

"SAVE ME," GIRL'S CRY IN HOTEL

Cousin of Red Bluff Man Causes Commotion in Cincinnati Hostelery

Found Running Wildly About, She Is Being Held Pending Investigation

[Special Dispatch to The Call] CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—Much excitement was created this morning by a young girl who ran out of the Burnet hotel screaming hysterically, "Save me, save me!"

According to the story told the police, the girl and her cousin stopped off here yesterday to see the city en route to Franklin, O., where they were going to visit relatives. They went to Coney island last night and returned to the hotel together early in the evening, each going to their respective rooms.

Shortly after midnight guests in the hotel were startled by the screams of a woman, which were traced to the girl's room.

Her cousin ran out of his room and with a key opened the door and found her lying across the bed hysterically crying. She fought with them and succeeded in getting out of the room, ran down the stairway and out of the entrance of another hotel was started by the cries from the girl of "Save me!"

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" URGED IN SAN JOSE

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SAN JOSE, Aug. 31.—Strong pleas for woman's suffrage, the recall and other progressive legislation to be voted on at the special constitutional election were made at a meeting tonight by Senator Moses Clapp of Minnesota and Gail Laughlin, a woman attorney at Denver. The meeting was held in the Garden theater, under the joint auspices of the Direct Legislation League of California and the Santa Clara County Suffrage Amendment League.

"The people delegate a power to the state legislature," Senator Clapp argued, "and they have a right to hold the power of revoking that delegation of authority at their pleasure."

DIPLOMAT LEAVES JAPAN TO TAKE NEW DUTIES

Thomas J. O'Brien Sails to Become Ambassador to Italy

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—Thomas J. O'Brien, for four years American ambassador to Japan, sailed from Yokohama today on board the steamer Shinyo Maru to take up his new duties as ambassador to Italy.

The departing official was given an unprecedented send off. A large assembly packed the railroad station. Before O'Brien left a farewell luncheon was given in his honor by the American University club, which is composed of Japanese and American graduates.

O'Brien was transferred to Rome to succeed John G. A. Leishmann, appointed ambassador at Berlin in succession to Dr. David J. Hill, resigned.

The steamer Shinyo Maru also took among its passengers Prof. Inazo Nitobe of the University of Tokyo, who will lecture at several American universities, and M. Shimada, a member of the imperial diet, who will visit the Pacific coast.

ALL GOLFDOM ENTERS DEL MONTE'S TOURNEY

Artists of the Links Flock to Call of "Fore"

By Henry Macdonald Spencer

[Special Dispatch to The Call] DEL MONTE, Aug. 31.—Judging by the entries already made and the rooms engaged at the hotel, the annual golf tournament at the Hotel del Monte links, opening Saturday, September 2, will have the largest representation of contestants and spectators in its history.

This, however, was to be anticipated, owing to the constantly increasing number of players and the great interest in the games which is now being displayed throughout the Pacific coast states, as elsewhere.

For the first time, southern California will have a numerically adequate entry in a northern golf tournament, as it is estimated that more than 50 players from that part of the state will contest, while the Northern California Golf association (why not Northern Californian?) will be represented by most of its last year's players besides a host of newcomers.

In addition, golfers from Oregon, Washington and some of the eastern states will participate.

The first event of the program (sounds like Billy Jordan announcing), the contest for the Del Monte championship for men, will be the stellar attraction. The qualifying round of 36 holes medal play will take place Saturday and is expected to bring 120 entrants, as compared with 80 last year.

The 18 returning the best scores will qualify for the match play for the championship and will all play from scratch. The next flight of 16 will contest among themselves for a special prize, and so on for as many multiples of 16 as there are among those returning scores in the qualifying rounds.

It is a curious thing about golf that while in other games men are, or affect to be, modest, in golf every man is prone to overrate his abilities.

Furthermore, the unknown, which is always terrible (I spare the Latin) exists in the form of the southern Californian and other cracks and is likely to upset the most carefully prepared dope sheet.

Among the prominent golfers from a distance, one who is much fancied is R. D. Macleay of the Waverly Golf club of Portland, Ore., who, by the way, to Douglas Grant, record holder of the Del Monte course. Macleay is credited with a win at Portland over F. E. Newton, who is now in the Claremont course, six up and five to play, which is going some.

