

IN WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

STORIES of guests mistaken for butlers or other retainers are old as the one of an American tourist at Windsor who, encountering a portly person in the palace, asked, "Butler, any chance to see the queen?" and not at all disconcerted by the royal dignity of, "I am the prince of Wales," in reply, went right on with, "How lucky! Is mother about?"

They still happen. At one of the season's weddings a debonaire bachelor was seriously shocked by a well meaning matron, who was awfully distressed over it, but may never explain her fatal stupidity.

There was a buffet supper and a score of waiters to serve it. Also, the ushers and others foraged and found ices for the women. One of these thoughtful young men discovered the well meaning matron quite unprovided for. "Can't I get you an iced, Mrs. Blank?" he asked. "Oh, yes, if you will," responded Mrs. Blank, absently, rather pleased, she said afterward, that the strange waiter knew her name. The man brought her an iced, and then champagne, and really served her well. Later she stood discussing affairs of no importance with some one, and burdened with an empty glass. The man passed. "Waiter," she said, take this glass," and presented it. The man took it; then he found himself, "I'm not a waiter, Mrs. Blank," he told her, with cold impressiveness, "I'm Arthur Van Jones," and withdrew.

Recalled to point the contrast in a situation at the Panama-Pacific ball last week, honored by one of the most beautiful young matrons of Greenway fame, whose husband has something to do with exposition plans. She is tall and graceful and exquisitely brunette, and was gowned in a glittering Paris creation cut in the daring decollete lines she likes, and altogether she was unusually lovely to look at that night.

A misguided man admired her to the girl he danced with.

The girl regarded her. "Why, she's a model at one of the shops. Yes, she is a beauty in her way. I've seen her try on every sort of gown and look well in all of them." Which, of course, the girl hadn't, having merely mistaken the certain beautiful young matron for an equally beautiful model.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allen Keyes, who have been entertained at a series of delightful affairs during their visit here from Salt Lake City, were the feted guests at a luncheon given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Horatio P. Livermore at their home in Vallejo street. There were a dozen guests at the elaborate affair for the visitors.

Miss Geraldine Fitzgibbon, who will make her formal bow to society next winter. She already is conspicuous in the entertainments of the younger set.

IN the early list of debutantes for next winter will appear the name of Miss Geraldine Fitzgibbon, who already has been a conspicuous figure in the entertainments of the younger set. This attractive girl will make her formal bow to society next season, but she was recently a hostess at a series of enjoyable parties.

Miss Fitzgibbon has given several parties for members of the younger set who are going abroad and for one announced their engagements before making their formal bows to the social world.

They are going to New York, where they will be joined by Jack Burke, who is attending Harvard, and will pass the summer vacation with him in the east. Later, Mrs. Burke and her daughter will leave for an extended trip abroad. Mrs. Burke was formerly Miss Antonette Naglee, daughter of the late General Henry M. Naglee.

Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard and Mrs. Galliard Stoney will host Thursday on the Mendocino for a trip to Japan and will pass an enjoyable month traveling in the Orient. They intend to make the round trip, returning on the same steamer.

Mrs. William Gratton of St. Helena is the guest of Mrs. William B. Bourn this week at the home of the latter in Broadway. Mrs. Gratton is the grand mother of Mrs. Thurman Harrison Bane, who was formerly Miss Bessie Louise Dickman and is an aunt of Mrs. August W. Bryant.

Mrs. Thomas Breeze has returned to her home in Burlingame after a week-end visit with Mrs. Lorenzo Avenall at the home of the latter in Leavenworth street. Mrs. Breeze was formerly Miss Frances Moore.

Dr. Alfred B. Grosse returned to town yesterday after a delightful visit of several days in the southern part of the State.

Mrs. Robert Remondone, who has been ill at one of the hospitals in this city, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home in San Rafael. Mrs. Remondone was formerly Mrs. Alice Shattuck.

