far in Indiana as you have here in California, but in Indiana no man will be denied the right to vote for the candidates of his party on November 5."

OVATION IN DREAMLAND

Defending the rights of all men to equal opportunity under the law, and decrying the idolatry of men, Marshall said the American people had fed the babes of their imaginations to the Molochs of selfish men's ambitions.

The democratic vice presidential candidate was given a tremendous ovation at Dreamland rink when he mounted the platform leaning on the arm of Senator A. Caminetti. For a half hour before the meeting was called to order by J. O. Davis, chairman of the democratic state central committee, Mrs. Marshall had been the center of interest for the hundreds of women in the audience.

Mrs. Marshall was given a most gratifying demonstration when she was escorted to a seat at the front of the stage by a party of democratic women headed by Jennie Leland Durst, chairman of the women's auxiliary of the state central committee, and Mrs. James Ellis Tucker, democratic candidate for presidential elector.

CHAIRMAN DAVIS PRESIDES

The Dreamland rink meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by Chairman J. O. Davis, who presided over the democratic state central committee, who introduced Bert Schlesinger, democratic nominee for congress from the fifth district as president.

Despite the fact that the earlier meetings in the Globe theater, in Mission street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, was scheduled for 7 o'clock, Governor Marshall was greeted there by a large crowd when he appeared on the platform with Senator Caminetti, Judge William P. Lawlor, Stephen V. Costello and other prominent democrats.

LAUDED BY COSTELLO

Costello said that he was a believer in home industry and was a member of the Home Industry league, but that when the imported article (referring to Marshall) was so far superior to the home product (referring to Johnson) he was going to take the imported article. He called attention to the fight the democratic party has been making in this state against the Southern Pacific machine since 1884.

"I watched the progressives in the last senate and in the one preceding it and, as I said before, I found only one real progressive, and that Bob La Follette. I found that Senator Cummins wanted all the Indiana tariff schedule reduced, but in the name of Mary's little lamb he wanted schedule K left alone for the benefit of the Iowa wool growers.

TAIL OF THE KITE

In part, his address at the two meetings was as follows: "I'm the tail of the democratic kite, and if you can send up a kite without the tail, you do it. I am here more in the interest of Costello and Schlesinger for congress than for myself. Governor Wilson is going to be elected president regardless of California, but it is necessary that he have a congress to sustain him. He would rather go down to inferior defeat than to go into office tied down to the impossibility of doing anything for the people.

MARSHALL'S FLAG 1915 SITE

Marshall Pledges Fealty of Hoosier State

Wet Day Fails to Dampen Spirits of Governor and Party in Carrying Out Ceremonies of Accepting Lots for Building

"In the name of the people of Indiana I take possession of this piece of land, to the end that in the future the people of all the world shall know that the state of Indiana is the imperial commonwealth of America."

With this tribute to the state of which he is the executive chieftain, Governor Thomas R. Marshall yesterday afternoon planted in a little mound of sodden earth on the flats of the Presidio reservation an American flag with a silken Indiana streamer and formally dedicated the site to be occupied by the Indiana building at the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

Much of the pomp that has marked former ceremonies of a similar nature was lacking, for leaden skies and a steady drizzle of rain discouraged an attempt at elaborate display or extensive speech making, and the formalities were brief and simple. There was no review of troops nor big gathering of spectators, and the mists hid Tamalpais from view across the bay, dropped a gray curtain across the Golden Gate, blotted away the outlines of the surrounding hills and turned the whole wondrous picture that is so familiar into a mere bleak waste expanse of mud and sand.

Inauspicious weather, however, was not enough to quench the ardor and enthusiasm of Governor Marshall and the little band of loyal Indianians who accompanied the party, and before Governor Marshall had left the drenched speaker stand he had pledged his earnest efforts to securing a state appropriation that will insure the participation of the Hoosier state on a world scale.

The long line of automobiles that conveyed the exposition officials, Governor Marshall and the members of his party and the other participants in the exercises today, nor do the hotel where a luncheon had been tendered the distinguished visitor, was met at the Lombard street entrance to the exposition grounds, but the party was escorted to the portion of the grounds set aside for the state buildings. There the whole party, including Mrs. Marshall and a score of more of ladies, left the motor cars and tramped across the grounds to the stand that had been erected for the occasion.

WELCOME FROM MOORE

President Moore expressed a brief word of welcome on behalf of the exposition directors and this was added to by Supervisor Byron Mauzy, representing Mayor Rolph, who promised that the sunshine lacking on this occasion should be made up by the rain when he will speak from the train platform. Then he will proceed to Portland.

WOMEN RECEIVE THE MARSHALLS

Governor and Mrs. Marshall were tendered a public reception at democratic headquarters in the Phelan building by the women's committee of 125 of the democratic state central committee.

The vice presidential candidate and his wife were escorted to the Phelan building by J. O. Davis, chairman of the state central committee, and a delegation of women headed by Mrs. Jennie L. Durst, head of the women's committee, accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Davis, who was to accompany the governor to the exposition.

