THUGS SHOOT CAFE MAN WHO RESISTS THEM

Daniel Q. Bramlett Found on Floor of Restaurant With Bullets Through His Head—Taken to Hospital Where No Hope Is Given for Recovery

PASSERBY GETS A GOOD DESCRIPTION

No Money Secured, Robber Having Been Flee Following Shots—Bandit Chased by Two Men but Makes Good His Escape

Evidently offering resistance when held up by an unknown burglar as he was counting his cash for the day Daniel Q. Bramlett, proprietor of a restaurant at 1465 Market street, was shot through the head twice shortly after midnight last night and was taken to the emergency hospital, where it is believed he can not live.

A number of passers by attracted by the sounds of the shot, saw the holdup man leave the restaurant, run down Market street and disappear up Polk street. George Ward, 293 Golden Gate avenue, and Melvin E. Butler were passing on the opposite side of the street at the time of the shooting and were arrested by the sound of the shots. They stopped and were about to cross the street when the holdup man passed them within a few feet. Butler got a good view of the man's face and was able to furnish the police with an accurate description of him.

NO MONEY SECURED
No money was taken. A purse containing the day's cash amounting to $53.60 was found in Bramlett's pocket when he was taken to the hospital. Butler stated that he saw a tall, slim man dressed in a gray suit standing in front of the door when the shots were fired and that this man disappeared immediately afterward walking in an opposite direction from that taken by the holdup man. It is believed by the police that this man acted as a lookout and warned his companion not to wait to get the money on account of the shots being heard by passers by.

Butler and Ward followed the bandit to the corner of Polk street and then ran across the street to the restaurant where they saw Bramlett's body lying on the floor in a pool of blood near the door. They immediately notified Policeman McInerney who broke in the door and summoned the ambulance.

EVIDENCE OF RESISTANCE
Daniel Bramlett Jr., the 15 year old son of the proprietor, who lives with his father in the Grand Central hotel across the street was aroused from his bed.

The boy hastened to the restaurant and made a search of the place, but could find no money. On the counter just above where Bramlett fell when shot lay an awning crank turner. This turner, the boy said, was usually kept behind the counter about eight feet from where it lay. Evidently Bramlett reached for it when held up and was making for the robber when he was shot.

According to Butler, who saw the holdup man as he passed him, the bandit was about 5 feet 4 inches in height, black hair close cropped and almost curly, clean shaven, dressed in black clothes rather shabby and wore brown gloves turned back at the wrist. Butler stated that he would be able to identify the man among a thousand.

As soon as Bramlett was taken from the operating table at the central emergency hospital an effort was made to revive him to get a description of the man who fired the shot, but all efforts were unavailing. One of the bullets entered the eye and evidently penetrated the brain, while another inflicted an ugly gash just above the ear.

POLICEMAN FATALLY WOUNDS BURGLAR

An unidentified man, who was attempting to break into the saloon of Peter Belzer in Seventeenth street near Folsom was shot and fatally wounded at 12:30 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Justus of the Seventeenth street station.

The shooting took place after Harry Carter of 1234 Seventeenth street reported to the police that he had seen a man working with a Jimmy on the front door of Belzer's saloon.

Sergeant Cills, and Patrolmen Maloney, Higuera and Gregory hurried to the saloon and saw the man at work. Observing the policemen the burglar fled to fight and hid in a back yard in a Seventeenth street house.

The policemen climbed over a fence and saw the burglar crouching in a

WOMAN DIES ON VISIT OF MERCY

Flowers Which She Carried to Invalid Old Soldiers Deck Her Own Bier

(Special Dispatch to The Call)
LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Bed-ridden heroes in the hospital wards at the old soldiers' home waited and watched in vain today for a well remembered footfall, a cheery smile and the scent of fresh cut flowers.

Miss Fannie B. Dodd, first vice commander of the Daughters of Veterans, the "flower lady," was stricken dead while on the way to "her boys." The flowers are for her own bier.

While waiting for a car Miss Dodd fell to the sidewalk in what bystanders thought a swoon. An ambulance from the receiving hospital hurried her there, where the physicians found that she was dead from rheumatism of the heart.

