JURY'S SELECTED FOR AXTELL TRIAL

First Evidence in Murder Case Will Be Offered This Morning

[Special Dispatch to The Call] STOCKTON, Nov. 6.—Evidence will be taken in the Axtell murder trial beginning tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The jury was completed this afternoon and District Attorney E. P. Foltz made his opening statement. Judge Norton admonished the jury and adjourned court until tomorrow.

A. B. Barker, the twelfth juror selected, was secured at 2:15 this afternoon after 15 of the special venire of 33 had been examined and excused. The defense had used its last preemptory challenge. Attorney Ashley of counsel for defense challenged the juror for cause. Barker, who had an opinion, but could not set aside and the court denied the challenge.

It appears to the court that the trial is liable to be protracted," said Judge Norton, and for that reason one additional juror will be selected. Both Attorneys Ashley and McNoble raised objection, contending that the selection of an alternate juror would be prejudicial to the rights of the defendant.

B. F. Hardin, a dairyman, was chosen as alternate. The jury panel is as follows: H. A. D. Peltzer, farmer, Waterloo; J. A. Stewart, book store proprietor, Stockton; A. T. Fisher, contractor, Stockton; Charles Ames, tailor, Stockton; Robert Nagle, farmer, Stockton; Robert Ritchie, clerk, Stockton; James M. Wolf, musician, Stockton; A. F. Froude, farmer, Escalon; M. F. Campbell, farmer, Escalon; Samuel A. Shearer, farmer, Bethany; A. B. Parker, real estate, Stockton; alternate juror, B. F. Hardin, dairyman, Stockton.

In his opening statement District Attorney Foltz said, in part:

The prosecution expects to prove that the defendant, Axtell, is the editor and proprietor of the Lodi Sentinel, on June 16, 1911, murdered Charles Solars, a stockholder in the corporation of Solars & Co., and that said murder was deliberate, premeditated, coldblooded and cowardly, and we expect to prove those facts beyond all reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty.

We will show you that on the morning of June 16, 1911, the defendant put eight cartridges into his revolver and before 8 o'clock in the morning he went to the home of his wife boarded and roomed, and began a hunt for Charles Solars, whom he found some two and a half hours later in the Lodi garage, and there, while Solars was asleep, he fired the engine of his automobile, this defendant crept up to within six feet of him and fired the fatal shot.

The defendant said to Le Moln, a witness, "George, I suppose you know why I did it," and Le Moln, so excited that he didn't hardly know what he was saying, answered "Yes." The defendant said something about Solars doing him dirt, and that was the only thing he could get satisfaction. Axtell said he wanted to give himself up, and "send me back to the bank word of warning."

He was immediately taken to the First National bank building, to the street from the Lodi garage, to wait until the constables came. When he got to the bank word of warning he did it on account of the Lorenz in the Mall. Lorenz said, "Solars had a gun on him, and that's what I shot at," and Axtell replied, "Yes, Solars gave that to the Mall." The defendant then says that Kinley, one of the school teachers mentioned in the article in the Mail about the school boys who shot Kinley, was on the same place as defendant and his wife, and asked her to go home for some time. She wanted some one with her, for she would soon hear bad news. He also mentioned to his brother-in-law, George Kettelman.

The defendant was taken in an auto to Stockton, defendant took the crowd to lunch at the Hotel Stockton. While at the table, "I told Axtell if he and Solars had been unfriendly and defendant said: "Yes, we have been at outs for years."

On the way from the hotel to the sheriff's office some one came up to Floyd and said Solars was dead. Floyd turned to the defendant and said: "Sam, Charlie is dead." The defendant replied: "Well, there is no use denying it. I aimed to kill him."

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS WILL STRAIGHTEN UP AT "SHUN"

Stockton Institution Plans to Provide Military Training

[Special Dispatch to The Call] STOCKTON, Nov. 6.—The Stockton board of education has decided to provide for military training in the Stockton high school in accordance with the recent enactment of the state legislature, permitting military exercises in the high schools. Credits will be allowed to pupils enrolling in the school company. Already 65 boys have joined.

The company will be drilled and trained by Lewis H. Britton, an instructor in the department of letters in the school. Britton was a volunteer in the Spanish American war, later graduated from a military school in Manila and until recently was lieutenant in the army service in the Philippines.

The adjutant general of the national guard will be deputed to assist in the training of the boys and will supply arms for rifle practice.

