

Gowan and George McLoughlin were sent to pursue the investigation. Through the medium of several decoy telephone messages they learned of the habits of Swann and on Tuesday shadowed the house.

In the afternoon they saw Forrest Page leave the cottage with a suitcase in his hand. They followed him, and as he was about to board a car accosted him. From Page they learned facts that placed them closer in touch with Swann, and as a result they took up watch near the Eighth avenue home.

CUT ACROSS LOT

At 11 o'clock Swann alighted from a Turk and Eddy street car and walked hurriedly toward his house. As he neared the place he cut across a vacant lot, climbed a fence and made his way through the rear yard into his home. McLoughlin remained on watch in the front yard, while Swann was stationed in the adjoining lot.

BEATIE MUST DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Governor Mann Refuses to Grant Respite to Young Wife Murderer

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 15.—Governor Mann today declined to interfere in the case of Henry Clay Beattie Jr. and the young wife murderer's last hope of escaping the electric chair Friday, November 24, was swept away.

Attorneys for the condemned man held their last conference with the governor and just before noon the latter announced his decision to interfere with the decree of the Chesterfield county court, which was sustained by the supreme court of appeals of the state.

A petition has been presented to the governor praying for a respite of at least 80 days for spiritual preparation. Beattie's father this afternoon told the prisoner in the death cell of the penitentiary that the governor had refused all aid. Young Beattie received this news in silence, the guards say, but his iron nerve gave way at last and he was visibly affected by the loss of his last hope.

SCHEME PROPOSED TO NORTH BEACH

Patrizi Outlines Plan for Beautifying District in Time for Exposition

Taking for his subject "What North Beach Should Do for the Panama-Pacific Exposition," Ettore Patrizi, editor of L'Italia, delivered an address before the North Beach Promotion association last night.

Patrizi spoke of the victory North Beach had won in being so largely incorporated in the exposition site, and declared that the district should be cleaned and purified. When the district is morally clean, he said, the next work would be to beautify it.

Rose O'Day to Answer for Divorce Testimony

Rose O'Day, known as Rose Rankin, of the Lombardi opera company, will appear in Police Judge Shortall's court Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock to face the charge of perjury preferred against her by Prof. E. S. Bonelli.

FORMER NOTE TELLER MUST STAND TRIAL

Darrell A. Hare Held to Answer for Embezzlement

Darrell A. Hare, former note teller of the Wells Fargo Nevada National bank, was arraigned before Police Judge Sullivan yesterday morning on a charge of felony embezzlement and held to answer.

WARRANT IS ISSUED FOR ALLEGED FORGER

A warrant for the arrest of M. H. Squires was issued yesterday by Police Judge Weller on the complaint of F. R. Ritchie, 857 Lowell street, Alameda, on a charge of forgery. The complaint alleges that Squires was employed by Mahoney Brothers to sign up a contract on October 22, 1910, with the property owners in Fourteenth avenue South between L and K streets for the laying of sewer pipes. Squires, Ritchie claims, returned the contract with the signatures of 21 property owners. Among them was the signature of Harry Johnson, which the complainant alleges was forged.

STEAMER M. F. PLANT IS DISABLED AT SEA

The steamer M. F. Plant of the Alaska-Pacific Steamship company was reported as having broken its shaft off Cape Mendocino last night. A message to the United Wireless company stated that the vessel was in no danger, but in a helpless condition. A few minutes after the accident was reported a wireless message was received stating that the steamers Rosecrans and Argyle were standing by. The M. F. Plant was bound for San Francisco when the shaft broke.

MAJESTIC DEDICATED TO THE WIVES OF THE WARS

Wails of Women Mingle With Eulogy of Burdette Who Praises "Sons of Duty"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Over a broad green meadow dotted by a multitude of gray tombstones echoed the wail of weeping women and in mournful harmony with them rose the trembling voice of Rev. Robert J. Burdette as he uttered his eulogy of dedication before the monument erected to the memory of the 21 men who were killed in the explosion of the Los Angeles Times building October 1, 1910.

A hot sun from a western sky gilded the thick marble pile, topped with a fragrant slab of unfinished granite and a bronze eagle with wings outspread. The sunlight emblazoned, too, the tablets on the polished faces of the base, the one with its caption, "Sons of Duty," and excerpts from the funeral oration, and the other headed "The Roll of Honor," with 21 names inscribed beneath it.

"We consecrate this monument," said Burdette, "not only to the memory of the heroes who died on that terrible night, but to those who were martyrs to the cause of industrial freedom."

General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times, made a short speech of dedication and at its end the mourners lingered tearfully before the monument, and it was sunset before the last had strolled sadly away into the darkness.

"I could vindicate myself for writing it if I could tell what I know, but I can not tell for the sake of others who would suffer. I had to do it. Goodbye again."

BAY CITIES WANT NEW BIG DRY DOCK

Representatives of Commerce Bodies at Conference Prepare to Fight for Navy Award

The bay cities will put forward a united front to have the new drydock proposed for construction on the Pacific coast placed somewhere in San Francisco bay or the water tributary to it. So much was decided yesterday afternoon at a conference held in the dining hall of the Commercial club, which was participated in by representatives of the chambers of commerce from Humboldt county as far south as Fresno.

