

Call's Girl Is Surprised
Watch to "Ye Scribe"

Miss Helen Kay Williams,
Editor,
And Is Member of Popular Clubs

There was a big surprise awaiting Miss Helen Kay Williams yesterday morning when she opened the Call. Miss Williams is associate editor of the William Citizen and had just returned from a business trip to Nevada when she was confronted with the news that she had won the gold watch awarded by The Call in its pretty girl wage earner contest.

The young woman is one of the most popular in San Francisco and an active worker in club circles, so congratulations were not lacking when it became known she was the lucky girl to carry off The Call's weekly prize.

Of course, every one wanted The Call yesterday morning. The pretty girl wage earner is no more excited over the outcome of the contest than are the merchants and customers of all the big stores in San Francisco. The girl wanted to know just who is the prettiest self-supporting woman in San Francisco, and every one was glad to read the announcement in The Call that that important news will be published December 22.

Many types of employment selected by women to make their way in the world have been represented in The Call's pretty girl wage earner contest. Every type of feminine beauty has been entered. There are hundreds of photographs to be gone over by the jury of artists before the announcement can be made as to who is the prettiest of the thousands of self-supporting women in this city.

Who is she? Do you know her? Watch The Call during the next two weeks. Photographs will be published during the week of the girls that have a splendid chance of winning the finer splendid prize of a trip to Honolulu as a guest of The Call.

INTOXICATED MAN GETS THREE OTHERS IN JAIL
Thinking Holdup Is Being Committed, Pedestrian Shoots at Duo Helping Drunk Out of Danger

An unidentified intoxicated man nearly caused two men to lose their lives, the imprisonment of three men and a panic among scores of men and women in Montgomery street early last evening. Arthur Hubbard, a construction worker, living in La Granda hotel, Kearny street, and James Daley, 122 Sacramento street, an instructor in the public schools, were shot at and subsequently arrested, and Frank Schaffer, tailor, living at 805 Filbert street, fired three shots from a revolver at them, and also later was arrested.

Daley and Hubbard came along Montgomery street and saw the intoxicated man lying in the road. They picked him up and started to lift him into a doorway, fearing that he would be run over and killed if left in the street.

Schaffer, believing that a holdup was taking place, rushed across the street firing his revolver as he came. The innkeeper was allowed to drop to the sidewalk and Daley and Hubbard fled, while the intoxicated man was taken to a restaurant nearby also fled panic-stricken out of the danger zone.

Folkways and Majoney came upon the scene in time to prevent further shooting and effected the capture of all three concerned. Explanations were given at the city prison and Daley and Hubbard after being closeted with the detectives for two hours, were allowed to go. Schaffer was charged with firing a revolver within the city limits. The drunk disappeared.

JUDGE KING NAMED AS CABINET MEMBER
Oregon Jurist, Now in This City, May Become One of Woodrow Wilson's Advisers

Judge William Rufus King, formerly of the supreme court of Oregon, who is being put forward by his friends as a candidate for the place of president Wilson's cabinet as secretary of the interior, is spending a few days in this city. He registered yesterday at the Palace.

From Chicago he conducted the campaign over the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states. While other names have been mentioned for the position of secretary of the interior, Judge King's friends believe he has the best advantage in the favor of the president elect because of his active work in the campaign. Other men of western states, who are said to be in the race, are James D. Phelan, former mayor of this city, Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, E. L. Norris of Montana, Governor John Burke of North Dakota, John M. Cary of Wyoming and J. M. Teal, an attorney of Portland.

CHANKUHAH CELEBRATION
Jews Observe Feast of Lights With Speeches and Dance

Chanukah celebration, or the feast of lights, was celebrated last night in the vestry room of the Beth Israel temple, 1255 Broadway street, by the Agudath Zion society. As this is one of the leading Jewish holidays, an extensive literary and musical program was given. The society is the San Francisco branch of the International Zionist movement, which has for its object the obtaining of a home for Jews in Palestine. R. Ringolsky were the speakers. The musical portion of the program was directed by Miss Lillian Cassel and Miss R. Herskowitz, and was followed by a dance.

ROLOPH RETURNS OPTIMISTIC FOR HETCH HETCHY

Mayor Says Hearing Was Fair and Impartial; City's Case Aply Presented to Secretary Fisher

Mayor Rolph would not allow the Spring Valley company to hold up the city for an unreasonable price.

"What he intends to do in the Hetch Hetchy matter I can not say. He admitted to me that the one point in his mind, besides the city's negotiations with Spring Valley, was the question of whether, as secretary of the interior, he should issue rights in the Hetch Hetchy valley or should force the city to pay $20,000,000 more than the Hetch Hetchy system would cost to bring a water supply from another source to its gates.

"In this connection also he considers something more than the additional cost item, for he realizes the dangers that attend any of the alternative projects in building an aqueduct across the Sacramento river, the marsh and delta lands, Carquinez straits and the bay of San Francisco. The question of safety, as well as money, enters into his calculations. Our own engineers have shown that an aqueduct such as would be necessary to bring the McCloud river water to the city would be entirely impracticable."

PERMIT TO BE DRAFTED
In anticipation of the possible favorable action of the board of army engineers, and for the guidance of Fisher himself, the secretary of the interior requested the mayor upon his return to San Francisco to prepare a permit, which the city officials here think would cover every point raised by the head of the department in the hearing. This document, which will be forwarded to Secretary Fisher early in January, will deal with the questions of sanitation, use of water power, work to be done by the city in and around the proposed reservoir site, patrolling of the reservoir and camping grounds in future years and, finally, the steps taken toward the acquisition of Spring Valley.