GOVERNOR INDICATES HE'S FOR LA FOLLETTE

Says Movement for Wisconsin Senator Not Merely "Boom"

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6.—That the strength of La Follette in California can not be designated as a boom, but is a concentrated movement, is the statement of Governor Johnson, who for the first time, has indicated a choice in the presidential race.

A morning paper had printed a purported interview with the governor to the effect that the "La Follette boom is new to me, and I do not know of it," and that the movement is accompanied with the political condition of the day. The movement can not by any means be designated as a "boom," said the governor.

That pier below the Cliff House, on the ocean beach, holds the suction pipe "boom" which is pumped the water for the Lurline Ocean Water Baths at Bush and Laguna streets. Go in and inspect our pumping plant on the Great Highway the next time you are at the beach.

QUANTIFIED CROWS WHEELS OF WATER IN STOCKTON SHOW

Aristocrats of Coast Birds Are Displayed in Second Annual Exhibition

[Special Dispatch to The Call] STOCKTON, Nov. 6.—The San Joaquin County Poultry Association's second annual poultry show will open tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The show promises to be the largest held on the coast this year. The birds will be exhibited in a mammoth tent in Hunter street square.

About 100 pigeons will be released from in front of the courthouse tomorrow morning by a committee from the Homing Pigeon club of Oakland. They will carry messages from Mayor Reibenstein to Mayor Mott of Oakland. Prizes will be awarded to owners of the winners.

Thirty-eight varieties of pigeons will be shown. There will be 530 birds on display. The Seattle Pigeon club has sent 30 of the best birds in the north. The squab display will be a feature.

Mrs. A. Blasler will deliver a free address under the auspices of the management of the poultry show. They will carry messages from Mayor Reibenstein to Mayor Mott of Oakland. Prizes will be awarded to owners of the winners.

SACRAMENTO BOARD FOR STATE GOODS

Supervisors Indorse River Route to Oakland and Yolo Basin

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6.—The board of supervisors today indorsed the river route for a state highway connecting this city with Oakland.

The supervisors also went on record as favoring a state road across Yolo basin to high land in Yolo county. The committee was appointed to confer with the state highway commissioners regarding plans for the two roads.

The committee followed E. L. Gammon, county court clerk, T. B. Richards, L. S. Upson, George W. Peltier, Joseph Holmes of Sacramento, A. Van Maren of Fair Oaks, J. L. Patterson of Orangevale, George H. Back of Franklin, T. Cogshall of Courtland and George Sliemeyer of Elk Grove.

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD BOY FOUND DEAD BY BROTHER

Farewell Message Left, but the Sheriff Suspects Murder

[Special Dispatch to The Call] CONCORD, Nov. 6.—Elmer Cata, the 15 year old son of Mrs. Oliver McKenzie, was found dead today in a tool-house near his home with two bullet wounds in his left side and right temple. Close at hand was written in chalk on a board: "I shoot myself while playing with a gun and then I ended myself. I died playing the harp." No powder marks were to be seen, and Sheriff Veale and Coroner Abbott are working upon a murder theory. Cata's name was found by his little brother, Raymond, upon his return from school this afternoon.

WHEELS OF WATER WAGO RUMBLING

Anti-Saloon Advocates Organize Fight for "Dry" Stanislaus County

[Special Dispatch to The Call] MODESTO, Nov. 6.—At a meeting of the anti-saloon advocates held here this afternoon a campaign was started to make Stanislaus county, including all of the incorporated towns, dry.

There were 250 present, nearly every precinct in the county being represented, and it was decided to appoint an advisory committee of a member from each precinct, this committee to appoint a central committee to carry on a systematic campaign. It is expected that arrangements will be made to hold a countywide election about March 1, and in the meantime the campaign will be carried on and organization perfected.

The meeting today was nonpartisan and not under the auspices of any of the temperance organizations. Henry G. Turner, grain merchant and capitalist, presided. The election will probably be held under the provisions of the Wyllie local option law.

The next conference will be held in Phoenix.

DARING BURGLAR IS CAUGHT AND CONFESSES

Admits Robberies and Implicates Wealthy Businessman

SPOKANE, Nov. 6.—Henry Barr, said to be one of the most daring crooks ever caught by the local police, confessed today to a series of burglaries that have worried the department and downtown business men for many weeks.

Barr, according to Captain Burns, implicated Barney Stevens, a wealthy realty dealer of Kansas City, as receiver of all the stolen goods. Barr admitted robbing Stevens at Berkeley, a Salt Lake and other cities. In each case the Kansas City man is declared to have disposed of the loot and taken a share of the proceeds.