The activities of the commercial bodies in Washington and Oregon to have the new dock built at the Bremerton yards were a spur to the local bodies for immediate action.

The debate centered about the availability of the dock at Mare Island as a great naval base, the principal contention being made that the channel at that base was not deep enough, or would not be of sufficient depth for the modern type of dreadnought.

Frank R. Devlin, the speaker of the Vallejo delegation, said it is true that the channel would have to be deepened to allow the entry of the dreadnaughts of the Delaware type, but this is also true of every other navy yard both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Congressman Kahn declared that Mare Island could be used for a repair shop and for the docking of smaller vessels, while the dock proposed of 1,000 feet in length, to be built on the main waters of the bay.

Congressman E. A. Hayes reported that the secretary of the navy had told him that he would not recommend the construction of the dock at Mare Island. He added, however, that it would be ridiculous to suppose that the government would abandon Mare Island after having spent nearly $20,000,000 in improvements.

Congressman Joseph R. Knowland spoke for the construction of the dock at Mare Island, and former Congressman Duncan McKinlay favored California City.

The following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, that the federal government be and is hereby requested to establish one of the largest and best drydocks in the bay of San Francisco or waters tributary thereto."

Among the chambers of commerce mentioned were the Alameda, Oakland, Santa Cruz, Humboldt, Berkeley, San Mateo county, Fresno, Napa, Petaluma, Merced and a Vallejo.

STATE EXPLOITED IN GUIDE FOR SPORTSMAN

Illustrated Book Issued by the Southern Pacific

"California for the Sportsman" is the title of an ably edited and profusely illustrated book just published by the Southern Pacific in which are presented the state's attractions for fishermen, hunters and all lovers of outdoor life.

The book contains 160 pages of reading matter divided into three sections—fish, feather and fur—and it is by far the best and most pretentious work of its kind ever prepared for gratuitous distribution.

The data were furnished by Al M. Cumming, one of California's most widely known sportsmen, and Allan Dunn, whose entertaining writings on sports, afield and outdoor life have given him a national reputation.

The editors overlooked nothing in compiling their data, their aim being to give readers the full benefit of their wide experience and personal observations in field and on stream. Everything that may be hunted or fished for in California is given prominence and the book also contains voluminous information on resorts for sportsmen and how to reach them.

Al Cumming uses his wonderful fishing ability and knowledge to describe all phases of this sport from angling for trout to fishing in salt water with hand lines, while his associate, Dunn, contributes among other things articles on camping with information as to accommodations and resorts.

Army Orders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Army orders: Captain Lucius L. Butter and Eggs Do Jack and Jill Stunt

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A surprise equal to that caused by the action of the Chicago butter and egg board when on Monday it forced up the prices of butter and eggs, came today when it became known that the board had just suddenly cut the prices to the figures which prevailed last Saturday.

The board, which is under investigation by the government, cut the price of butter from 35 to 32 cents a pound. The board reduced the price of eggs from the Monday price of 36 and 28 cents to the Saturday price of 28 and 27 cents. The prices were sent up on the day that the cold wave struck Chicago.

Justice District Attorney James H. Wilson said that the price committee of the butter and egg board would be given a chance to explain its action of Monday in the chambery hearing of this week in the government's suit to dissolve the board.

HOPPER IN NOTE DECLARES HE WAS DRIVEN TO DEATH

Rumor Connects Mrs. Lincoln's Return to Santa Rosa and Bank Employee's Suicide

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The state department has decided to send a regiment of troops from Manila to Chingwangtao, a seaport in China, about 550 miles from the gulf of Pechili. The purpose is to perform an international duty under the boxer treaty in keeping open the line of communication between Peking and the sea.

It was said at the state department that a request for the troops had not been made on the war department, but it was momentarily expected. The officials were careful to make it appear that the dispatch of these troops to China would be absolutely without any political meaning, and the movement was not to be construed as intervention.

Under the treaty which terminated the Boxer troubles, the United States, with other powers, was accorded the privilege of maintaining a military force along the line of railway between Peking and the sea, in order to guard against such an event as the suppression of the legation during the boxer uprisings.

Beyond the maintenance of a marine guard of 100 men (recently increased to 300), the United States has never availed itself of this permission, and it has fallen to the lot of other nations, principally Great Britain, France and Japan, to maintain a small garrison along the line of the road from Tientsin to Peking. It is felt that it is incumbent upon the United States to perform this part of its duty, hence the decision to employ troops to supplement the marine guard.

The fact that the force to be dispatched will be limited to one regiment is in itself an indication that there is no intention on the part of the United States government to indulge in any large military demonstration in China, or to take sides in the present great struggle for supremacy between the imperial forces and the revolutionary party, and it is declared that no designs upon Chinese territory are entertained.

The main consideration that prompted the state department to act is said to be the fact that the ports of the gulf of Pechili are closed by ice about this time every winter, and it is necessary to land the troops now, if they are to be employed at all during the winter in China.

