The publication contains a complete record of intercollegiate debates and is intended primarily for the students interested in this college activity.

She was a woman of considerable means, and among her properties are several ranches in Vacaville valley, where she lived for a time. The body will be shipped to that place for interment in Vacaville.

They Want City to Build as Soon as Possible

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—Citizens of the Emerson school district will meet tomorrow evening at the Emerson schoolhouse to formulate a petition to the board of education for the construction of a new building as soon as possible.

The first notice that the young couple had separated was given when Cook announced that he would not be responsible for debts contracted by Mrs. Cook.

Mrs. Cook is living at the St. James house in San Francisco. The Cook home was formerly at 1019 Walnut street.

Cook said today that he and his wife had separated three weeks ago, but declined to give any reasons for their troubles.

NEW SCHOOL LAW VEX SUPERVISORS

Oakland Board Objects to Supporting the High Institution

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—Much displeasure was expressed today by the supervisors at the burden that has been passed to them of supporting the Oakland high school out of the county funds. The law makes this a county charge, instead of a city charge as formerly, and the supervisors are vexed to point to a low tax rate, while the county government, saddled with the burden of the high schools, must fix a high rate.

As a result, the high school will not get any more money than the law allows. City Superintendent of Schools McClymonds sent a communication to the supervisors today, saying that $238,000 was necessary for the Oakland high school.

A resolution was introduced by Supervisor Kelley and adopted providing that the school levy shall be "the lowest tax possible sufficient to maintain the schools for the ensuing year."

Furthermore, the supervisors want an itemized account of the money they levied last year in the same way. In this connection Supervisor Mullins declared that McClymonds had obtained two automobiles for his use in one year.

ANTS ARE STEWARDS FOR JAVA MOSQUITOES

One Insect Feeds Another in Curious Manner

A curious case of a species of mosquito fed regularly by a species of ant is recorded by E. Jacobson. The mosquito, a small species occurring in Java, according to the Java times, feeds on the blood of man and other animals. It stops an ant and strokes its head quickly with fore limbs and antennae. The ant emits a drop of juice which the mosquito licks up, while the ant pursues its way. Another species of mosquito is fed in the same curious way by the same species of ant. Another waylays and tips another species of ant. It is difficult to suggest any possible advantage to the ants in thus being tapped. It is, perhaps, equally difficult to believe that they are thus performing a wholly disinterested action.

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—Suit for $10,000 for services alleged to have been given was begun today by H. M. Woolley against the estate of the late Mary F. MacCrellish. Stetson in the Oakland Bank of Savings a permanent organization was formed to arrange for the celebration of Discovery day, October 12. Geary, was selected to report at the next meeting on preliminary steps to be followed. Among the features this year there will be a parade and the landing of Columbus on the shores of Lake Merritt.

The committee composed of G. Ghiglietti and M. Martino was chosen to consult with the chairmen of the different Italian societies of the state, and it is expected that more than 50 of these organizations will participate in the society will bring a band, and one of the big features of the day will be the number of musical clubs to participate.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday night, August 15, and meetings will be held regularly once each week. At the next meeting other officers to be chosen will be decided upon and steps taken to appoint the large number of committees to take part.

JAPAN'S NEW RAILROAD IS IN SCENIC REGION

Completion of Central Line Celebrated by Natives

The completion of the last section (about 50 miles) of the western division of the Central railway line and the opening of the whole road to traffic on May 1 was celebrated at Nagoya, says Consul George N. West of Japan. This division follows an old Daimyo road called the Nakasendo.

The Central railway runs from Tokyo to Nagoya, through the central provinces of Kai, Shinan and Mino, thus opening up entirely new territory, the communication between these cities having been heretofore carried on by the Japanese post. The line follows close along the eastern coast, being also an old Daimyo road of the same name.

The distance between Tokyo and Nagoya is slightly less by the Central than by the Tokaido line, but as express trains will not be run for the present on the new line, through passenger traffic will continue to follow the old route. The new line will undoubtedly become a favorite, especially with tourists, as it runs through some of the most beautiful and interesting scenery in Japan.

