NEW LEGISLATION IS QUINTESSENCE FOR CHILD'S WELFARE

Proposed Measures Are Discussed Before League of Alameda County

INTEREST AROUSED IN MOTHER PENSION

Advocates of Various Measures to Gather at "Legislative Banquet"

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—Legislative issues were discussed today by the Child's Welfare League of Alameda county in Chabot auditorium.

Particular interest was aroused by the address of Mrs. Lloyd Osborne, daughter in law of Robert Louis Stevenson, who advocated the proposed mothers' pension bill which will be presented to the legislature in January.

The speaker reviewed the efforts made by the various organizations, such as the Associated Charities and Native Daughters of the Golden West, in providing for the dependent child, and how with this endeavor and that made in the orphan asylums of the state the system was found inadequate.

She showed how the training received in the institutions where children were crowded was inefficient and not productive of good citizens in that most of the delinquents before the courts were institution children. She told how the child needed the mother and how in turn the mother needed the child.

"If men would marry at a younger age there would not be so many orphans to be cared for," said Mrs. Osborne. "The life of a man is shorter than that of a woman and the care of families often devolves upon her. This bill does not provide for a charity. It is the duty of the state to take care of its children for its own preservation. No more than the public schools may this be classed as philanthropy."

HAPPINESS FOR CHILDREN
"It is not enough that children be clothed and fed, but they should be made happy, and the sum which the mother receives as her pension should be adequate. This system of keeping families together would not cost the state more than the system of orphan asylums, and would result in happier conditions."

Dr. N. K. Foster appealed to the Welfare League for support in the efforts which are being made to establish a mental clinic in Alameda county for school children. An appropriation of $5,000 is being asked for the offices which would be at the disposal of families for a nominal rate according to their means. Doctor Foster asserted that bad teeth were responsible for the greater part of poverty, depravity, loss of vitality and repeating of grades by children than any other cause. He claimed that 42 per cent of the children in Alameda county were suffering from decayed teeth.

WELFARE OF CHILDREN
Probation Deputy Russ outlined in brief the several bills which were to be presented at the next meeting of the legislature involving the welfare of children. They were: The red light injunction abatement act, a bill providing one rest day in seven for men; an act extending the eight hour working day for women; mothers' pension bill; a minimum wage bill; the use of the public schools for political discussions, provided all parties claimed equal privilege; restrictions of some parental rights; an effective act regulating the use of tobacco by minors; an act making obligatory the payment of child support by the real parent; a bill prohibiting child traffic; amendments to the failure to provide bill making the offense a misdemeanor instead of a felony.

The annual banquet will take place Monday evening, February 4, in Hotel Oakland. All the women's organizations of the county will be invited to the banquet, which will be known as the legislative dinner, and at which the representatives will be the guests of honor. Miss Bessie Wood, president of the league; Mrs. John H. Stephenson, Theresa Russau are the committee on arrangements.

WITNESSES TESTIFY AUTOIST WAS DRUNK

William J. Rombach and W. H. Bennett Put on Stand by Prosecution in Stephenson Case

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—Further testimony was taken today at the preliminary hearing before Police Judge George Samuels of Archibald J. Stephenson, a wealthy cattleman of Newman, charged with the murder of A. J. Pimental, whom he ran down in his automobile, inflicting injuries that resulted in Pimental's death a few days later.

Two witnesses testified that Stephenson was under the influence of liquor when he collided with Pimental on the evening of October 20, at First avenue and East Twelfth street.

William J. Rombach, 1059 Fell street, San Francisco, said that he was with William Millican the night of the accident. Millican already has testified that Stephenson was intoxicated, and Millican's testimony was corroborated by Rombach.

W. H. Bennett, a merchant, said that he saw Stephenson shortly after the accident and he was sure that Stephenson was drunk.

TWAIN TO BE REMARRIED

J. H. Atkin Again Will Take Mrs. E. L. Atkin as His Wife

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—James H. Atkin, a civil engineer, living at Los Angeles, and Mrs. Emma L. Atkin decided that there was nothing in the liberty that a divorce had conferred on them, and obtained licenses to remarry today. Mrs. Atkin lived in San Francisco. The determination to resume mutual helpfulness followed a visit which Atkin made to his former wife there. They will return to Los Angeles to live. Atkin gave his age as 52 years and Mrs. Atkin gave hers as 47 years. They were divorced several years ago.

Oakland Merchant Bags Bruin on Pony While Riding for Cattle

OROVILLE, Nov. 25.—T. J. Fellow, an Oakland business man, who shot a bear at Strawberry valley, Yuba county, a month ago, after it had tamed him, is back at his old stamping ground.

A week ago, according to a letter received by his friend, James Toland of Oroville, he lassoed a small brown bear while riding with a friend for cattle, strangling it to death.

Saturday a 300 pound bear was caught in a trap, and is held captive. A cage has been ordered, in which the bear will be shipped to Oakland.

