

WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

SILVER fish, moon fish, gold and rainbow fish, translucent and opaque, were brought from Honolulu for the dinner. Not to precede the entrees. Not at all. They were not a course, but a decoration. There were to have been 250, but only 16 survivors, sorrowing in their silent way for perished companions, drifted sadly in the glass tank of the red room. The other 234 had been interred, or something, victims of nostalgia and the sudden change of environment. The survivors looked coldly at guests thoughtlessly eating fish before their eyes and the aquarium at Waikiki.

Yesterday afternoon there was a reception for the survivors, reduced then to 14. Members and guests of the Bohemian club gathered to look at the strange, beautiful creatures which had graced one of the most elaborate dinners in social annals. It cost $200 a plate, and that proves it was especially elaborate, without the fish. The red room was converted into a Hawaiian hut of native grass, and flowers of the tropics were used to adorn it. The table circled a lake for 250 fish.

The host, who was W. R. K. Young of Honolulu, interested in the exposition, desired to anticipate Hawaiian effects of 1915. He imported the fish, with other decorations from the islands, for the dinner. But soon after they arrived last week the fish began to die in a very discouraging way. The chef at the club didn't know what to do for them. They seemed to be cold, but he didn't dare heat the water, for fear of cooking them and destroying their decorative value. Finally, when something had to be done, the survivors were rushed over to the salt water baths in Larkin street, and the temperature proved revivifying. Sixteen recovered for the dinner, and yesterday 14 of them were quite animated at the reception.

The dinner has really never been properly celebrated. After the $200 a plate, which is the most in money a Bohemian chef ever served, there were electrical effects, unestimated financially, but esthetically lovely. One effect was an inspiration of the host, who had a switchboard at his place, and when any one was the least dull flashed green lights, or blue, or any contrast to the color of the moment, and every one was interested. The changing lights played over the miniature aquarium, where thin silver angel fish showed the colors through them, and altogether the dinner was artistic and beautiful and one to be recorded as unique among San Francisco dinners, for all the fatalities in the decorations.

Mrs. George C. Boardman, accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Dora Winn, will leave today for Del Monte, where they will remain a fortnight. About May 15 they will go to Ross, where they have engaged the Barber house for the summer.

The marriage of Miss Albertine Detrick and John Jerome Alexander Jr. was celebrated at 9 o'clock last evening in the home of the bride's father in Hillsdale avenue, Berkeley. Edington Detrick Jr. gave his daughter into the keeping of the groom. The

QUEEN IN TOWN FOR A CROWN Royalty Won by Votes Seeks Insignia

Carolyn Lee St. Clair, queen-elect of the rose carnival at Santa Rosa, with crown and scepter.

Pretty High School Girl to Receive Homage

Carolyn Lee St. Clair Will Hold Court at Santa Rosa

To get her crown and scepter and all the other paraphernalia necessary to the pomp and ceremony of her royal office, the queen elect of the Santa Rosa rose carnival, Miss Carolyn Lee St. Clair, arrived in town yesterday, accompanied by her maid of honor, Miss Gladys Berry.

When the plans for Santa Rosa's annual carnival of roses began to take shape this year it was decided that the queen should come from among the pretty girls of Santa Rosa high school. The voting power was vested entirely in the pupils of the city's schools, and their choice was Miss St. Clair.

Miss St. Clair is a senior, and a few weeks more will see the end of her school days, but she has made herself so popular during her four years in the high school that her victory came with no small majority. On her eighteenth birthday the contest narrowed down to herself and one other girl, the process of elimination prevailing in the balloting matter.

For the coronation, which takes place Thursday evening, May 1, Miss St. Clair will wear a gown of white crepe satin with a court train of white silk, trimmed with tiny Cecil Bruner roses.

Accompanying the queen and her maid of honor are Mrs. F. F. St. Clair, mother of the queen, and Mrs. J. P. Derry, mother of the maid of honor and chairman of the coronation arrangements committee of the carnival.

Today will be filled with more shopping for the royal party before their return to Santa Rosa, where preparations are being made to make this one of the most notable of the yearly carnivals of the pretty Sonoma valley city.

Major Henry T. Ferguson, U. S. A., will arrive in this city from Panama City, where he has been ordered to the quartermaster's department in this city.

Miss Margaret Westlake, whose marriage with Thomas R. Dean will be celebrated April 27, will return tomorrow from a visit with Miss Margaret Dodge in her home in Piedmont.

Mr. Mollie Grinnell will leave shortly for Los Angeles, where she will remain for several weeks.

Lieutenant F. Day, U. S. A., arrived during the week from Panama and is stopping at the St. Francis. He has been ordered to Manila for duty.

During her stay in this city she was extensively entertained by members of the exclusive set. Before leaving for New York, where she will remain for several weeks, Mrs. Sewall will visit in Bath, Me., in the early part of June.