Miss Dodd was 41 years of age and had lived in Los Angeles for 17 years.

WOMAN AND CHILD ARE FATALLY INJURED BY CAR
Mrs. N. Naragiri and 6 year Old Daughter Run Down at Pacific and Kearny Streets

Mrs. N. Naragiri and her 6 year old daughter, Anita, of 1142 Kentucky street, were run down shortly after midnight this morning at Pacific and Kearny streets by a Broadway and Kearny streetcar. Both victims of the accident were removed to the harbor emergency hospital, where it is said that they have small chance for recovery.

Mrs. Naragiri was badly cut about the body and both of her arms are fractured. The little girl suffered a fractured skull and has little chance of recovering.

The accident was caused by the woman and child becoming confused when trying to cross the street. They are said to have started to dodge a northbound car and in so doing stepped directly in front of a car coming the other way.

JOY RIDERS BLAMED FOR FRESNO MISHAP

Car in Rear Said to Have Come So Close Japanese Driver Lost Head

(Special Dispatch to The Call)
FRESNO, June 15.—As a result of an automobile turning turtle twice on the state highway three miles north of Fresno this afternoon, Sister Alcoque, aged 61, mother superior in the St. Augustine academy for girls here, is dead; Sister Agnolia's arm has been amputated, Sister Margaret and Sister Columbo are suffering from broken arms and a Japanese chauffeur is dying in a local sanatorium.

Sister Alcoque's death was due to a broken neck and internal injuries. The accident was caused by the Japanese chauffeur turning suddenly to one side of the highway.

A rear tire exploded, causing the machine to turn over twice. The heavy top saved the sisters from being killed instantly under the car.

Opinions vary as to why the chauffeur turned to the side of the road. One report to the authorities is that a party of young men in a machine speeded up behind the car in which the sisters were riding and the Japanese became excited.

The automobile is owned by Father McCarthy of St. John's Catholic church here. He is at present in Los Angeles. The dead sister was Mary O'Riordan before she entered the sisterhood. She was born in Milltown, County Cork, Ireland. She came here three years ago from Salt Lake.

Sister Margaret is a blood sister of the mother superior. They were out in the machine for a pleasure trip.

FOUR HURT IN SAN JOSE MISHAP

SAN JOSE, June 15.—Unable to bring his horse back upon the road after having turned out for a passing automobile on the edge of a bridge crossing the Stevens creek, some three miles west of Cupertino, F. A. Bisson, a San Francisco grocer; his son, his daughter and his mother in law, Mrs. Elizabeth Nicholas, were thrown 15 feet from the bridge to the creek below this afternoon, and all were seriously injured.

They lie at the O'Connor sanatorium in this city and fear is felt for recovery of the elder Bisson and Mrs. Nicholas. The horse and wagon fell on top of them and pinned them down. All four were badly crushed.

R. de Premorel, foreman of the Brun ranch of Cupertino, was also in the rig, but he jumped in time to escape with minor injuries.

The Bisson party had come down from San Francisco to spend several weeks camping on the Brun ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains and were met at Monte Vista station by De Premorel with a wagon.

Young Bisson, 22 years old, was driving when the accident occurred. The road is narrow at that point and in turning to allow an auto to pass the young man allowed the wheels on one side of the rig to slip down the bank.

CHILD LABOR LAW TO BE SUBMITTED

Progressives Prepare Bill Which Will Be Introduced in Congress Tuesday

NEW YORK, June 15.—A comprehensive plan for federal prohibition of child labor will be proposed in a bill to be introduced in the house of representatives in Washington Tuesday by Congressman Ira C. Copley of Illinois. It was announced by the progressive party national service here tonight.

The bill is based on former Senator Beveridge's original proposal in 1907 denying the right of interstate transportation to the products of child labor. Manufacturers, producers, interstate carriers, jobbers and wholesalers are made responsible for unlawful shipments.

By a provision of the bill similar to that of the pure food and drugs act, commerce remains free to goods stamped or labeled "registered under the federal child labor act." Shipments from states having equivalent child labor laws are exempted from the operation of the proposed law.

