

IN WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

THE gleaming gold of Mrs. A's marcel waves and the sudden copper of Mrs. B's sort. Mrs. A's hair has been gold for five years, only it is less so at times. Quite brown if one meets her in the mountains toward the end of summer. But Mrs. B returned, only this winter hair with other changes of the season has provoked consideration of a more or less degree, from Paris, burnished like Bernhardt. And altogether three of the younger matrons have lately turned from demure chataine to temperamental red, so far as coiffures are concerned. After the beauty of their hair is conceded, and the divine right to dye as they will their own tresses, from peroxide to henna, there is the more or less serious reflection. The season's effects are as old as the Sphinx. They used henna in ancient Greece and peroxide, to be accurate, a B. C. equivalent for Twentieth century peroxide, in Greece. The belles of Athens had gold hair or when the gleam was not attainable owing to a natural dullness not to be overcome, it was a deep and dreadful yellow, so authorities declare.

In Rome the fashions of Egypt were followed. Every one used henna imported from Alexandria to stain the tresses like those seen on women at the games or in the fashionable Temple of Serapis. Rome really went Paris one better in the rage for red. Men used henna and when it wasn't red enough on a dark background they first applied the Greek yellow and in this Alexandrian red which must have made an opaque tone that took courage. This is all historically dull. But it would be interesting if the eternal feminine survived in men. That is, if perfectly normal brunette gentlemen like the husband of Mrs. A should unexpectedly appear at the Pacific Union club with Pompeian red hair. Or if the closely cropped brown of Mr. B had returned from Paris as copper colored as his wife's.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wilson entertained at an informal reunion and Christmas tree yesterday morning at their home in Pacific avenue for the members of their family. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Cluff, Mr. and Mrs. John Breuner and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Jones, who are passing the holidays in this city, but will return shortly to their home in Los Angeles.

Miss Marion Marvin Is Caught in Net of Cupid

Miss Marion Marvin, whose engagement to Otis Johnson was announced yesterday.

MR. AND MRS. HARVEY ARRINGTON MARVIN have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marion Marvin, to Otis Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Johnson. The news was told informally yesterday, but had been discounted by reports current for several months.

Miss Marvin is a sister of Mrs. Roy Somers. She made her debut two years ago and has been a social favorite. She has danced in the kirkness and is gifted musically. The family home is in Clay street, where Miss Marvin has entertained frequently.

The wedding will take place in June and the young couple will establish their home in Mendocino county, where the business interests of Johnson are located.

ing her brother, John O'Hara Cosgrave, in the east, and the announcement of her engagement came recently from New York. Donald Murray is a wealthy inventor and has many friends here. The couple will make their home in New York. The bride elect is a sister of Dr. Millicent Cosgrave and Charles Cosgrave of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharon are entertaining a house party over Christmas at their Menlo home, and among the guests from town who have been enjoying the delightful outing are Mr. and Mrs. Dixwell Hewitt, Tevis Blanding, Miss Innes Keeney and Dr. Harry Tevis. The party will return to the city this afternoon after the enjoyable week end visit at this hospitable country home.

The friends of Lieutenant Robert H. Fletcher Jr., U. S. A., will be glad to learn that he has entirely recovered from the injury to his knee, which at one time threatened to result seriously. Lieutenant Fletcher has joined his regiment at the Presidio of Monterey.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Dean and Miss Helen Dean went to San Rafael yesterday for a reunion with the Walter L. Dean family, who had a Christmas tree and elaborate dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. Drummond MacGavin did not come from Los Angeles as their friends expected, but they are in the city to pass the holidays at their home. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacGavin was the scene of a formal family reunion with Mrs. Douglas Fry and a few friends taking part.

William Thomas will be host at an elaborate luncheon to be given Friday in the green room at the St. Francis, when a dozen guests will enjoy his hospitality.

The F. W. Van Slicklen home in Alameda was the scene of a family reunion yesterday, and among the guests at the party were Miss Dorothy Van Slicklen and Dr. George Lyman, whose marriage will take place Thursday evening in St. Luke's church in this city. The Van Slicklens have been at the Fairmount for the last few weeks and will return this afternoon to remain until after the wedding. The bride elect has a beautiful collection of wedding presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Maud are passing the winter in Mrs. J. A. Darling's house at 3845 Clay street, and Mrs. Maud's son, E. C. Le Mansure, is with them. Mrs. Darling is passing the holidays with her son, Doctor Catherine, in Denver, but will return to England early in the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Walker will entertain at an elaborate dinner party to be given Friday evening, January 19, preceding the Lincoln centennial celebration at the Fairmont. There will be several other dinner parties more or less elaborate, and among these will be the reunion planned by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welch Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Stone are entertaining a house party at their Burlingame home over the holidays, and among the guests are Mrs. E. R. Havemeyer with the Misses Vera and Ethel Havemeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. N. William Westerfield will leave early in the New Year for a trip to Europe. Before her departure Mrs. Westerfield is giving a series of informal bridge parties.

Miss Kate Petersen will entertain at a card party to be given Tuesday, January 7, in compliment to Miss Marie Louise Tyson, which Professor and Mrs. Mahon, two debutantes who have been feted at several of the recent affairs. Miss Tyson will entertain an elaborate bridge party to be given tomorrow afternoon at the Fairmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Koshland are entertaining as their house guest Mrs. Joseph Fraumeni of Seattle and a number of informal affairs will be given for the visitor.

