LEGISLATORS AND STATE OFFICIALS ENJOY BIG FEAST

Citizens of Sacramento Formally Welcome Law Makers to Hospitable and Beautiful Capital City at Lavish Banquet, Unique in Novel Conception and Its Many Informal Features

BRILLIANT SPEECHES ENLIVEN DINNER

Governor Johnson, Responding to Toast, Pays Tribute to California and Praises Legislature for Splendid Work That Is Being Done for Progress, Better Social Condition and an Honest Government

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH. CALL BUREAU, SACRAMENTO HOTEL, Sacramento, January 27. The citizens of Sacramento extended the neighbor's hand to the members of the legislature and the state officials at a welcoming dinner commemorative of a new relationship between the people of the capital city and the state's lawmakers.

The dinner served in the main dining room of Hotel Sacramento, was a feast in which the hosts and Manager Hanlon of the hostelry might well take pride.

Nearly 400 men participated in an affair as spontaneously cordial as it was informal and novel for the men who have served only one or two prior terms in the legislature.

That it was appreciated by the legislators was evidenced by the warmth of their thanks and the wealth of their promises to Sacramento and the people of the state.

MANY PROMINENT SPEAKERS

The speakers were Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Justice A. G. Burnett (toastmaster) of the district court of appeals, Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace, Speaker C. C. Young of the assembly, President (pro tem.) A. E. Boynton of the senate, Assemblyman W. A. Sutherland of Fresno, Senator George W. Cartright of Fresno, Assemblyman C. William White of Weaverville, Emmet Phillips, John G. Skelton, M. J. Burke, D. W. Carmichael and George W. Pettler of Sacramento; State Treasurer E. D. Roberts, Comptroller A. B. Nye, Surveyor General W. S. Kingsbury, Senator Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles and Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

Justice Burnett was a most happy toastmaster. His pleasant eyes and eloquence were thrown into striking relief by the vociferous activities of the Sacramento Ad club, whose members had a chorus greeting for every speaker, a list of catchy songs for every pause and a merry hit for every local celebrity.

CHANT FOR GOVERNOR JOHNSON

The examination was designed to enable the "ad" men to speak many glowing words for Sacramento and a few for themselves. The efforts of the "ad" men may be fairly judged by this chant, with which they greeted Governor Johnson:

How do de, HI, how do de? How do de, Hiram, how do de? The gang's all here to pay his Respects to you!

Governor Johnson was given a tremendous ovation when he rose to respond to the toast, "California." No legislature in recent years has been so warmly and genuinely praised by executive or any other state officer as was the sitting legislature tonight by Governor Johnson.

"I can not, in this city," said the governor, "indulge in that fancy which men in public office are supposed to be so familiar with. I can not talk to you of the glories of the state of California. You have the government of California here before you. In these men you have California with you. LEGISLATORS ARE PATRIOTIC

"You will may be proud of the legislature that is here with you tonight. There is no room for the disregard in which legislatures were held here when I was a boy.

"The legislature sitting here today is composed of patriotic gentlemen any one may be proud to know. They are striving for the benefit of you and California. They are an honor to California and to any community in which they temporarily may reside.

"They represent—they are—the government that is going forward for California. They are working for California's achievement—for California's advancement."

In conclusion, the governor told how

HIGH COST AND DENTIST'S BILL: TOO MUCH FOR RICH

Miss Guggenheim, Heiress to Sme'ter King, Who Fell From Horse and Lost Teeth Refuses To Pay $7,500 Repairs

(Special Dispatch to The Call)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—A dentist's bill of $7,500, said to have been run up by Miss Marguerite Guggenheim, daughter of the late Benjamin Guggenheim, one of the famous Guggenheim brothers, has come up for adjudication in the courts.

Miss Guggenheim had a most unfortunate tumble from her saddle horse while taking her morning canter through Central park in April, 1911. Her features were severely lacerated and Dr. Asher F. F. Buxbaum was called in to do the necessary dental work to reinforce Miss Guggenheim's physiognomy.

