

ROLPH REGIME IS CALLED TO WORK

Rehabilitation of San Francisco Planned Before Administration Changes

New Mayor Will Select Men to Fit the Jobs; Politics to Be Shelved

Continued From Page 1 that on that board he has a man for every task; in fine, that is the best balanced board ever elected in San Francisco.

Wherein, in my judgment, the complete organization of the new board of supervisors will be a closed matter in less than two weeks.

For example, the public buildings committee will be expected to work out a definite plan of action for the erection of a city hall to be ready to take the public into its confidence at least as to alternative propositions when it goes into office.

The same state of preparedness is to be expected from the finance, street, sewer, fire and police committees. MADE NO PROMISES

None more fully than Rolph himself appreciates how much of the success or failure of his administration depends upon the makeup of the appointive commissions, especially the board of works and the police and fire boards.

It may be that he has not been visibly impressed by the imposing lists of names presented to him with the approval of the politicians presenting them, but he is not thinking and thinking hard about those commissions.

It may be that he is not giving a lot more attention to the matter of looking for men than he is to the men whose names have been fired at him. In fact that may be taken as fairly describing his attitude.

Already he has virtually cleaned up his private business and is devoting nearly all his time to the questions involved in his public service. He knows what he wants to do and he has exceedingly clear ideas about how those things can be done.

He believes in finding a man who fits the job rather than attempting to make the job fit the man, and while he is willing to "be shown" he is not willing to make experiments at government expense.

Make a memorandum of this: When Rolph announces the selection of a man for the police commission, that man will know something about the police business and the relations of the police department with the public. Whether from the police end or the public end.

One is as important as the other and both have been generally overlooked by mayors who believed that "good" men meant more fully today than any of his predecessors have had two months after their inauguration.

With the co-operation he expects, and has a right to expect, from the new supervisors, Rolph has things actually moving in San Francisco before the end of January.

Hero of Kipling's "Three Sealers" Tells of Episode

Captain C. Knox, one of Kipling's "Three Sealers," who arrived here yesterday on the Tenyo Maru.

Capt. Knox Scared Off Ship With Stovepipe Gun; Looted Robbers' Island of Seals

When Rudyard Kipling wrote his "Rhyme of the Three Sealers" he availed himself liberally of poetic license. This may have improved the poem, but it so hurt the feelings of Captain G. Knox, one of the heroes of the episode upon which the poem is based, that G. Knox and R. Kipling will never be very warm friends.

Knox arrived here yesterday on the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru. He is on his way to England, and, if the opportunity offers, he will discuss himself freely to the man who wrote the story of "When the Baltic ran from the north-east light and the Straitsund fought the two."

Knox, who is in the service of the Chinese customs, is harbor master at Tsongku. He has lived in the orient for a quarter of a century. It was while engaged in sealing out of Japan that he figured in the story of Kipling's poem, of which his criticism is interesting.

"Yes," he said yesterday, "I was probably the principal figure in the incident that Kipling pretends to describe in his 'Three Sealers.' He isn't much of a poet. He got the names all wrong and he put in a lot of things that never happened. I don't know where he got his dope, but he certainly got his facts mixed.

"We used a stovepipe for a gun, all right. That was my idea, and it was I who carried it out. "To show you what a clump this fellow Kipling is, the way he tells the story, we mounted the fake gun on the schooner. As a matter of fact we mounted it on the island. And then he leaves out the best part about me making a seal out of a sheet and a pair of old overalls. He's a mighty poor poet."

THE KNOX VERSION The scene of the affair was Robben Island and the time 1890. Robben Island is off the coast of South Africa and was then under Russian control. There was a big seal rookery there, over which the Russians maintained an armed guard.

MACFARLAND HELD DAUGHTER ORDERED FOR HIGHER COURT TO PRODUCE FATHER Insurance Man to Stand Trial for Alleged $10,000 Theft From Miss Groom Mrs. Thomas Must Take J. P. Faivre to Court on Habeas Corpus Writ

Andrew F. MacFarland, insurance promoter, charged by his former wife, Miss Ethel Groom, with stealing $10,000 which he gave her as a wedding present, was held to answer to the superior court yesterday morning by Police Judge Deary.

When the case Deary said that it presented a conflict of testimony and he believed the prosecution had the best of it. Deary said that MacFarland's imputations, while on the stand, against the character of Miss Groom were without foundation in fact, and for this reason he did not place much credence in the other testimony offered by the wealthy insurance promoter.

"There is but one question of law to be determined in this case," continued the magistrate, "and that is in reference to the genuineness of the $10,000 which Miss Groom alleges MacFarland presented to her as a wedding gift. MacFarland allowed his liberty."

Deary fixed MacFarland's bail at $5,000 and a new bond was issued on the return and marry Miss Groom. It was at this time, says Miss Groom, that MacFarland took the $10,000 from the safe deposit vaults and left for the east.

MEASURES IN THE STOMACH TALKS OF ECONOMY

Mean Dyspepsia and Death, and May Cause Stomach and Nerve Ailments

Professor Munyon Wants All Afflicted to Come to His Offices

Indigestion has baffled the skill of the medical world in all times. Temporary relief has been the most physicians have been able to give.

Millions have gone through life suffering the torments of the damned, such as belching of wind, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, shooting pains in the stomach, dizziness, constipation, distress after eating, sleeplessness and melancholy.

A sick stomach is responsible for not only rheumatism and kidney ailments, but nearly every other disease. When the stomach is digesting its food properly the liver and bowels do their duty, the nerves are fed with good, rich blood and the whole system is stimulated, strengthened and energized.

Prof. Munyon claims that his remedies will eliminate these little parasites and will correct nearly every form of stomach, liver and nerve trouble. He says the worst obstacle he has to overcome is doubt. For people have spent so much money druging themselves with all sorts of nostrums that they have lost faith in anything new that is offered. "I want people," he says, "to come to me with full expectation of getting well."

In many cases, Prof. Munyon says, all medicines can be discarded after the first ten days. In rheumatic troubles his remedies neutralize the uric acid so quickly that a complete cure is generally made in a few hours.

Sharp, shooting pains, swollen limbs and stiff joints, lame back disappear as if by magic. The best of all, this treatment contains no morphia, opium, cocaine, salicylic acid or any harmful drug. On the contrary, it is beneficial to the stomach, heart and nerves.

His improved Paw Paw Tonic, for the stomach, is a wonderful tonic in building up weak, tired nerves. Prof. Munyon employs regular licensed graduate physicians to make examinations and give advice absolutely free. In this city they are located in the Flannery building, 702 Market street, and in Oakland in the Macdonough building, fourteenth and Broadway.
