WHEEL OF BRIBE FOR VOTE BARED BY SUPERVISOR

Member of Alameda County Board Creates Sensation in Saloon License Debate

Accuses San Lorenzo Man of Promising Money for Coveted Liquor Permit

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—Money was offered to Supervisor Daniel J. Murphy for his vote on a saloon license in San Lorenzo sought by James E. Duncan, according to Murphy's statement before the board of supervisors today.

MURPHY MAKES CHARGE "Mr. Duncan," Murphy said, rising and pointing his finger at the applicant, "I am going to vote against your application and I am going to tell you why. You came up to my camp last Saturday with a party of friends. I did not know you then. One of your friends sought me out and told me that you understood I would vote on this license the same as Supervisor Bridge voted. He said that you were sure of two votes and that you were prepared to spend money if necessary, 'I want to tell you that you or no other man can get away with anything like that with me. You can't bribe me to swerve one inch from my duty as I see it. For that reason, if for no other, I am going to vote against you.' 'Whoever said I offered money is a liar,' said Duncan.

DUNCAN HELDS THE LIE "Well, then, Simonds is a liar," said Duncan. "If that is the way it is we might as well go," said Walsh to Duncan, and they went away together. The board then denied the application.

Duncan wanted to reopen the bar at the old Willow hotel, San Lorenzo. There was opposition, and George Helms of the district attorney's office reported that residents of the town said that Duncan had been in business with Jimmy Lawler, dive keeper and convicted white slaver in San Francisco, and that Mrs. Duncan was a former wife of Swiftwater Bay.

ENOUGH SALOONS IS COINTE "There are enough saloons in Alameda county as it is," said Murphy, "but my opposition to Duncan was not based on that consideration. We do not want such people in the saloon business here, and we also want to consider the wishes of people who live in the district affected. We considered every phase of Duncan's application very carefully and the vote reflected our conclusions."

WASHING MACHINES INVOLVED IN SUIT

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—D. J. Hoult applied to the superior court today to head off an endless chain of agents who might otherwise be set loose on the public. His action was contained in a suit to recover $5,000 for himself from Margaret I. Manlove, who sold him the agency to represent the Domestic Utilities company, producers of gas ovens, washers and other articles of household use.

Hoult said that he gave notes for the $5,000, which was also to include 1,000 individual washing machines, but that after the machines had been given him they were taken back to secure the notes. Hoult said that he found out that the only way he could make any money would be to assign his agency to another, who would find himself in the same position.

AFFINITY ENTERS ECCLESTON CASE

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—"The baleful shadow of another woman" was upon the home of Louie R. Eccleston and Mrs. Maud J. Eccleston, and not the meddling hand of Charles Hudson Eccleston, according to the defense of Charles H. Eccleston outlined in Judge Harris' court today. Mrs. Eccleston has sued Charles H. Eccleston, her brother in law, for $25,000 damages, for the alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

E. Parsons of Fresno was the first witness for the defense and he said that Louie Eccleston told him in a hypothetical statement of the loss of love for his wife and of the existence of another woman on whom his affections had centered.

"Louie Eccleston told me that he had a friend who had confided to him his troubles and asked his advice," said Parsons. "He said that the man admitted that he no longer loved his wife, but that he did love another woman and that the man wanted his advice. Later, after the Ecclestons broke up, Louie told me that he had stated his own case."

O. F. Lundelius, a business partner of Louie Eccleston, said that both Eccleston and his wife had told him that another woman figured in their trouble. He said that he had been averse to being drawn into the affair, but that a woman named Stiphen had replaced Mrs. Eccleston in her husband's heart and that Mrs. Eccleston told him about the woman.

Waters writes as follows: "Am practicing to shoot. We are all surrounded here. I guess I'll never get out alive. Send Uncle Sam to help us out. It's mighty tough to be thinking you will be shot almost any moment."

A photo on the reverse side of the card shows several targets, showing marks of the shots, surrounded by a group of 20 men, most of whom are Mexicans, all armed heavily.

Waters formerly lived in Oakland, and has been engaged in mining in Mexico for 15 years. The card was enclosed in an envelope to prevent its being seized by spies.

POPULAR ACTOR TAKES A BRIDE

Sydney Ayres and Miss Anna Franck, Oakland Society Girl, Are Married

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—With simplicity the marriage of Sydney Ayres and Miss Anna Franck was solemnized this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Franck residence in Euclid avenue. The service was read by Rev. Frank L. Goodspeed, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of the members of the family and a few friends. The bride chose as her only attendant her young niece, Miss Billy O'Brien, who served as ring bearer. She wore a pretty white lingerie gown. The wedding dress was made of king blue charmeuse, exquisitely trimmed in gold lace and embroidery. With it was worn a large hat of gold lace. Orchids and lilies of the valley were combined in the shower bouquet. An informal reception and supper followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayres will remain in the bay cities until Wednesday, when they will leave for Winnipeg, Canada, in November. They will return to Oakland, where the beautiful young bride will be extensively feted. The marriage, following a week after the formal announcement of the betrothal, forbade the many social favors which Miss Franck's friends were eager to offer her.

Ayres has been a favorite with theatergoers on the Pacific coast, being connected as leading man with several of the best known stock companies. Recently he has entered vaudeville, beginning early next month a 40 week tour of the Orpheum circuit, opening in Winnipeg. His bride is one of the prettiest of the girls of the smart set. With her sister, Miss Clara Franck, she has been prominent in the Friday Night assembly and several of the exclusive dancing clubs. The Franck family is numbered with the pioneers on this side of the bay. Ayres is the son of a well known New England Quaker family.

Miss Helen Breck will be a hostess of Friday evening, claiming a number of the younger set at a dance at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Breck in Santa Rosa avenue.

While he is still a familiar figure in the world of sports, Long has gone in business, to which he devotes much of his time. He is the owner of the yacht Sweetheart. LECTURES TO DEAL WITH BIG SUBJECT

Professor Stephens of State University to Discuss Events of Elizabethan Period

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—A course of lectures dealing with the civilization, society, politics and religion of the Elizabethan period in England will be delivered by Prof. H. Morse Stephens of the University of California in the Plymouth Center building, Piedmont and Laurel avenues, beginning the evening of September 27 and continuing alternate Friday evenings until March 28, 1913.

The lectures are to be free to the public, but admission will be granted only by ticket. Professor Stephens will take up many interesting phases of the development during that period of agriculture and commerce, and will call attention to the changes brought about by the sudden acquisition of wealth, in the conditions of city and country life. The relations between England and Scotland, as well as those between England and Ireland, will be treated in detail. A special lecture will be devoted to the defeat of the Spanish armada in 1588. During the course Professor Stephens will touch also on the literature of the age. This will be done, however, only as the literature tends to illustrate the historical features.

The evening of November 23 the speaker will take up a subject of vital interest to churchgoers, namely "The Church Under Elizabeth." In this he will discuss the pope and Elizabeth, the persecution of the Catholics, Puritanism, and the ideal of the church of England. The course has been arranged through the generosity of Guy C. Earl.
