BOOKS OF U. P. FORGED FOR $82,000,000, SAYS LOBBYIST

"I Do Not Know Who Did It," Declares Lamar, Who Impersonated Congressmen, "the Chairman or the Office Boy, but I Do Know This Sum Was the Fulcrum Which Made It Possible for Harriman to Control the Corporations"

BEAR ATTACK, AVERS ATTORNEY FOR ROAD

Part of Campaign to Depress Union Pacific Stock, According to Explanation of Paul D. Cravath in Previously Prepared Statement Answering Charges—Self-Described Operator in Securities Tells of Attempts to Bunko Money Kings

Resolution "Child's Play" Like Stealing From Baby

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The last subject touched upon at the lobby hearing today was the preparation of the resolution for an investigation of the steel trust by congress.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—A story of misrepresentation, impersonation of public men and organized effort to influence Wall street financiers probably without parallel in the history of congressional investigation, was unfolded today before the senate lobby committee.

A prosperous looking, self-possessed individual, calling himself David Lamar of New York, self-described as an "operator in stocks," and admittedly the bearer of several assumed names, was the principal in the remarkable session.

Lamar astonished the committee by making a detailed charge that the Union Pacific railroad's books had been forged in 1901 on an item covering $82,000,000, and that as one result Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the late E. H. Harriman had laid the foundations of a gigantic fortune.

"PART OF BEAR CAMPAIGN" When Lamar had finished, Paul D. Cravath of counsel for the Union Pacific put in a prepared statement to the committee alleging that Lamar's charge concerning the $82,000,000—which amount is connected with the Union Pacific surplus—was part of a bear campaign to depress Union Pacific stock, of which the railroad's officials had knowledge for several days.

Lamar stoutly denied there was ever any mention that Lauterbach should profit by legal fees.

With entire abandon, arousing the committee to laughter at times by his naive admissions, Lamar told of his impersonations, his participation in attempts to influence Wall street operations and his association with Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, in efforts to have Lauterbach retained by the Morgan firm, the Union Pacific and other great interests to head off congressional activity in Washington.

He telephoned to financial men and lawyers in the names of Representative Palmer and Representative Hurd.

He assumed the guise of Chairman McCombs of the democratic national committee to telephone to Chairman Hill of the republican national committee.

ACTED IN FRIEND'S INTEREST The purpose of his impersonations, Lamar contended, was to secure reinstatement for his friend, Edward Lauterbach, in the good graces of the Morgan firm.

Members of the committee tonight demanded that Lamar remain in Washington for reappearances tomorrow.

INVALID RESCUED BY NURSE Fire Discovered in Beatty Home

Aged Wife of Chief Justice of State Supreme Court Carried From Building

Mrs. William H. Beatty, wife of the chief justice of the state supreme court, was rescued last night by her nurse, Miss Florence Dixon, when fire broke out in the residence at 2409 Octavia street. Mrs. Beatty is 75 years old, and has been an invalid for nearly a year.

Miss Dixon scented smoke fumes, and making a search of the premises discovered a blaze in the upper story of the dwelling. She hastily removed the invalid to the lower floor and then returned to the upper floor to turn in an alarm by phone. This done she aroused a Chinese servant in the basement, who assisted her in bearing Mrs. Beatty to an adjoining residence.

Later Mrs. Beatty was removed to Adler sanatorium.

The chief justice was away from home at the time, but was summoned by the fire department.

The fire was caused by a defective fuse, and the damage to the building and contents will reach, it is estimated, $10,000.

The home of Miss Clara Mayo, at 2407 Octavia street, was also damaged about $1,000.

TOY CANNON ENDS HOPPE'S RING DAYS

Butchertown Fighter Loses His Fingers and Thumbs Through Explosion

By fooling with a toy cannon until it exploded, Willie Hoppe, the Butchertown cyclone of the roped arena, had both hands shockingly mangled yesterday afternoon.

He never will be able to fight again. Four fingers and both thumbs were blown off and another finger may have to be amputated. In addition he is suffering from a badly shattered right thigh and possible internal injuries.

Sherman French, a companion, 14 years of age, lost a thumb and finger from his left hand and his left ankle was shattered, possibly necessitating amputation.

The explosion occurred at noon, near Hoppe's at 214 Girard street.

French was holding the toy cannon and Hoppe was ramming the charge of powder home when it exploded. Hoppe is at the St. Francis hospital.

YARD OF SKIN IS GRAFTED ON GIRL

24 Volunteers Are Used to Save Life of Victim of Fire Which Destroyed Family

KANSAS CITY, July 2.—Reba Halnds, a 10 year old girl who was burned frightfully last Christmas eve in a fire that destroyed her home near Arnett, Okla., burned her father and mother to death and all but took the life of a small brother and sister, was discharged from a hospital here today as cured.

For six months she was under the care of surgeons, who grafted upon her body 35 square inches of skin. The fortune of the child, her patience and reasoning faith attracted wide attention.

