

IN WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

THE captain sprinted around the circle as lightly as 200 pounds could sprint. He did it with admirable determination. The general noted this. He sprinted twice around the broad lawn, that is half a city block in diameter, and each time he passed the general he clamped his teeth to prevent curses, but sprinting without a break. Windows looking upon the scene were thrown open. Passersby in the avenue paused to stare. They supposed the captain was reducing. When he had twice completed the circle the captain saluted the general, who stood not unlike a ringmaster and watched the performance, and took his way rapidly to his quarters. Whence he did not emerge for several hours.

The general retired to his lair with the air of one who has concluded a duty, and the sentry, impassive as a wooden Indian, continued so.

In the mysterious wireless way these things travel, it became known that the captain had not been sprinting to reduce. He is the biggest captain in the engineers' corps of the army, and he doesn't care how big he is. Besides, if he had wanted to reduce, he wouldn't have done a circus act in sight of the parade ground. The captain sprinted because he had to do it. The general made him.

Since he left the gardens of Fort Mason, the lawns of West Point are General Barry's pride. On the broad spaces before his office, where the sentry stands and paces, he has set "Keep off the grass" signs for their protection.

The captain of engineers walked across the lawns one morning, disregarding signs, and the sentry stopped him. The warning was pointed. "That's not for officers," said the captain, continuing across the grass.

From his window General Barry saw the incident. He knew that an officer was no less destructive to the lawn than a private or cadet. It should be impressed upon the captain of engineers.

In a moment General Barry had stepped into the incident, halted the captain, and ordered him to double quickstep twice around the circle, in order to learn the route for future travel.

The picture of the captain doing his quickstep while the general waited is described as far west as the Presidio.

Society will have a surprise in the announcement that Miss Elizabeth Bohman and John Scott will be married tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Miller in Sausalito. The relatives of the couple have been bidden to the ceremony, but the greatest simplicity will be observed. The wedding was set for November 4, with most elaborate setting and a reception afterward. The plans were changed suddenly on account of a business necessity that demanded the immediate presence of the bridegroom in New York. The couple decided to be married tomorrow and will leave for the east at once. Their future home will be in New York.

Mrs. Ambrose Madison Willis has been entertaining Miss Lucy Lee Richardson and Miss P. Shillito, who have been visiting here from the east. They returned to town early in the week from a trip to the Yosemite and will leave soon for southern California on their homeward journey.

Miss Gertrude McFarlane and Captain W. W. Greene will be married Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Grimes in Pierce street. Captain Greene will be attended by Richard Pease as best man. The wedding will be attended only by relatives and the nearest friends of the couple.

Women Adopt Attire of Man, Impersonating Present and Former President

A glimpse into the delights of 1911 was given yesterday when the Corona club celebrated exposition day at the club rooms in Mission street. There were booths with every variety of wares, from the products of home industry to sweetmeats and cigars, side shows in which were seen representatives from every nation on the globe and best of all the suffragist as she will be four years hence. With the band on the right to its fifth year she dismissed her skirts and appeared in the garb heretofore worn only by man. "We've won the pants so let us wear them" was adopted as her slogan and true to their part, Mrs. George Harvey Fairchild and Mrs. Lena Little strutted around all the afternoon in sack coat and trousers and played the man to perfection.

SUFFRAGISTS MILITANT
The booth devoted to the suffragists was decorated with yellow bunting and pennants, chief among which was a banner bearing the inscription: "We've got the pants' goat." A ticket of the candidates for municipal offices was pasted on the walls. It read as follows:
Mayor—Mrs. E. G. Dennison.
Police Judge—Mrs. H. L. Seager.
District Attorney—Miss Jennie Partridge.
City Attorney—Mrs. J. D. Jessup.
Assessor—Mrs. E. D. Knight.
Tax collector—Miss Emma Van Bergen.
Auditor—Mrs. A. Skilton.

Treadwell, Mrs. G. Bernhard, Mrs. J. Wagner, Mrs. C. Van Selberich.