SACRAMENTO PRODUCERS FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

Dried Fruit Men Organize for Mutual Aid in Grading, Curing and Marketing Their Outputs

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—Producers of dried fruits have formed a mutual association looking to the grading, curing and marketing of the products. Articles of incorporation of the California Cured Fruit exchange were filed here today.

The principal place of business will be in Sacramento, but the directors of the new exchange are all Sacramento valley men who do not live in Sacramento.

According to the articles filed the corporation is formed to unite the various profit, co-operative and incorporated associations of cured fruit producers into an exchange for mutual helpfulness in growing and marketing their dried fruit crops, by protecting the trade in cured fruits against any unfair and irregular actions, by establishing unity in conditions governing the interests of consumers and the general interests of all engaged in the production and distribution of dried fruits.

JURY TOLD TO ACQUIT ALLEGED CHECK PASSER

Charles O. Canfield, Son of C. L. Canfield, Wealthy Oil Man of South, Freed by Verdict

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—Assistant District Attorney Hynes directed a jury today to acquit Charles O. Canfield, a son of C. L. Canfield, wealthy oil stock man of Los Angeles, after a trial charging young Canfield with passing a spurious check, and the jury brought in the verdict as desired. James G. McGann was the complaining witness and McGann's testimony was the basis of Hynes' motion.

McGann said that Canfield told him he had money and he agreed to cash a check for $15, keeping out $5, which was owing from an earlier transaction. The check was on the Citizens' bank of Los Angeles and McGann swore out a warrant against Canfield when the check was returned marked "no funds."

"Fairness to all, malice toward none is the policy of the New Independent Call."

How the Mare Goes
"Do you believe that money makes the mare go?" asked Pubbeigh.
"Sure," said Wiggley. "As soon as a man gets money he buys an automobile, and the mare goes for what she's worth."—Harper's Weekly.

Ninth Annual Poultry Show Opens in Oakland Today With Stock From Over State

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—The ninth annual exhibition of the Alameda Poultry association will open for six days tomorrow morning in Piedmont pavilion, Oakland avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Great interest has been manifested in the exhibit by poultry fanciers all over the state, and many prize birds have been entered. The show will close Sunday evening.

The big pavilion affords ample room for the many exhibits, guarding against any crowding for space. The high class of every bird has caused great competition and the judges, who got to work early this morning, were hard put all day to decide on the merits of the prize birds. The main building contains 1,500 single coops, containing the prize winners of many shows.

STATE FANCIERS ATTRACTED
The exhibit has called together the most prominent poultry and pigeon fanciers in the country. The California Federation of Poultry Clubs will hold its annual meeting in the show hall Wednesday morning, and the same afternoon the California branch of the American Poultry association will hold its annual meeting.

Besides the exhibitions of poultry, rabbits, ducks, geese and pigeons the various dealers in poultry foods and incubators have interesting exhibits and models that attract attention. These include exhibits by the Sperry Flour Cypres Incubator company, James Stansfield, Spratts' patent, Coulson Poultry Food company of Petaluma, Lubben's Poultry Food company of Alameda, Cycle Hatcher company and Hood's Chemical company.

Supervisor Bridge Offended at Hint That Committee Was Fixed

OAKLAND, Nov. 25.—War raged at the session of the board of supervisors today, Supervisor J. M. Kelley, the minority member, being the instigator, with Supervisor W. B. Bridge carrying on a private campaign on his own account. Bridge fared at Supervisor Foss over the condition of a boiler at the county infirmary. Foss said he was not satisfied with the condition under which bids for a new boiler had been solicited by the committee.

"A man of the boiler business told me it was fixed for one firm to secure the contract, and I want this affair straightened out so that nobody will ever say it was fixed," Foss said.

Bridge, who is on the hospital committee, heard only the word "fixed." He sprang to his feet and shouted at Foss:

"Do you personally believe that anything was fixed on that committee, Mr. Foss? I don't like that word 'fixed,'" he yelled.

Foss tried to explain and both talked at once. Bridge occasionally making himself heard above the din by ejaculating "fixed" in a ringing chest tone.

Chairman Mullins admitted that he had opened bids to install steam fittings in Judge Waste's court as they arrived, and Kelley asserted that it was unbusinesslike.

"Why can't this board be run in a businesslike manner?" Kelley asked, and then he said that he saw Chairman Mullins nodding to Supervisor Murphy.

Mullins announced that a bid which he secured was $100 lower than bids submitted by Kelley's friends, and the award was made on that basis.

Then Kelley criticized the board for starting their meetings late, and as there was no denial he talked until other business came up.

AMATEUR HOBO RESCUED

J. A. Maloney of San Francisco Nearly Perishes While on Pedestrian Trip Special Dispatch to the Call

CHICO, Nov. 25.—J. A. Maloney, a San Francisco resident and university graduate, came near perishing in the barren section of country below this city last night. He would have died from exposure had it not been for the kindness of Chico, who, happening to pass by the place where Maloney lay, found him and brought him to town. Maloney walked from San Francisco and made the trip in 10 days. He had no blankets and scarcely any food, and during the late frosty nights was forced to sleep in the open. Last night he lost his way and gave up in despair, being almost unconscious when Wightman found him.
