

IN WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

Genealogically speaking. Not that he founded the Stephens family, but wrote a history of American Stephens, or, possibly, like the Kelloggs, ancestors of the Menlo Park Hopkins, they were "Stephens of the Old World and the New." Almost universal. William the Conqueror, pride of the Whittings, is provincial and unimportant beside Kelloggs of the Old World and the New. However. Others interested with Doctor Stephens in founding the California Genealogical Society were Edgar Hobart, author of the Hobart Family, and Colonel Adolphus Skinner Hubbard, president general of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and they adopted a constitution and bylaws. The present policy of the society is to replace the genealogical library destroyed in the fire of 1906, and it has been so far accomplished that at the Fairmont is a second most comprehensive collection of family trees. Somewhere in the shade of them any one may rest after a disappointing quest for ancestors. When the D. A. R. first found California parents would recall stories of grandparents who fought in the Revolution, but were hopelessly indefinite. It was necessary to write to cousins in the east, and, if these failed, there were authorities in Boston or Virginia, who were uncertain and expensive. The library at the Fairmont has wonderfully improved the genealogical situation in California.

Also it is not always true that those who have the greatest number of ancestors are most indifferent to them. Consider the Kelloggs, all of them traced and arranged in the proper sequence with scrupulous care. The Los

Mill Valley Belle Is A Professor's Bride

Miss Grace Whittle of Mill Valley, who will be married in August to Leslie Webb Symmes of Berkeley.

THE date for the marriage of Miss Grace Whittle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Whittle of Mill Valley, and Leslie Webb Symmes of Berkeley is set for the latter part of August. The couple will go abroad for their honeymoon and will travel several months.

The bridegroom elect is now in the southern part of the state. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Symmes and is the brother of Miss Mabel Symmes and Whitman Symmes.

Following his graduation from the University of California Symmes was professor of bacteriology in his alma mater for some time. He is now connected with the agricultural firm of Mead & Co.

Angelo banker, who is one of the "Hull Family in America, New Jersey branch," must have a numerous family, to which he has given quite a lot of thought. The "New Jersey branch" indicates a broad, if not necessarily a long line, though long enough, of course, to be referred to in genealogical terms.

There was once a San Francisco woman who was persuaded to become a Colonial Dame, but a reprehensibly irreverent soul destroyed possibilities of her extending the list. Through she might have ended a Royal Descendant of America or, anyway, in the Pocahontas Society. So when a London solicitor wrote "Apr 1st year and said that, having discovered her family name was Plantagenet (?), he desired, for $15, to include her in his "American Peerage," she only found the letter diverting. It seemed to her that her family name would continue to be Plantagenet (?) whatever the London solicitor could do or leave undone about which is no way to look at these things.

April 18 is the date set for the marriage of Miss Edith Detrick, who has been passing the winter in this city, returned to Mill Valley yesterday. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Huntington, a sister of Mrs. Thompson, Miss Teresa Thompson, whose engagement to William Rose Benson was announced two months ago, is expected to visit California in the summer. During her stay here she will be the guest of her aunt, Miss Kathleen Thompson, and will also visit her brother in Mill Valley and her aunt, Mrs. E. W. Thomas, who makes her home in this city.

Donald Jadwin, the fiance of Miss Minna Van Bergen, who was expected to arrive in this city the first of the week, was delayed in coming on account of the bad roads. He reached San Francisco late Monday evening and is the guest of Mrs. Edward Van Bergen in Ross. Miss Van Bergen has entirely recovered from her recent severe illness and is purchasing her trousseau. Although the wedding will take place early in June the definite date has not been chosen.

Mrs. Charles E. Green has issued invitations for a luncheon to be given at St. Francis' on April 12, at which she will entertain in honor of her future daughter in law, Miss Marie Louise Foster. Miss Foster is the bride of one of Miss Foster's bridesmaids, will entertain at a bridge party in her honor April 12. The bride's marriage with Hans Wellmann has been set for the month of August.

Letters received in this city from Miss Harriet Pomeroy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter B. Pomeroy, who arrived at Gibraltar recently, announce a pleasant voyage. Miss Pomeroy will remain abroad for several months, but will return to California probably in the fall.

Miss Miriam McNear and Leo V. Korbel will be married in September at the country home of the bride's parents in Petaluma. The details of the wedding have not been arranged.

Mrs. George C. Boardman and her granddaughter, Miss Dora Winn, will leave soon for Ross Valley, where they have taken the Barber house for the summer.

Mrs. Edgar M. Hinds has returned to her home in Santa Rosa after a visit with her sisters, Miss Christine and Miss Gladys English, in Oakland.

Miss Julia Langhorne, who has been spending some weeks in Ogilthorpe, will, as the guest of her uncle, Captain George Langhorne, has gone to New York city to visit the Misses Sara, Mary and Elizabeth Cunningham.

Miss Frances Martin was a luncheon hostess yesterday at her home in Ross valley, where she entertained the members of her bridal party. Those present were Miss Hazel Dimmick of Philadelphia, Miss Vera de Sabis, Miss Virginia Newhall, Miss Elva de Pue, Miss Marjorie Miller, Miss Gertrude Thomas and Miss Margaret Beiden. Miss Dimmick, who will be Miss Martin's maid of honor at her wedding, with Duval Moore next Wednesday, arrived Monday afternoon from Philadelphia. She will be a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin for several weeks.

Mrs. William B. Hooper and Mrs. William C. Lyon have gone to the Hooper farm in Mountain View, where they will remain until after the Easter holidays. William Lyon has gone to Los Angeles on a business trip. He will be away three weeks.

