The members are duly notified that the affair will be held, and all who can attend it. A genuine surprise was the marriage of Mrs. Laura Roe and William E. Storey of Chicago, which was quietly celebrated in the new Grace cathedral late Wednesday afternoon. The announcement was made the latter part of April, and it was generally understood that the wedding would be an event of June. Far from the plan of a wedding, even the fact that Mr. Storey had arrived in San Francisco was not known, except to the closest friends, until the day of the nuptials. Bishop Right Reverend William Ford Nichols, assisted by Dean J. Wilmer Gresham, officiated at the services. Present at the marriage were Miss Laura Roe and Hall Roe, the children of Mrs. Storey, and Mr. and Mrs. Nash of Alameda, brother in law and sister of the bridegroom. The Storeys have gone to the Yosemite valley on their wedding journey and will remain there two weeks, returning to San Francisco for a brief visit before proceeding to their permanent home in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Storey will probably be in California again in September, when they will occupy Mrs. Storey's former home in San Rafael.

Mrs. Clement Charles Clay was appointed first vice president and Mrs. J. de Barth Shorb as second vice president. Mrs. William Wilshire, her mother, is also a guest at the Wilshire family home. A number of informal affairs are being planned in compliment to the visitors by the fashionable set of Los Angeles during the remainder of their stay in the southern city.

Charles Page Bryan will close his home in Washington this week and will go to Illinois, where he will open his country place, Byrd's Nest, at Elmhurst near Chicago for the summer months.

In addition to their home the senior Glovers are furnishing it throughout.

During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Upham Pearson (Corinne Dillman) will occupy the family home in N street, Sacramento.