Of the southern swatters there is Norman Macbeth of the Los Angeles Country club. Macbeth is the kind of a player whose local brethren speak of in capital letters and regard you as a golfing impostor if you have not heard of him. Seriously, if our round the bay players expect to keep the title they must reckon first with Macbeth, as he is class with a large C.

From the south also comes Armstrong and Edwards, the former a very strong player and the latter one of those players who, on his good days, is good enough to travel in any company.

H. B. Lamb of the Annandale club, Pasadena, and W. R. Millar of Los Angeles were both in the first 15 last year.

There are also entrants from the Baltimore Country club, H. B. Dillehunt senior and junior, and the Exeter Country club or Orange, N. J. (bless these long names, I get in more space), sends Fred B. Lindley.

Our local players are represented at the present moment by Dr. D. P. Fredericks, last year's champion of the Northern California Golf association; Vincent Whitney, the present title holder of the Del Monte championship; Chapin Tubbs, who held the record of 63 for 15 holes on the old course here; Robin Hayne, who held the 36 hole record of the course up to last year; Cyril Tobin, who is coming on strong, and many others.

The following is a complete list of the entrants to date: John Lawson, H. B. Lamb, Annandale club, Pasadena; H. B. Mann, Coronado Country club; Miss V. Gregory, Claremont Country club; Miss Alice Warner, Del Monte Country club; Mrs. H. R. Warner, Del Monte Country club; Mrs. J. V. Elliott, Annandale club, Pasadena; Mrs. Eugene Murphy, Burlingame club; Mrs. Thomas Eastland, Burlingame club; Mrs. H. C. Quimby, Del Monte Country club; Mrs. C. E. Wright, Claremont Country club; Mrs. R. D. Girvin, Menlo Country club; Miss Lee Girvin, Menlo Country club; Miss Dorothy Greaves, Menlo Country club.

The last event scheduled on the program is a tombstone tournament, a recent importation from England, and similar to the flag tournament.

In this the players receive a handicap of a given number of strokes over bogey and at the point of the completion of their total number of strokes, plant their own tombstones, writing epitaphs thereon. This, in England, has given the opportunity for some examples of rather turgid British humor, such as: "Here lies John Smith, who died of sliced brassie," and so on.

By the way, in this connection who does golf, which is so rich in characteristic and attractive names, such as stryine, demy, and whin, and the like, misuse the word handicap? In fact, as used in golf it is the exact antithesis of its true meaning.

Fancy an inferior performer receiving a handicap from a superior and it being used as indicating a benefit or allowance to an inferior instead of an impost on a superior. However, this is about all of the academic stuff I shall be allowed to slip over in one story. As our old friend Pepsy would say, "and so to the links."

ARMY ORDERS WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Army orders: The following officers will report to Major General Arthur Murray, president of the Army Retiring Board at San Francisco, at such time as he may designate, for examination by the board. Upon completion of their examination they will report to their present stations: Colonel Thomas C. Woodbury, William C. Butler and James S. Rogers, Infantry; and Lieutenant Colonel Turner, Infantry; First Lieutenant H. G. Ford, medical corps, who proceeds to Fort Benning for detail and service as a member of the board of officers to meet at that post September 5 for the examination of candidates for appointment as second lieutenants in the army, and upon completion thereof will return to his proper station.

MCCARTHY FALLS TO GET RECRUITS

Practical Politics Shown at Wage Earners' Suffrage League Meeting

There were no recruits to the P. H. McCarthy faction of the Scandinavian-American political club last night when the candidate for re-election as mayor addressed the organization vaguely on several dozen incoherent topics.

McCarthy entered the hall there was loud applause from certain persons in the audience, which filled the hall, and a great silence on the part of others in the house. During his speech there was applause from the same folk and silence on the part of the silent ones, and when he concluded the condition was the same. None of the silent ones had joined the ranks of the enthusiastic.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SPEECH McCarthy opened his labors last evening with a speech in behalf of woman's suffrage at the mass meeting conducted by the Wage Earners' League in the Valencia theater. He was loudly cheered when he was introduced and during his speech.

