chiffon cloth and there is a high stock of white tulle which is finished in front with a fan shaped arrangement of the same which cascades itself down to the bust. Over this blouse of black and white is put a slim coat of black Chantilly lace which has a high Robespierre collar rolling down into wide points in front, tight sleeves to the wrist and a long peplum that is tight fitting over the hips does not meet in front and drops away to a long back that is arranged in box plaits at the waist line. The belt is of black satin fastened in front with an oblong cameo set in jet and finished at back with one folded streamer which ends at the bottom of the coat and is finished with knotted silk fringe. The long sleeves are fastened with small jet buttons from elbow to wrist and are finished with small frills of white silk net edged with a tiny insertion of black lace. One of the younger girls in society who wears black lace in effective combinations is Miss Innes Keeney and her cousin Mrs. Talbot Walker often wears lace on her afternoon gowns. The blue satin and macramé lace gown worn by Mrs. Templeton Crocker at the Whitman-Crocker wedding was one of the most stunning effects in lace and satin seen this season. Heavy Irish, Venetian point macramé and several of the minor and nameless kinds are admirably turned into jackets with or without sleeves, with fancy belts and either high collars or deep turn-over ones of another color. These are worn over simple slips of satin and marquisette over mullin. They are not as colorful as the jackets of vivid taffeta and satin, which have been taken up with such enthusiasm, but they serve for hours and occasions where a silk jacket would be out of the picture.

It is interesting to read that Mrs. Ava Whiting Astor intends to go out of mourning for Colonel John J. Astor at the end of this month. She gave a small dinner party last week in a screened off corner of the London Ritz hotel restaurant, at which she was dressed entirely in black, save for a mauve flower and a rope of pearls. Her guests were Lady Ripon, Mrs. J. Drexel, Mrs. Cecil Bingham, Lady Lister-Kaye, and a corresponding number of men. The Marchioness of Dufferin has been giving small and very smart luncheon and dinner parties at her pretty house at Putney and Mrs. Astor has been a frequent guest. Last week the marchioness had a party including Mrs. Astor, Lord Basil Blackwood, her brother in law, who is the heir presumptive to the marquisate, Lord Curzon, Earl Howe, and the Duchess of Marlborough. Lord Basil's marked attentions to Mrs. Astor have been much commented upon, and there has been some talk about an engagement, although her friends emphatically deny it. Lord Basil, who occupies an official position in the board of trade labor bureau, is clever and popular, but not wealthy.

One of the new fads recently adopted at Reno and which is not likely to have a vogue outside of that city, is the idea of converting the useless wedding ring into a Swastika pin, as an emblem of future better fortune. It is said that the innovation was made by a prominent eastern divorcee, who has been in Reno for several months and has had time to think up all kinds of some entertainments and fads. It reports be true the other members of the divorce colony have taken kindly to the fashion, and are having their rings made over into the luck emblems. It is said that introduced by any member of the colony are said to be quickly adopted by the remaining ones who did not have the initiative to think of the device. The last word from Reno says that the gold bands are completely disappearing, and that the girls are taking their place as articles of adornment.

Mr. and Mrs. James Potter Langhorne sent out cards last week for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Julia Hayne Langhorne, and Lieutenant James Parker, U. S. N. The wedding of the popular young couple will take place Wednesday evening, August 14, at St. Luke's Episcopal church, and there will be several hundred guests at the church. After the church service the reception at the Langhorne home in Pacific avenue will be attended by a limited number of friends. The marriage service will be read by the Rev. Edward Morgan and the affair will be marked by the brilliant and some naval wedding. Miss Marian Newhall is maid of honor and the two bridesmaids will be Miss Sara Cunningham and Miss Louise Boyd. The best man at the wedding will be Lieutenant Courland Parker, U. S. A., and there will be several other officers who will attend as ushers at the wedding. Lieutenant Courland Parker is coming from Fort Riley for the wedding, and among others coming from the east for the event will be the parents of the bridegroom, Colonel and Mrs. James Parker, who are coming from Georgia. Colonel Parker is colonel of the Eleventh infantry at Fort Oglethorpe, where he will return after the wedding. August. The bride elect is one of the most popular girls in society and there will be many entertainments of an informal sort preceding her marriage with the young army officer.

