

RESUMPTION OF WAR UNPOPULAR WITH DELEGATES

Balkan Allies Hope to Compel Turks to Accede to Demands Without Forcing the Hostilities

SAID SALIM TO BE FOREIGN MINISTER

Ottoman Government Gets $10,000,000 Advance on Railways Loan

Pasha has refused definitely the portfolio of foreign affairs and it has been offered to Prince Said Halim, who is expected to accept.

Said Halim is an Egyptian prince. He is president of the council of state and secretary of the committee of union and progress.

Millions to Be Advanced

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph learns that a contract has been signed under which the Ottoman government will obtain an advance of $10,000,000 to be reimbursed out of the loan in connection with the new concession for the Metropolitan Railways of Constantinople.

RIGHTEOUS WAR NOT HELL—DR. WHEELER

President Wheeler of the University of California thinks that a righteous war is not of the sort that can be compared with hell. President Wheeler believes the Balkan war is more "righteous than hell," and he adds, "Let the sword be drawn streaming blood red."

President Wheeler spoke of "War and Hell" during his lecture at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, and he was greeted with applause.

"They say war is hell," he said, "but the Balkan-Turkish war has more righteousness than hell. Every person present wants Turkey driven back. If you can not get arbitrators to do it, if you can not get lawyers to do it, then let the sword be streaming blood red."

"This Balkan war is a struggle of a liberty loving people to free themselves from Turkish domination which the powers have been fastening upon them; it is a struggle between freedom and fatalism and goes back into the roots of history."

In the fifteenth century Mohammedanism pushed its way almost to the gates of Vienna, a shock from which Europe is just now recovering. Races from the cold north found their outlet the warmer south through the Balkan peninsula. On this account there is congregated in this region a mixture of peoples. Jealousy is there in the highest degree.

"The powers are jealous as to who shall come into control. Germany has been fraternizing with the sultan with a view to securing an outlet for her increasing industry. England opposes Russia, which is eager to have a gateway into the Mediterranean. Now, Germany, with its mighty engines of war, is for peace and with Austria is holding things steady on the continent."

"The upheaval on the part of the young Turk party will no doubt check the movement southward, for it is clear that four buffer states will be formed—Albania, Montenegro, Servia and Bulgaria."

"Somehow this war will work out for the good of the world, since behind the curtain is the thought and purpose of God, in whom we all exist, whose will is righteousness and who will reign king of the nations."

At the meeting George C. Boardman Jr. presided, the Berkeley Male Chorus and the California orchestra rendered musical selections.

DR. HARRY F. WARD SPEAKS

Dr. Harry F. Ward of Chicago, author and sociologist, who has come to San Francisco to study local conditions on religion and vice, spoke last night at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-second and Capp streets. Doctor Ward is the associate secretary of the Federal Council of Churches in America. He will speak each night this week.

Early Woman Was Boss More Important Than Man

In the early beginnings of civilization woman was more important than man, according to E. W. Gifford, assistant curator of the Affiliated Colleges department of ethnology, who lectured in the museum yesterday on "Woman as a Social Factor in the Evolution of the Race," the second of a series on "The Rise of Woman."

The lecturer, who illustrated his talk, declared that formerly man inherited his mother's property and name, and this, because of the uncertainty of paternity in those days, gave a certain predominance to womanhood. He said a return to this condition was unlikelier because woman has more real prestige now than then.

AIRSHIP BUILDER FALLS INTO LAKE

After Second Attempt New Machine Mounts Into Air and Then Collapses

less than a minute appeared on the surface of the water.

Paterson was unharmed, and after swimming to shore went down town for a change of clothes. He then returned to the lake and assisted in the work of raising the sunken machine.

MACHINE CAREENS BEFORE FALL

The fall came as the climax to the second attempted flight of the day. Paterson first tried to fly at noon, but the engine was not working properly and the machine refused to leave the surface of the lake.

At 3 o'clock he made his second attempt, and succeeded in rising to an elevation of more than 100 feet. The announcement that the flight would be made this afternoon had attracted a large crowd of men and women, and these were watching the graceful flight of Paterson's machine when the accident came.

Suddenly Paterson dropped to a lower level and turned his plane in the direction of Lake Shore boulevard, along the eastern edge of the lake. After he had flown for a few minutes in this direction the machine was seen to careen violently to one side and then to fall.

