

"TIMES" BABY ALLEGED TO BE MURDERER

McManigal Testifies Concerning J. B. McNamara's Confession in Wisconsin

Witness Avers San Francisco Labor Men Arranged Los Angeles Explosion

[By Associated Press] INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—For the first time since 21 persons were killed in the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building October 1, 1910, James B. McNamara's detailed confession to having caused the explosion, with his motives for doing it and his comments on the fact that so many persons were killed, was related on the witness stand in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

Orie E. McManigal testified that the confession was given to him while he was hiding McNamara in the woods five miles from Conover, Wis., both of them having gone there on the pretext of hunting.

Olaf A. Tveitmo and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco labor leaders, McNamigal testified, were named by McNamara as having made arrangements for the Los Angeles explosion and as having furnished the two men—F. A. Schmidt and David Caplan—to assist in buying the high power nitroglycerin, because Schmidt and Caplan had been regularly employed on the coast by the Building Trades council of California.

Tveitmo and Clancy are among the 45 defendants. CAPLAN BELIEVED DEAD

Caplan and Schmidt, named by McNamigal, were indicted in Los Angeles county with James B. McNamara on charges of murder, but they have never been captured. Government agents have been informed that Caplan was killed.

When he asked McNamara why he twisted off a gas jet in the basement of the Times building before the explosion, McNamigal testified that this conversation ensued: "Why did you break off the gas jet?"

McNamara—"Because when the explosion occurred, I wanted the whole building to go to hell."

McManigal—"And you knew there were so many people in there, too?"

McNamara—"What's the difference? I was to make a good cleaning out and I did it. But I am sorry so many were killed. I hoped to get General Otis."

McManigal said that November 5, 1910, he was at his home in Chicago and expected to depart for Kenosha, Wis., whence he was to start with a hunting party in charge of Marion Sharpe. That very day, he said, John J. McNamara, brother of the Times dynamiter, asked him to take James B. on the hunting trip.

McManigal said that he had learned that James B. had been in hiding on the way back from the Pacific coast and that he was two weeks with J. E. Munsey in Salt Lake City. He said he went to Kenosha and James B. joined him there. They procured hunting licenses and went with the party to Conover, and then to a camp five miles in the country.

"November 9," said McNamigal, "I missed James B. and started out alone to look for deer. Standing on a tree stump, I suddenly heard the crack of a pistol, but looking around, saw no one. Every one was supposed to wear red caps to distinguish people from the woods. I saw no red cap, but presently I saw James B. Suspicion flashed into my mind. I accused him right out."

"FINE PLACE TO GET RID OF MAN" "I think you were taking a shot at me," I said. "If you do you had better be quick about it. This is a fine place up here to get rid of a man—just shoot him and the coyotes will eat up his body."

"He replied that he did it just to scare me. Then we went alone for the first time, he sat down and told me about the Los Angeles job. He said that when he went to the coast in July he got into touch with Tveitmo and Clancy, according to instructions from his brother at the headquarters of the Iron Workers' union in Indianapolis.

Tveitmo and Clancy, he said, put Caplan and Schmidt to work on the explosion, which they had been working for the California Building Trades council. Schmidt was too much of a talker, he said, and when he heard of the explosion August 30 he made Schmidt stay in San Francisco.

"When he returned to San Francisco Schmidt was waiting for him and, on the strength of the fact that the bombs had been set in Oakland, went to see Tveitmo and got $500 from him that night. J. B. said he also hid the Seattle job August 31."

"Leading up to the Los Angeles explosion, J. B. said he found you could get all the money you wanted on the coast. He said Tveitmo was the big paymaster, and there never was any thing to fear, for Tveitmo was a friend of Mayor McCarthy, and in fact, Tveitmo was the mayor of San Francisco.

"He said Schmidt had a chance to set off bombs by chemicals, which he had learned how to do from a friend of Tveitmo's, but when he (McNamara) showed them the alarm clock scheme they all decided it was best. Schmidt and J. B. went to Los Angeles and looked over the Llewellyn and Baker iron works plants and the Times building. James B. sent back to his brother a postcard, on which was partly written and partly printed: 'It now reads, "The Times for the news." It will soon read, "The news for the Times."' TVEITMO BLAMED "I asked him why he went after the Times. He answered that Tveitmo had put him on to it. Then he told me about how difficult it was out there to buy explosives; how they decided at last to get a launch and buy nitroglycerin of 55 per cent strength from a powder company, on the representation that it was to be used for blowing up stumps on a ranch; how he sent his men to arrange for buying the explosive.