Letters came last week from Paris telling of the marriage of Miss Clotilde Masson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Masson and Alan Garner, which took place June 17 at Charlie, the country home of the bride's parents, near Paris. The parlor was effectively decorated for the occasion, and after the French custom the civil ceremony took place at home, followed by a religious ceremony at St. Gilbert in Paris. At the home ceremony there were present several French notables, among whom were the minister and mayor of Charlie. At the church afterward the nuptial benediction was pronounced by the cure abbe, Archbishop Boucard of Charlie. The music during the ceremony was a selection from "Thais." There was an elaborate luncheon after the ceremony, followed by a dinner party and a ball in the evening, which was attended by several hundred guests. Among the guests from this city who were at the wedding were Doctor and Mrs. J. Henry Barbat, Alain Garner is a lawyer of the appellate court and has also earned a name as an expert mineralogist. The couple have been touring Switzerland on their wedding trip, but will return shortly to their chateau at Charlie, where they will pass part of the year and the remainder in Paris. Mr. and Mrs. P. Masson, with their attractive daughter, left here several months ago to establish their home in Charlie and before their departure the popular girl was entertained at a series of farewell parties. She has a large circle of friends and was a favorite not only in the social, but also in the musical circles.

The Outsider.

One of the largest functions of the coming week is the marriage of Miss Viola Vander Beugle and Max Nossen, which will be celebrated this evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Vander Beugle, 13 Second avenue. Rev. Dr. Levy will read the impressive service in the presence of about 50 of the couple's relatives and friends. The house will be transformed into a glorfrom an extended European tour, whether she went in company with her mother. It was while traveling on the continent that Miss Hasmer met and became engaged to her fiance, Miss Hasmer is a beautiful girl of the statuesque brunette type. She is a noted pianist and has won marked recognition in local musical circles. The marriage will be a social event of the early fall.

A quiet home wedding was that of Miss Marguerite Gibbons and Jasper Lawrence of Summerfield, N. C., which was celebrated at high noon Wednesday. None but relatives witnessed the marriage ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are passing their honeymoon in the southern part of the state. Their plans for the future are not yet completed, but it is probable that they will make their home in this state instead of in North Carolina, where the bridegroom's family reside.

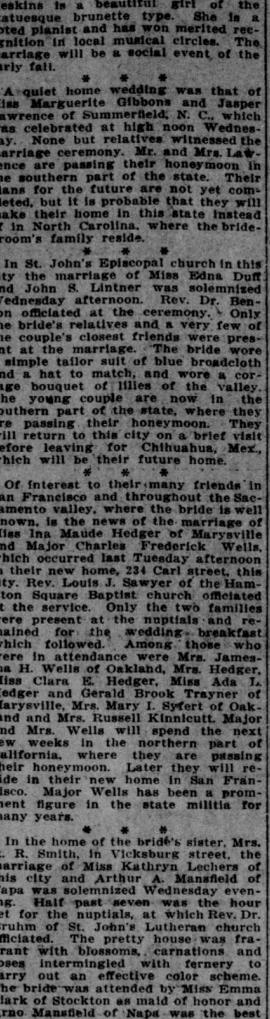

In St. John's Episcopal church in this city the marriage of Miss Edna Duff and John S. Lintner was solemnized Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Benson officiated at the ceremony. Only the bride's relatives and a very few of the couple's closest friends were present at the marriage. The bride wore a simple tailor suit of blue broadcloth and a hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. The young couple are now in the southern part of the state, where they are passing their honeymoon. They will return to this city on a brief visit before leaving for Chihuahua, Mex., which will be their future home.

Of interest to their many friends in San Francisco and throughout the Sacramento valley, where the bride is well known, is the news of the marriage of Miss Ina Maude Hedger of Marysville and Major Charles Frederick Wells, which occurred last Tuesday afternoon in their new home, 234 Carondelet street, city. Rev. Louis J. Sawyer of the Hamilton Square Baptist church officiated at the service. Only the two families were present at the nuptials and remained for the wedding breakfast which followed. Among those who were in attendance were Mrs. James H. Wells of Oakland, Mrs. Hedger, Miss Clara E. Hedger, Miss Ada J. Hedger and Gerald Brook Trayer of Marysville, Mrs. Mary L. Syfert of Oakland and Mrs. Russell Kinnecut, Major and Mrs. Wells will spend the next few weeks in the northern part of California, where they are passing their honeymoon. Later they will reside in their new home in San Francisco. Major Wells has been a prominent figure in the state militia for many years.