The dentist declares he has duly presented his bill of $7,500 and has been refused payment. Hence he is suing to recover that sum in the supreme court from the executors of Guggenheim's estate.

Buxbaum declares he treated Miss Guggenheim both at his Madison avenue office and in the suite occupied by Miss Guggenheim and her mother at the hotel St. Regis, when they are in town. Follows a list of some of the things which the doctor says he did to restore the young woman's pulchritude and which, he says, should cost her $7,500. Replanted the teeth in the upper jaw.

Made gold splints for both jaws; aided Dr. Cauldwell in taking an X-ray photograph. Hammered the fractured portion of the lower jaw into position and set it by a splint, after Miss Guggenheim had been anesthetized.

Made it possible for Miss Guggenheim to eat, by making impressions of the upper right and left sides of the jaw and reproducing the upper teeth in gold and platinum and then kept the mouth open so that the replanted teeth and the fracture would be at rest and a perfect reunion would result.

Reconstructed the upper splints, ul— The executors of the Guggenheim estate deny Dr. Buxbaum is entitled to any such fee as $7,500.

WIDOW OF SICKLES' CIVIL WAR FOE IS TO AID GENERAL

"I'll Raise $23,476 Among Ragged and Maimed Followers of Lee," Mrs. Longstreet Wires

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the famous Confederate general, came to the aid of her husband's civil war foe, General Daniel E. Sickles, today with an offer to raise $23,476 among the "ragged and maimed followers of Lee" to pay General Sickles' alleged debt to the state of New York.

Her telegram was as follows: "My soul is sorrowed by your troubles. I am wiring the attorney general of New York that I will raise money among the ragged, destitute and maimed veterans who followed Lee to pay the amount demanded, if the New York officials will allow sufficient time. The republic whose battles you fought will not permit your degradation.

"HELEN D. LONGSTREET." Sheriff Harburger, who arrested General Sickles in the civil suit brought by the state to recover the money, also indicated a letter to many of the richest men in New York asking them to aid the aged veteran.

The sheriff addressed his letter to J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie and the 450 members of the sheriff's panel, composed of wealthy New Yorkers.

Sheriff Harburger dealt gently with his prisoner. Instead of serving the order of arrest this morning, he waited until General Sickles' lawyer, Daniel P. Hays, had arranged with a surety company for a $30,000 bond for the veteran's freedom. Mr. Hays brought it to the sheriff's office and they went to General Sickles' Fifth avenue home this afternoon.

Mrs. Longstreet Ready to Aid

(Special Dispatch to The Call) GAINESVILLE, Ga., Jan. 27.—Following the publication today of her telegram to General Daniel E. Sickles in New York and the attorney general in Albany, Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet said: "My husband always spoke of General Sickles as the hero of Gettysburg. They were opposed to each other in that deciding battle of the war and General Longstreet in the last autograph letter he ever wrote, September 19, 1902, to General Sickles, told him that the taking of the peach orchard by Sickles' corps won the battle for the union forces and defeated the confederacy.

"They were always close friends, and General Sickles wrote the introduction to my biography of General Longstreet. It was General Longstreet's detachment that shot off the leg of the brave union general, but as General Longstreet said, 'Sickles can well afford to leave a leg at Gettysburg, for he has made sure his place forever in the hearts of Americans.'

"I have made no plans as yet, but if General Sickles needs my aid and the aid of the south, he will get it."

CRUISER SMASHED; CAPTAIN IS UNABLE TO EXPLAIN CRASH

Warship California in Drydock Shows Plates Battered, Frames Buckled and Ruined

(Special Dispatch to The Call)

MARE ISLAND, Jan. 27.—The cruiser California lies in the drydock here with battered plates and buckled frames and no explanation of the circumstances attending the disaster can be given by captain, officers or crew. How the ship's side could be crushed in without the seeming knowledge of the officers in command is a matter that will receive the attention of a naval board of inquiry and later the serious consideration of the navy department.

