail Steamship company—Of course I am pleased that the site has finally been determined. I believe that the selection of the site is a financial success for the state. Aside from the immediate benefits of the decision, which we shall not feel for a year, the fair will build up the wharfage in a part of the port which might have lain dormant for many years. The decision will certainly have an immediate effect upon business and local finances and serve to stimulate city activities.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM MATSON, president of the Matson Navigation company—I am not at all familiar with the details of the final decision, but I am happy to learn that it has been brought to a head. I was convinced that to be a financial success the site would have to be on the water front within reach of shipping. That it will be scattered over the city seems to me unfortunate. The fact that a selection of a site has been made will certainly boost the city substantially.

CITY TREASURER McDOUGAL—Business should pick up at once in consequence of this decision. It will start the wheels turning all over town. Not only building along the broad front of the exposition but every section of the city will feel the influence of increased prosperity, and I believe at once.

FORMER SUPERVISOR McCLAREN—Building construction will benefit immediately by the decision of the exposition board upon the site. Many owners have been waiting and business would feel a tendency at once to pick up. Any building under way will be greatly increased in the near future by this action.

SUPERVISOR DEASY—Now the city has got a good chance. Let us boost. The fair is a thing to be proud of. The settling of the exposition site has been awaited by a great many owners and investors, who will now go ahead. It means increased prosperity for San Francisco.

WORKS COMMISSIONER NEWSOM—Well, the fair site is settled. That's good. This will put a great deal of new business under way. Building construction will go ahead, and I believe right away.

W. R. WILLIAMS, state superintendent of banks—It is gratifying to learn that the exposition site has been settled. It is particularly desirable that this question be decided at this time, so that the big work may soon be under way.

HENRY T. SCOTT, Member of the Exposition Board of Directors—There is a general feeling of deep relief, now that the site question has been settled. For weeks and months there has been a tie-up, and if one side cried "Let us pray" the other side was sure to reply "Go to the devil." All that is happily passed. We have come into line and have made a decision that will benefit no particular section and no

Artist Will Help Decide Best Drawing for Fall Fashion Show

A. L. Gump, chairman of the committee on posters for the fall fashion show, which will be held in this city September 14, 15, 16, announced yesterday that Charles Rollo Peters would serve on the jury of award with Amedeo Joullin and other prominent Bohemian club artists. Peters has been at the St. Francis for the last few days, preparatory to starting on an extended tour which will take him almost around the world. He has been living in Monterey, where his home was the center of attraction to the artist colony as well as to the visitors who throng the historic city.

Last year Peters' paintings were hung in the most exclusive gallery in London and won favorable recognition among the artists and received much commendation in the press of England and the continent. Peters will be a valuable addition to the committee. His judgment along with the others insures the selection of the most appropriate and artistic designs.

Letters continue to pour in from all parts of the state, containing inquiries about the conditions of the contest. This is indicative of the enthusiasm aroused. The competition is open to every one and all are invited to compete. It closes on August 5, when the pictures submitted will be exhibited in the tapestry room of the St. Francis. The design selected will be used for advertising the fall fashion show.

The prize offered is $100 and the size of posters is 14x22 inches. It will be reproduced in three colors. The competition will be absolutely a blind one, no names being allowed on any picture. Free scope of subject treatment and color is allowed. Further details of the poster contest can be obtained from James King Steele, 406 Crocker building.

Young Ladies' Institute Receives Advice of Priests in Its Affairs

The second session of the Young Ladies' Institute, held yesterday in Knights of Pythias hall, was even better attended than Monday's meeting, and visitors and delegates delegates and representatives to the convention were admitted within the doors. Among these were members of Queen Institute, Rev. William Ellis of Sacramento, Rev. P. Cummins, Rev. F. O'Connell and other priests who are interested in the work of the organization.

Miss Mary Sullivan presided. The morning hours were taken up with discussions of the constitution and by-laws and the amendment of several clauses. A motion was carried to inaugurate a drill team for joint initiation work, which was approved. The city of San Francisco Institutes. The flag drill as shown last evening by California Institute No. 1 was made a part of the drill.

Rev. William Ellis of Sacramento congratulated the order on the splendid work it is doing for the advancement of the Catholic young womanhood of America. He also urged the establishment of a free employment agency in connection with the Institute in the interest of young girls who leave the schoolroom to earn their living. Father made a short address on the influence of Catholic womanhood as exemplified in the Institute.

Father Lawrence of Benicia addressed the order on charitable work, dwelling in particular on the baby institute, which has recently been organized in his home city. The afternoon session was closed early to enable the grand officers, delegates and visiting members to take advantage of Father Cummins' invitation to visit the historic Mission Dolores. Last evening the members of the Young Ladies' Institute enjoyed a theater party at the Alcazar.