The transport Sherman is lying in Manila harbor, having been detained there at the suggestion of the state department. It could land a regiment in Chingwangtao within four days after it received its sailing orders.

Rear Admiral Murdock, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, has transferred his flag to the Rainbow to the Albany, which is a smaller vessel, and changed his base from Shanghai to Nanking.

As the Rainbow draws 26 1/2 feet of water, it is about 100 miles south-east of Jehol, which probably would be chosen as a refuge by the Chinese emperor and family in case the dynasty is overthrown.

PASTOR REFUTES GOSSIP

Rev. Peter Colvin, pastor of the Christian church, who whom Mrs. Lincoln makes her home, refuses to believe the gossip which has been circulated regarding her and urges her to remain in Santa Rosa. He declares that on many specific nights when it was intimated that Mrs. Lincoln was with Attorney Frank Leppo, with whom her name was linked, she was to his certain knowledge in her own home, sewing until after midnight.

Since her return here Mrs. Lincoln has visited some of those who are reported to have assisted in spreading the gossip concerning her to secure from them definite statements of anything of which they had knowledge. His quest in running down her accusers has been successful, it is said. The members of the Irene club, which had been named as being responsible for her removal from her position in the Rohnert-Einhorn store, emphatically deny that the society ever took any such action or that she was ever discussed by the organization formally or informally at any of its meetings.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeiter is as good as the genuine. The druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Legation Keeps Silent

The legation made no acknowledgment of the receipt of the telegram from the Chinese government, but it unofficially permitted Yuan Shai Kai to peruse it.

Advices from Lanchow say that a telegram has been received from the rebel leader, General Li Yuan Heng, in response to a message from General Chang Sai Tsen, commander of the Lanchow troops, requesting a cessation of hostilities and outlining proposals for a monarchical constitution.

U. S. TO SEND MEN TO CHINA

Regiment Going to Chingwangtao to Open Communication With Peking

ACTION IS NEUTRAL

The fact that the force to be dispatched will be limited to one regiment is in itself an indication that there is no intention on the part of the United States government to indulge in any large military demonstration in China, or to take sides in the present great struggle for supremacy between the imperial forces and the revolutionary party, and it is declared that no designs upon Chinese territory are entertained.

STOP CRYING, SAYS GOVERNOR TO BAR

Johnson Grills Lawyers for Denouncing the Judiciary Recall Amendment

State Association Indorses the Work of Chief Executive After His Speech

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—Bidding them "dry their tears of lamentation" over the passage of the judiciary recall amendment and turn their attention to subjects of present moment, Governor Johnson today hurled a charge of sharpnel into the ranks of the members of the California Bar association, whose speakers have all week been denouncing the judiciary recall measure.

The governor referred sarcastically to the "submerged four-fifths of the people of the state who must look for direction and knowledge from the remaining one-fifth, the lawyers."

"But may I suggest to you, my brethren," continued the governor, "that you dry your tears and you iron out your lugubrious countenances, that you take your wigs and that you take the bones of your old traditions and you put them in your legal bags and you turn around and face forward, as you ought to do in the state of California, and go forward upon the broad political highway of freedom in the state of California."

POOR COMPLIMENT TO BENCH

The governor declared that the California bench had been paid a poor compliment by the attorneys through the inference that the judges were as putty and jelly and could be swayed by every breath of public clamor.

"If you point a pistol at a man you don't make him a coward," argued the governor, "you simply prove him one, and if you point at the judiciary of this state a weapon that is admortory and precautionary that simply tells them that there is something that may ultimately correct a wrong, you don't make your judiciary cowards; you may prove some of your judiciary to be cowards."

"Cease poking among the gravestones of the past. Can members of our profession go forward only in a cemetery?" he asked. "Let us get out of it and go ahead with the four-fifths of the people."

GOVERNOR'S WORK INDORSED

The governor also spoke on recent legislation and the attorneys by resolution indorsed his work. He was asked to include in his special call a provision to eliminate political emblems connected with the names of judges on the ballot.

Judge C. E. McLaughlin of Sacramento was chosen president of the association. The other officers elected were: Vice presidents, W. H. Donahue of first district, Alfred Haynes of second, J. J. Wells of third; T. W. Roberts, secretary; H. C. Wyckoff, treasurer; executive committee, Judge Lohmeyer, A. P. Jones, Judge C. H. Lindley, Karl Aiken and Judge K. K. Law.

Fresno was chosen as the next meeting place.

HIGH GRADERS CAUGHT BEING PAID FOR ORE

Wagon Is Trailed to Tunnel of Jumbo Mine

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

GOLDFIELD, Nov. 15.—The first high grading case that has excited the camp in some time came to light last evening when Detectives Sage and Colwell of the Consolidated Mines company arrested E. J. Jameson and Otto Liss in the act of collecting the money for about three tons of ore valued at $1,000 which they delivered to the Western Ore Purchasing company and which is alleged to have been stolen from the Jumbo mine of the Consolidated. The accused men had hired a team on the previous night. The wagon was trailed to the Jumbo tunnel, where high grade ore has been taken recently. When searched they carried numerous assay certificates, some dated yesterday, showing rich returns. The men were jailed, charged with grand larceny.