When the cruiser was examined today by officers and mechanics it was discovered that plates covering a distance of 175 feet on the port side were crushed in and would have to be replaced. The damaged plates are just below the armor belt of the vessel.

CAPTAIN SILENT ON ACCIDENT

The interior of the ship also looked as if a battering ram had struck it and 25 frames were pulled out in a crushed condition. The vessel went on drydock Saturday, but the revelations of its crippled condition were not made to Commander H. T. Mayo until today. He immediately ordered an investigation.

Captain Alexander Halstead seems unable to explain how the damage was done his ship. Men expert in naval affairs say that only a blow that would have rocked the ship from stem to stern could have wrought such havoc, yet everybody aboard ship professes ignorance of any collision or accident.

The California has not been in drydock for nearly a year, and it was suggested that the accident might have happened before the ship left San Francisco last spring.

COURT MARTIAL LIKELY

It was also stated that the plates might have been battered in when the ship was at Corinto last fall. But these are only surmises. The truth will likely not be learned until a full investigation is made by the navy inquiry board.

LUMBER BOYCOTT IS CONDEMNED BY COMMERCIAL MEN

Chamber Passes Resolution Declaring if One Exists It Can Not Be Defended by City

FREE EXCHANGE OF PRODUCTS OF STATES

Officers Instructed to Take Steps to Remove Restrictions if Any There Be

A boycott against northern lumber by local commercial interests, if such has existed, was strongly condemned by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce yesterday in unanimous resolutions by the board of directors and presented to the representatives of the northern chambers of commerce who made protest Saturday against the alleged discrimination at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast.

These resolutions announce opposition to any action that will interfere with free exchange between the states of their products, both raw and manufactured, and instruct the proper officers to take steps to remove these restrictions.

In addition, President P. H. McCarthy of the San Francisco Building Trades council told the northern men that he would send them a written statement denying the existence of the boycott, and declaring that if one existed it should be removed.

This in substance forms the action

WIFE TRADES HER HUSBAND FOR $80

Induces Spouse Wed Younger Woman That She May Return to Russia on Dowry

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—When his wife became homesick four years ago, Paul Steinberg, with her consent, married a younger woman and used the $80 dowry she brought him to send his first wife back to Russia. This was the story Steinberg told today when arraigned in court on a bigamy charge.

Their plan promised well until the first Mrs. Steinberg decided to return to New York. Here she had trouble supporting five children and sought aid from the father. Steinberg grew tired of this and stopped payments. Then his first wife had him arrested. The court thought Steinberg's story so unusual that sentence was postponed to permit further investigation.

STRATTON AND NEEDHAM SUGGESTED FOR VACANCY

Speculation in Washington as to Successor on Federal Bench Follows Death of Judge de Haven

(Special Dispatch to The Call) WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The death of Judge de Haven has caused speculation in Washington as to his successor.

It is reported that Senator Perkins favors the nomination of F. S. Stratton, at present collector of the port at San Francisco. Congressman Needham, whose term expires March 4, also is mentioned.

The deadlock in the senate regarding presidential nominations may defeat any plan to appoint a republican to this vacancy.

There is a courtesy rule in congress whereby the naming of a congressman for an important office is usually confirmed. This might stand Needham in good stead if the two senators should join in recommending him.

Rich Boy Not Pampered Will Be a "Man's Man"

Hundred million dollar baby and his mother in push chair at Palm beach

Vinson Walsh McLean, $100,000,000 Baby, Is Reared to Depend Upon Himself Solely

(Special Dispatch to The Call)

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 27.—Master Vinson Walsh McLean, the $100,000,000 baby, is being raised by his parents to be a "man's man"; no woman petted milkeop or mother's boy. The only woman the youngster comes in contact with is his mother.

Most of the society women here provide their pet poodles with a maid apron. No apron strings for Master McLean.

