

PEACE ENVOYS
ARRIVE IN LONDON
Arrival of Turkish Plenipotentiaries Completes Roll
Call; Conference Begins Immediately

ADRIANOPLE TO BE PRIZE FOUGHT FOR
Both Mussulman and Bulgar
Present Unyielding Attitude on This Point

LONDON, Dec. 13.—All the plenipotentiaries to the peace conference which will convene here next week for the purpose of ending the war in south-eastern Europe are now in London.

The Turkish envoys arrived too late tonight and, unless the continuance of hostilities between the Turks and the Greeks proves a hindrance, there seems nothing in sight to prevent the conference getting down to business immediately.

With regard to a report from Constantinople that the Turkish plenipotentiaries in London unless Greece signed the armistice to which the other Balkan states have subscribed, the consul general of the Turkish embassy here said that he knew nothing of any such instructions and did not believe the Greeks would have come to London unless the armistice was signed.

Both sides present an unyielding attitude on this point, basing their claims on the fact that their armies are in excellent condition to resume hostilities. The Turks insist that they have 170,000 practically fresh troops behind the Tehtalja lines, while dispatches from Constantinople indicate that the war party in the Turkish capital is gaining influence.

No argument is being made in diplomatic circles here, however, that the plenipotentiaries will separate without concluding peace. The important question has arisen whether Roumania should join the armistice simultaneously with the peace conference to discuss pending European questions. The matter still remains unsettled, but it is said that Germany, Austria and Italy all favor Roumania's participation.

A difference of opinion exists as to whether this conference should discuss the question of a Servian port on the Adriatic. That weighty matters will be decided at the conference is evident from the fact that the Austrian and French plenipotentiaries in London are to be accompanied to their respective capitals for the purpose of obtaining instructions from their governments.

It is reported that the German plenipotentiary has gone to Berlin on a similar mission. It is becoming increasingly probable that a plenary conference of the powers will assemble later at Paris to complete the work of the ambassadorial conference, ratify its decisions and conclude a treaty settling the near eastern problem.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY IS SENTENCED TO JAIL
Son of Democratic National Committeeman Pleads Guilty to Grand Larceny

COLUMBIA, Wash., Dec. 12.—Paul Pattison, aged 29, prosecuting attorney of Whitman county and son of John Pattison of Spokane, democratic national committeeman for Washington, was arrested today, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny from one of his clients and was given an indeterminate sentence in the state reformatory at Monroe.

The charge against the attorney was that he had embezzled $433 from John Major, administrator of the estate of Mrs. E. H. Knox. It was alleged that the money was given to him to meet debts against the estate and that he kept the money, issuing valueless checks to the creditors.

Pattison was allowed to go to the reformatory without guard and left immediately for Monroe.

The Whitman county commissioners will meet Monday to take steps to remove him from office as prosecuting attorney and to select his successor.

WIRELESS LAW IN EFFECT
Some Phases Will Not Be Enforced for Several Days

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Some phases of the new wireless law, which by statute became effective today, will not be actually enforced for several days because the department of commerce and labor has not been able to complete all the preliminary arrangements. There has been some delay at the government headquarters in issuing permits to enough licensees for all wireless operators of ship and land.

One of the salient features of the law is that all operators shall hold a government permit. The war, navy and commerce and labor departments are co-operating to perfect the arrangements quickly, as some of the naval and military stations on the South Atlantic, Pacific and Alaskan coasts will now be available for commercial business.

PATRICIDE MUST ANSWER
Los Angeles Boy Who Killed Father Held for Murder

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Martin Rickert, 12 years old, who shot and killed his father, Daniel H. Rickert, yesterday, formally was charged with murder today by the coroner's jury, which held an inquest over the dead man's body.

The boy was held to answer to the superior court, in the juvenile department, by which his case will be heard. The boy's mother and two brothers were the principal witnesses. They corroborated Martin's statement that he had killed his father after the latter had used force upon Mrs. Rickert in a dispute as to who was the "boss of the house."

