SOME PARALLELS FOR RUGBY FANS

Interesting Sidelights on Three Great Antipodean Teams and Our Players

By WILLIAM UNMACK

The present visit of the crack Australian Waratah Rugby football team makes the third visit to this state of world famous Rugby players. In 1905 the All Blacks of New Zealand played a series of games here against a team from Vancouver, and through seeing those games the local universities adopted the Rugby code. Next to come along was the Wallaby team, which played games against California, Stanford and All America in 1909. Now we have the Waratah team with us.

It is natural that comparisons should be made by those who have seen all three teams in action on local fields, but in justice to our present visitors it is hardly fair that these comparisons should be made at the present time. Already hundreds of spectators have tried to compare the three teams. The decisions reached have been varied. Many claim the All Blacks were the best and place the Waratah team ahead of the Wallaby team, while others give preference to the Wallabies.

NO REAL CHANCE YET

Thus far the Waratah team has not shown itself to be on a par with either the All Blacks or the Wallabies, but it has shown that it includes men equally as good individually as the men on the Wallaby team and in some instances as some of the All Blacks. The team, however, has not had the chance to show its real ability. Coming right off the steamer and playing two days later in a game in which the men met on the football field for the first time as one team, that game can not be taken as any criterion of their real worth. Then, after playing a hard game Saturday, they took the field the day after and played another game—a thing that probably never before has happened to most of the men in their Rugby careers.

A POINT OVERLOOKED

The advice that "a team's best defense is its attack" is a lost sight of locally and the sooner our players get on to this fact the better the class of open Rugby we will have. The general tenor of the play of the local teams on defense work is "Do not pass in your own 25 yard territory." Those days are past long ago and it is only when playing with a weakened defense or for some other cause that this old time style of defense is followed by teams in Rugby centers.

The Waratahs have shown us that they sling the ball around in their own danger zone and get away with it. Our own teams, as soon as they get hemmed in near their goal lines, make the play one continuous succession of uninteresting, heavy ruck plays. Furthermore, many of the tactics employed to keep the ball in the ruck are illegal, though local referees never have pulled the teams up on them.

DON'T FORGET THE BACKS

The forwards are in the game for a purpose, but it is not for the purpose of monopolizing the whole of the play. Our teams forget that they have seven men behind them in the back field waiting for the ball and anxious and willing to take all sorts of chances to open up the game in their own department if the scrum will only give them the chance.

Our cousins in sport from Australia are "showing us." They have the ability, they know how to play the game; and not only that—they are equally willing to tell local players "how it is done." They are not missionaries, as the game has long since passed the stage of missionary work here, but they are with us as "professors"—if the term may be applied—and when they have fulfilled their schedule of games the play of local next season is going to show an improvement of big dimensions.

Injun Athletic Wonder Heap Sorry for Firewater Outbreak

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 7.—Jim Thorpe, champion athlete of the world, mighty football player and the biggest Indian in the country, is contrite and promises to be good after his run in with Glenn Warner, the Carlisle coach, at Pittsburgh last night.

Thorpe, after the game with Washington and Jefferson, broke training. Warner found him, it is said, with a bottle of whisky he would not give up. After a lively mixup Warner finally got and smashed the bottle and Thorpe was put to bed. Thorpe today was not inclined to talk about the Pittsburgh episode.

"I'd rather forget it," he said. "I will say, though, I am on the water wagon now for good. You know," he continued, with a whimsical grin, "firewater always has been the curse of the red man—but never again for me."

LOCAL MAN MUST BE SWIFT

If Kaufman Has Any Show at McCarty It's Early in Scrap

By JOE MURPHY

Several fight experts were discussing the chances of Al Kaufman and Luther McCarty, the heavy weights who are to clash in the ring next Saturday afternoon, and it seemed to be the opinion of a majority of these men who follow the game closely that Kaufman must win the battle inside of 10 rounds or else his chances of victory would be slim.

Their conclusions were based on the fact that McCarty possesses remarkable endurance and that he would have more left than Kaufman if the contest should go over 10 rounds. Al, while still a young fellow, has been at the game eight years, and they are inclined to believe that the Californian is on the decline and that his best chance to win from a rugged fellow like McCarty would be during the early rounds of the battle.

They believe that Kaufman's knowledge and experience will be a handicap which the Nebraska will have to overcome, while on the other hand McCarty is young and strong and full of confidence.

Those defeats which Kaufman suffered at the hands of Fireman Jim Flynn and Al Paizer were taken into consideration. It was agreed that defeats never help a fighter. It was admitted that Kaufman was not in the best of shape when he tackled Flynn and Paizer, but that is a poor excuse for any fighter to offer.

Kaufman is expected to outbox McCarty in the early rounds and they give him a chance to land one of his old time haymakers and thus end the battle. They figure that Kaufman's chances of winning are best in the early part of the contest.

McCarty is a big, good natured fellow, and seldom talks about himself or his chances of winning or losing. He will be sincerely believed that he will beat Kaufman in about a half dozen rounds.