"A man's man he shall be," his father told friends of the family this week, and the boy's mother smiled approvingly. And a manly youngster is little McLean of the big bank roll.

Vinson has a retinue of five high priced men who devote themselves to his attention. Three are detectives, one of whom never leaves him for a moment; one is a private physician, who, besides taking general precautions for his health, makes a special examination of all the food set before the child, and the fifth is a man nurse.

The boy's mother discourages any attempt on the part of women friends to "make a pet" of Vinson. His maid is under strict instructions not to leave the millionaire baby alone.

Young Vinson, in whom when he comes of age, the country is likely to take as great interest as it did at the twenty-first birthday recently of Vincent Astor, is a blue eyed, sandy haired child, very grave for his age. His appearance indicates much individuality. He is not a cut-up.

The gold bathtub the king of Belgium gave him when a baby has been retained.

LOST: ELECTORAL VOTE OF ARIZONA AND MAN INTRUSTED WITH IT

Washingt. Jan. 27.—Lost: The electoral vote of Arizona and its bearer. FINDER please send at once to the office of the vice president of the United States.

Senators and representatives of the baby state of Arizona sent broadcast tonight the foregoing notice when at 6 o'clock, the time limit, had expired, for receiving returns from the national election last November, and Wilfred T. Webb, custodian of three perfectly good votes for Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall, had failed to appear at the vice president's office in the capital.

Arizona's patriots and legislators were much perplexed and disappointed for, though no political upheaval would be caused should the three little votes never be found, they did not want missing from history's archives Arizona's first vote for chief executives of the nation.

WOMEN RAGE WHEN THEIR RIGHTS BILL IS GARROTED

Militant Leaders of English Suffragettes Summon Host to Relentless Warfare, When, by Alleged Trick of Politicians, Equality Measure Is Strangled in House of Commons, and London Becomes the Hotbed of an Amazonic Rebellion

WHOLE POLICE FORCE CALLED INTO ACTION

Mrs. Pankhurst and Other Radical Spellbinders Harangue crowds to Enlist for Crusade, Threatening to Destroy Property, and if Necessary Break Heads Until Parliament Gives Them Voice in Government and Ballot Privilege

LONDON, Jan. 27.—England is on the brink of another campaign by the suffragettes in comparison with which former outbreaks of the militant women will appear insignificant.

Two thousand policemen were engaged tonight in dispersing huge crowds gathered near the parliament buildings; shopkeepers were boarding up show windows, and excited women were making incendiary speeches in several halls.

The women believe that the politicians have played a carefully studied trick upon them and the decision of the government to drop the franchise bill is likely to lead to serious consequences.

SMOTHERING SUFFRAGE BILL

In the house of commons today, the speaker, the Right Honorable James William Lowther, in response to an inquiry by the prime minister, announced that if any amendments to the franchise bill giving women the vote should be adopted he would be obliged to rule that they made it substantially a new bill, which would compel its withdrawal.

Mr. Asquith thereupon announced that the cabinet had decided that under such circumstances it would be useless to proceed. This was announced to a crowded house, which displayed more interest in the subject than had been shown in the last stages of the home rule bill.

POLICE GUARD AGAINST RIOTS

In the meantime police in great numbers, mounted and afoot, were having great difficulty outside the buildings keeping the crowds in check, while reserve forces stationed in courtyards in the vicinity of parliament were held in readiness to quell disorders of a more serious nature.

The suffragettes held heated meetings tonight. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders denounced both the enemies and supporters of suffrage in the cabinet for their treachery. They declare an end of the truce which the women had observed while awaiting parliament's action on the bill.

SEVERAL WOMEN ARRESTED

Several women were arrested tonight, some of whom declined to give their names. One, believed to be Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, was captured in St. Stephen's hall, leading to the house of commons, where she was making a determined attack on a large painting.

The police dispersed a crowd in Trafalgar square, where a man and woman were trying to make speeches. The speakers, who resisted, were arrested. The noted militant, Mrs. Despard, was taken to the police station with six others.