In the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. R. Smith, in Vicksburg street, the marriage of Miss Kathryn Lechers of this city and Arthur A. Mansfield of Napa was solemnized Wednesday evening. Half past seven was the hour set for the nuptials, at which Rev. Dr. Bruhm of St. John's Lutheran church officiated. The pretty house was fragrant with blossoms, carnations and roses intermingled with fernery to carry out an effective color scheme. The bride was attended by Miss Emma Clark of Stockton as maid of honor and Auro Mansfield of Napa was the best man. The bride wore the conventional white and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor was in pink and carried bridesmaid roses and the little flower girl, Edna Smith, who is the bride's niece, was in white over pink and carried a basket of love roses. Mrs. Mansfield is the daughter of the late John H. Lechers, formerly a coal broker of the transbay city, where the bride formerly resided. Their engagement was announced last month, and since then the young people have been the recipients of much social attention from a host of friends, both in this city and across the bay. The bridegroom is a prominent business man of San Francisco and is also well known in athletic circles along the Pacific coast.

In the home of the bride's mother Mrs. F. Reuffert, in Lexington avenue the marriage of Miss Lillie Reuffert and Thomas Franche was solemnized last Sunday evening. The pretty home was decorated with a medley of blossoms in tones of pink and white intermingled with evergreens. The bride was dainty in a soft gown of ivory colored silk, with which she carried a huge bouquet of white carnations. She wore no veil, but in its stead a band of illusion in which were twisted a few flowers and maidenhair. Attending her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Bertha Reuffert, whose robe of pink silk was offset by a sheaf of pink carnations. Maurice Allen was the best man. None but the two families were present at the nuptials, which were followed by an informal reception and supper. Mr. and Mrs. Franche are in the south, where they are passing their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in this city, where the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franche, reside, and where his business interests are centered.

MRS. CHARLES MEDLICOTT, Whose marriage was a social event of last Saturday.

Countryman was pretty Miss Daisy Up- night. During the next few days Miss Young will be the recipient of much social attention on the part of her many young friends, all of whom are planning affairs in her honor before August 21, which is the date set for her marriage to Milton Farmer of this city.

Mrs. William H. Barrow has returned from a delightful visit to Paradise Springs and southern California and is now domiciled in her apartments in the Madrid.

Mrs. E. Seymour Young and Miss Helen Young will return this week from the Santa Cruz mountains where they have been spending the last fortnight. During the next few days Miss Young will be the recipient of much social attention on the part of her many young friends, all of whom are planning affairs in her honor before August 21, which is the date set for her marriage to Milton Farmer of this city.

A wedding that came as a surprise to their friends in this city was that of Miss Dorothy Chalmers of San Mateo and Joseph F. Coll, which was solemnized last Saturday evening in St. Matthew's Catholic church in San Mateo. Rev. Father J. F. Dugan officiated. The engagement of the couple had been announced more than a year ago, but until the news of their marriage was made public last Sunday, their friends had heard no talk of the wedding. Only the immediate families were present at the affair. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. T. Chalmers, widow of the late Dr. W. P. Chalmers, formerly connected with the government quarantine service in San Francisco. Mrs. Coll is well known in San Mateo, where of recent years the family has resided. She is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. This bridegroom is associated with the wholesale jeweler's firm of Kremetz & Co. of this city and is a member of the San Francisco Athletic Club. His wife was the maid of honor at the wedding, while J. Morris Chalmers, the bride's brother, was the best man. Mr. and Mrs. Coll are now at Lake Tahoe, where they are enjoying their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Hayward Park, San Mateo, where Coll has built an attractive bungalow for his bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln M. Woodfield have returned from their honeymoon which was celebrated at Lake Tahoe, 681 San Jose avenue. Their marriage, which was celebrated July 13, was held in the home of the bridegroom in San Jose avenue, only the immediate relatives being in attendance. The matron of honor was Mrs. Daisy Lullberg, who recently entertained the bride in her home in San Jose. The bride wore a gray tailor suit and a large picture hat. Her waist was of embroidered lingerie and Irish crochet lace, and she wore a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Woodfield was formerly Mrs. R. Ekstrom of this city.

In honor of the bar-mitsvah of their son, Leslie G. Myers, which occurred at the Temple Beth Israel yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Myers will hold a reception to their friends at their home, 2124 California street, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

In compliment to Miss Maybelle Allan, whose marriage to Thomas Hunter will be celebrated August 7, Mrs. Benjamin Conant entertained a congenial group at luncheon last Saturday afternoon. The affair was held in her home, in Dolores street, which was decorated with pink blossoms and ferns. At the luncheon the bride was showered with many beautiful gifts, including articles of hand embroidered lingerie and dainty pieces of table linen. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Conant's hospitality were Mrs. John G. Watson, Mrs. Emil Hirschfeld, Mrs. Edward N. Borr, Mrs. John W. King, Mrs. Frank A. Oehen, Mrs. Frank Mueller, Miss Christine Gray and Miss Helen Conant.