The government's chief object in the construction of this line is understood to be military. It is expected that it will greatly facilitate intercourse between several important and heretofore inaccessible and outlying districts, and is especially expected to exert a very favorable influence in the business of Osaka. Formerly goods sent to and from that city and the central provinces and Echigo had to go all the way round by Tokyo, but now the new line makes a great reduction in distance and in freight rates.

Goods sent to the indicated provinces from Osaka comprise rice, cotton, cotton yarns, fertilizer, iron ware, dyes and colors, ame, sugar and zinc sheets.

The cost of construction of the 225 miles mounted to $17,500,000. The 95 tunnels total 113,378 feet, the average cost being $45.82 per foot. The Sasago tunnel, the longest in Japan, is over 2 miles 71 chains. The 321 bridges have a total length of 24,365 feet, built at an average cost of $85.99 per foot.

FRENCH POSSESSIONS ARE RICH IN PEARLS

Islands in South Pacific Have Valuable Fisheries

People are generally ignorant of the fact, says a Paris newspaper, that France possesses some of the most valuable pearl fisheries in the world. The archipelago of Tuamotu, Gambria and Tahiti is particularly rich in pearl bearing oysters. The gems are said to rival those found in the Red sea and the gulf of Persia. Queen Wilhelmina is credited with possessing a Tahiti pearl worth nearly $5,000. The fishing season begins in May and ends in August. The Maoris are said to be the best divers as they can remain under water for three minutes at a depth of nearly 40 feet.

The unusual black and white work of the Oakland woman appealed strongly to Miss Harriman. Last season Mrs. Brigham spent on the Atlantic coast, studying her branch of art under the best known men of the east.

N., which is announced to take place next month and which will be among the brilliant events of the season. RILEY PRESIDENT OF HEALTH BOARD

Deadlock in Alameda Body Is Broken and Many Changes Are Made

ALAMEDA, Aug. 7.—With the election of Dr. J. A. Riley as president of the Alameda board of health tonight, the deadlock in the board, which has lasted three months was finally broken. During these three months there has been no meeting of the board, and at the present meeting many changes were made in the membership of the body.

The members who voted were W. F. Schulte and Dr. W. H. Schultz, the latter recently appointed by Mayor Noy. Dr. J. A. Riley and Dr. H. A. Miller were present, but took no part in the meetings, giving as their reason their intention to resign.

After the election of the president the board accepted the resignation of Miss Jessie V. Berry, the board chemist, and appointed A. Cunningham in her place. Dr. L. W. Stidham was reappointed city physician and secretary of the board, and E. C. Mallott was reappointed sanitary inspector.

The controversies, which gave rise to the deadlock and prompted the resignation of Miss Berry and the prospective resignations of Dr. Ellis and Dr. Miller, were due in part to a dispute about the retention of Miss Berry as chemist and in part by disagreement over the systems of medical practice which the various members supported.

FATHER IS SUED BY HIS DAUGHTER

Property of Dead Wife and Mother Is Bone of Contention

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—A contest between father and daughter over the estate of the late Louise Reuper was begun today in the superior court when Mrs. Minnie Reuper Olsen, her daughter, of Alameda brought suit against Henry Reuper, husband of Mrs. Reuper. The property involved consists of a home in Alameda.

The home was the separate property of Mrs. Reuper, her daughter alleges, and when Mrs. Reuper died intestate half of it went to her by law. Reuper claims it all by virtue of certain deeds, however.

These deeds were obtained by fraud, Mrs. Olsen declares. She says that in July, 1909, her mother became weak in mind and body, yielding and timid in nature and disposition and incapable of understanding the nature of business transactions. She remained in this condition until her death, the daughter says, and while she was incapable of understanding what she was doing, her husband, by false and fraudulent representations induced her to convey the home to him.

The suit is brought to set aside the deed as fraudulent. Mrs. Olsen also filed a petition for letters of administration on her mother's estate.