It was a few minutes before noon when Governor and Mrs. Marshall walked into the large reception room at democratic headquarters, which had been decorated for the occasion. A large crowd of men and women was waiting there to greet the party, which Governor Marshall commented on with pleasure. The reception lasted until nearly 1 o'clock, when the Panama-Pacific exposition committee appointed to greet Governor Marshall to luncheon arrived.

GUEST AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Marshall was taken to the Town and Country club, where she and nine others were the guests of Mrs. James Ellis Tucker, who had been the guest of Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. J. O. Davis, Mrs. Grace R. Calkin, Mrs. J. O. Davis, Mrs. Knox Maddox, Miss Frances Joffile, Miss Julia George and Mrs. Ogden Hooker. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Marshall was given a formal reception at the Town and Country club.

MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE

The general reception committee was composed of the following: Mrs. Jennie Leland Durst, Mrs. Sophie Barry, Mrs. Grace R. Calkin, Mrs. A. Kassar, Mrs. James Ellis Tucker, Mrs. H. N. Rowell, Mrs. Frances Joffile, Mrs. Berke, Mrs. Helen Moore, Mrs. Mabel L. Heu, Mrs. Julia George, Mrs. H. J. Kilgiver, Mrs. Sophie Clough, Mrs. J. O. Davis, Mrs. J. O. Davis, Mrs. C. E. Todd, Mrs. J. O. Davis, Mrs. Laura Mollida, Mrs. Roy Coates, Mrs. C. W. Moore, Mrs. W. D. Whitley, Mrs. Mary Gamage, Mrs. C. D. Robinson, Mrs. Arthur Connell, Mrs. A. L. Houts, Santa Ana, Mrs. Jester A. Stevens, Mrs. Helen Cross, Ala, Mrs. Jennie Grasset, Mrs. Susan Edmond, Mrs. B. Damarel, Mrs. Henry Highton, Mrs. Nellie Lambie.

CHINA TO PICK SITE TOMORROW

Elaborate preparations have been made for the site selecting ceremonies tomorrow at the exposition grounds in Harbor View. The commissioners will be escorted to the reservation at the Presidio with a cavalry troop and a mounted band. The ceremonies will begin at 3.30 o'clock. A luncheon will be tendered the distinguished visitors in the St. Francis hotel at 1 o'clock.

Exposition commissioners of the Chinese republic, Chintao Chen, M. S. Ph. D., and Ching-Chun Wang, M. A. Ph. D., will be met at the ferry depot on their return tomorrow morning by military escort and taken to their hotel. There is every likelihood that the Chinese school children and the Chinese band will participate in the ceremony. As China is the second foreign nation to select its site, it is expected thousands of spectators will take advantage of the opportunity to witness these interesting ceremonies.

JUDGE COFFEY'S RECORD LAUDED

The re-election of Judge James V. Coffey to the superior court was urged yesterday afternoon at an organization meeting of women from all over San Francisco, at a hall of the Native Sons' building.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Austin Sperry; first vice president, Mrs. Luther Wagener; second vice president, Mrs. John F. Davis; third vice president, Mrs. John F. Hamilton; secretary, Miss Kathryn L. Cole.

Among the women who spoke were Mrs. Sperry, Mrs. Wagener, Mrs. D. W. Nestled, Miss Kato O'Connell and Dr. Margaret Mahoney. Mrs. Sperry urged caution upon the women in their choice of candidates, and lauded Judge Coffey.

The Gadder Is On the Job

Travelers Don't Fear Strange Dishes. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Stand Anything.

It is not necessary for us to apologize for our weather today to the governor of an agricultural state when I tell him that for six months we have had all sunshine and no rain, that today is locally the heaviest rain we had in all that time, and that because it is a seasonal rain, it is a welcome rain.

SITE DEED CONVEYED

President Moore presented to Governor Marshall the deed conveying the site to the state of Indiana, and the latter stepped to the front of the platform to accept it on behalf of Indiana. I accept this site for the purpose of hereafter erecting a building here to be commemorative of Indiana. I have not objected to any of the good things that have been said of California, but I would be reluctant to the trust imposed in this regard on the state of Indiana if I did not now proclaim Indiana to be the peer of any commonwealth in America.

"But we are not, only Indianians, but brethren of every man who dwells beneath the flag. I give you this promise, that what can be done shall measure up to her opportunity in this exposition."

Prior to the site selecting ceremonies on the exposition grounds Governor Marshall was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the exposition directors at the Fairmont hotel. At the same time Mrs. Marshall was the luncheon guest of Mrs. James Ellis Tucker at the Town and Country club, and following this luncheon the score of ladies who were present adjourned in a body to the Fairmont hotel for the speech making, and later accompanied the official party to the exposition grounds.

MAJOR MURRAY RESPONDS

Major General Arthur Murray, commanding western division of the United States army, responded for the army and dwelt on the great military display that will be made here in 1915 and upon the opportunity that will be offered to view the fortifications. Telegrams of regret were received from Lieutenant Governor Wallace and State Commissioner Chester A. Rowell, who were unable to be present at the luncheon, and the state welcome was voiced by State Commissioner Arthur Arlett.
