

NOLAN OBJECTS TO BUGGIES OF STREET BUREAU

"More Men With Brooms" Is Supervisor's Slogan for the Cleaning Department

Superintendent Rogerson Defends Employment of Eight District Foremen

Supervisor Nolan continued his campaign to cut down "overhead" expenses in certain departments of the board of works, operating yesterday on Superintendent Rogerson's street cleaning bureau.

"I want more men with brooms and less men in buggies," said Nolan to Rogerson at the session of the street committee. "In my opinion the eight district foremen, who ride around in buggies, are unnecessary. The money paid to them should be used to engage more sweepers."

Rogerson said that his gangs were sweeping 26 miles of streets more than last year and that foremen were essential. Nolan will continue his investigations on receipt of more information from the board of works regarding the efficiency, numbers and duty of employees.

On motion of Supervisor Glanville the committee denied an extension of time to J. F. Kelley, who has the contract for sewer installation in Twenty-first avenue north of Lake street.

The proposed ordinance providing for the inspection of pipes laid by public utility corporations and a charge against them ranging from $1 to 50 cents for inspection met with opposition from John E. Bohan of the City Valley Water company and J. N. Chamberlain of the Pacific Telephone company and was referred to the city attorney.

The Ocean Shore railway was directed by the committee to remove unused spur tracks in Potrero avenue.

The committee asked the board of works to ascertain whether the Consumers' Light and Power company had the right to lay pipes over the city's auxiliary high pressure water mains in Market street above Fifth.

Money for Laying Mains

The supervisors' fire committee yesterday recommended to the finance committee that the request of the board of works for $90,000 for laying mains of the auxiliary water system for fire protection be granted and also that $10,000 be set aside for plans and specifications for the high pressure system. Permission to install 49 electric meters along Polk street between Sutter and Pacific streets was granted by the supervisors' light committee to the Polk Street Improvement association.

HIGH SCHOOL PAPER PROVES ATTRACTIVE

The Mission Dedicated to Head of Chemistry Department

The "Mission," semiannual publication of the Mission high school, made its appearance yesterday. The magazine is an attractive exhibition of the literary work of the school. It is dedicated to Roy E. Dickerson, head of the chemistry and physical geography department, who during the last term has been treasurer of the student organization.

Harmon D. Skillin headed the editorial staff. He was assisted by Mary E. Cole, Lawrence Kruse, Robert McDonald, Jennie Schwab, Mabel Longley, Florence Hartell, Louis Mueller, William Turner and Monroe Suttler in the editorial department; and Hugo Scamens and Carls Olsen in the art department.

Frank Buttner was business manager of the publication, which has more than 30 pages of well arranged advertising. He was assisted by Seth Millington, Clemens Tice, Gladys Small, Hugh Cochrane and Donald Charnock.

NEWSPAPER MAN TELLS ABOUT WHITE SLAVERY

John G. Lawlor, a former newspaper man, now engaged in sociological work, yesterday addressed the public welfare committee of the New Era league on white slavery at the St. Francis hotel. Mrs. George B. Sperry presided.

CAPID'S WIRES TAPPED; ELOPEMENT LEAKS OUT

Friends Buy Rice And Wait For Jusiweds

A carefully planned surprise that was meant to last until Monday leaked out yesterday when the elopement of Miss Margaret Everett and Frederick William von Schrader Jr. became known to their families and friends in this city. The couple slipped out of the city quietly Wednesday. Von Schrader gave out in his office that he was going to Del Monte to spend the weekend and would not be back until Monday, while Miss Everett announced that she was going over to Oakland to visit friends for a few days.

In reality they both went to San Jose, where they secured the license, thinking their secret safe. The news, however, leaked out. Before another 24 hours the fact was a matter of public knowledge.

Von Schrader's attentions to Miss Everett were first noticed last September, when both young people attended the annual golf tournament at Del Monte. At that time she was engaged to Joseph Rosborough, and, while both she and Rosborough admitted the betrothal, her parents refused to consider it seriously. Since September Von Schrader's attentions had so far increased that while the engagement was never announced it was generally understood by the couple's closest friends.

Wednesday's elopement is the second in the Everett family. Two years ago her brother, Edward Everett Jr., then a sophomore at Stanford university, journeyed to San Jose with Miss Ruth Geraldine Byington, the daughter of Walter E. Byington, a prominent business man of this city, and was married by Rev. J. W. Grefahn of the Episcopal church there.

Miss Everett is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leonard Everett of 2477 Pacific avenue. Her sister, Mrs. Thomas K. Minturn Jr., formerly Miss Dorothy Everett, resides in Fresno. Her father is the manager of the Tubbs Cordage company of this city.

Von Schrader is the son of Colonel and Mrs. Frederick William von Schrader. His father is depot quartermaster and general superintendent of the army transport service of the department of California. The bridegroom is brother of Captain Allyn von Schrader, U. S. A., and of Mrs. Prentiss Bassett. He graduated from the University of Harvard with the class of 1906, and is an attorney in this city, with offices in the Monadnock.

Recently he figured as defendant in a suit for the nonpayment of a tailor bill and was acquitted by a jury of women. The case was brought up for retrial before a men's jury some weeks later, and the decision was reversed.