The Kansas City police wired today that Stevens was under arrest and a large portion of the stolen goods found in his possession. Stevens' arrest took place, however, before Barr's confession.

SALT LAKE FAVORS THE "ALDRICH" PLAN

Officials' Connection With Reserve Association Opposed

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 6.—The plan outlined by the national monetary commission for financial legislation was given widespread indorsement today by Salt Lake business men at the hearings of the subcommittee of the commission. The only objections to the so called "Aldrich" plan were voiced by George C. Coray, professor of economics at the University of Utah. He opposed the connection of the president, the secretary and controller of the treasury, with the proposed National Reserve association, declaring that the overlapping of public and private interests was objectionable.

He suggested the possibility that the association might become so powerful as to be beyond public control.

RECORD TIMBER DEAL IS CARRIED THROUGH

Eureka Concern Acquires Control of 2,400 Acres of Trees

[Special Dispatch to The Call] EUREKA, Nov. 6.—By a deal closed today McKay & Co., operating the Occidental mill in this city, acquired control of 2,400 acres of timber land formerly owned by the Pacific Lumber company and located on Ryan slough, adjacent to a large lumber tract held by the McKay company. In the neighborhood of $300,000 was paid for the timber land, marking one of the largest timber deals to be carried through in this county for some years past. Partial exhaustion of the McKay company's source of log supply made the purchase necessary.

MOVE TO STOP VOTING FRAUDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Steps to prevent illegal voting in a judicial election were taken by Judge John E. Owens today when he ruled that 1,700 lodging house affidavits, under which the keepers had registered the names of their supposed guests, were illegally drawn.

STOCK HOLDERS OF BANK ARE SUED

Defunct Kern Valley Institution Becomes Indebted $832,502.54 in Three Years

[Special Dispatch to The Call] BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 6.—State Bank Superintendent Williams today filed suit against the stock holders of the defunct Kern Valley bank for the creditors of the institution. Attorneys A. A. Deligne and Hiram W. Johnson Jr. are handling the case for the plaintiff.

The stock holders named as defendants are L. J. Carver, R. McDonald, H. A. Jastro, G. W. Price, S. W. Jewett, I. H. Gleim, Sarah L. Connor, as administratrix of the estate of the late C. L. Connor, formerly president of the bank; Connor, formerly president of the bank; C. A. Jewett, Mrs. T. A. Moncure, Roper Estate company, R. E. White, P. L. Jewett, C. Cohn, Sam E. James, Anna S. James, Mary E. James and Lucy C. James.

It is alleged that the Kern Valley bank has become indebted in three years to creditors in the sum of $832,502.54, of which the defendants are held liable under the individual liability law in the sum of $832,502.

BANKER AND ACCUSER ON STAND AT SAN RAFAEL

S. H. Cheda and Mrs. M. E. Kettler Give Testimony

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 6.—Both S. H. Cheda, the San Rafael banker, and Mrs. M. E. Kettler, who accuses him of mismanaging the $300,000 estate of her husband, were witnesses today when the case was continued before Superior Judge Zook.

Mrs. Kettler is trying to base her case on the amount of expenditures made by Cheda since the San Francisco fire. When District Attorney Boyd, who is Cheda's counsel, asked Mrs. Kettler whether she did not approve four accounts at the time Appellate Judge Lennon was superior judge and had agreed that the statements were correct, she answered, "Yes, I did; but I did not mean that."

Cheda showed that he had sold property for a public library in San Francisco and made $18,750 for the estate of San Francisco. Mrs. Kettler said she had resided at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BABE'S DEATH TRIFLING MATTER, THINKS FATHER

Preliminary Examination of John Rech Set for Friday

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 6.—John Rech, who is under arrest on a charge of having killed his infant child because, as he said, "the cost of living was getting too high," was arraigned this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Shoup and heard read the complaint formally charging him with the crime.

"Baby was almost dead, anyhow," drawled Rech at the conclusion of the reading of the complaint. He was taken back to jail. His preliminary examination was set for Friday.

BUCKETSHOP ENACTMENT HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Appeal Court Reverses Washington, D. C., Tribunal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Holding the recent enactment of congress relating to bucketshops and the conduct of bucketshops in the district of Columbia to be constitutional, the district court of appeals today, in an opinion by Justice Robb, reversed the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals at Washington, D. C., which had held the enactment unconstitutional.