When the wind caught Paterson he was dangerously near to the shore, a fall on which might have meant instant death.

Paterson fell, however, out from the shore and disappeared beneath the water with his damaged mechanism.

The water at this point is 10 feet deep, sufficient to cover the hydroplane and its pilot.

HYDROPLANE BADLY DAMAGED

The machine is badly damaged, but not beyond repair. It fell sideways into the lake, imbedding one of its wings in the mud at the bottom. The rudder and pontoons were broken off in the fall and removed to T. M. Kendall's boathouse in Thirteenth street.

A device also was sent out from the boathouse to assist in raising the hydroplane.

The wings, pontoons and other minor parts were smashed to bits, but the engine will not suffer from the accident.

Paterson's machine is said to be the first of the design ever constructed in this country. It was driven by a 50 horsepower six cylinder motor.

LODGING HOUSE IS BURNED DOWN

Entire Top Floor Bursts Into Flames at Once; Suspect Incendiarism

Fire of mysterious origin destroyed a 28 room lodging house of cheap construction at the corner of Eighteenth and Valencia streets last evening. Narrow passageways, without windows, forming horizontal chimneys for smoke, made the fire a difficult one to handle, but by quick work the damage was confined principally to the lodging house.

The Old Reliable saloon, of which William Hovekamp is proprietor, on the floor beneath was slightly damaged. Crossed wires are suggested as possibly the cause of the fire.

Only the fact that the fire occurred early in the evening, when the majority of the 28 lodgers were out, prevented loss of life, as the flames had made great headway before persons in the street sounded the alarm. Four were in the lodging house at the time. The fact that the entire top floor of the frame structure burst into flames at practically the same time at first suggested that the building had been set on fire. Fire Chief Towle and Detectives J. J. Mannion and G. H. Richards are working on the case.

Those in the house were William Berger, proprietor, John Moberge, a carpenter, Mrs. Ida Paladi and L. G. Koenig, a contractor and builder. The four were together, awaiting the meeting hour in the Swedish Mission church, near by.

The structure was owned by Mrs. E. Illig of 3487 Eighteenth street, who estimated her loss at $3,000. Berger's loss was about $1,000. Both carried insurance.

BIG CONCESSIONS MADE TO GARMENT STRIKERS

Higher Wages and Shorter Hours Offered; End of Strike Seems Near

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The strike of garment workers of this city seemed tonight in a fair way of settlement as far as the majority of the strikers is concerned.

At a conference today a proposition providing for a sliding scale of wages increases to be applied to both regular and piece workers, and a 52 hour week, was made to leaders of the United Garment Workers of America by representatives of manufacturers employing about 75,000 of the more than 100,000 garment workers who have been on strike for four weeks.

That the union representatives tentatively accepted the proposal, agreeing to place it before their executive board for final action, is accepted as a favorable development.

The proposition of the Manufacturers' and Merchants' associations and the Clothing Contractors' association as tentatively accepted, calls for an immediate increase of 10 per cent for all workers receiving $12 a week or less, 7 1/2 per cent for all workers receiving more than $12 and less than $15, and for all receiving more than $15 an increase of 5 per cent. In no case is the increase to be less than $1 a week.

The New York Clothing trades association, which has refused to recognize the union or to deal with its representatives, is not a party to the agreement.

A letter addressed to the union officials and signed by the representatives of the two manufacturers' associations, agreeing to carry out their part of the contract, will be delivered tomorrow.

FRANK BAWLING FOR FLY BRUSH

Park Horse Mistakes Buffalo's Tail for Grass and Eats It

Frank Gotch, the young buffalo bull who has succeeded to the leadership of the herd in Golden Gate park, is on a rampage. If his angry bellows could be interpreted into English it would be found that the object of his wrath is a white horse named Pete, used for trucking purposes by the park employees, who has robbed him of his kingly tail.

Unlike most park horses Pete refuses to get fat, although his appetite is unflagging. Saturday while Frank was peacefully cropping grass near the wire fence which incloses him with his admiring cows and progeny, Pete, turned loose for a brief holiday in a neighboring field, trotted up to the fence and began to nibble at what his near sighted eyes told him was a lovely shrub, but which proved to be the caudal appendage of the buffalo leader.

For about four minutes there was wild excitement, for Pete was once a well trained saddle animal, and feeling the shrub slipping between his teeth, he laid back in his tracks and refused to let go of the choice morsel. Something had to give way, and the something proved to be the buffalo's tail.