It might be cruel to suggest that such a disinterested advocate of suffrage as McCarthy would make political capital of a meeting in his cause, but many in the audience at the Valencia theater last night believed that he did. McCarthy was the first speaker. When he finished men started to leave the auditorium from all parts. Probably a hundred left. It was a fine demonstration of practical politics.

"There goes the McCarthy gang," shouted an observer, and amid laughter and the claque of the disinterested advocate of suffrage left the McCarthy was the first speaker. When he finished men started to leave the auditorium from all parts. Probably a hundred left. It was a fine demonstration of practical politics.

SPEECH WITHOUT THRILLS McCarthy's speech before the Scandinavian-American political club lacked cohesion and thrills. One time he mentioned the remarkably obvious fact that McCarthy's public relations department, as he appoints the police commissioners, who in turn appoint the chief of police; therefore the mayor controls the appointments of the chief of police. The audience caught its breath for a moment. It thought that McCarthy might tell how he secured the appointment of three different chiefs of police during the 16 months he has been mayor. It wondered if he might tell what influence brought about the removal of the efficient chief, John Seymour, and the appointment of Jerome Beatty's man, D. Thomas White, as chief of police. But it was doomed to disappointment. McCarthy merely spoke of the control a mayor might exercise over the police department at the time of a strike.

NOLAN RATHER SUBDUED John I. Nolan, rather subdued, as he admitted, after his contest with James Rolph Jr., over a question of Nolan's veracity, appeared before the same audience last night. Nolan intimated that his position at present—in the face of Rolph's statement of the encounter before the California Chrysanthemum club—was difficult. But he said, "I intend to present the entire case in a few days." He didn't say a word about the affair he had charged against Rolph before Rolph caught him unawares.

Nolan put himself in further jeopardy with Rolph last evening when he made the remarkable statement: "Mr. Rolph says I am a liar. My citizenship is not an issue in this campaign."

In the next breath he modified that by saying that Rolph had made that statement to an audience that he and an opposite statement to an audience in the Richmond district.

MCCARTHY MEETINGS AND CLUBS McCarthy addressed the following meetings in addition to his speech before the Scandinavian-American political club: The thirty-seventh District meeting at H. McCarthy club, Druids hall, Hayes and Laguna streets; Empire Athletic club, Dore and Bryant streets; Thirty-fourth District P. H. McCarthy club, Colingwood hall, Eighteenth and Colingwood streets, near McCarthy's home, and the Thirtieth District P. H. McCarthy club, Hare's hall, Eighth and Mina streets.

The Lincoln Park P. H. McCarthy club of the Thirty-ninth Assembly District held a meeting in the club's headquarters at Twenty-seventh street and Geary street last night. The speakers were Prof. J. R. Watson, George B. Brower, James P. Dockery, Dr. Frank C. Cummings and other members of the Finnish-American Political club, which recently endorsed the candidacy of P. H. McCarthy, held a meeting in Bent's hall, 3001 Broadway, last night. The principal speakers were E. S. Hurley, S. Arnold, Frank McDonald, R. R. Dinnigan and others.

Haight and Ashbury branch of the Young Men's Union Labor league met at 1143 Masonic avenue last night, the principal speakers being E. V. McKenzie, C. A. Hadden, E. Cohn, William Schorer and Prof. George Barron. The members endorsed P. H. McCarthy's candidacy.

BANKS CLASH IN SUIT OVER REFUNDING BONDS Institution Alleged to Have Favored Self With Securities

Suit was filed yesterday in the United States district court by the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank, trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of the late Bernard J. Valley, against a company, asking that the Merchants' National bank of this city be required to deliver to the trustees 40 first mortgage refunding bonds of the bankrupt company of a par value of $1,000 each, given as security for a note for $15,000, which was renewed from time to time before and after the bankruptcy proceedings.

By means of the transactions with the notes and the bonds it is claimed that the Merchants' National bank was enabled to get a greater percentage of the gas company's bonds than other creditors. It further is stated that out of an authorized bond issue of $1,500,000 bonds to the amount of $184,000 were sold and $648,000 held as collateral for loans, $100,000 of which were so placed that they might be sold by the lenders.