Letters received from Miss Beattie O'Reilly, daughter of the late Irish patriot and poet, announce her arrival in Japan, where she will travel for a few months before returning to California.

Mrs. Thomas Williams will entertain at tea at her home in Pacific avenue in compliment to her sister, Miss Muriel Steele, who will be married to J. Wesley Gallagher Tuesday, October 24, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. L. G. Steele in Oakland. The wedding will be followed by a reception.

CAMPAIGN FOR GOOD COOKING

The Call is engaged in the development of good cooking in California. The student committee of the housekeepers of the state. The teachers are of that same great, intelligent company. All interested in the exchange of their best recipes and ideas through the open columns of The Call. The paper, "California Women Who Cook," appears in the Sunday Call regularly. Copies of recipes each week. Send your best to The Housekeepers of California, 220 Steiner Street, San Francisco. Perhaps recipes among the following will offer a pleasing change in the household of the reader:

Temping Delicacies

Mrs. W. M. Hardwick, 220 Steiner Street, San Francisco.

Chicken Sauté—Cut a young chicken into joint. Season with salt and pepper and set aside for fifteen minutes. Chop fine one small onion and a clove of garlic, a sprig of parsley and a quarter of a rind of lemon.
Put one cup of olive oil in a frying pan. When hot fry the chicken to a light brown. Put the chicken into a saucepan with the onion, garlic, etc. Drain a can of button mushrooms, put them into the sauce and fry very lightly. Take up and put with chicken. Pour off some of the oil, if there is too much left in the pan. Add a heaping tablespoon of flour and stir until it becomes rich brown. Stir into the chicken a quart of any good stock, let it boil up and strain over the chicken. Add a cup of Madeira wine, a teaspoon of lemon juice, a pinch of celery salt, one of paprika, a heaping teaspoon of butter and salt to suit taste. Cover and simmer until tender. Garnish with triangular slices of puff paste.

BUYERS OF $600,000 BOND ISSUE SUING

Paper Declared Illegal, They Ask for Their Money

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
RIVERSIDE, Oct. 12.—Hearing of a suit involving irrigation district bonds of $600,000 and interest commenced here today. It is brought by Henry Allan against the Alessandro Irrigation District and others to set aside the dissolution of the irrigation district by the local court, and to collect bonds and interest through taxation of the district formerly embraced in the irrigation district.

PLINEMEN REPAIRING DAMAGE BY STORM

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 12.—Crews of linemen are at work in all parts of western Montana today repairing the damage done by telegraph and telephone lines by yesterday's snowstorm, the worst October storm that has visited the state in 20 years.

Angel Charlotte Ruse—One tablespoon of gelatine, quarter cup of cold water, quarter cup of boiling water, one cup of sugar, one pint of heavy cream, half dozen rolled state macarons, one dozen marshmallows, cut in small pieces, two tablespoons of chopped candied cherries, half piece of candied pineapple, chopped fine, one tablespoon of chopped angelique, vanilla or sherry; quarter pound blanched and chopped almonds dusted well with sugar.
Soak the gelatine in cold water, dissolve in boiling water and add the sugar. When the mixture is cold, add cream beaten until stiff, almonds, macarons, marshmallows, etc. Flavor, turn into a mold dipped in cold water and chill. Remove from mold and serve with angel cakes.

Think, Don't Dream, if You Would Win—By Ruth Cameron

SOME one has said that "thinking" is just what nobody wishes to do. These words hold the explanation of the insufficiency and mediocrity of human existence, for truly no one wishes to reflect. How many even intelligent men and women live without ever performing this function.—Dora Melegari.

How often do you think?
"What a ridiculous question," you say. "Why, all the time, of course."
But do you?
I know I don't.
And before you are so cocksure that you do, please let me define what I mean by thinking.

