

HARBOR JOB IS GOAL OF FOOD JOHNSON BOYS

Senator Beban Given Wharfing's Position as Reward by Governor

Hiram Must Have Votes and Water Front Plums Make It Easy Going

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH

Governor Hiram W. Johnson bought the votes in the legislature of State Senator Dominic J. Beban with a place on the San Francisco water front carrying a salary of $150 a month.

That is the confession of Harbor Commissioner Thomas S. Williams and his explanation for the appointment of Nic Beban, vice Thomas S. Blight, a state collector, according to the positive statements of Subtreasurer William C. Ralston.

Dominic J. Beban, wharfinger at $150 a month, is another of the reasons for the opposition of Progressive Tom Finn and Governor Johnson to home rule for the San Francisco harbor.

If there were no water front for the placing of the Bebens, Bryants, Sbragias, et al. of the Finn gangsters in the state legislature they might not be the shining lights that they now are in the "progressive" army.

WATER FRONT GAME OPEN SECRET

It has been an open secret for more than a year and a half that the governor was using the San Francisco water front to pay for the votes he rounded up in D. W. Jones' case. Heretofore the State senate in defiance of the direct primary law and the expressed will of the people. Some of the more intelligent legislators were bought by the "handy boys" and placed on state commissions. The San Francisco water front has been used to pay off the "low brow" and the "handy boys" of the Finn crew.

While all this has been no closed matter to the public, it did not have the frank confirmation of a member of the harbor commission until Williams explained to Subtreasurer Ralston why Wharfinger Blight must be separated from the state's payroll.

Blight was appointed to the water front service about eight years ago. He entered the service as a collector and subsequently was promoted for merit until about a month ago.

Prior to the date of his dismissal, Ralston, according to his own statement, met Harbor Commissioner Williams and asked him what were Blight's chances of retaining his position. Here is his version of the illuminating interview:

"I asked Williams," said Ralston, "what were Blight's chances of remaining in the employ of the commission. He replied that Blight must go, saying, 'You know how these things are done, senator. The governor wants the place. He has promised it to Senator Beban.'"

"Williams further explained to me that the governor had been compelled to promise that and other places to members of the legislature in order to get some of his measures through."

"Blight was promoted for his progressive services as quickly as Eddie Bryant, Vic Sbragia, Frank Rodgers and some of the other Finn men, who got to the payroll shortly after the inauguration of the legislature, but who were not into the enjoyment of his wages now, and, according to Commissioner Williams' explanation of the affair, the state treasury has made her home there for some years."

CITY TREASURER WANTS ESTATE TAXES SETTLED

Seeking to expedite the business of the city treasurer, a petition was filed with Judge Thomas F. Graham yesterday by Treasurer John McDougald, asking that a definite day be fixed each week by the courts for receiving the reports of inheritance tax appraisers. The request also was made that applications for distribution of estates be called to the treasurer's attention so that investigation might be made to determine if trust deeds had been entered into before the death of the decedent for the purpose of avoiding the inheritance tax law.

10,000 MELONS FOR FEAST PARADE MARKS BACKS TURLOCK Generous Host to Visiting Throgs

15,000 on Hand AS Two Days Carnival Opens

By ARTHUR L. PRICE

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

TURLOCK, Aug. 22.—Four handsome girls of the Turlock district in regal raiment hold sway over Turlock—Queen Anna of the Kingdom of Watermelon and her gracious maids of honor, Miss Esther Samuelson, Miss Amy Clark and Miss Jennie Wejmer; and in a crowded tent near the royal court four brawny halberdiers—at least they were armed with knives as long as halberds—cut, quartered, decimated the green rinds and the crimson pulps of four car loads of watermelons; for today the Turlock watermelon carnival was at its height—is at its height—for the night is filled with laughter and music and the street is filled with dancing feet and watermelon rinds. Heretofore the watermelon has appeared only in a comic aspect, never before in the regal. The watermelon has been considered a comic supplement to life in Dixie and a decorative feature at a feast, but I dare say no community ever before knighted the watermelon as Queen Anna did today and then made a night of celebration over the watermelon prosperity. Also, it might be said, heretofore the slicing of the melon has been considered a treat for Wall street insiders. After all the lambs and outsiders had sold their stock for nothing, the mighty Astors of finance would suddenly discover the business was paying and that it would be safe to declare a dividend of 200 per cent—generously safe, since none of the up-generately could be able to participate; then the dividend would be declared and a stranger coming from the page of the Wall Street Journal would be "Another melon cut where it will do the most good."

HOW TURLOCK CUTS

Turlock cuts the melon, and cuts it where it will do the most good, but it does not freeze out the outsider. Nothing like frost in Turlock, at least not this balmy August day. The only thing that freezes in Turlock is the disgust; its mercury tube was punctured, but the natives will tell you that it is a pleasant, cool day with a fine breeze blowing from somewhere. To a stranger coming from the hardy breezes of the Richmond district the local breeze was accepted in a spirit of incredulity.