The matter of selecting a referee for Saturday's battle came up yesterday, but neither Al White nor Billy McCarty, managers of the fighters, could reach a conclusion. It was decided to put the matter over until tomorrow, when another meeting will be held between the managers. Frank Schuler, Toby Irwin, Jim Griffin and Spider Ryan are named as prominent candidates for the job.

After their strenuous session on Sunday both Kaufman and McCarty eased up a bit in their work. Both fighters are beginning to show the effects of their training and seem to be pleased with their condition at this stage.

There will be no chance for Kaufman to enter the excuse of not being in condition, as he is working hard to get into shape. His manager, Al White, is right on the job to see that nothing is being overlooked from a training standpoint.

Kaufman realizes that his future in the ring depends entirely upon the outcome of his battle with McCarty. He knows that he has a grand chance of breaking into the limelight again if he can beat McCarty and he is going to do his best to take advantage of that chance.

There is a great likelihood that the winner of Saturday afternoon's battle will get a name with Jim Flynn. There is much talk about Wolgast boxing in this city on Thanksgiving day, but it is not unlikely that either Kaufman or McCarty will be marked on that afternoon with some prominent white heavy weight.

Flynn is debared temporarily in New York. The sport is meeting with some opposition in the metropolis, and the men who have its future at heart do not care to put on a slugging fight or of Jim Flynn's type at this time. Flynn probably would accept a match out here if it were offered him.

BOISE WINS THE POLO SUPREMACY

Portland Team Defeated, 3 to 2, in Brilliant Game at the Idaho Capital

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 7.—In one of the most brilliant polo games, said by experts to have been played in the west, Boise today defeated Portland by a score of 3 to 2, and won the northwest polo championship. The citizens' crack four of this city, shut out by Portland until the sixth period, came from behind and won.

Cookson, Johnson and the Corbett brothers made up the Portland team and played a clever game, featured by their superior team work. They shot two goals during the first six periods, but were penalized a point on fourth and sixth periods. The Boise team, led by one goal in the sixth period, but were penalized one point on a foul and two safeties, allowing Portland to tie in the first of the eighth and last period.

With a sensational rush, horses pressed to the limit of endurance, and riders taking desperate chances, Boise routed Portland's goal just before time was called and shot a goal, winning the game and championship.

PROGRAM OUT FOR WINGED O MEET

Track and Field Championships Expected to Develop 1915 and 1916 Material

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

The track and field championships of the Olympic club will be held at the Stadium track Sunday afternoon, October 20, at 2 o'clock. The meet is for the individual championship of the club in the various events to be decided.

This meet is the forerunner of a series of similar affairs that the club intends to promote for the welfare of amateur athletics in this vicinity, and also for the purpose of getting the public in closer touch with athletics.

In the list of events given below it will be noticed that the program varies considerably from the set championship program. All distances have been lengthened, while the weight events will be contested with both right and left hand. The lengthening of the track events is done with a view to encouraging new material, while the adoption of the two handed puts in the field events is to start right off the bat to encourage weight men to become proficient in this style of work for the championships to be held in 1915 and also to work up to that pitch that will be necessary for competition in the next Olympiad, which will be held in Berlin in 1916.

The program of events will be as follows: 125 yard dash, 300 yard dash, 600 yard run, 1,000 yard run, 3,000 yard run and 220 yard low hurdles; hammer throw, 16 pound shot, both hands; pole vault, high jump, broad jump and running hop, step and jump.

GREAT TROTTERS COMING TO COAST

Ulian and The Harvester Will Step It Off for the Angels Next Week

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—That Ulian, 1:58, and The Harvester, 2:01, the greatest trotters racing in the world now, will be in Los Angeles and give an exhibition during the big meeting to be held here next week, is practically certain.

H. F. Whittier, president of the Hemet stock farm, visited Los Angeles today and informed E. J. Delorey, secretary of the local Harness Horse association, that he had received word from C. K. G. Billings, who owns the famous speedsters.

Billings announced that he would bring his horses west and race them both in Los Angeles and Phoenix if he were sure the horsemen desired him to do so.

Needless to say, the officials immediately invited Billings, as did also the president of the Arizona Racing association. It is expected that he will ship his horses within the next few days from his stable at Lexington, Ky.

HOLDUP IS SETBACK—Harold P. Ingersoll, 18 years old, identified as the man who held up a Kentucky street car and then terrorized people in the vicinity of the Six Mile house, was sentenced to serve 12 years in San Quentin penitentiary yesterday by Superior Judge William Lawlor.

CHRONIC ULCERS MEAN BAD BLOOD

If outside influences were responsible for chronic ulcers, then external applications and simple cleanliness would be a curative treatment. But the trouble is always in the blood which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it impurities and infectious matter. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made purer by such treatment and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down into the blood and removing the impurities and germs which are responsible for the place. S. S. S. thoroughly purifies the circulation and in this way destroys the source of every chronic ulcer. In addition S. S. S. enriches this vital fluid and assists nature in overcoming the bad effects of a chronic ulcer. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.