Miss Evelyn Boke will be hostess at a dance for the younger set tomorrow evening at the Osbourne residence in Lombard street, which Professor and Mrs. Boke have leased for the winter. The guests will include Miss Julia Van Fleet, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Miss Florence Bothin, Miss Marie Russell, Miss Ruth Perkins, Miss Margaret Stone, Miss Ruth Welch, Bowie Detrick, Edward Bullard, Sherwood Chapman, Andrew Carrigan, Donald Shorb, Fred Dyke, John, Cosmo Morgan and Albert Bull.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene de Sabla are entertaining a holiday house party at El Cerrito.

Miss Ernie B. McFadden of San Francisco is president of the Federation of School Women's Clubs and Miss Margaret Burke, also of San Francisco, is secretary. The federation's opening session will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Central Methodist church.

CHRISTMAS CHEERS RELIEF HOME INMATES

An immense Christmas tree, lighted by 200 glow lamps and laden with gifts for the hundreds of inmates of the home; a moving picture show, Christmas eve, which gave the old people the views of San Francisco and its harbor, which were sent east this fall, and a recital yesterday afternoon at which Miss Fernanda Pratt sang first for the hundreds gathered in the assembly hall and then for the bedridden in two wards of the hospital, made this year's celebration of the holiday a memorable one for the members of the relief home. Superintendent Wollenberg and the corps of nurses and attendants improvised a chorus which sang Christmas songs and carols, and all the old people were given presents of tobacco, knitting, stationery and little accessories to make their life more varied and cheerful.

DAUGHTER OF PATTEN IS CHRISTMAS BRIDE

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—Miss Agnes Patten, daughter of James A. Patten, retired board of trade operator, and Lawrence Russell Wilder were married at the Patten home in Evanston tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Wilder departed on a wedding journey to the Bermudas.

A Word of Advice on the Day After—By Ruth Cameron

AND so it is really all over at last—the day that we've worked and planned for so long. This is the day after Christmas, and it's time for us to take up our daily round again and "forget it till another year be gone."

But before you do forget it, just a word or two. Another Christmas is coming. Doubtless you can scarcely realize that in your present day after mood, and perhaps it is hardly a welcome realization, but it's true, just the same. And the reason I speak of it is because there are so many ways in which you can help yourself, by sowing the seeds of preparation for another Christmas right now, and not waiting until it is too late for them to take proper root.

In the first place, be sure to have a box in which to put away Christmas ribbons, the nice, soft paper that your gifts were wrapped in, the left over Christmas "stickers," stamps, mottoes and tags, the Christmas card that didn't get sent, and all the other little odds and ends of Christmas that will come in so handy and save so many much needed pennies at another holiday season.

Another way of preparing for Christmas, and incidentally for any birthdays that will be likely to claim your attention, is to keep a weather ear open to hear, and a gift notebook ready to receive, the disappointments of your friends and relatives. "I was rather sorry that no one happened to give me," etc., or, "I did want such and such," are extremely good foundations for a welcome gift some other time. You can also build on the admiration and envy aroused by other people's gifts. If one friend raves over the pretty hatpin or dainty apron which another friend received, you can safely set it down that a similar gift would probably receive a welcome from her.

Last year I wrote you about a resolution which I had made to buy a gift, a month all the year, and thus lessen the final financial strain, take advantage of sales and make my final Christmas shopping much less strenuous.

I want to tell you that I kept my resolution and that it proved quite as much a blessing as I had hoped. My method left me with little more than an afternoon's shopping to do, and in better financial shape to do it than I have ever been.

I heartily recommend it to every one who has found the past Christmas too strenuous, either physically, mentally or financially.

WATERSON FEARS KING THEODORE

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SAN JOSE, Dec. 25.—A romance which began two years ago during a sight seeing tour in Europe, reached its climax tonight when Miss Sallie Blanchard, daughter of Mrs. G. B. Blanchard of this city, became the bride at noon today of Irving C. Allen, a government chemist of Pittsburg, Pa.

The marriage was celebrated at the home of Miss Blanchard in College Park, Rev. Shade W. Walker, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, South, officiating.

Mrs. Allen was formerly a teacher in the Hester grammar school, but after leaving San Jose accepted a position as a member of the faculty of an Alameda school. During her residence here she was voted the most popular teacher in the county and was rewarded with a trip through the orient.

Allen is a graduate of the University of California and has studied two years in Germany and Switzerland.

Try a Cheese Omelet for a Change—Whisk four eggs, whites and yolks, together. Heat a tablespoon of butter till it hisses, but not till it burns. Season the eggs with pepper and salt and pour them into the butter in the frying pan and shake with a regular tossing motion until the omelet is set, not a moment longer. Then strew the surface with grated cheese and fold. It is improved by a tomato sauce, made of a few stewed tomatoes, strained, seasoned and slightly thickened with a little flour and butter. Pour this, boiling hot, around, not over, the omelet.

Packing Away Hams and Shoulders (for the farmer's use)—Wash, trim, and well smoked and thoroughly dried out. Powder each piece with pulverized sulphur, slip it into a paper sack, and pack each sack tightly, then pack, not too closely together, into a bin or large tight box filled with oak. Feed the oak to the hens as you use the meat. No worms, maggots or other pests will attack the meat supply.

"CHAMPION BUSTER" MARRIES—Boston, Dec. 25.—Bess R. Mann and Wells Walla, Wash., claiming the title of "champion troucho buster" of the northwest, and Miss Ida Stone, daughter of Mrs. Fannie Walker of Brighton, were married here.
