

PA HOSPITAL BOARD OF DIRECTORS' MACHINE MEN

Private Secretary and Foreman of Farms are Slated for Removal

By GEORGE A. VAN SUTH

Two sons of Herrin machine darkness are to be shaken off the payroll and administrative regenerates given salaries, meal tickets and lodgings at the June meeting of the Napa state hospital board.

The men to be separated from their jobs and the emolument thereof are W. T. Kelly, private secretary, and R. McKenzie, foreman of farms at the Napa asylum. They are to be succeeded by Joseph T. Brooks of San Jose and Ed Adams of Watsonville.

Private Secretary Kelly was a close friend of his former chief, Dr. Elmer E. Stone, indicted for irregularities in his management of the financial affairs of the institution, and whose trial is to begin in about two weeks.

Brooks, who, according to the inside rumor, is to succeed Kelly, is secretary of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, Ed Adams, who is to get McKenzie's place, is a brother in law to Ed White. They are expected to get their names on the payroll July 1.

HATHORN NOT A CANDIDATE

The friends of Ralph L. Hathorn say that his name will not be presented to the Roosevelt delegation caucus in Sacramento Saturday as a candidate for appointment as one of the San Francisco alternates.

Hathorn was endorsed for alternate and John Gillson for secretary of the delegation by the San Francisco campaign committee of the Roosevelt league. Gillson, quite undismayed by the bumps he has received, seems to be willing to accept the risks attendant upon an independent candidacy.

Hathorn was in Sacramento yesterday, but his friends here have no sense a candidate for appointment to one of the alternates' place. They declared that when he learned of the little chance of his being elected to the San Francisco committee he would be in a grateful but not in a receptive frame of mind.

ASPIRANTS FOR HONORS

Tom Finn and his braves in the senate assembly, co-operating with our ever loving friends from Los Angeles, made a Chinese puzzle out of the legislative map of San Francisco and depicted the city in a way that is a lawful representation in the lower house. They wiped out five assembly districts to the edification of Los Angeles and of some of the legislators in California. California, who contended that the fewer districts there were from which Finn men could be elected the better it would be for San Francisco and the state, contended that the number of districts was not resulted in a corresponding reduction in the number of aspirants for legislative "honors."

The latest recruits to the army of the "willing to serve" boys are Patsy McGee, brother in law to Tom Finn, and Sam T. Kollman, who is not a stranger to the public. In the past McGee has graced the state payroll as an assemblyman and the city payroll as an attaché of the recorder's office under Senator - Recorder - Engineer "Budgy" Nelson.

OPPOSES FINN CANDIDATE

McGee wants to go to the assembly from the new twenty-first district, formerly the twenty-eighth and a part of Finn's assembly. McGee is a law graduate and he has a law firm. He wants to be elected in open and violent opposition to the candidate presented by his distinguished brother in law, Finn, who since his retirement from the sheriff's office has devoted himself to the management of the San Francisco waterfront in conjunction with Mike Kelly. McGee says his intimate acquaintance with his brother in law's methods of creating votes will enable him to provide a perfect antidote, which is to say that Mr. McGee's knowledge of twenty-eighth district politics is repeating is not entirely theoretical.

TRADITIONS OF DISTRICT

Among the men who have represented the district in the lower house are Mr. Finn, Pete Kelly, Walter M. Macaulay and Andrew Cunningham. McGee insists that it is fully qualified to maintain the traditions of the district and he looks with distinct disfavor upon what he believes is Tom Finn's intent to nominate and elect Dan Rimlinger. In administrative circles, where Finn operates, it is understood that Don Cameron is the man of Finn's choice.

Kollman, who seems to be one of the few unlucky members of the old organization who have managed not to be kicked on the payroll, purposes to try for the republican nomination in the new thirty-third district. This district includes the territory now represented by Vic Stragga, who also has a job on the water front.

EQUITABLE PRESIDENT IS GUEST AT LUNCHEON

William A. Day, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was guest at a luncheon given yesterday at the St. Francis by I. W. Hellman Jr., which was attended by many financiers and business men.

Mayor Rolph referred in his remarks to the activities of the Equitable in the days following the fire of April 1906. He paid a tribute to the late Paul Morton, on whose suggestion the society made large loans for the rebuilding of the city.

Day spoke of San Francisco's future and the Panama canal. Because of its great harbor, San Francisco, he said, would be the first city of the west to reap the rewards of increased trade. He praised the newly built city and spoke enthusiastically of the exposition. Among those present were: Frank B. Anderson, Henry Meyer, A. B. Bissell, Antonio Borel, Charles W. Williams, W. Morrison, Charles J. Deering, W. S. Pillsbury, Richard M. Sherman, A. W. Foster, William F. Gerstle, William H. Hays, Timothy Hopkins, William H. Hays, Frank O. Havens, William F. Herring, J. J. Jacobs, R. K. King, B. R. Kirtland, George T. Marry.