The cows refuse to look at their Brigham Young husband and Frank paws deep holes in the ground as he breathes bull threats of vengeance.

For proof see Sergeant McGee. Will Discuss Police Courts—The present police court system will be the topic at a luncheon to be given by the San Francisco center of the California Civic League next Friday noon at the Palace hotel. Mrs. Henry Sahlstein will preside at the meeting. T. Wain Michaelson of the Weller Recall League will talk.

EARL ROGERS' DAUGHTER SENT HOME FORCIBLY

Stage Plans Frustrated by W. E. Travis of Taxi Company

Plans for a stage career secretly made by Miss Adela Rogers, the 17 year old daughter of Earl Rogers, the Los Angeles attorney who is defending Clarence Darrow, were frustrated last night when W. E. Travis, president of the Taxicab Company of California, acting on telephonic orders from Los Angeles, forcibly removed Miss Rogers from the Columbia theater and rushed her to the Southern Pacific depot where she was placed on the 10 o'clock train for Los Angeles.

The father ordered his daughter's return, believing that she intended to become the wife of Ralph Morgan, leading man of the "Broadway Jones" company. Morgan, by the way, has a wife now living in the east.

Miss Rogers came to San Francisco on January 20, supposedly to visit Miss Edith Luckett, a member of the "Broadway Jones" company, who visited Miss Rogers in Los Angeles.

Friends of the Los Angeles beauty say that she was in San Francisco to rehearse a vaudeville skit which she hoped to have accepted in Chicago. Miss Rogers attended every performance of "Broadway Jones" and delighted in the theatrical atmosphere.

When Mr. Travis took Miss Rogers from the theater and rushed her, weeping, to the Third and Townsend street depot the young girl was still in evening dress. She admitted that Morgan had been very attentive to her, but denied that she had any intention of eloping with him.

While at the St. Francis Miss Rogers was the guest of Mrs. Travis.

STABBED WHILE AIDING ANOTHER

Oil Worker Seeks to Rescue Hotel Man; Probably Fatally Hurt

Frank Jones, an oil worker 31 years old, is dying at the central emergency hospital as the result of his effort to assist Justin Tulle, proprietor of the Southern hotel, 436 Sixth street, who was being attacked in front of his hotel desk by five men, two of whom were cripples. Jones was stabbed several times by one of the five.

The five strangers, including the two cripples on crutches, entered the hotel at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and asked Tulle if a man named Hickey was stopping there.

On being informed he was not one of the men said: "You need not be so fresh about it" and struck Tulle. A fight followed.

The hotel man was being badly beaten by the five thugs, and in the scuffle the "cripples" showed an activity out of all proportion to their physical defects.

Jones, who resides at the hotel, heard the row from a room adjoining the lobby and went to Tulle's assistance. He put up a good fight but one of the desperadoes crept up behind him and stabbed him twice in the back, in one wound turning the knife. This wound alone would produce death.

Falling to the floor Jones was stabbed again and lost consciousness. The five thugs then made their escape.

The UNITED STATES DUNLOP (Straight side) TIRE is the premier automobile tire of the world. The Genuine Dunlop Tire represents what thousands of motorists regard as the ideal type of tire. It is in no sense a new tire. The Hartford Rubber Works practically introduced it into this country more than ten years ago, and it has always been one of the standard Hartford (now United States) tires. No other tire has ever been imitated so widely as has this tire, and yet in no other tire has the original principle been so firmly adhered to. The illustration on this page is of the original Dunlop tire, stripped of any and all the so-called "improvements" which some of the Dunlops have shown. As an indication of the growth in favor which this genuine Dunlop has enjoyed, it may be stated that the United States Tire Company has, without the blare of trumpets, actually taken care of More than a 600% Increase in Sales in Less than a Year's Time. So insistent has the demand become for this tire (in the face of the most strenuous competition on the part of other tires of a similar type), that we have been obliged to add immensely increased facilities for its manufacture during 1913. From now on the United States Tire Company will undertake to supply all the genuine Dunlop Tires demanded by the trade. Bear in mind—this Dunlop is the only Dunlop possessing all the merits of this extraordinary tire. UNITED STATES TIRE COMPANY New York Makers of America's Predominant Tires. Easiest Tire on the market to put on or take off. Fits any Q. D. rim. Cannot Rim-cut. of Course
