

SMITHSON ON OLYMPICS LIZZING

HURDLER BROKE NO A. A. U. RULES BY HIS ACTIONS

Southern Governing Body Is Being Criticised for the Stand That It Has Taken

By WILLIAM UNMACK

The Smithson controversy between the local branch of the A. A. U. and the southern California branch is causing plenty of talk in local circles, and the action of the southern association in keeping the hurdler out of athletics is coming in for considerable criticism.

Though he ran as "unattached" in the big trials, Smithson ran carrying the blue and white colors of the Los Angeles Athletic club with the winged foot in the crescent, this in itself being evidence that he was a member of the southern club.

When they heard that the hurdler entered on the program as "unattached" the southern officials went up in arms and the southern registration committee was prevailed upon to suspend him.

It is on this suspension point that the local authorities are now trying to find out how long he was suspended and for what reasons the suspension was made.

Smithson has never been notified how long he was suspended, although he has stated he thought it was for six months. If that is the case the suspension expired last November.

The southern association notified the national registration committee in New York of the affair and asked that they take further action, but the east stated that the matter was simply a local Los Angeles affair and could not under the circumstances take any action.

At the last meeting of the Pacific association representatives of the Olympic club and the national association met up, stating that the club wanted him to compete in both the Pacific and the Olympic club meets.

The present action is taken on the recommendation of the association to the club and the application for the registration card.

LOCALS TO MAKE FIGHT Should the southern association refuse to release Smithson from the suspension, the local association will take the matter up with the national association.

It is not to be assumed that contestants are placed in order of merit, although it is customary to give the best players the first places.

It's a Tossup, on Paper, Between Pacific Union and the Bohemian Swingers

By H. McDONALD SPENCER

The teams have been selected to represent the Bohemian and Pacific Union clubs in their match at Ingle-side a week from today.

On paper the teams look to be equally matched. I should not venture to forecast a result, as I wish to retain the friendship of both sides.

It is not to be assumed that contestants are placed in order of merit, although it is customary to give the best players the first places.

WONDERFUL TRAIN FOR GREAT INLAND CRUISE

Yachtless Sailors Are Preparing for a Grand Snow Carnival at Sisson

One of the most wonderful trains which ever pulled out of the Oakland mole will carry the members of the Indoor Yacht club on their cruise to the snow capped mountains of Sisson on next Friday evening.

The theater coach will be fitted up with a load of scenery fit for any heavy melodrama house and, besides, there will be a couple of moving picture machines, a piano, an organ and last but not least Professor Levy's full fledged orchestra, which will be kept busy from the moment the yachtless sailors are chugged out of Oakland till they are landed back there two days and a half later.

The dining cars will be presided over by some of the most efficient men in the employ of the Southern Pacific, so the indoor tars are assured of the finest line of eats to be had anywhere.

Then there will be the buffet cars and the entertainment car, besides the regular line of sleepers. The chances are that the majority of the bunks will remain undisturbed, but the tars may sleep if they so choose.

The members of the crew, about 150 strong, will make their start from Oakland at 6 o'clock on Friday evening. Headed by Levy's band and a wagon load of red fire, the tars will chug along in automobiles to the ferry building.

As Smithson has not in any way professionalized himself, he will be given the benefit of the above two rules by the local committee. If the southern organization will not agree to this point brought out is the fact that the A. A. U. does not allow an athlete to be "indefinitely suspended" and this will also be taken up. It is possible, however, that the situation will be amicably settled.

Hawaiian Poloists Reach San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—F. F. Baldwin, Harold K. Castle and Arthur Rice, members of the All-Hawaiian polo team, arrived tonight and were met at the train by Walter F. Dillingham, captain of the team, who has been here several days.

British Team's Personnel

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Walter S. Buckmaster, who founded the famous old Cantab polo team and who will captain the English team that is going to America at the end of the coming spring in quest of the international cup, said today that it was impossible to state definitely who would make up the actual playing team, but the following were prepared to leave England about May 10:

$150,000 Insurance for 3 Cub Tossers

(Special Dispatch to The Call) CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—President Charles W. Murphy of the Cubs arranged today to insure three of his star players, one the manager, for $150,000 for the coming baseball season.

"Straight life" policies for $50,000 each will be taken out for Johnny Evers, manager-second baseman, Roger Bresnahan and Jimmy Archer, advertised as "the greatest catches in baseball." The athletes will not be insured against accidents.

OLYMPIC CLUB WILL STAGE BIG DUAL MEET

Southern California Varsity Stars Will Hook Up With Winged "O"

What promises to be one of the feature dual track and field meets of the season was practically settled yesterday by Joe Hickey of the Olympic club when he received word from Graduate Manager Warren Bovard of the University of Southern California accepting the suggestion of the winged "O" club for a dual meet during the northern tour of the varsity team.

It is proposed by the Olympic club to hold the southern team here after its dual meet with the California freshman team, which is scheduled for March 29. The meet between the club men and the southerners will be staged at the new cinder track in the Golden Gate Stadium and is being put there with a view to giving local athletic citizens the opportunity to witness some of the world's greatest athletes in action without expense.

The southern varsity team includes Fred Kelly, the lad who won the world's championship high hurdles at the Stockholm Olympic, and he will be given an opportunity to meet Forest Smithson, the former champion, and other favorite sticks. Another crackerjack in the varsity team is Ira Courtney, who did good work in the sprints at Stockholm.

Stanford Changes Mind

(Special Dispatch to The Call) STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 7.—Stanford will send her track team south to meet the athletes of the University of Southern California on March 15 and the sailors will leave home in time to get back to the grind on Monday morning.

(Special Dispatch to The Call) NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The real high place of boxing has been reached. The boxing commission has issued licenses to the Arion society, but disallowed the German institution, and the Automobile club of America. The Arion society's first show will be given Saturday night.

The Automobile club will not make an announcement until a census can be made of the chauffeurs who have placed their dukes with success against argumentative customers of the trade.

INDOOR RIFLE TOURNAMENT DRAWS CRACK SHOTS

Tomorrow Night at Shell Mound Will See 'Em in Doves

The indoor rifle tournament, which opened at the Shell Mound targets Thursday evening, has attracted a big gathering of noted marksmen and more are on their way from the interior cities.

None of the marksmen have succeeded so far in breaking the 100 shot record held by Ad Huhler of New York, but some of the best have been shooting mighty close to the high mark.
