ACTION ON WATER
DISTRICT URGED

James H. Todd Says City
Should Join Confederation-as Soon as Possible

BERKELEY, Feb. 28.—Charles D. Heywood has resigned the presidency of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce preparatory to accepting a nomination for mayor.

Heywood withdraws from the board of directors as well as the presidency, but will remain an active member of the organization.

By unanimous vote the directors in accepting the resignation, commended Heywood for the efficiency he has displayed in the management of the affairs of the chamber.

In a discussion of fire hazard and water supply before the directors, James H. Todd advocated that Berkeley join as quickly as possible in the proposed municipal water district, which he said provided the only satisfactory means of supplying sufficient quantities of water for adequate fire protection.

Todd said that no time should be wasted. The city of Richmond, now moving toward securing an independent water supply, would in a short time encroach upon the natural sources of this city. Todd, who is considered an expert on the water question, said that probably an appeal to the state railroad commission would have to be made to complete the water district.

Fire Chief James Kenny and C. D. Maloney, superintendent for Berkeley of the People's Water company, also talked on the water question.

Leave of absence was granted to Secretary Wells Drury that he may attend a meeting at San Diego on March 19 of the Alameda county supervisors and exposition commission. These two bodies on that date will select the county site at the San Diego exposition.

PETER PEFF'S PLEADING
FAILS TO MOVE JUDGE

Foreigner Sentenced to Two Years in San Quentin for Perjury He Admitted

OAKLAND, Feb. 28.—Pleading for his wife and four children, Peter Peff was sentenced to a two year term at San Quentin prison for Superior Judge Wells today for confessed perjury.

"What comes to my wife and four children when I go to prison?" Peff asked, weeping.

"You might have thought of them when you got into trouble," said Judge Wells. "The crime of perjury is a serious one. I take into consideration the fact that you have confessed and pleaded guilty and aided the state by your testimony in another trial in fixing your sentence."

Peff is illiterate and he stated that Attorney Gano G. Kennedy persuaded him to commit perjury in a divorce action.

SECOND ELECTION NEEDED

Two Richmond Men Must Fight Out Contest for Place on Water Commission

RICHMOND, Feb. 28.—One of the results of the election held yesterday for commissioners of the Richmond municipal water district is that a second election will have to be called to select the fifth commissioner. Charles Blanchard, A. J. Timmons, E. H. Curry and J. E. Willis all were given sufficient votes to be elected.

H. E. Wyatt, the fifth highest man, lacked two votes of having enough to make his election possible under the law. He was six votes ahead of D. A. Knowles, and these two men will have to fight it out between them to decide who the fifth man will be.

The five electors chosen will proceed with plans for the establishment of a municipal water system.

Pioneer Priest Passes
Loved One Enters Peace

Pastor of St. Patrick's Lays Down Cross For Crown

OAKLAND, Feb. 28.—Rev. Father J. B. McNally, pastor of St. Patrick's parish, West Oakland, and one of the early day clergymen of this city, died this morning at 11:30 o'clock at the parochial residence, Tenth and Peralta streets.

Death came after a long illness which was borne with fortitude. The last words of the dying priest before he lapsed into unconsciousness were: "Tell the people of the parish to pray for me."

With Father McNally when he breathed his last were Rev. Father P. C. York of St. Anthony's parish, Rev. Father Joseph Gail, Rev. Father George Quinn and Rev. Father E. J. Maher, the last two being assistants at St. Patrick's.

The funeral of the pioneer priest will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the church over which he has presided for 35 years. Solemn requiem high mass will be offered, the celebrant to be Rev. Father P. J. Cummins of Mission Dolores church, San Francisco. Archbishop P. W. Riordan, Auxiliary Bishop E. J. Hanna and many priests from the archdiocese of San Francisco and from other dioceses will be present at the services. The interment is to be in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

Rev. Father McNally was born in County Carlow, Ireland, in 1845. At an early age he was entered at the ecclesiastical college of Carlow, one of the oldest institutions of its kind in Ireland. As a student he won honors as a clear, original thinker and ambitious worker. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1870 and a short time thereafter arrived in San Francisco.

He was stationed for a brief period as an assistant at St. Francis church in that city and later was assigned as an assistant to St. Anthony's church in this city. From St. Anthony's church he was assigned to the newly created parish of St. Patrick, where he remained to the end. He instituted the convent and the school for boys conducted by the Brothers of the Christian school in connection with St. Patrick's parish. He was also instrumental in establishing the convent of the Sisters of the Holy Family, Eighth and Chestnut streets.

Rev. Father McNally was an able pulpit orator and took a keen interest in the welfare of the people of his parish. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus. Public affairs were also given attention by the priest, and he gave his support consistently to movements tending to the advancement and betterment of Oakland. He was attended by Dr. J. M. Kane for many weeks.