Or, better still, I'll let some one else define it for me. "I am entirely convinced," says Arnold Bennett, "that what is more than anything else lacking in the life of the average, well intentioned man of today is the reflective mood. We do not reflect. I mean we do not reflect upon genuinely important things; upon the direction in which we are going; upon what life is giving to us; upon the share which reason has in determining our actions, and upon the relation between our principle and our conduct."
Now that's the kind of thinking I mean.
And how much of it do you do?
You sit in a trolley car—by "you" I mean you and your next door neighbor—and I, all rolled into one, in a word, "the average person"—look out the window and dream. You see a white gown getting splattered with mud and you think you must have your white nainsook washed next week. From that your mind roves idly to a new frock you are going to have made and a letter you must write to your dressmaker, and then you think how warm it is for this time of the year and wonder if it's that which makes you so sleepy, or because you sat up rather later than usual to play cards, and you wonder what time so-and-so got home.
So your mind drifts.
But that isn't thinking any more than idly paddling your hands in the water is rowing, or will propel your boat to any definite destination.
Of course one must rest occasionally on one's oars some of the time, but on the other hand one must row occasionally if one wants to get anywhere.
And the men and women who do get somewhere in this world are the men and women who do set to and row some of the time instead of perpetually drifting; the men and women who do think occasionally instead of dreaming all the time.
Suppose the next time you are sitting in a trolley car with half an hour in which to dream you try thinking instead.
Concentrate on some important letter you have to write and think out just what you are going to say.
Try to recall some of the poetry you once learned.
Think over some big public question, such as woman's suffrage or prohibition, or the need of more stringent divorce laws, or the recall, and marshal all the arguments for and against.
Study the advertisements in the car. Decide which are good and which are poor and why.
Or, best of all, reflect upon some genuinely important things—upon the direction in which you are going—upon what life is giving you.
Of course, as Bennett warns us, "you will not have gone 10 yards before your mind has skipped away under your eye and is larking around the corner with another subject."
But if it does, to quote once more, "bring it back by the scruff of the neck. Bring it back 40 times, if necessary."
If you do perhaps by and by you may get the habit of really thinking.
Don't you want to try it?
"I will if you will."

REFORMS AT WEST POINT RECOMMENDED
Superintendent Wants Commission to Nominate Candidates
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Legislation authorizing the president to appoint four senators and representatives to nominate candidates for admission to the West Point Military academy, and a $2,000,000 appropriation for completing buildings there, are recommended, and admission of foreign students to West Point strongly disapproved in the annual report of Major General Thomas H. Barry, superintendent of West Point, today.

General Barry complained that many of the candidates this year were totally unfit to pass examinations, despite proper notice from the academy of the subjects of examination.
He wanted some preliminary examinations as to fitness to precede entrance examinations.

SENATOR JEFF DAVIS PROGRESSIVE IN LOVE

Arkansas Statesman Coming to Coast on Honeymoon
OZARK, Ark., Oct. 12.—United States Senator Jeff Davis of Little Rock and Miss Lella Carter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace A. Carter of this city, were married here today.
Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for San Francisco and other Pacific coast points, where they will remain until November 1, when they will return to Little Rock to reside.
Senator Davis was a widower and his present family consists of three sons and four daughters.

MAKES A PINT OF FINEST COUGH SYRUP

Cheap and Effective, Too

The most effective and economical cough syrup can be made at home by any one, and in this day of high prices for foodstuffs and clothing any family can appreciate a saving even on a necessity like cough syrup.
First, obtain of any well stocked drugist 2½ ounces of essence Mentho-laxene. Empty it into a pint bottle. Then take a pint of granulated sugar, add a half pint of boiling water, put on fire and let come to a boil. Cool and pour in bottle. Shake the mixture well and take a teaspoonful every hour or two until cough is broken up, then take whenever necessary. Give children less according to age.
This mixture will break up a cold and cure a cough much more rapidly than any ordinary mixture, because it is not constipating, but laxative in action when 8 to 10 doses are taken daily. If your drugist does not have mentho-laxene, he can obtain it for you from the wholesale firms. Try this splendid recipe and you will never want anything better.