"He said the clerk at the powder company reported they did not make an explosive that strong. He told me how at last he got 500 pounds of the explosive on the launch, after changing the name of the launch, and how, when they got in the bay, they attracted the attention of other vessels because the launch would not make any headway and got in the way of others.

"He said that when the nitroglycerin was ready to take to Los Angeles he had a talk with Tveitmo, telling him that he (McNamara) would have to do the job alone, not both of them, for Schmidt was too much of a talker and had a woman friend in Los Angeles that he (McNamara) did not want to get mixed up in the job.

"Then he told me he had set the bomb in what is known as 'ink alley' called at the home of Frank C. Webb in New York and left a message that if any more work was to be done in the east word should be sent to J. J. McNamara in Indianapolis. He said he also looked up the possibility of blowing up jobs in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

BANKER WILL MANAGE GREAT POWER COMPANY WOODLAND, Nov. 14.—It was learned today that R. H. Beamer, for many years a member of the state board of equalization and one of the most active bankers in California, was appointed general manager of the Yolo Water and Power company. Roy M. Pike, president of the company, made the announcement. Attorney A. C. Huston was retained as legal adviser. Both will have offices in Woodland.

Three stock holders, W. J. Hotchkiss, John H. Spring and Louis Titus, prominent San Francisco financiers, were admitted as directors. It is estimated that the extension of the canals and ditches and the construction of permanent concrete dams will cost $2,000,000, and when completed will be the greatest irrigation project in California.

CONTEST OF EVERTS WILL IS COMPROMISED SAN JOSE, Nov. 14.—An abrupt close was brought to the litigation which has been waged for two years in the Santa Cruz courts and which has been carried to the supreme court in the contest in the will of the late Janette L. Everts, who died January 16, 1911, in Santa Cruz, leaving an estate of $30,000. The case was brought to this court for trial a few days ago on account of the relationship of the Santa Cruz trial judge with one of the attorneys, and today after a jury had been ordered, announcement was made of a compromise. The contestants, leading churches of Santa Cruz, will receive less than $10,000—not a third of the sum sought. Mrs. Minnie Chapman of Altadena, Los Angeles county, only daughter of Mrs. Everts, is the proponent of the will.

WOMEN FORM CLUB The Juvenile Protection association has formed a branch of its organization to be known as the Beta Neighborhood club, with a meeting place at 1122 Sutter street. Lectures will be given from time to time on economic and social problems. The officers are: President, Mrs. Clara Shuman; vice president, Mrs. Harriet McLeod; financial secretary, Mrs. Celia McCabe; treasurer, Mrs. Edna Rafter.

"Hello Girls" Are Cupid's Sweetest They Always "Stay Put"

Miss Maud Carroll, selected by the telephone company as typical of the beauties that answer your "hello" call.

In the Times building, in some ink barrels and old papers. Going in, he said, he was stopped by the night watchman, who asked him what he wanted in there. He replied he was going to the composing room. The watchman let him pass. He was again stopped by a boy, but he also told the boy he was going to the composing room.

"The boy directed him to a door or a stairway, I think he said. He reached the basement, and while passing along it tore off a gas jet. I asked, 'Why did you break off the gas jet?' He replied, 'Because I wanted the whole building to go to hell.' I said I was surprised he would do it, knowing there were so many people in the building. He answered, 'What's the difference? I was to make a good cleaning out, and I did it. Then he thought for a while and added: 'But I am sorry there were so many people. I wanted to get General Otis.'"

BOMB FOR TWO HOMES "He told me he put the infernal machines under the residences of General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times, and of Felix J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the merchants and manufacturers' association, all to go off at 1 o'clock in the morning.

"He said on the way back east he was frightened by the people talking of the explosion. He said he could not bear to look anybody in the face and he thought every one on the train was looking at him. At Salt Lake City he said he could not stand it any longer, so he stepped off the train and got in touch with J. E. Munsey, who hid him in his house for two weeks."

Telling of other explosions, McNamigal testified that in September, 1910, he was sent to Chicago, where he talked with William Shupe and James Coughlin, Iron Workers' union officials, about a "job" to be blown up between Gary and Pine, Ind., but which he did not blow up because the "job" was not properly situated.

COAST "ECHO" IN EAST McNamigal said that after news of the Los Angeles explosion was published, J. J. McNamara, secretary of the Iron Workers, with headquarters in Indianapolis, sent him to Worcester, Mass., to cause an "echo" of the Pacific coast explosion in the east.

