OAKLAND, Sept. 4.—Union labor laid down the tools of trade today and gave visible evidence of its strength in a march through the downtown streets.

The electrical workers won a prize of $25 for a float, the best in line, on which girls in white and red were shown at work, while overhead swung wires and electric lights supported by masts at either end of the wagon.

A representation of a wine glass made out of flowers crowned a float which the cooks and waiters entered.

Steel beams marked "First Steel for the New City Hall," carried on a heavy dolly formed a feature contributed by the Bridge and Structural Workers' union.

Numerous banners bearing sentiments as to the history of the day were displayed. Some of the mottoes shown were:

"Perhaps mules will learn to kick and men will learn to vote."

"Crawl to the battlefield—sneak to the grave."

"If the McNamars die, 20,000,000 will know the reason."

"The only way to save the McNamars is by general strike."

"This is not peace—it is the big class war."

"If we hang together in one big union the McNamars won't hang."

Cogswell Succumbs to Mission's Rushes

Mission High football team yesterday defeated the Cogswell fifteen at the stadium by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a scramble, and neither team showed to advantage in open work. The scrum formations of both teams were faulty, which caused the packs to lose their footing and accurate heading was therefore impossible.

The defense was the feature, and in this one side was about as good as the other. The Cogswell team did well when it is considered that yesterday's attempt was its first at the Rugby game.

Cogswell attacked steadily for the most of the first period, and just a few minutes before the call of half time Rohrer fell on the ball over the goal line in a general scramble and scored the first points. The kick at goal failed.

In the second half Mission had the wind in its favor and the heavy forwards made a series of rushes and gradually worked the ball into Cogswell territory. A scrum was formed a few yards from the Cogswell goal, and when the back was heeled out Meyers secured and went across for a try. Stafford converted the goal, thus giving Mission a lead of 5 to 3. The teams lined up as follows:

Travers and Miss Rice were returning home from a ride to Hayward and were thrown from the motorcycle, which was traveling fast, when Travers tried to avoid a wagon. The machine collided with a telegraph pole, the impact throwing the riders 20 feet and making them unconscious.

Basket Ball Stars Out For Recognition

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—The basketball men have begun an active campaign to have basket ball placed on the same plane with the other intercollegiate sports. Up to the present the players on the varsity basketball team have been awarded German "Cs" for their work, but as basket ball has long been regarded as one of the major sports in the eastern colleges, the fans here think that the contestants should be awarded the regulation block "C." The matter will be brought to the attention of the executive committee at an early meeting.

Prospects for a very strong team this year are bright and Captain Jory is confident that the team will be able to defeat Stanford in case a game can be arranged.

The schedule for this season includes games with a number of the fast amateur teams of the bay region including the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. Olympic club, Oakland High, Berkeley high and Stockton All-Stars.

Brown of the murder of Vernie Carmen and the burial and subsequent recovery of her body in a secret grave in a shed, Governor Hiram Johnson will, within six weeks, take final action in the battle made by Mark A. WOMAN ARRESTED AFTER LONG CHASE

Secret Service Men Suspect Her and Man Companion of Counterfeiting

After eluding the police in Santa Cruz, where they passed counterfeit gold pieces, and evading the secret service men in a number of other cities, G. A. Hinman and Ruth White, both arrested in Oakland yesterday by secret service men and members of the local police force.

Harry Moffitt, head of the secret service in this district, learned of the counterfeit money which was being circulated about Santa Cruz last June, and after some work in the neighborhood, located the source from which the gold pieces were emanating. The counterfeiters, however, were frightened away by a movement on the part of the police of Santa Cruz.

For the last two weeks Moffitt's men, who have been pursuing them through Davenport, Watsonville, Monterey and San Jose, located them at 57 1/2 Sixth street, Oakland, a few days ago. The house was watched for several days in the hope that Hinman would set up his paraphernalia, and commence operations, but yesterday when the arrests were made no molds or counterfeit coins were found either in the house or among the effects of the pair.

"The case is stronger against the woman than against the man," said Moffitt yesterday. "She and another woman, whom we have not yet taken, but neither she nor Hinman will confess to counterfeiting the gold pieces. It is for the United States attorney to decide upon what charges they will be held; it may be for conspiracy."

G. A. Hinman's aliases are Ed Hinman, Hyman and Allen, and Ruth White is variously known as Ruth Evans and Ruth Allen. In 1908 they were found manufacturing money on a houseboat on the Sacramento river. At that time a man named Weseman, alias Bennett, was arrested with the couple, Weseman and Hinman as counterfeiters and Ruth White as look-out. The men each served three years in San Quentin for that offense.

In 1907 Hinman was taken into custody in Portland for counterfeiting and served a year in the penitentiary at Salem.

In company with Hinman and Ruth White on their recent travels was a young man, J. C. Madison, who the secret service men are confident knew nothing of his friends' operations, but worked with them as a photographer, believing them photographers also.

Mile Posts of Age Banished From Skin

(Fashion's Mirror)

Women with aged, wrinkled or rough, unlovely skins will be delighted to learn of a new and simple lotion that permanently removes every vestige of dead cuticle and causes wrinkles, fine lines, pimples, blackheads and other blemishes to vanish as if by magic. This lotion is made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in 8 ounces of witch hazel.

When used as a massage, the mayatone lotion gradually removes the outer layer of dead or roughened skin, revealing the under pink and white velvet-like structure in all its virgin purity and rich embellishment. No powder or rouge is necessary when the mayatone lotion is used, and as it is greaseless, there need be no fear of its encouraging the growth of hair.
