

WOMAN'S WORLD

The Smart Set

A VISITOR lately wandered through the gardens of the Bowie place in San Mateo. The Japanese vistas interested him, but he didn't like the stone lanterns. Said they were grown, the granite lamps that come from cemeteries in Japan. He admired everything to the host, who knows more of Japanese art than any other given connoisseur in California. He's more than connoisseur. He's an artist along Japanese lines, so to speak. Paints quite wonderfully in the Japanese manner, and, moreover, always in Japanese costume.

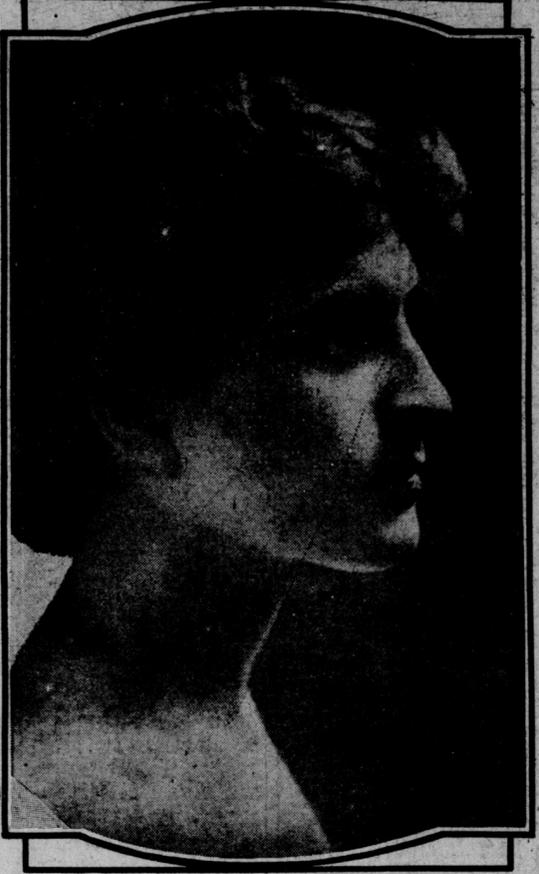

An inspiration to paint will seize Henry P. Bowie. He dashes into his house, first removing his shoes on the threshold, and quickly gets into a kimono. Then he paints. Should the inspiration seize him before noon it finds him in kimono and sandals. Before 12 Henry P. Bowie is a Japanese gentleman. Afterwards he wears tweeds, or whatever they may be. When he entertains Japanese dignitaries the morning costume is worn throughout the visit. In the wonderful house are histories of art with rare concrete illustrations. In the beautiful gardens are other examples in stone and bronze: great basins of floating lilies and bronze storks standing knee deep in the lake.

The point of all this is that no captiously critical guest would try to impress Henry P. Bowie with ideas about stone lanterns or anything else Japanese. It was afterward that the one in question made his effect. He said in Japan the stone lanterns are memorials to the dead. Cemeteries and temple courts are thick with them. He couldn't see why Americans wanted tombstones set in their gardens, at the awful expense they involved, too. He said in Japan if a man's grandmother died there might be a stone lantern to her memory in his garden, but it was his own grandmother's memorial that he regarded. Now how could you tell what sort of a Gilbert and Sullivan character might be honored by a memorial in the Bowie gardens? It was gruesome to think of it and altogether absurd.

Some one tried to explain that monuments of occidental art are memorials to the dead when it came to that. An inspired occidental was quoted. In defense of stone lamps he recently wrote: "If the Japanese erect these ornaments in memory of departed relatives it is indeed a pleasant and artistic manner of record," which ought to cheer any one overcome with a sense of their somber significance.

In the Seson garden at Soquel there are stone lanterns that depress one, as there are in the McCalla gardens at Santa Barbara, where delightful teas are given. But the man said he would as soon take tea in Greenwood. Which proved that having won an effect he couldn't surrender it.

Navy Wedding to Follow Romance of Yacht Races

Miss Barbara Veazie, who will become a daughter of the United States navy through her marriage to Ensign Joseph A. Murphy of Florida.

AT a tea given yesterday in her summer home in Sausalito, Mrs. William Everette Veazie announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Barbara Veazie, to Ensign Joseph A. Murphy, United States navy.

The romance of the couple was started during the period of the Santa Cruz yacht races, when Miss Veazie was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Commodore Pickler on their yacht "Harpoon."

The bride elect is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Everette Veazie. Her father is connected with the Pacific Mail Steamship company of San Francisco. She is a niece of Admiral F. M. Bostick, former commander of the Mare island navy yard.