ASSESSORS END SESSION
Officers Elected and Jackson Chosen For Next Annual Meeting

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—The California County Assessors' association closed its annual session here today after selecting Jackson, Amador county, as the next place of meeting and electing the following officers: G. P. Cummings, Fresno county, president; Ed W. Hopkins, Los Angeles, vice president; Thomas Robinson, Alameda county, secretary (re-elected), and George W. Murray, Kings county, treasurer.

ART NOT TO BE
Cigarettes a Solace, Not a Passion
Labeled 'Smoker'

Mrs. John Q. Thompson
Objects to Being
Labeled 'Smoker'

Criticism of anything so entirely personal as smoking cigarettes is a matter for surprise with Mrs. John Quigley Thompson, wife of one of the assistants to the attorney general of the United States, who has just arrived from the orient, en route to her home in Washington, D. C. She smokes when and where she chooses and makes no secret of the fact, but that she should be labeled "a smoker" and passed on with no thought or mention of any of her other attributes or characteristics annoys Mrs. Thompson.

At present Mrs. Thompson is in the chief interest of her leisure moments and she has followed it quite around the world. Photographs of famous paintings of Europe, a hieroglyph of Egypt, of India's artistic marvels of temples, cashmere embroideries, picked up in second hand shops in Persia, wonderful brocades from Peking palaces, quaintly carved treasures from elsewhere in the far east, fill the corners and trays of Mrs. Thompson's boxes, and quantities of women's trousseaus have been shipped home before. Yet none of these is mentioned in connection with Mrs. Thompson, and all interest on shipboard, crossing the Pacific, centered in her ability to smoke 50 or 90 cigarettes a day.

The habit is one Mrs. Thompson formed some five or six years ago while traveling in Europe and she sees nothing to be ashamed of in the fact that she puffs the weed. "Some of the women who are most strongly opposed to this matter of women smoking," she said, "would find out if they only looked into it, that their own grandmothers, or great-grandmothers at least, smoked clay pipes. Much the same has been broad it has been alone, and smoking is a wonderful solace when you are a bit lonely. It doesn't hurt me at all. In fact, I find it does my nerves good. I am not very well, very strong, that is—and I find myself soothed by my cigarettes."

Before her husband was appointed to his present position by McKinley, the Thompson home was in Kansas. Mrs. Thompson has with her as one of her valuable and interesting souvenirs a petition to President McKinley asking that she be made one of the commissioners to the Paris exposition in 1900, signed by a lengthy list of the leading citizens and public officials of Kansas. She likewise has letters of introduction to the American ambassador in Paris from Mark Hanna, and to prominent men in all parts of the world from influential Americans.

Mrs. Thompson says she is a stranger in San Francisco and to San Franciscans, but she feels that she has been unkindly treated in being placed before the people of this state as the type of woman whose only interest lies in smoking and kindred lighter things of life.

Smoke she does—there is no denial of that—but it is merely a bit of the byplay of life. Smoking may be stopped at any time by Mrs. Thompson and her interest in art, travel, political subjects and many other things will go on untouched. Undue emphasis of her fondness for the weed and its soothing qualities has been made. Give the habit to many other things will go on untouched. Undue emphasis of her fondness for the weed and its soothing qualities has been made. Give the habit to many other things will go on untouched. Undue emphasis of her fondness for the weed and its soothing qualities has been made.

Ohio Grand Jury Returns Many Indictments for Frauds in Last Election

STEVENSVILLE, O., Dec. 13.—The special grand jury investigating charges of irregularities in connection with the recent election this afternoon returned nine indictments, as follows: Richard Gilson, postmaster at Stevensville, giving $10 in support of the candidacy of Robert McCleary for county treasurer.

John A. Mansfield, former common pleas judge, using in excess of $50 in his campaign for election officer, and William C. Brown, prosecuting attorney elect, exceeding the amount allowed by law in his campaign for prosecuting attorney.

Amos Gilson, spending $2 for a keg of beer given to a worker in support of the candidacy of his brother, John Gilson.