Mrs. Elsie Dixler has gone to Arizona, where she will remain for several weeks until she has entirely recovered from an attack of influenza. Mrs. Dixler is a niece of Mrs. Samuel Blair.

Miss Harriett and Miss Annetta Alexander, who have been spending the weekend in San Mateo as the guests of Mrs. Jennie Lawrence, returned to town yesterday. They have been passing most of the time since their arrival from the east at the home of the latter in Clay street. The Misses Alexander will leave with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. on their return to New York.

Mrs. Alexander Russell entertained at one of the recent children's parties given for the benefit of the Red Cross among the attractions of the afternoon was a moving picture show.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Whitney have returned from their honeymoon and are established at their home in San Mateo. Mrs. Whitney was formerly Miss Dorothy Weed and her wedding was an event of the season in town.

Mrs. C. C. Stevenson has gone to Los Angeles, where she will remain for a visit of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Winship, who have been passing the early season in Coronado, are at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena and after a brief stay there they will go east and will attend the early summer with friends and relatives in Georgia.

There will be a large attendance at the lecture to be given at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the St. Francis, when Prof. Henry Morse Stephens of the University of California will give an informal talk under the auspices of the Elizabethan Society. The lecture will be upon "Modern Spain," and its connection with the history of early California. It has been a successful series of these lectures this season. The president of the association, Mrs. Lawrence Trauer and among the other officers are Mrs. Lloyd Baldwin Jr., Mrs. Almer Newhall and Mrs. John Johnston.

Miss Marie Louise Bryant and Miss Gertrude Davis returned to town yesterday after passing the week end as the guests of Mrs. Gustav G. Marcus at her home in Mill Valley.

ECHO OF HARP'S STRAINS IS HEARD AT ST. MARY'S

OAKLAND, March 18.—The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls the Soul of Music Shook, dominated the St. Patrick's day entertainment which was given at St. Mary's college by the Four Esses. The orchestra played Irish airs and the college quartet sang them, the ushers wore green ties and smiles, and the audience, which was large, fell under the spell of the occasion.

The principal feature of the program was a lecture on "The Fighting Race," recited by Edward French, seemed to take the fancy of a large proportion of those present. Other participants in the evening's success were Thomas Moran, Elmo Leonard, Thomas Burns, Vincent Fleming and Frederick Carlock. George P. Miller was chairman of the evening.

"WHAT CAN CHURCH DO WITH SO MUCH MONEY?"

METUCHIN, N. J., March 18.—The officers of the St. James Episcopal church at Pincatowaytown are puzzled to know what to do with $106,000 which has just come into their hands through two bequests from old parishioners. The church has only 40 members. There is no need for a larger church, the hamlet is prosperous and the vestry probably will invest the money in stocks and bonds. Even then, the disposal of the income of $5,000 a year will prove embarrassing.

DR. W. F. BADE HONORED BY RELIGIOUS SOCIETY

BERKELEY, March 18.—Prof. William Frederic Bade of the Pacific Theological seminary was elected state director for California at the ninth general convention of the Religious Education association held in St. Louis. The organization is undenominational. It is probable that a convention will be arranged for San Francisco in 1913. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, is a vice president of the association.

NEW PARIS SKIRT TO ASTOUND THE NATIVES

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Paris dress makers' most startling contribution to millady's wardrobe this year is to be a new skirt, very narrow, with a slit at the side extending well above the knee. A trade announcement here regarding the new skirt says: "If the director's stocking, made of silken network with large meshes, is to be worn with it, it is, the effect will be astonishing."

SPIRIT OF PROGRESS IMPELS CLUB GROWTH

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Susan B. Anthony club which was held in the residence of Mrs. J. O. Low in Baker street, it was decided to enlarge the club and broaden its work along civic and progressive lines. Mrs. Austin Sperry presided.

Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Richard O'Meara. Miss Clara Nolan executed a piano solo.

Several new members were received.