"I want an echo of that Los Angeles affair in the east, so if they catch J. B. they'll think they have the wrong man," McNamigal said to the witness J. J. McNamara.

Mcnamigal said he went to Worcester and caused two explosions there October 9. On the return, he testified, he

"I shall be a real man now," Edwin says. "My even break has come and I shall make good."

Although announcement was made by The Call that no more contributions were needed, they still kept coming in. The "Even Break society" dies hard. Contributions amounting to $26.25 were received at The Call office yesterday. They were as follows:

Table listing names and amounts of contributions to the 'Even Break' society, including T. W. F. (girls of S. N. Wood & Co.) $10.00, Engine No. 3 and chemical No. 5, S. 5.00, M. E. H. C., Santa Cruz 2.00, etc.

Gracious Talents Are What Give Them Beauty

There is a "hello girl" born every eight hours here in San Francisco. There are 1,800 of them now ready to answer your call at some time or other during the 24 hours of the day. This flock of girls will be replaced in two years by another 1,800.

If a girl wants to get married, all she has to do is to enter the employ of the telephone company. It takes just two years for God Cupid to get the documents signed, sealed and delivered.

"We can't keep them from it," groaned L. E. Hamm yesterday. He is the district traffic chief, and it is up to him to keep filled the ranks of the "hello girls."

They are all young, these girls; mere slaps of femininity, and the happiest, friendliest set of youngsters ever gathered together. When a man calls for a matrimonial ally he has to do is to shut his eyes and pick one of these girls. He gets a prize every time.

This statement is based on the records kept by the telephone company. When a girl resigns the company keeps track of her. It wants to know "why," and 99 times out of 100 it finds that she is married within a very few weeks after her resignation. And she "stays put." That is a pretty good proof that she is the right sort of a wife.

Every one is interested in the telephone girl. She always is at hand during the busiest hour of day or the loneliest hour of night.

The prettiest girl has received many photographs of the prettiest telephone girls, which will be published by The Call in the very near future.

Who is going to Honolulu in December as a guest of The Call? Who is going to sit at the captain's table, at his right hand, on one of those splendid liners touching the islands on its way to the antipodes?

Will it be a stenographer, a saleswoman, a telephone girl? You can help to answer this question by sending in to The Call the photograph of the prettiest girl you know.

MAINE'S STORY FAILS ON SCENE OF ROBBERY

Police Think Lad Is Merely Seeking Notoriety REDDING, Nov. 14.—Six detectives today took George Maine over the scene of the holdup of the Shasta Hotel in an attempt to test Maine's story that he had taken part in the robbery. They said he knew nothing of the robbery and was trapped in contradictory statements. He is in jail here until a further hearing in Sacramento tomorrow. The police believe Maine is pretending to be a bandit for the sake of notoriety.

SCHRANK SAID TO AVER HE IS A DEEP STUDENT

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 14.—One of the alleged assassins of Theodore Roosevelt, the confessed assassin of Theodore Roosevelt today, said privately that Schrank seemed to consider himself a deep student of psychology. That thought he was capable of adjusting any wrong and that he considered that he was peculiarly fitted to judge of the psychological mood of a question attacked by the public.

How To Be Beautiful

"Too much moisture causes hair roots to lose vitality, so washing the head with soap and water is necessary. Dry shampooing cleans the scalp, vitalizes the hair and leaves it wavy, fluffy and healthy. To get the most out of your months' supply of the shampoo powder, mix four ounces of orris root with a package of orris root powder.

"Many actresses noted for their smooth and satin-like complexions use daily a lotion made by dissolving a package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It corrects sallowness and that 'shiny' look. It covers blemishes, prevents the growth of hair and keeps the skin soft, smooth and youthful looking.

"Mother's Salve soothes and quickly heals sores, cuts or burns without leaving a scar. It soothes the hair, itching joints, sore muscles, lame back, ring neck or ache or pain in any part of the body and it will give almost instant relief.

"Any woman can easily and quickly remove wild hairs from face and forehead. Just mix enough powdered detolone and water to cover the hairs; apply and after two minutes rub off; wash with plain water and the hairs will be gone.

"Thin and straggly eyebrows detract from the beauty of the face. When eyebrows and eyelashes are irregular and lack color, they can be strengthened if plain pyroxin be gently massaged into the root of the hair. Upp's Pyroxin makes them grow long and lovely."

