MOVE TO MAKE CITY OUTLET FOR IDAHO'S TRADE

Boise Capitalists Propose to Build Cutoff From the Western Pacific at Winnemucca

A. R. CRUZEN TELLS OF PLANS FOR LINE

Hopes to See Project Accomplished by Opening of the Panama-Pacific Fair

A move to bring Boise 400 miles nearer San Francisco, to develop the irrigable territory of southern Idaho and thus make this city the trade center for this vast territory is on foot among Boise capitalists who are seeking a cutoff to Boise from the Western Pacific at Winnemucca.

THROUGH SNAKE VALLEY The cutoff would be through the famous Snake river valley in which the largest irrigation projects in the country are being accomplished.

Nobody Bangs on the Bungalow; It Plays Like an Artist Itself

And It Will Perform in Your Parlor If You Play This Game

One of the very best things about The Call's Booklovers' Contest is the prizes to be awarded to those solving the pictures most successfully. Consider the Ellers Bungalow player pianos, for instance. There are five of them to be awarded, as second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth awards.

And the Bungalow is not only a joy to the ear. It is an ornament to any home as well—probably the Bungalow player will be the very best piece of furniture in YOUR home!

plished by the opening of the exposition. It would mean the greatest stride in the development of Idaho ever taken. Idaho has more irrigable territory than all the other seven irrigable states in the union.