Henry F. Lawler, justice of the peace, and A. F. Biener, an election officer, jointly indicted for promising to pay $300 to a worker for voting for Collin H. Smith, candidate for common pleas judge.

POWER SOON TURNED ON
Electricity to Be Sent Over Line From Coalinga District

FRESNO, Dec. 13.—Electricity will be transmitted over the new power line from the Coalinga district to San Miguel on the coast within the next day or two, according to a statement made today by General Manager A. G. Fishon of the San Joaquin Light and Power company.

An investigation is being made today to ascertain the exact time it will be safe to turn on the power, it being necessary that when this is done the transformers be perfectly dry. The new power line will connect the San Joaquin valley and the Sierra Nevada mountains with the coast at San Miguel, the power coming from the power plant at Crane valley.

THREE MILES OF GRAIN
SHIPS REACH BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Three miles of giant freighters, their hulls filled with millions of bushels of wheat, are riding at anchor inside the breakwater of Buffalo's outer harbor tonight, forming one of the heaviest blockades of grain in the history of the port.

The total cargo value of the fleet in winter quarters here is estimated at $20,000,000. The 15,000,000 bushels of grain will be transhipped at the rate of 500 to 1,000 carloads a day during the winter, and the remainder will be shipped by canal in the spring.

FORMER OAKLAND PASTOR
ON STAND FOR HIS LIFE
Rev. C. N. Emilus, Once
Named C. E. Nelson, Denies Killing Maine Man

HOULTON, Me., Dec. 12.—Rev. Charles N. Emilus, the last of the trio charged with the murder of August Jacobson in New Sweden, June, 1911, took the witness stand today.

He testified that he had changed his name in 1907 while in Oakland, Cal. His name originally was Charles Emil Nelson. He said his relations with August Jacobson were always pleasant.

Emilus reached home at midnight, after having conducted a church service, he said, and remained there until 7 o'clock the next morning, when he was summoned by telephone to the Jacobson house, where he was shown the body of August Jacobson lying near the stone wall. The preacher said that while returning from church the night before he stopped at the Jacobson home and talked with Mrs. Jacobson.

Emilus said he first saw the body he thought murder had been committed. He, Mrs. Emilus and Mrs. Jacobson offered a reward of $800 for the slayer and he employed a detective.

AMBASSADOR REID IS ILL
America Representative in London Is Suffering From Asthma

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Whitelaw Reid, United States ambassador to Great Britain, is suffering from asthma, and his condition has become considerably worse during the last week. Several specialists are in attendance on the ambassador, who was not well when he returned from America in October. Afterward he caught cold, from which he was recovering when he suffered a relapse after delivering his speech at the opening session of the University of Wales at Aberystwith, on October 31, which overtaxed his strength. He has been confined to his room at Dorchester house mostly since then.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 13.—Jail on charges of perjury for Frederick W. Zeiss, Chicago, a union iron worker, the testimony of Thomas Taggart, democratic national committeeman about an explosion and speeches and reports in which the Iron Workers' International union was accused of approving the defiance to law in its strike, were developments at the "dynamic conspiracy" trial today.

Zeiss, the second witness of the defense to be held to the federal grand jury on charges of perjury, was a roommate of Orrie E. McManigal when McManigal blew up a building in Detroit in June, 1907.

He is charged with telling the truth before the federal grand jury last winter when the indictments in the dynamite cases were returned, and with testifying falsely today in an effort to impede McManigal's confession.

Today Zeiss testified that McManigal not only confided in him, but also offered to "split up" with him if he (Zeiss) would help do the dynamiting. In response to questions by Senator Taggart about the defense, Zeiss testified that McManigal had told him about the Detroit affair, had invited him to go to Bloomville, O., to procure dynamite, and had offered to pay for the dynamite. Zeiss would pay both of them for future "jobs."

His narrative completed, Zeiss was passed to the government. "Didn't I ask you before the grand jury last winter whether you knew about the use of dynamite?" asked District Attorney Miller.