LUNCHEON GIVEN FOR VISITING NAVAL MILITIA

Commercial Club and Commerce Chamber Entertain

A reception and luncheon to the officers of the naval militia of Washington and Oregon was given yesterday noon at the Commerce club by the club and the Commerce chamber. Alexander Russell acted as toastmaster and Supervisor Byron Maury extended the hospitality of the city on behalf of Mayor Rolph.

Captain George W. Bauer of the California naval militia complimented the officers from the north on their organizations. Captain W. P. Andrews, commanding the Washington naval militia, Lieutenant W. H. Rober and Lieutenant Commander A. J. Capron of the Oregon militia replied to toast.

Among other speakers were John A. McGee, division commander of California naval militia, and Lieutenant B. G. Bartholow, the state instructor.

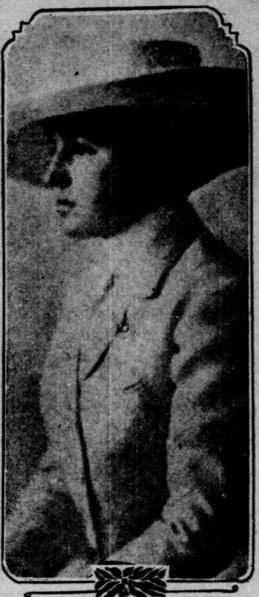

PRESIDENT OF AUCTION COMPANY IS INDICTED

Indictments charging embezzlement were returned by the local grand jury yesterday against M. L. Rose, president and general manager of the Rose Auction company, before Presiding Judge Thomas F. Graham. One indictment charges embezzlement of $3,000 of money on July 1, 1909, and another of stock and furniture on the same date. The jury also indicted W. C. Hughes for abandonment and non-support of his 6 year old daughter, Agnes.

CONTRACT TO WILL CASH IS HELD ENFORCEABLE

Appellate Court Reverses Ruling of Judge Cabanis

A new point of law regarding wills was made yesterday afternoon in a decision of the appellate court in reversing the nonsuit ruling of Judge Cabanis in the case of Charles I. Keefe against Elizabeth A. Keefe, an action to enforce specific performance of an agreement. Keefe is one of the heirs of Susan Keefe, his mother, and Elizabeth Keefe is executrix.

The court held that an agreement that certain property should be left by will was enforceable in equity.

Mrs. Keefe promised to leave Charles I. Keefe a tenth of her estate, but her will did not contain this provision. Judge Cabanis held that the contract was not enforceable. Attorney Henry Conlin represented the appellant.

PAWBROKERS ON THE POLICE RACK

Violators of Law Who Retard Tracing of Stolen Property Censured

Obstacles placed in the way of the police department by pawnbrokers and second hand dealers heretofore have made it almost impossible to recover stolen property; but, if the police commissioners enforce an edict laid down yesterday, these conditions will be changed in the future.

Detectives Bierman and Hoertkorn were the complaining witnesses against a dozen pawnbrokers and second hand dealers yesterday who were on trial before the police commission for failing to make complete records of articles pawned or sold.

In each instance the two detectives said that the pawnbroker had failed to make the detailed report demanded by the city ordinance and the rules of the police department.

Because of the custom of certain pawnbrokers in failing to make this complete report the detectives in times past have been unable to trace articles pawned and in several instances have been unable to retrieve thieves.

Bierman and Hoertkorn obtained conclusive evidence against all 12 of the dealers, and all of them were found guilty yesterday by the commission. Jesse Cook, president of the board, reprimanded all of the pawnbrokers and second hand dealers accused, and told them their licenses would be revoked if they were convicted of a second offense.

Bierman and Hoertkorn were commended by the police commission and Chief of Police White and were granted five days' vacation each with pay.

The 12 pawnbrokers and second hand dealers reprimanded yesterday follow: Albe Cohn, pawnbroker, 1100 Fillmore street; William J. Hesthal, pawnbroker, 110 Kearny street; Charles Weinstein, pawnbroker, 355 Kearny street; Frank Blumenthal, pawnbroker, 31 Post street; Herman Sommer, pawnbroker, 1502 Fillmore street; Goldstein & Jacobs, pawnbroker, 22 Third street; Julius N. Feinberg, second hand, 1224 Ellis street; Charlotte Sommer, second hand, 1122 Golden Gate avenue; Joseph Stern, second hand, 1112 Golden Gate avenue; Charles A. Wagner, second hand, 1838 Fillmore street; Harry Babbe, second hand, 1142 Golden Gate avenue.

THIRD TRIAL DENIED TO ISABELLA MARTIN

District Court Holds Dynamiting Charge Was Proved

The appeal for a third trial by Isabella J. Martin, sentenced to life imprisonment for dynamiting the home of Judge Oden in Oakland in March, 1907, was denied yesterday in a decision of the district court of appeal. The appeal alleged that there was not sufficient evidence to convict and that John B. Martin, an accomplice, was not corroborated. Mrs. Martin's first trial resulted in a conviction, but she was granted a new trial by the appellate court. Mrs. Martin has brought action in the appellate court of the northern district to have the charges in Weaverly dismissed against her, and it is understood that she will make a fight for parole.