It started last evening when Queen Anna was crowned. In her private life Queen Anna is Miss Anna Lundell, the belle of the Hillmar colony, four miles south of here. The Hillmar colony is settled largely by thrifty and industrious Swedes, and the Lundell ranch is one of the most profitable in the district. Miss Lundell, or Queen Anna, for the purposes of this sketch, is a young, handsome, stately blonde, with regular features and masses of golden hair. She is a splendid queen and her dignity and graciousness have won the applause of every Turlock. Her maids of honor are all Turlock girls. The other maids of honor are the exception of brown haired Miss Jennie Wejmer, the maids of honor have the blonde coloring of the queen.

ANCIENT QUEENS OUTDONE

They make a royal group as they sit on the throne of the exhibition tent or circulate through the town of their royal subjects in a gorgeous automobile, canopied with the red and green and yellow of the Turlock district. Queen Elizabeth nor Queen Anne ever rode in such an automobile as does Queen Anna and her court. The girls are under the patronage of the Women's Improvement club and Mrs. Keller is entertaining them at her home the greater part of the carnival. The prominent business men and the leading citizens of the Turlock district are leading in the carnival movement.

The executive committee of the carnival is composed of the following: J. V. Baker, chairman; C. V. Lundahl, secretary; E. B. Osborn, treasurer; A. P. Ferguson, G. S. Keith, F. W. Keller, W. Brown, T. W. Cheney, W. H. Lockwood, R. V. Blewett and Ed Varnum. The two last named are the purveyors of the watermelons and they surely are first class purveyors. The watermelon tent, crowded with visitors, is filled with the Swiss of the cutting knives guided by the sturdy hands of the four Halberdiers.

PARADE OPENS PROGRAM

The festivities started last evening at 7 o'clock, when the streets were illuminated. At 7:30 there was a parade, in which 30 automobiles participated. The parade led to the big tent, and there the coronation ceremonies were held. Chairman J. V. Baker of the celebration committee called the gathering to order and first introduced Rev. J. U. Simmons, pastor of the Turlock Methodist church, who spoke happily of the benefits of good cheer and plenty of watermelons. E. B. Osborn then crowned the queen and presented her with the keys of the city and the scepter which has the magic quality of compelling the watermelons to open their hearts to the queen. There were vaudeville sports on the stage and the concessions began to gather their harvest of nickels and dimes. On an open platform there was dancing for the youth of the town. Watermelons were served with that rare generosity which is conspicuous in Turlock and which is lacking in other places where watermelons have to be imported.

In estimating the number of watermelons that would be distributed, Chairman Baker said the average weight of the Turlock melon is 20 pounds and there are therefore 100 meals to the ton, 1,000 melons to the carload and 10,000 to the carnival. The Turlock business is not their greatest; that are marked for distribution today and tomorrow in this watermelon carnival.

ANOTHER PARADE TODAY

It surely is a watermelon carnival; there can be no doubt about that. This morning the first grand industrial parade of the carnival was held and there is to be another tomorrow. The parade was two miles long and contained, in addition to the queen's float, three floats and a band from the Hillmar colony, the royal precincts which gave Queen Anna to the carnival.

The uniformed ranks of the Maecabees and the Turlock Carpenters' union and all the business houses in Turlock were represented by floats. There were four bands in the parade showing the activity in that branch of farming.

The Denair colony had six creamery wagons in the parade showing the activity in that branch of farming. The Turlock people say, in fact, that the melon business is not their greatest reliance, but is merely a side issue to the greater products of the district. They showed a strain of genius when they selected the melon as the center of their show. The watermelon has a humorous quality, perpetuated by the quaint cartoons of Kemble and the other illustrators of dorky types, and we associate it with the comic relief of Dixie.

15,000 GUESTS ATTEND

Here in Turlock is both a light and a heavy consideration—light in that it furnishes a background for the festival and heavy in that the gold returns that the melons bring.

This afternoon there was a parade of horribles with sports for the youth and the judges began their work in the dairy and poultry exhibition.

Tomorrow morning there will be an industrial parade and in the afternoon the Turlock fire department will prove its prowess.

At night the carnival sports and dancing are on. Fully 15,000 people were in Turlock today, basking in the warmth of the sun. The early days of the carnival, when the watermelons were sold for $20 an acre and in other ways enjoying investigation, it is believed locally that the Southern Pacific's new idea of lunch counter cars will be accepted in the east.

James B. Duffy, general agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, will take office locally on the first of the month as general agent for the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique in the beginning of the campaign of that company for Panama canal trade. Duffy will continue with the Santa Fe lines and manage its shipping interests.

OIL OPERATOR WILL SUPPORT HIS CHILD

On This Condition Court Dismisses Case Against Him

After a statement had been made by the attorney in the case, asking that the charge against Isador Hirschfeld, oil promoter, accused by his wife of non-support of their 3 year old daughter, be dismissed because the defendant had agreed to contribute to the support of the child, Police Judge Shortall yesterday granted the request and the case was stricken from the calendar. Counsel for Mrs. Hirschfeld announced that Hirschfeld had agreed to pay $50 a month.