"I don't think you did," answered Zeiss. "And didn't you say you didn't know anything about any explosive?" "No, sir, I don't remember saying it."

"What do you think you did before the grand jury for—to look at?" "Oh, I object," said Senator Kern. Judge Anderson said to the witness: "Do you say that a few days after the explosion McManigal told you he had done it?"

"Now," said Judge Anderson, "don't be impudent with me. Do you know where you are? If you don't, I'll give you an object lesson. Answer that question."

"Certainly McManigal told me." "DID YOU TELL ANY OFFICER OF THE LAW ABOUT IT?" "No, sir."

"You concealed it?" "Yes, sir." "The marshal will take this individual into custody. I will deal with him presently," said Judge Anderson, who later bound Zeiss to the grand jury and fixed his bond at $2,000, in default of which the prisoner was taken to jail.

Taggart testified as a witness for the defense. He said that 10 days before an explosion on a building in course of construction at French Lick, Ind., March 20, 1911, Fred Sherman, a union business agent, who is a defendant, talked with him about unionizing the job, and the question of unionizing it was in consideration when the explosion occurred.

Senator Kern put questions to Taggart as tending to show there was no motive for the defendants to blow up when it soon was to be unionized. The government repeatedly objected to Taggart's testimony as "incompetent and irrelevant."

SEIDEL SPEECH CITED
The explosion was charged to James B. Seidel, socialist mayor of Milwaukee. Speeches made by Emil Seidel, the socialist mayor of Milwaukee, before the convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers in Milwaukee, in September, 1911, in which he referred to the arrest of John J. McNamara as a "kidnaping," and representatives before the iron workers' convention in Rochester in September, 1910, the month before the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, were introduced by the government through the examination of Paul J. Morrin of St. Louis, a defendant.

In a report by Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, read to the jury, Clancy was charged with having urged that strikers in Los Angeles defy the law. This was in connection with the plan to ignore the ordinance against picketing.

How the Parties Stand
Lineup of Legislature

The next legislature will consist of 72 republicans elected as or affiliated with the progressives; 12 regular republicans, 35 democrats and 1 socialist, the first member of that party to sit in a California legislature. The assembly will be composed of 45 progressives, 25 democrats, 9 regular republicans and 1 socialist. In the senate the progressive majority will consist of 27 members.

The democrats will be represented from ten districts and the republicans from three. These men will constitute California's next legislature, the numbers preceding the names being the districts represented:

CHAIR OF ORATORY FOR STANFORD U IS URGED

Students in Petition Ask Accredited Department; Jordan Favors Move

Special Dispatch to The Call STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 13.—Containing the signatures of 200 undergraduates, a petition was filed today with President Jordan for the installation in the regular university curriculum of a course in debating and public speaking, and for the attainment of university credit by the members of the Carnot and intercollegiate debating team.

President Jordan stated that he had been considering the question and that he would urge the innovation in his annual recommendation to the board of trustees in March. A chair for public speaking courses and debating is planned.

Miss Ruth Price, a senior student, registered in the history department from San Diego, was elected president of the Schubert club today. The other officers of the women's musical organization are Miss Agnes Gray, Palo Alto, secretary; Miss Marjorie Foster, San Rafael, manager, and Miss Christabel Elliott, Stanford, librarian.

After the first of the year the Stanford book store will be run on a co-operative basis, and the under graduates may participate in the profits upon the payment of $1 for one share of stock.

Last June the assets of the firm were $25,000 and the liabilities $4,000. Since that time the debts have been reduced to $3,500. Under the new plan the store will become a student enterprise entirely. Ralph Arnold, who was graduated from the university with the class of 1899, and is considered as one of the foremost authorities of the country as an oil geologist, has donated $1,000 to the building fund of the Stanford union, the proposed men's clubhouse.

This sum brings the total within $2,275 of the necessary $25,000. E. W. Smith, '09 and W. E. Chandler '13, who have charge of the subscription lists, are pushing their work with great vigor in order that the building operations on the $50,000 structure may start next year.