Ensign Murphy attended the naval academy in Annapolis, from which he was graduated in 1909. The family home is in Florida, where, at the conclusion of their honeymoon, Murphy will take his bride on a visit to his parents. At present he is on duty with the cruiser Denver, bound for the Mexican coast.

The marriage of Miss Veazie and Ensign Murphy will be celebrated in Sausalito before the close of the fall season.

She was formerly Miss Sally Yarlington and passed her school days at the Sacred Heart convent at Menlo Park. They were married this summer in Washington, D. C., and have been traveling in the east on their wedding journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Duplessis Bevard will pass the later summer days in Santa Barbara and will be accompanied on the southern trip by Miss Sophie Bevard, who will be a debutante in town this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret McEneaney will lead tomorrow for the east and Europe. They will sail within a fortnight for the old world and will be away for three or four months, passing most of the time in Germany.

Miss Gene Baker entertained at an elaborate luncheon yesterday in compliment to Miss Merle Madden, who is visiting here from New York and who has been feted at a succession of teas and luncheons during her stay. The decorations at the luncheon yesterday were Shasta daisies. There was a score of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Martin are at "Stag's Leap," the Horace Bunchard Chase country home, but will return to their Burlingame home about September 1 after passing the summer out of town.

A. L. Peyer and his daughter, Miss Dorothy, will leave Saturday for New York on an extended trip throughout the east. They will visit Boston, Washington and other eastern cities and expect to be gone about two months.

DOMESTIC ART A UNIVERSITY WOMAN EXPERT FOR 'UNIQUE COURSE'

BERKELEY, Aug. 21.—Miss M. L. Kissell, one of the recent additions to the faculty of the University of California, started instruction in her new course for women in domestic art, whether in weaving or in basketry.

The course, intended as the precursor of a college in household economy, combined the utilitarian with the cultural in textile study. Miss Kissell is an authority on weaving and basketry, both of modern and aboriginal peoples. She made frequent visits to Europe and to remote regions, and among the Indians of the desert she studied at first hand the art of basket weaving and blanket making.

For the practical course she will teach women to choose cloth. Under her they will learn to detect shoddy goods, to find the proportion of wool in a weave, to find if silk has too much "dressing" and is likely to tear, which grades of wool wear best, whether strong acids have been used in bleaching and have injured the fabric, whether the cotton was picked green and is likely to tear easily or to fade, how to wash the material without fading them and how to combine colors in dress and in decoration.

For the cultural she will teach the history of fabrics and the symbolism of the patterns used by oriental peoples or by Indians.

With special training at Columbia university and elsewhere and years of personal investigation she is perhaps America's best authority in textiles.

VARSIITY COUPLE ARE MARRIED

BERKELEY, Aug. 21.—St. Mark's Episcopal church was transformed into an old fashioned garden of flowers to-night in honor of the marriage of Miss Helen Montague Young and Milton Farmer. Stalks of white, hollyhocks, masses of asters and sweet peas mingled with the heavy green of ferns and palms. Eight hundred guests witnessed the ceremony, which was read by Rev. Edward Lamb Parsons. The wedding gown of ivory charmeuse was trimmed in rare old lace which had adorned the bridal robes of the bride's grandmother and mother. Pearls were used with the sprays of orange blossoms, which fastened in place the long lace veil. The shower bouquet was made of orchids and lilies of the valley, caught with knots of tulle.

The girls of the bridal party, including Miss Edith Farmer, Miss Lela McKibben, Miss Alice Porterfield, Miss Edith Carew, Miss Mabel Sadler, Miss Lucy Phillips and Miss Margaret Willet, wore similarly gowned in robes of pale green charmeuse elaborated in chintilly lace. They were made with the panner effect. The attendants carried golden baskets clasped with white sweet peas and finished with butterfly bows of tulle.

Assisting the bridegroom were William Hayes, Ray Hayes, Farnum Griffith, Chester Allen, James Burke, William Donald and Herman Pfleger.

The wedding is particularly notable in university circles, where the couple have been married for some time. He is a descendant of the well known family of Seymour which figured prominently in the history of New York state.

PARISH WOMEN TO HELP POOR

OAKLAND, Aug. 21.—Sewing for the poor of the parish will be begun by branch No. 1 of the Catholic Ladies' Aid society Friday afternoon. The officers have met and arranged for resuming activities. Several meetings are scheduled for the near future, among them being a gathering Monday evening to choose delegates to the convention of the De Mat. and Mother September 2, when a program will be given and informal matters discussed.

WOTE BROADENS WOMAN'S SPHERE

SAN LORENZO, Aug. 21.—The sphere of woman, formerly bounded by the walls of her home, has been expanded to include the community since she was given the power of the ballot, according to Probation Officer Christopher Ruess, who opened the work of the San Lorenzo Civic center with an address today. His subject was "The Child Problem: The Key to the Social Problem."