All of these matters were brought up at the hearing and Fisher wishes to have the city officials here think work to be done by the city in and around the proposed reservoir site, patrolling of the reservoir and camping grounds in future years and, finally, the steps taken toward the acquisition of Spring Valley.

MAYOR CONFIDENT BELL WILL BE BROUGHT WEST
"I Found Philadelphia Executive and His Cabinet Strongly in Favor of Plan," Says Rolph

While in the east Mayor Rolph held a long conference with Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg of Philadelphia, and his cabinet, on the matter of bringing the liberty bell to San Francisco in 1915, and last night he expressed confidence that the historic relic would be allowed to make the trip to California.

"I think that the bell will be brought to San Francisco in 1915," was the mayor's declaration. "I found Mayor Blankenburg and his cabinet strongly in favor of the plan and they assured me that it would be taken up with the city council at an opportune time."

Mayor Rolph was invited to speak at a banquet in Philadelphia and chose as his topic the triumphant trip across the country of the liberty bell in 1915. He painted a graphic picture of the love and reverence felt for the emblem by the school children of the west, and his address stirred the throng so deeply that at the close a number of men seated at the banquet table arose of their own accord and started to sing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." The song was taken up and sung through to the end by the banqueters, all of whom had felt the patriotic appeal of the San Francisco mayor's words.

In New York, Mayor Rolph called upon Mayor Gaynor and exchanged felicitations, and in Chicago he met and talked with Mayor Harrison. He said the whole eastern half of the country is deeply interested in the exposition and that President Taft, with whom he was closeted for an hour, repeated his previous promises to help the fair in every way, both as a public official and as an individual.

OAKLAND HAS 349 SALOONS.
LOS ANGELES HAS 209 SALOONS, CONFINED TO A SMALL ZONE.
SAN FRANCISCO HAS 2,102 SALOONS, SCATTERED EVERYWHERE.

Realizing the commercial value of a moral atmosphere, our neighboring cities are advertising these facts to the disadvantage of San Francisco in the competition for home-seekers. Mayor George C. Cotterill of Seattle telegraphs, "Propose to decrease number of saloons to 250. Public sentiment favors reductions rather than extensions."

Amendment No. 27 May Lessen and Will Regulate Our Saloons.

Clever Singer To Appear Today At Women's Press Club

At the Women's Press Club recital this afternoon Miss Aldanuta Wolfskill, whose portrait is herewith published, will interpret a number of composers with her wonderful voice, which already has gained her fame. Miss Wolfskill is well known in musical circles in San Francisco.

whereby an expression of opinion was obtained in the club two years ago. As will be remembered, this ballot did not put the real question, but asked the voting club members to approve or disapprove giving San Francisco possession of Hetch Hetchy "without further investigation."

Secretary Fisher interrupted Sampson long enough to read the ballot aloud. Holding it in his hand before the speaker, he asked:

"Isn't that a crooked ballot, now? Do you really believe it was fair?"

Sampson dodged a direct answer, but Fisher went on relentlessly, asking the same question half a dozen times in different ways. At the end, he said:

"Since you obviously are not inclined to answer, I will not press the point, but really, could that vote have been taken more unfairly than it was?"

"REASON" SUSPECTED
"If it was done that way I suspect there was some reason," parried Sampson.

"I suspect the same thing," said Fisher, dryly.

That dialogue marked the close of the hearing, besides serving as a clue to the point of view in the matter held by the secretary of the interior.

Mayor Rolph was accompanied home by Mrs. Rolph and Assistant City Attorney Thomas E. Haven. Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher and Alexander T. Volsung will arrive today, and John Sullivan Dunne, clerk of the board, left Washington last night on the homeward trip. City Attorney Percy V. Long and Assistant City Attorney Don E. English, with City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy, are still in the east and will not be home for a week or more.

More Powerful S. G. V. Car Here

E. Stewart Company Places On Display Improved Type of Machine

Sales Manager Eccleston of Oakland Company Touring in New Six

The long expected 35-44 horsepower S. G. V. has arrived. Manager Baker of the E. Stewart Automobile company, agents for the S. G. V., is more than pleased with this latest addition to the line, and in speaking of the new car he says:

"We have expected this car for some time, but the demands made by the New York branch for cars to supply the sale in that city made it impossible for the factory to think of any other section until the present time."

"The 25-30 S. G. V. is one of the most popular in New York, and when it was announced that the factory had decided to put out a more powerful, speedier and larger car the New York office was able to sell the output of the factory."

"In placing this high powered model before the public the factory has met a growing demand on the part of those of their customers who require more power and speed for touring purposes. The new model is identical with the 25-30 horsepower car with the exception that the engine has been increased to 4 inch bore and 5 1/2 inch stroke and a hand spark advance has been added.

"The gasoline is carried at the rear of the chassis, and the transmission system has been strengthened to accommodate the increased power. The wheel base has been lengthened 2 1/2 inches, and the body length, from dash to rear of chassis, seven-eighths of an inch. The long stroke motor is of great advantage in hill climbing and especially adapts itself to slow, high speed work in the traffic of the day."

The new models, which have been sold, will be on exhibition for a few days at the salesroom of the E. Stewart company.