SEALS SEES LESS THAT DELEGATES FANS

The Call's Campaign Produces Quality of Playing That Rooters Demand

New Pitchers are Needed, However, and Owners are Asked to Make Good

By WILLIAM J. SLATTERY

The Seals have been playing ball during the last few days. This shows that the team has not been a winner in every game, but it has shown the fighting spirit, its players have gotten together and infused a little life into their work and aside from a couple of partly excusable pieces of bad baseball, the club in general has been delivering the sort of baseball that The Call is fighting for.

The fans are not unreasonable. In fact, they are very reasonable. They do not look for their home team to go right out in front and take the pennant without a struggle. But they do demand that the team they see on the field all the time is a team that is capable of holding its own against any team—a team that can give us good ball.

PLAYERS PROVING MERIT

This campaign has shown that there are players in our local club who can deliver if they are properly appealed to. The talent seems to be there beyond the question of a doubt, but the bench is lacking more than anything else. But when The Call went to the front and demanded better baseball from these men and called the management to account, there was a noticeable change in the way they went about their work as they should have been going at all the time and the fans experienced the pleasant sensation of seeing good ball.

For instance, every game the Seals have lost since The Call took up the subject has been lost by one run. Before they were being hopelessly beaten day after day.

FANS APPRECIATE RESULTS

The team has played minus the services of Captain Kid Mohler during the last few days. Incidentally Manager Danny Long has not been sitting on the bench, but he has been a noticeable presence attached to these facts and there may not. But anyhow, the players responded on each occasion. They gave us the little extra that we were counting on at the close of the season.

It makes no difference to the patrons of the game whether Danny Long sits on the bench or whether Kid Mohler chews the fat. The fans are looking for it is good baseball—winning baseball—the kind which stirs up interest.

Now the people do not care who is at the helm. It makes no difference if Kid Mohler steps out or if Danny Long takes the helm. The people expect the management, the owners of the team, to protect their interests and to put competent men in charge and to appoint a man who can handle the players to the best advantage and who can help win games.

OWNERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

It is all up to the powers behind the club—Cal Ewing and Frank M. Ish. If they are not in charge, the club will be the right manager or the right captain they are open to criticism. They are the responsible persons. They are gaining their revenue through the support of the fans and the fans are the owners of the club. It is up to them to give these people the right sort of ball.

Oakland plays an important part in the Seals' campaign. As the season has been pointed out, the Oakland team is the home team here during half of the season. And while Oakland is fighting the fight, the fans of the Seals come over here by the thousands on some days.

The Oaklanders have had all the better of it thus far. They boast a team that has been playing baseball that has put the fans of the Seals on the fans all over the circuit take off their hats. Oakland is getting international fame through the efforts of its ball team.

San Francisco started the season weak in the pitching staff. Everybody realized this—even the owners and the manager and the players. The fact that several star boxmen were on their way and that San Francisco would soon be in the race for the chestnut and Euro fans naturally have been led to believe that the owners of the team have been joking.

Portland was weak in all departments at the start of the season. McCredie knew it. He did not say anything, but he just opened up his pocket-book and bought a chestnut and Euro fan who have been playing ball ever since—men who will surely gain recognition before the season is half over.

McCredie has brought no less than six players—all stars—out from the east since the season opened. These men—catchers Higginbotham and infielder Butler and outfielder Stone, are all crackers. They have braced up the Portland team and they will lead from later on. That is the way that McCredie does business.

PROMISES ARE FORGOTTEN

The owners of the Seals promised that they would have several star pitchers to help out. Nearly a month ago they were given a chance to make good on their promise. They stepped, even though the other pitchers of the club had been out of form, principally because they were too hard to handle. During the last month McCredie lifted up his six stars to help his team along. The Seals landed only one. If McCredie can get players, why can't Ewing and Ish do likewise? They promised that these players would soon join the club, but we are still waiting.

McCredie has a good record. He has owned and managed of the team. If new players are needed, let the men behind the team get them. Give us the kind of baseball San Francisco is entitled to.

BUILDING FALLS; SLEEPER ESCAPES

Rain Loosens Retaining Wall of the Bushnell Building and Crash Costs $40,000

OAKLAND, May 22.—The E. A. Bushnell building in Broadway near Sixteenth street collapsed and fell into the excavation for the new Kahn building shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. It was only occupied by one person, Prof. W. Palmer, who crawled out as the structure toppled over. No one was injured in the crash, which caused a $40,000 loss to the owner and tenants of the building.

Professor Palmer was sleeping in a room in the upper story when the building began to crumble. He threw on a few garments and escaped through a window to the roof of the adjoining building, slipping out as the room behind him fell outward into the hole. E. A. Bushnell, the owner of the wrecked building, places his loss at $40,000.

Two men, McDevitt and McDevitt, tailors, who occupied the lower floor, said they lost $25,000 by the destruction to their plant, loss of stock and general damage to business.

J. H. Macdonald, Darrow-Hughes company, Seuburger & Eccleston and F. A. Hyde also suffered by the destruction of the building. Hyde said he lost $10,000 worth of papers.