An order was issued by Judge de Haven directing the Merchants' National bank to show cause September 11, why it should not be permanently restrained from disposing of the bonds.

INCENDIARY FIRE COSTS $100,000—Topsak, Kan., Aug. 31.—One man was burned to death, another was injured seriously and property loss exceeding $100,000 resulted from fire in the business district of Topsak early today. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary origin.

FARMER SHOT FOR STEALING MELONS—Gibbons, D. C., Aug. 31.—A farmer, who lived near this city, was shot and killed today by his neighbor, John Waller, who accused him of stealing watermelons. Waller surrendered.

ROYAL ARCH MEN HIT PUNISHMENT FROM MCCARTHY

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH Police Commissioner Ike Spiro and his particular friends in the police department are to be punished for what Charlie Mitchell, Jerry Bassity and Joe Sullivan consider his faulty part in the refusal of the Royal Arch to endorse McCarthy and his administration.

The penalizing of Spiro through his friends is not entirely a futurity game. It has been started much to the discomfort of some of the friends and in a manner that is considered a direct slap at the Royal Arch. W. K. Harvey, some time lieutenant commander of the Royal Arch, and James J. Torpey, close friends of James Garvey, have been relieved from duty as acting desk sergeants at the park station and are walking beats in the fog belt.

Harvey is one of the best known and most popular members of the local branch of the Royal Arch. Before retiring from the retail liquor business he entered the police department and was promoted to lieutenant commander and next in line for the headship of the local organization.

James J. Torpey has been in the department longer than Harvey. He was and is the close personal friend of Jim Garvey and has long been considered one of the officers in whom the Royal Arch was interested in an entirely proper manner. Torpey has been at the park station for four years. Harvey has been there as acting desk sergeant for two years.

EFFECT OF INDORESEMENT When Ike Spiro was appointed to the police commission by and with the recommendation of the Royal Arch he made it known to the chief of police, James J. Torpey, that Harvey and Torpey were his friends and that they were to be treated as such. This was to go with particular emphasis as regards Harvey. The details they then held and continued to hold until after the Royal Arch refused to endorse McCarthy carried no extra salary, but were of a character that enabled Harvey to carry on a course of study that he was following.

Everything went merrily for fully a year and a half. Then McCarthy went out for another indorsement by the Royal Arch. Charlie Mitchell, who claimed credit for the indorsement given McCarthy two years ago, did his best. So did Spiro. Among the members of the organization who attended the meeting three weeks ago to vote for an indorsement of McCarthy was Harvey, acting desk sergeant at park station, and warm particular friend of Ike Spiro.

CHANGE OF ATTITUDE The indorsement was turned down by a vote of nearly 2 to 1 in a total poll approximating 400. McCarthy, Mitchell, Bassity, Sullivan and others were disappointed. Mitchell was visibly peeved. He announced that had he been a police commissioner he would have rounded up 500 votes for McCarthy's indorsement instead of the total of less than 200 which he credited to Spiro.

Last Friday Harvey and Torpey were relieved of duty as acting desk sergeants and told to hike to fog belt beats. Exhibiting rare appreciation of the seat of power in the administration of police affairs, the surprised officers sent their friends to Mitchell and Bassity to secure a revocation of the order.

Mitchell told their friends that Spiro had fallen down and that he and his friends must take the consequences. SPIRO SLATED FOR AX The friends of the policemen who are calling on the swans and gulls of nights say that the order for the relegation of the Royal Arch men was promulgated by Sullivan. They are also of the opinion that after the primaries a way will be found to dispense with the services of Spiro. Corporals O'Neill and Louis Nye were assigned to the desk berths vacated by Harvey and Torpey. They lasted two nights and were in turn replaced by Corporals Charlie Goff and Louis Becker. At police headquarters it is announced that the changes at the park station were made to conform with a new regulation to put all station desks in charge of corporals. The friends of the deposed men say there would have been no change at the park station if the Royal Arch had not refused to endorse McCarthy.

The deposed men decline to discuss their fall from grace. Harvey said yesterday: "I can only tell you that I am patrolling a beat now."