WOMEN URGED TO GUIDE EDUCATION

Miss Whitney Shows Civic Center What Sisters Do in East

OAKLAND, Feb. 28.—Miss Anita Whitney, president of the California Civic League, and J. W. Phillips of the Chamber of Commerce, were the speakers before the Oakland Civic center in the Chamber of Commerce hall this afternoon.

Work of the women of the eastern cities, particularly Philadelphia, Boston and New York, was covered in Miss Whitney's talk. She admonished the local clubs to give their attention to the education of children as was being done in Philadelphia, where more than 10,000 school boys and girls were organized into citizenship leagues.

Miss Whitney told the women of California how it was their responsibility to show the women of other states by the results of their ballot what a needful thing was their admission as citizens.

The 1,400 factories of Alameda county, which employ more than 6 per cent of the population was the subject of the address by Mr. Phillips. "Not 50 per cent of our people believe in Alameda county yet as a manufacturing center," said Mr. Phillips. "Forty per cent are only lukewarm in their enthusiasm and 10 per cent are only beginning to be alive to their opportunities."

He saw the growth of Oakland until it ranked ahead of any city of California in importance as a manufacturing center. "The Reorganization of the State Board of Education" will be the subject of the address which Dr. David Barrows will give at the next open meeting of the league next month.

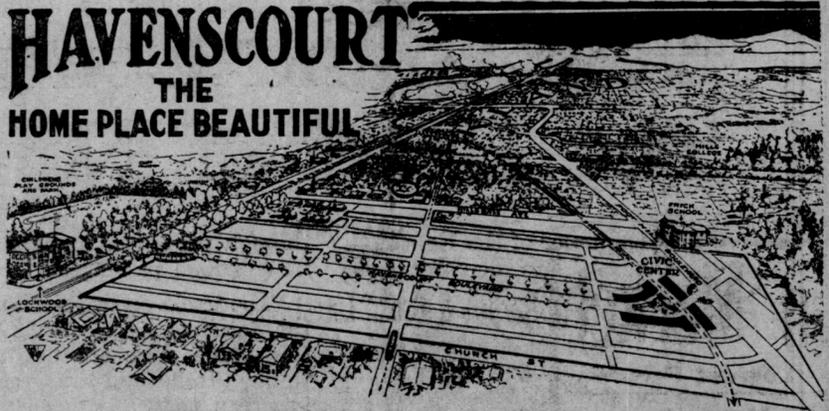

A class in parliamentary law is being organized, the first meeting to be held Thursday morning of next week at the headquarters in the Key Route arcade. Mrs. Annie Little Barry of Berkeley will be the leader.

A Machiavelli of the Motor Car is young Mr. Dolliver in Margaret Cameron's delightful story in the March number of Harper's Magazine. Everybody knows the Dollivers and has laughed over their adventures in their new car. This time the adventure is of a novel sort. There are six other equally striking stories—all different—all good.
The NEW YORK TIMES says:
Harper's has a place all its own. Some one down at Franklin Square has a genius for selecting short stories. Month after month Harper's publishes half a dozen stories of distinction. I have never been able to formulate a very clear definition of "literature," but I have a vague idea that Harper's short stories are quite close to it.
The Greatness of the Great Lakes
Few of us realize the greatness of our inland seas; their beauty and their vast industrial importance. Yet the ports of Duluth, Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit are among the great ports of the world, and each year play a more important part in our commerce. EDWARD HUNGERFORD gives a vivid account of the entire lake system, which is brilliantly illustrated by W. J. Aylward.
A Barn-Door Outlook by JOHN BURROUGHS
From the door of his study in an old fashioned barn, the veteran naturalist has looked out on the world in which he finds so much of interest which most of us neglect to see. A delightful nature study with many charming observations of bird and animal life.
Who Are the Blond Eskimos?
Mr. STEFANSON tells of his crowning experience in the Arctic, his first meeting with the strange, unknown people of Victoria Land—people with blue eyes, blond or reddish hair and beards and heads and faces of distinct European cast. His discussion of the various theories as to the origin of this race will be found of extraordinary interest.
Mr. Howells in Seville
Another of Mr. HOWELLS' charmingly graphic glimpses of one of Spain's most famous cities and the countryside around it. Illustrated with many drawings in tint by Norman Black.
Why Is the Undergraduate?
The college undergraduate is the subject of much discussion and more condemnation. Yet after all he is a likeable person, and if he often neglects his real opportunity, is he to blame or should the responsibility be placed on his parents and his teachers? Prof. HENRY S. CANBY of Yale contributes a thoughtful and charmingly sympathetic paper on the subject.
Preserving the Fertility of the Soil
Here is the problem which the farmer has neglected, and which the scientific experts are trying to solve. A. D. HALL of the Rothamsted Experimental Station in England gives an interesting account of the work which is being done in this field, and what it is accomplishing.