The contracting firm of Suesell & Carroll was partly responsible for the accident, as the statement of Bushnell and Irving Kahn, one of the Kahn building owners. This firm has the contract for removing the earth next the party wall at the Bushnell building.

Bill at Rambler Factory—L. H. Bill, manager of the Thomas B. Jeffery & Co.'s local branch, is at present attending the convention of branch managers at Kenosha, Wis. The present session has been a record breaking year and according to reports the managers are making most enthusiastic reports of the success of the C. G. M. Y. model.

Thompson Back From Valley Trip—Bob Thompson, traveling representative of the National Automobile Club, has returned from a trip through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. He reports a very promising year for most encouraging and says the outlook for continued activity in the automobile trade is truly promising.

Loss of Trip to Utah—Fred Lutz, general manager of the United Motors San Francisco company, left last evening for a trip to Salt Lake City. En route Lutz will stop at Reno to look over conditions in that territory. He expects to be home about a week.

Leslie Limousine for Southern Man—Manager F. B. Kelp of the local Los Angeles branch of the Building Trades council, in speaking yesterday of the calling off of 25 men from the Geary street railroad job, men who belong to the Building Material Teamsters' union, File Drivers' union 77, the United Laborers' association and the United Laborers' union 59, said that the men were ordered to quit because Mahoney Bros., the contractors, were not giving up their position.

He said that some men who the contractors stated that only union men would be engaged in building the road, and that they would be worked under union rules and regulations. One of which is that when three shifts of men are employed on a job, they shall be allowed one hour for lunch. He said that the men were ordered to quit because Mahoney Bros., the contractors, were not giving up their position.

Charge of conspiracy was brought as a sequel to the window smashing demonstration in London, March 12. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was arrested for participating in the damage to property and was sentenced March 22 to two months imprisonment, along with a number of other women.

While she was serving that term in jail, the charge of conspiracy was brought against her. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Miss Crystabel Pankhurst, the last of whom disappeared.

The two women in the book were pathetic figures when the verdict of guilty was brought in. Mrs. Pankhurst clung to the edge of the prisoners' enclosure, trembling visibly and pleaded to be treated as a first class misdemeanant.

Mrs. Lawrence, raising both hands in the attitude of prayer, avowed as she uttered the plea that she was innocent. "May God defend us, as our cause is just."

The prisoners were all sentenced to pay the costs of the trial, which does not involve hard labor. After consideration of the recommendation of the jury for leniency to the charge of conspiracy was "undoubtedly pure motive underlying the agitation," Judge Coleridge said: "If the prisoners had shown contrition I should have acted on the jury's recommendation, but as they have openly declared that they are to continue to break the law I can not make them first class misdemeanants. They are guilty of an offense for which they are liable to two years' penal servitude."

The judge ordered the prisoners to pay the heavy costs of the trial.

TOP TO MAKE STUDEBAKER OWNER FIRST TO LEAVE FOR ATLANTIC OCEAN THIS SEASON

By LEON J. PINKSON

C. H. Owens, a well known business man of Lodi and the San Joaquin valley, accompanied by S. G. Allison of Lodi, and Lee Conklin of Easton Rapids, Mich., left this city yesterday in his Studebaker E-M-F '30 for a journey across the continent. Owens, who is the first motorist this season to leave this part of the state for a trip of this nature, will follow the direct route east as mapped by the American automobile association. He has his car decked with banners of all hues and descriptions, prominence being given to the name of the Studebaker.

Owens' journey is of more than ordinary interest, as it will be supplemented with lectures and advertising in the more important towns through which he will pass. California is to be his theme, the San Joaquin valley and the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915 making up the larger portion of his subject. He has preceded his own coming by announcements in the local newspapers and in the country and when he arrives in each town of importance he will be himself at once the center of attraction. His car will display a wide variety of signs and this golden west will share heavily.

Owens has been one of the moving spirits in the San Joaquin valley for several seasons. He is a firm believer in printers ink and has made many automobile journeys of great length, his latest trip being his second transcontinental tour. On these occasions he has always driven a Studebaker E-M-F. After spending several weeks in Portland, Me., he will return to California, going via the automobile route of the "Three A's." Owens anticipates returning during the latter part of the summer.

Club Luncheon Today—It is conservatively estimated by the promoters of the automobile club project that to-day's luncheon at Tait's one of the largest and most elaborate banquets held in this city will be brought to a successful conclusion. The association will be organized and a program in liberal numbers and they have managed not only to deal with private ownership of the automobile but to make his appearance at the gathering and add his name to the membership list.

Two New Records for Michigan Three—May 22.—The Michigan Three, a car fitted with Michigan tires, made a new record from Polson to Butte, 100 miles, in 1 hour, 30 minutes and 59 seconds. On May 19 with the same car, the Michigan Three, made a new record from Sacramento to Stockton and return, a distance of 90 miles, in 1 hour, 36 minutes and 59 seconds, comprising an other record. The most significant thing is that Cooper used the same car for both trips.