WOMAN ASPIRANT FAILS TO OUST MAYOR HOOD

NORTH YAKIMA, March 18.—Judge E. B. Preble of the superior today decided against Mrs. Ida C. McCracken in her suit to oust from office Mayor R. D. Herod of Yakima. Herod defeated Mrs. McCracken for mayor by two votes. She instituted suit on the ground that Herod had not been lawfully nominated.

YORK, PA., IS FIRST WITH "PEACH FAILURE" SCARE

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—The first of the usual annual announcements of the failure of the peach crop comes this year from York, Pa. A dispatch from that city says: "The crop will be nearly a complete failure. The cold weather entirely froze the buds, and from indications at this time, there will be few peaches."

DOG WILL BE KILLED—Police Judge Deasy yesterday ordered the police to destroy a vicious dog owned by John B. Koenig of West Park street. Two dogs owned by John E. Hughes, 228 Twenty-fifth avenue, were poisoned yesterday and the police have been asked to find the prisoner.

This morning from 9 o'clock to noon the beautiful natatorium of the Lurline Ocean Water Baths, Bush and Larkin streets, is reserved exclusively for women bathers.

To Hate Is Never a Sign Of Character---By Ruth Cameron

I WOULDN'T give much for a person who didn't have backbone enough to hate some one." I heard a girl say that the other day in justification of a statement which she had just made about disliking one of the girls at her school. Her mother had gently rebuked her for having such a feeling, and the above statement, accompanied by a toss of the head, was her way of taking the rebuke.

It seems to me that this idea that it takes backbone to be an enemy, and that it is a sign of a high-strung and desirable temperament to hate, has a good deal of prevalence. People quote, in support of this view, the saying that a man who has no enemies has not done very much. They have the wrong idea. By a man's enemies, this saying means those who hate him, not those whom he hates. To be hated may sometimes be a sign of character; to hate never.

I wish the folks who hold this peculiar idea would make a business day of analyzing the causes and motives behind all the hatreds which they pride themselves on cherishing, and then see if they think hating is so fine a thing.

If we hated people for being cruel, for causing suffering, or for being wicked in any direction, our hatred would not be an altogether shameful thing, although even then it would be better to hate the sin and pity the sinner—he often needs it more than those whom he sins against. But can you honestly say that any of these people whom you allow yourself to hate are really wicked? No, you know they are not, nor anything like that. One is a rather small minded person who once said something unkind about you, which came to your ears. The other name for that particular hate is simply desire for revenge. Another has certain irritating little personal characteristics which are offensive to you, and you say you hate him. But surely that doesn't give you reason to call him wicked. No, the other name for that hate is simply antagonism. And probably, at least two or three of those whom you say you hate or dislike are people who have offended you in no more sinful way than by being more clever or more popular, or more successful in some direction than yourself. And the other name of that hate is the ugly little word—envy.

Would you say that a man or woman who was too big, and too busy to bother with any of these mean and childish feelings "wasn't worth much"? It is sometimes said in extenuation—may, more, in praise—of hating, that people who have strong likes also have strong dislikes. This may be true of people at a certain stage of development, but the biggest people are those who put so much of their energy into loving and living, that they haven't any time for hating.

Druggist Cupid Is Miss A. K. Wood Is Out Its Cost Doctor's Bride

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
VISALIA, March 18.—Clay Lovelace and Miss Eva Long, both of this city, were married at the home of the bride's parents last evening. On reporting for work in the morning at a local drug store, where he is employed, the young man was rebuked good naturedly for spending so much of his time at the home of his fiancée, when he should be at his work. The proprietors of the store offered to buy his marriage license and pay for a honeymoon trip if he would get married and "settle down." He called up the young lady at least an hour, she consented to be married immediately. The couple left on the evening train for southern California at the expense of the firm.

ALAMEDA, March 18.—For the purpose of forming a woman's political league a meeting is to be held in Tucker hall, 124 Park street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon a meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Sharp, 152 High street, to take steps toward the formation of a precinct circle.

The aim of the circle will be to instruct new women voters in their civic duties. Mrs. Fred G. Baker will speak on "Our Homes and Others."