"In her home the true mother is impartial," said Ruess. "If any child receives special care, it is the crippled or unfortunate child. Now the mother of the larger home must have that attitude toward every child. She will see to it that every child of the poor, as well as her own, shall have an equal chance with the commanding general, a health, education, good home conditions and safe guidance to manhood and womanhood. She will want every unfortunate child to have a double share of care."

"The mother who votes, therefore, will have an opportunity to assert her larger motherhood and to take a stand on social problems."

Ruess declared that the chief business of any community was the proper rearing of children. He said that a mother should not trouble herself about casting her vote in such a way as to assist her husband's affairs, but should cast her vote where it would do the most good for her children and the other children of the community.

6,000 MILES TO BECOME BRIDE

BERKELEY, Aug. 21.—Rev. L. A. McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated this morning in his home at the marriage of Eric Spencer McKay, an artist of Piedmont, and Miss Constance Lillian Jenkins. The bride came yesterday from Melbourne, Australia, for the wedding. She had become engaged to Mackay while both were students at the Australian national school of art, where she was the first woman to win the highest scholarship honors. Both artists have traveled considerably in Europe.

STATE FAIR GETS GRASS VALLEY CAROL SINGERS

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21.—The Grass Valley carol singers, famous throughout the valley, will be a feature at the state fair Sunday, September 15. The singers accepted today the invitation of the Sacramento music committee, which has charge of the program for that day. W. D. Harris, leader of the carol society, announced he would bring down 50 singers.

A Suggestion or Two for Happiness—By Ruth Cameron

TO take all my work that I possibly can outdoors, and to bring outdoors in to me as much as possible" is the spring and summer motto of the lady who always knows somehow.

Every pleasant morning—and pleasant means every morning when it is not actually raining—I see her out on her back porch sewing, preparing vegetables, beating a cake or doing any other task which can by any possibility be attended to there.

In the spring and summer she does all her ironing out of doors, and when she has much stitching to do she has her sewing machine brought out on the porch.

Bringing outdoors indoors means, of course, having all the windows open as much as possible.

The lady who always knows somehow is very well and strong. She gives much of the credit to the plentiful supply of fresh air with which she enlivens her household duties.

It seems to me that a great many housewives might with advantage follow her lead in this.

"It has been a habit of mine since leaving school, and even before that," writes one of my reader friends, "when I came across a quotation or a thought beautifully expressed that I felt would help me, to write it down and put it where I could see it very often, for instance on my dresser, until I had memorized it. This has been such a wonderful help to me that I wanted you to suggest it to your readers. Now I am a 'business woman' and I find it even more useful. Sometimes that one verse or thought will occur to me again and again during the day and of course it can not help but benefit me. Very often it is a real inspiration when I become discouraged."

"Then, too, I believe in passing these thoughts on. I often copy one off and send it to some girl I know would enjoy it."

I am very glad, indeed, to pass along this suggestion, for I do not believe there is one of us who has not been helped at least once, most of us many times, by remembering some inspiring sentiment in a moment of storm and stress, or a time of difficult decision.

We all approve of laying by material wealth for a rainy day. Surely it is also well to lay by mental and spiritual wealth for the stormy day of depression or sorrow or temptation.

I thoroughly recommend my letter friend's idea. Don't just read and admire the helpful bit of poetry or striking sentiment. Perhaps you think you will remember it from one reading, and maybe you will for tomorrow, but the day after tomorrow it probably will be gone. Cut it out or copy it and put it on your desk or your dresser or your sink, any place it is there until it becomes an integral part of your gray matter, almost as unforgettable as your name.

In this way, and in this way only, can you make it really your own and be sure of its help when you most need it.

DR. D. J. HILL'S DAUGHTER HURT IN AUTO CRASH

INGOLSTADT, Bavaria, Aug. 21.—The family of Dr. David Jayne Hill, formerly United States ambassador to Germany, suffered a bad automobile accident near here today. While endeavoring to avoid a wagon passing along the road, the chauffeur swerved abruptly and drove the machine into a tree. One of Doctor Hill's daughters was seriously injured.