WIDOW IGNORES ORDER OF COURT

Judge Graham Threatens to Imprison Mrs. Emma Hayes Benedict for Contempt

The refusal of Mrs. Emma Hayes Benedict, widow of the late Courtenay S. Benedict, to produce correspondence of her millionaire husband with eastern relatives in relation to the disposal of his estate called forth a threat of a jail sentence for the widow in Judge Thomas F. Graham's court yesterday.

Mrs. Benedict, who was Benedict's nurse before he married her, was made sole heir to his $250,000 estate and a contest of the capitalist's will by his sisters in New York is pending.

The court signed an order to force Mrs. Benedict to make a deposition regarding the suit of the sisters, Mrs. Lena Holly and Mrs. Arabella Baringer of Flatbush, N. Y. Judge Graham also ordered her to produce the correspondence of her husband, Mrs. Benedict yesterday refused to make the deposition or to present the letters to the court, saying that she had been instructed to take that stand by her attorney, Walter H. Linforth.

Judge Graham thereupon informed Mrs. Benedict that unless she complied with the court's order within one week he would order her to jail for contempt of court.

It was intimated that the letters withheld by Mrs. Benedict might reveal the circumstances attending the making of the will by Benedict. The property consists principally of shares in Mrs. Emily Benedict, widow of his son, E. Judson Benedict, over whose estate a contest between her and widow once impended. Benedict, the elder, died January 7, leaving all his interests in his widow and a paragraph in the will directing that she should, at her discretion, pay $1,200 a year to each of the sisters.

SAN JOSE HIGH PLAYS SANTA CLARA TODAY

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SANTA CLARA, Nov. 14.—San Jose and Santa Clara high schools are ready for their sixth annual Rugby game tomorrow afternoon on the University of Santa Clara's field. The rival combatants are pretty evenly matched and the spectators have had little opportunity to choose a favorite. The local rugger has been conditioning themselves with daily practices with the University of Santa Clara team.

The intense rivalry that exists between the two schools indicates that a banner crowd will be on hand to witness the annual clash. Coach Pat Higgins of the University of Santa Clara has been selected to officiate as referee.

The teams will line up as follows: Santa Clara High positions. San Jose High positions. Santa Clara High positions. San Jose High positions. Santa Clara High positions. San Jose High positions.

MURDER VICTIM'S SHOP SOLD—The butcher shop owned by Marius Aubry, who was shot and killed a week ago last Sunday in the San Bruno hills, was sold at auction yesterday in Judge Graham's court. It brought $325, Jose Borge being the buyer.

MAN GAINS WIFE; LITIGANT SOUGHT

Woman Celebrates Breach of Promise Suit by Taking Husband

By way of celebrating the dismissal of a breach of promise suit against her for $2,500 yesterday Miss Lillie Gregg consented to become the wife of Thomas M. Tout.

The license to marry was issued to the couple shortly after Judge J. M. Trout had refused the plea of Harry Rock, a local restaurant man, for four months' continuance of the case, in which Miss Gregg was sued for $2,500 for refusing to marry the plaintiff.

Miss Gregg, whose home is at 2354 Sutter street, had witnesses in court, including several from Los Angeles, where her father is a well to do real estate man, to testify that Rock, who conducts a restaurant in Seventh street, had borrowed all her money and then had tried to force her into an evil life.

The following were granted interlocutory decrees of divorce yesterday: By Judge Van Nostrand—Harry F. from Atha Leonard, desertion; N. from E. Powell, failure to provide; Lizzie from Thomas Walton, failure to provide.

Alleging that she was induced to marry Henry B. Braden through fraud, Mrs. Bessie B. Braden yesterday filed suit for annulment of marriage on the ground that her husband had been convicted of a felony and sent to Folsom prison from Alameda county, and was on parole when he married her. She declares that she did not learn until after marriage that he had been in prison.

The following complaints were filed: Elba O. against George W. Morgan, cruelty; William against Agnes Dodge, desertion; Mary against Homer R. Brown, desertion; Margaret against John Milward, cruelty; Maria against Domenico Signoretto, cruelty; Mary against Michael McKeown, cruelty; Mamie M. against John E. West, for annulment.

Cottolene is 1/3 richer than butter. Cottolene is not for table use, but it is the best cooking fat for all shortening and frying. If you are using butter in your kitchen you are paying at least twice as much as necessary to secure the same results with Cottolene. Another point of economy about Cottolene—use one-third less than you would of butter or lard. Cottolene is a clean, pure product, and makes wholesome, healthful, digestible food, because it is a vegetable and not an animal fat. Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.