Mrs. Eleanor Martin entertained at an informal luncheon yesterday in her home in Broadway, the guests of honor being Lieutenant and Mrs. Thurman Harrison Bane. Lieutenant Bane has been granted a month's leave of absence prior to his departure for his new station at West Point, which he and Mrs. Bane will spend in St. Helena as the guests of Mrs. Bane's mother, Mrs. Bessie Dichman.

Former Residents of
NEW ENGLAND ORGANIZE Permanent form was given to the organization of the New England Association of California Wednesday evening at a meeting held at the Zalaco hotel. There were about 60 New Englanders present and a plan was outlined to bring more of the brethren to this state and take care of those who will visit here during the exposition year.

Archdeacon Emery opened the meeting and introduced as chairman of the evening Scott Smith of Vermont. J.
M. Palmer acted as secretary. Most of the addresses were informal, the speakers telling of their great love for the land of their birth and their greater affection for the state of their adoption, California.

That there are 700,000 New Englanders in the states and that a state wide movement is to be started to get them all in line was a statement made by Smith. Mrs. George Fairchild, president of the New England colony of Los Angeles, and Mrs. W. W. Deane, secretary of the same society, also spoke.
Letters of regret on their inability to attend were read from Benjamin Ide Wheeler and Judge James M. Troutt.

Milady's Toilet Table
By Mme. D'VILLE
Of all home treatments for the hair, the therox dry shampoo seems to be the most satisfactory by far. There is something about it totally different from any other treatment, and the hair remains so quickly. Put four ounces of powdered ether (or a cupful of corn meal) in a fruit jar and add the contents of a small original package of therox, shaking well together. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush thoroughly. It makes the hair wavy, glossy and lustrous.

To have a fair and lovely skin, to retain the attraction of youth, to keep the complexion clear and beautiful, the face, neck and forearms should be massaged every morning with a solution made by dissolving a small original package of mayotone in a half pint witch hazel. Use this instead of powder. It does not rub off nor show.
Mayotone reduces large pores, eradicates dark and muddy spots and leaves the skin smooth, soft and milklike.
Sometimes a sore may be slow in healing. In cases like this Mother's Ointment is good to use.
For it is suitable as well as healing, and prevents blood poisoning. It quickly heals cuts, burns, scalds, etc. and will also cure
chaps, cold sores, pimples and skin eruptions
when not caused by constitutional trouble.
No woman need be humiliated by wild hair or fuzzy eyebrows. They will vanish quickly if delinated by Mother's Ointment. Mix enough powdered ointment with water to cover the hair surface; apply, and after two or three minutes wash off, wash the skin, and the hair will be gone.

Why Not Regulate Our Diet in Friends—By Ruth Cameron

It is a very common thing for people to regulate their table diet in one way or another. One person tries to eat things that will make him fatter; another endeavors to select a bill of fare which will reduce his weight; an athlete eats muscle building foods, and so on. Now, since we know the beneficial effects of regulation in this direction, is it not strange that we do not more often regulate our diet in other things besides food—friends, for instance?

RUTH CAMERON

A young girl came home in a very unhappy mood from visiting some friends, who, although good hearted people, are most emphatically, of the earth, earthy. They think of little besides clothes and opportunities to display them, and they spend all they can afford and a little more on keeping up appearances. Their visitor is a girl with a very limited income, but she has always managed to pay her bills, dress herself attractively, and be quite content. But the visit seemed to have entirely changed her. She is discontented with her home, critical of her friends, recklessly extravagant in her purchases, and fretfully covetous of the expensive things which she can not possibly afford. Says her mother, "Gertrude shall never visit those people again if I can help it."

If we will stop to think, we will all realize that our various friends have varying and very distinctive effects upon us.

There are those who always turn our attention toward clothes. We talk clothes with them, looking at their new things, tell them about ours and come home thinking of nothing but clothes and fashions and appearances. We have other friends who stimulate us intellectually; they are reading and studying, they are interested in the topics of the day, they are trying to solve some corner of the world's problem, and contact with them soon makes us think that such things are really worth while after all.

Again we have friends who always send us away feeling mightily pleased with ourselves; and others who make us thoroughly ashamed of our insufficiency. We have friends whose strenuous temperaments galvanize us into the desire for constant action; and others who impart some of their own serenity and patience to us. We have friends who curb us with their thoughtful conservatism, and others from whom we take the contagion of their care free optimism.

The man who has a sluggish liver will probably know enough to avoid rich and clogging foods even if he likes them and wants them. And yet how many of us, when we feel as if we wanted the poultice of flattery for some bump or bruise on our self love, know enough to avoid those who will give it to us? How many of us when all aflame with some radical scheme are wise enough to go to the conservative friend for criticism, instead of to the radical for encouragement?

To regulate one's diet of victuals is hard enough; to regulate one's diet of friends would be even more difficult; but for the man or woman who wants a healthy mind and soul, as well as a healthy stomach, it would certainly be worth while.