FOURTH CASE OF RABIES IN CITY PROVES FATAL

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21.—The fourth case of rabies reported in San Francisco this year was received today by the state board of health from Dr. R. G. Broderick, city health officer. The case was that of John J. Rohrer, a married man who died July 20, six days after the symptoms of rabies had developed. It was proved that Rohrer had been bitten by a puppy June 18.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

C. L.: The hot sun and wind will not injure your skin, even though it is delicate, if you use a spumax lotion each day. This lotion is made by adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine to 4 pint water where you will half unconsciously use spumax. Powder and rouge are unnecessary when the spumax lotion is used, and if you apply the lotion every day you will find that it banishes tan and freckles and dispels the oily, shiny, greasy film which makes the complexion invisible when on and is not affected by wind or perspiration.

Myra: Each night apply pyroxin to wash roots with thumb and forefinger where you will half unconsciously use pyroxin. Your eyebrows will grow thick and heavy by rubbing on pyroxin with finger tip. Be careful not to get any on where hair is not wanted.

Dorothy D.: No harm results when delatone is used to banish hairy growths. Just make a paste with some delatone and water, spread over the hair and in 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin, and every trace of hair or fuzz has vanished. Rarely is it necessary to use more than one application of delatone.

B. A.: Of course, you can not make your hair look bright and pretty, because soap was never intended for shampooing. Dissolve in 2 cupful water a teaspoonful of a soft soap, and wash the hair with this mixture. It will be firm and the skin free from wrinkles. No possible danger results from using the pyroxin treatment, and there need be no fear of the fat returning once the treatment is discontinued.

X. L.: An excellent hair and scalp tonic for summer months is made by adding 1 ounce quinzoin to 1 pint alcohol. Most instantly soothes the burning and stops irritation. Its continued use encourages a beautiful growth of silky, brilliant hair. It is a good idea to use this shampoo occasionally with castor oil (see answer to B. A.), then use the quinzoin tonic once or twice each week.

HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK

One of the interesting weddings of the month will take place Saturday at Ross when Miss Helen Chesbrough will become the bride of Crawford Greene. The ceremony will be performed in St. John's Episcopal church and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Coffin. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Sara Coffin, who recently returned from abroad, and the two bridesmaids will be Miss Helen Chesbrough and Miss Nellie Drown.

They will wear lingerie dresses and picture hats. Jack Kittle will be best man at the wedding and the ushers will be Chauncey Goodrich and Dr. James Whitney.

Mrs. Theodore Wores will entertain at tea this afternoon at the Wores residence in the home of the hostess. The guests will be Miss Catten and the Misses Hartwell of Honolulu, who are visiting in the city. Miss Catten will remain here until October, but the Misses Hartwell will return to their home in a few weeks.

Miss Mary Hellmann entertained informally last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hellmann at their home in California street. Miss Hellmann will leave tomorrow for St. Helena, where she will remain a week.

Dr. and Mrs. P. L. Wheeler and the Misses Pauline and Katherine and their two young sons, Grant and John, returned to their home in Devisadero street after a trip in the Yosemite valley.

Mrs. C. P. Morse of Honolulu will pass the later summer days in Santa Barbara and will be accompanied on the southern trip by Miss Sophie Bevard, who will be a debutante in town this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret McEneaney will lead tomorrow for the east and Europe. They will sail within a fortnight for the old world and will be away for three or four months, passing most of the time in Germany.

ASTOR'S WIDOW IS SATISFIED

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A formal statement given out by counsel for Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, in reply to persistent reports that a contest of the John Jacob Astor will be contemplated, says:

"Mrs. Astor has always expressed entire satisfaction with the provisions made for her by her late husband. She has not now nor has she ever had any desire or intention to dispute the validity of the antenuptial agreement or the will."

"As for setting aside the will, any lawyer of the slightest experience would not advise that it possibly could be done. All of the provisions comply strictly with the laws of the state. In reference to the article of the will providing for posthumous children, it must be said that while the fund of $3,000,000 seems to be rather small in view of the large estate Colonel Astor left and as compared with the sum William Vincent Astor will receive, it is nevertheless a large fortune and ample for the heir's maintenance and education. It is likely, moreover, that this trust estate will quadruple by the time the child is 21 years old."

ASPIRING JUDGE TELLS TROUBLES

Before an enthusiastic meeting of the Woman's Political League of California, which convened in the Pacific building yesterday afternoon, Emil Pohl, candidate for superior judge, addressed the voters on the qualifications for judgeship.

Pohl told of the handicap under which a man, who never held the office of judge, was obliged to work to attain success. He instructed his hearers on how they could obtain the knowledge of the two necessary qualifications—that of honesty and competency. The latter, he said, could be obtained through any attorney, and the former could be learned from the candidates, friends, neighbors and the people with whom he traded.

Pohl asserted it was more necessary for a judge to be honest than to be learned in technicalities.

Dr. Blanche Sanborn also spoke, recalling the good work Pohl did for cause of woman suffrage in the recent campaign.