Supt. McLaren Reports to Ralph on Advisability of Purchasing Tract

At the meeting of the park commissioners yesterday Superintendent McLaren presented the following report on Ralph's request for an expression as to acquiring of Twin peaks for the public:

I find it admirably adapted for the purpose, first, because it is the most striking topographical feature of our city, and second, because of the beautiful outline of the peaks and also because of the splendid views that they command embracing practically the entire city and the wooded valleys to the west, also of the city itself.

The property contains 51 acres. Every acre is valuable for park purposes. In addition to the 51 acres, I would suggest that you consider the acquisition of a tract of land not less than 150 feet wide connecting Corbett avenue with the city peaks property, to be used as an approach to the park. A good point for this junction is about Burnett avenue, as at that point the grade of Corbett avenue is little below the level of the land situated immediately to the east of the park. A driveway could be built on easy grades and on pleasing lines to the park round the Twin peaks and the hill pressure test road to Clarendon bridge road to Ashbury street and Golden Gate park.

This addition to the project would make the park easily accessible from the south and would obviate the necessity of entering and leaving at the same point.

The secretary was directed to send a copy of this report to the mayor and to the board of supervisors. He is authorized to act as a "rube" audience in two circus scenes, was thrown on the canvas. Salvoes of applause greeted the entertainment.

The ball began shortly after 11 o'clock and was participated in by several hundred couples. The floor, thanks to the committee in charge, was in perfect condition, and the music, by the Islam Shrine band, was of the breezy, catchy kind. On the musical program were such selections as "Everybody's Doing It," "Bunch of Rags," "Daisies Won't Tell" and "You Know."

Following the dancing, refreshments were served. The famous "Shiner" punch made and served from a silver cut glass punch bowl, scored several scores from a majority of the guests. Dancing continued until after midnight.

Following are the members of the various committees:

PARK REFORMATION SOUGHT

The same committee reported that it is interesting itself in the matter of securing a $15,000 appropriation for the improvement of Buena Vista park. Secretary William H. Hendricks, president of the commission called attention to the fact that the commission intends to place a director of play in Holly park. It was decided to allow the director to go on the park for a month to discover how "this will work" and to ascertain if there will be any conflict of authority.

HATCHET WOMEN ARE RILED BY A SHERIFF

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The British suffragettes indignantly today because sheriff's deputies entered the country house of Mr. and Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence, two of their leaders, visiting in Canada and ordered the furniture sold to pay costs of the recent conspiracy prosecution. Mr. and Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence were sentenced to nine months' imprisonment, May 21, for the same offense, for inciting their followers to malicious damage of property, and were liberated June 31.

The Women's Social and Political Union issued a statement saying in the nature of persecution, because the windows broken by suffragettes had been replaced by the insurance companies, and the tradesmen had obtained a good advertisement through the affair.

The union points out the promoters of the recent coal strike in London caused infinitely greater loss to the community than the suffragettes had done, and were allowed to go unpunished.

Arnold Suggests Extra Drive in Geary and Other Streets for Fast Vehicles

Dressed in their best bibs and tuckers and with smiles beneath their red faces that denoted a welcome for all, the Shriners of Islam temple last night entertained several hundred friends and guests at a grand ball and moving picture exhibition in the Scottish Rite auditorium at Sutter street and Van Ness avenue.

The building was lighted from top to bottom and the great ballroom decorated with the national flag. Automobiles and taxicabs continually disgorged handsomely gowned women and their more soberly dressed escorts, who were received and presented by a committee of Shriners, headed by Gerald L. Dillon, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The pictures, shown last night for the first time, were taken exclusively for the local Shriners by Selig. They depicted the shrine parade at Los Angeles, which was held May 3, stereoscopic views of the 1912 Shriner boosters' competitive drive at Arcadia, showing the winning team and the visit of the boosters to Selig's Los Angeles studio. The big hit of the evening was made when the old stage coach, in which Islam nobles and their wives were permitted to act as a "rube" audience in two circus scenes, was thrown on the canvas. Salvoes of applause greeted the entertainment.

The ball began shortly after 11 o'clock and was participated in by several hundred couples. Beware of Piano Sales Where Used Steinways Are Offered Too Cheap

Recent advertisements of several San Francisco piano dealers offer for sale Steinway Pianos at $100, $124 and $155. We want the public to know that these advertisements are misleading and improbable. No piano dealer can or will sell you a Steinway piano at such prices.

Sherman, Clay & Co. are the exclusive representatives for Steinway Pianos in California (north of Tehachapi) and will pay cash for uprights as follows:

$350 for Steinways 5 years old

$300 for Steinways 10 years old

$250 for Steinways 15 years old

$200 for Steinways 20 years old

$175 for Steinways 25 years old

Therefore, if any piano dealer has a Steinway Piano he wishes to dispose of, he need not advertise the same at such ridiculous prices as $100, $124 and $155, as he can sell the same to us according to the prices quoted above. These are simply misleading advertisements where certain dealers try to get unsuspecting purchasers into their stores, and if possible, to sell them a cheap instrument.