JOY AND GRIEF INTERMINGLE IN CELEBRATION OF BERLIN JUBILEE

Proverbial "Kaiser Weather" Smiles Upon Thousands of Patriotic Teutons Who Observe Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Death of Frederick III and of the Accession of William—Crowds Parade Thoroughfares and Cheer Majesties

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR LATE EMPEROR

"The Honeymoon Couple," Prince Ernest August and Princess Victoria Louise Return to Capital for First Time Since Royal Wedding and Are Acclaimed as They Make Their Way to Stately Schloss Where the Rulers Greet Them

(Special Cable to The Call)
BERLIN, June 15.—Joy and sorrow were intermingled during the scenes in Berlin today, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Kaiser Frederick III and of the accession of Kaiser William.

A cloudless sky beamed over the city. Bathed in warm sunshine, the decorations showed scarcely a trace of the rains of the preceding days. The proverbial "kaiser weather" gratified the thousands of Berliners and visitors, who, clad in festive attire and wearing buttons, medals and ribbons symbolical of the jubilee, paraded the Unter den Linden, Friederichstrasse and around the Branderberger Tor and on Potsdamer Platz, enjoying the decorations and cheering their imperial majesties and the princes and princesses as the court proceeded from the Berlin Schloss to the palace at Potsdam.

GOOD FREDERICK EXTOLLED

In the garrison chapels and all the churches of the capital memorial services for the late emperor were held. All the Berlin newspapers printed lengthy articles extolling the good Frederick in prose and poetry.

As the afternoon advanced the crowds gathered in volume along the Unter den Linden and around the great gates of the castle to watch Kaiser William's departure for Potsdam. The imperial family spent in quiet the memorial day of the emperor's father.

Shortly before that the "honeymoon couple," Prince Ernest August and Princess Victoria Louise, returned to Berlin for the first time since the imperial wedding. The bride and her husband were met at the depot by Prince Adalbert, the third son of the kaiser. Resounding cheers marked their way to the grim but stately Schloss.

PLACES WREATH ON TOMB

After the kaiser and kaiserin had greeted their daughter and the prince within the imperial apartments, the cheers were renewed without the gates as the flash of sabers and clatter of galloping chargers announced the coming of the escort from the courtyard.

The kaiser, kaiserin and "newly-weds" followed in an open automobile, Emperor William waving his hand in cheerful recognition of the enthusiastic plaudits. All along the route to Potsdam the enthusiasm was frantic. The imperial auto was followed by another open car containing Prince and Princess Henry and the crown princess.

While the United States senators deliberate as to whether there is danger of women ever entering the senate, California and the Panama-Pacific exposition is taking the feminine sex into its confidence and its work. To prove that women may be just as capable as men and will have just as large a part in the destiny of the 1915 exposition, two women of the highest prominence in California have been chosen to serve on the management.

Mrs. William H. Crocker, wife of one of the exposition directors, and Mrs. Francis J. Carolan, formerly Miss Pullman of the famous car company family, will be among the leading assistants in the departments of social economy and fine arts, respectively.

NOTED FOR THEIR EFFORTS

Both of them are already noted for their efforts along their particular lines—Mrs. Crocker for her study of social problems and Mrs. Carolan for her priceless collection of paintings and her general interest in artistic subjects.

At the same time they represent the highest level of San Francisco society. Mrs. Crocker's husband is the president of the Crocker National bank and one of the leading figures in the establishment of the municipal opera house. Mrs. Carolan's husband is a banker and clubman of the Hillsborough colony.

The recognition of the abilities of these two women is but the first step, announces the exposition, toward selecting women to act as responsible assistants in the four other important divisions of the exposition. Mrs. Frederick G. Sanborn, president of the woman's board of the exposition, will shortly send a list of names of women for that purpose.

TO SUBMIT MORE NAMES

Mrs. Sanborn also will consider the request of the exposition to submit the names of women to be placed on some of the juries of awards, where their services will be most valuable. Mrs. Crocker, who is a member of the woman's board, has for a long time taken a vital interest in social prob-