Miss Marian Miller will leave this city Thursday for New York, where she will be joined by her sister, Miss Les-

DOVER-PARIS FLIGHT

Woman Crosses Channel in Plane

LONDON, April 2.—The first woman to cross the channel from England to France as a passenger in an aeroplane, Miss Mary Davis, made the trip today. She accompanied Gustave Hamel, the aviator, who left Hendon at 9:38, passed over Dover at an altitude of 2,000 feet at 10:50 and landed at Saint Inglevert to the southeast of Cape Griznez at noon.

On to Paris

PARIS, April 2.—Gustave Hamel, with his woman passenger, Miss Mary Davis, after a short stay at Saint Inglevert, after the flight across the English channel, made another ascent and flew to Paris, where they arrived at the aviation grounds at Issy les Moulinaux at 5:55 this evening.

Hamel said that they had a fine trip, although he was obliged to keep at a great height to avoid the air currents and eddies.

Miss Davis was proud of the honor of being the first woman to make the flight from London to Paris. She felt no fear, she said, but suffered greatly from cold.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL FOR VASSAR TO CLOSE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 2.—The Putnam Hall school for girls, a preparatory school for Vassar college, will close May 31. According to Miss E. C. Bartlett, principal of the school, the cause of the closing is the school was founded 50 years ago. It was then known as the Brooks seminary.

Milady's Toilet Table

Of all the various means advised for removal of superfluous hairs from face or forearms I have found delatone paste the most effective and satisfactory. It is a gentle delatone with enough water to cover the hairs; apply and after two or three minutes wipe off, and the hairs will be gone.

Some cosmetics tend to darken and discolor the skin. Never use these. If you want a true complexion beautifier, instantaneous in effect, yet harmless and lasting, dissolve an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel and rub a little on the face, neck and arms each morning. Mayatone will not come off or show. It is a powder and keeps the skin soft, fair and youthful looking.

There always is danger of catching cold after washing the head. Dry shampooing makes hair beautifully lustrous and full of life. To make shampoo powder, put a cupful of cornmeal (or four ounces of powdered orris root) in a fruit jar and mix with it an original package of ether. Sprinkle on head and brush out. This brushes out easily and takes with it all dirt, dandruff and excess oil.

As a result of backward spring and unseasonable weather thousands suffer from colds. An old-fashioned remedy is Mother's Salve. In fifty years millions of jars have been used in the most delicate cases of colds, coughs, croup, ordinary cases of sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck and asthma.

Second vice president, Mrs. Guy E. Earl; financial secretary, Mrs. William Keitt; treasurer, Mrs. Charles E. Corrie; corresponding secretary, Miss Janet Haight; secretary of publication, Mrs. George Steacie Leake; general curator, Mrs. E. D. Yester.

The following were elected to the membership committee:

SWEDEN CONSIDERING GRANT OF SUFFRAGE

STOCKHOLM, April 2.—The Swedish government introduced a bill into parliament today extending to women the parliamentary franchise and the right to stand for election to parliament on the same conditions as men. Women whose husbands have not paid taxes for three years are excluded from the vote.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE IS BEATEN IN BAY STATE

BOSTON, April 2.—With the galleries filled with feminine spectators, the house today decided against woman suffrage legislation for the year by a vote of 127 to 85. The senate previously had accepted an adverse report on the suffrage bill.

Self Mastery Is Best Won By Practice--By Ruth Cameron

THE older I grow, the more deeply I am impressed by the intertexture of character—that is, the invariable effect of self-indulgence and lack of control in any one direction upon the whole character.

For instance, I believe that the child who is freely allowed to give way to his temper in his youth, in nine cases out of ten will be the man who gives free rein to his passion in his manhood.

And conversely, I believe that every time a man exerts control over himself in any way—overcomes passion, restrains temper, gives up some self-indulgence, masters his tongue when it would speak foolishly or unkindly, compels concentration, or in any way does the wiser, harder thing, instead of following the course of least resistance, he strengthens his whole character and increases his ability to do not only that particular thing, but each and every one of these things again.

It seems to me it is as if a king should make some strong demonstration of his authority against a rebellious faction in one part of his kingdom, and should thereafter find it much easier to control other factions in the rest of his realm.

Let us imagine, for instance, a man whose doctor has told him he must walk more if he wants to keep well and strong and efficient. "Don't swing on to a street car every time you have a few blocks to travel," the physician has warned him. "Walk, man. If you don't want to rust before your time, you've got to exercise more."

Let us also suppose that this man has a terrible temper, which all his life he has had to fight to control.

Now, some cold, unpleasant morning this man comes out of his office to go down town for his lunch. It is only a 15 minute walk, and he knows he ought to walk it, but just as he comes out of the door he sees the downtown car stopping right in front of him and jumps on. Now, I believe that this man, in doing that, has not only weakened his power to obey the doctor's orders another time, but has also lessened his ability to control his temper.

Suppose some other day this man has been put in a most irritating position and has managed to keep his temper. Don't you think that that success will help him not only to control his temper the next time, but also to do the right thing by his health?

I do.

And because of this intertexture of character, I believe that mothers who are so unselfish that they get their children into habits of self-indulgence do their offspring far more harm than they realize. For the whole texture of the child's character is weakened. Not only will he find it harder to be unselfish, but he will find it harder to control his temper and his tongue, to master his passions or to exert control over himself in any one of the thousand directions in which life will demand it of him.

Perhaps you are laughing at my psychology, and thinking my doctrine of the intertexture of character absurdly strained and overdrawn. If you are, I wish you would watch your own character and see if my theory does not work out true.

Try to see if periods of self-indulgence in any one direction do not weaken your control in all directions; and efforts toward self-restraint and self-government in any one direction do not make you more the master of your whole great kingdom.