Two dozen girls of Reba's age answered the surgeon's call and furnished the skin to save the child's life.

BATTLESHIP CREW STICKS TO POSTS

Help War Vessel Out of Dangerous Predicament in Accident

NEWPORT, R. I., July 2.—The bravery of the engine room crew of the battleship Louisiana helped the vessel out of a dangerous predicament today when a valve broke off, flooding the starboard engine room.

Incidentally, the incident gave Captain Templin M. Potts, who was yesterday dismissed by the naval "plucking board" and retired tomorrow, a memorable experience at the close of his service.

The battleship was in Narragansett bay overhauling her engines. The rush of the sea through the passage opened by the displacement of the bonnet carried men off their feet and forced them against the machinery, but they stuck to their work.

WOMEN PUT LAW ON TRAIL OF FUGITIVE

Berkeley School Teacher Uses "Movies" to Search for Man Who Left His Wife Destitute in Boston—He and Small Daughter Were Traced to the West

CHILD'S PICTURE IS RECOGNIZED

Through Coincidence, His Pseudonym Is Penetrated—Police of Eureka Now Seek for Pair—Pathetic Tale Is Disclosed Mother's Fight for Her Freedom

A motion picture film, a strewed eyed, gentle hearted hotel employe who saw the film and an altruistic woman of Berkeley have been working together quietly for the last few weeks and have secured a definite trace of John Eills of Boston and his 5 year old daughter, Olga, whom he kidnaped from his wife. The cooperation of the film and the two women has accomplished more than all the police of the United States have been able to do.

Eills, who fled from Boston in February, leaving his wife destitute of funds and what was more cruel, destitute of her only child, was in this city in March and April, stopped at the Arno hotel, Sixth and Mission streets, made a trip to Los Angeles, where his cousin, Mrs. Harry Arnold, lives, and then is believed to have gone to Eureka, where his half sister, Mrs. Sarah Foster, wife of Albert Foster, a ship carpenter, resides.

Eills had plenty of money and boasted, "Money is better than friends."

Mrs. Myrtle Palmer, formerly housekeeper at the Arno hotel, went to a motion picture showhouse in O'Farrell street one night and there saw the picture of Olga Eills cast on the screen, and with it the heartbreaking appeal of the mother, Mrs. Harriet C. Eills, 109 Revere street, Revere, Mass., asking for information concerning her missing child. Instantly Mrs. Palmer recognized the portrait as that of a child who had been at the Arno hotel in March and April. She remembered the child and the father, as the little girl had been ill with measles at the hotel. Mrs. Palmer, in goodness of heart, had done as much for her as the father would permit.

The man was registered at the hotel as D. Delisle, according to Mrs. Palmer. He occupied room 315.

The picture of the child had been given to the motion picture agency by Miss Lillian Bridgman, a school teacher of 1715 LaJolla road, Berkeley, who had become interested in the sorrow of Mrs. Eills and had done all in her power to aid in the search for the man and his daughter.

PAIR ARE TRACED Until last evening Mrs. Palmer had not seen the picture of Eills. When she was shown the circular issued by the superintendent of police of Boston, containing a portrait of Eills and the child, she immediately exclaimed, "They are the man and child who were at the Arno hotel in March and April. I can not be mistaken. They left the hotel for Eureka, I am sure, because I heard the man's telephone to the steamship company's office to hold his DEAD Teddy F. Gussin, 7 years old, son of San Francisco parents.

INJURED Mrs. Lillian Hatch of San Francisco, rib broken and severe internal injuries, probably will die.

Loretta Beasley, 18 years old, San Francisco, both legs broken.

Walter Thierkass, 4 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thierkass of Glen Ellen, leg broken.

(Special Dispatch to The Call) GLEN ELLEN, July 2.—One boy was killed and three other persons were seriously injured when a buggy in which Mrs. Lillian Hatch of San Francisco and seven children were riding fell from a bridge in Nuns canyon, four and a half miles from Glen Ellen, late this afternoon.

Mrs. Hatch has been spending her vacation here. For several days it had been her custom to go for a buggy ride, taking a number of children with her.

Yesterday she took Vivian, Dorothy and Walter Thierkass, children of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thierkass of Glen Ellen; Loretta, May and Harry Beasley and little Teddy Gussin, all of San Francisco.

Whether the horse became frightened and unmanageable, or whether Mrs. Hatch miscalculated and drove too near to the edge of the flat bridge is not known. Horse, buggy and occupants fell 20 feet to the hard earth.

The little Gussin boy, whose mother is due to arrive here today, was killed instantly. Mrs. Hatch was rendered unconscious. Walter Thierkass sustained a broken arm and both of Miss Beasley's arms were broken. The other children were bruised and scratched, but ran and brought assistance from the Nuns' home, a few rods from the scene.

The nuns cared for the injured until physicians arrived from Glen Ellen.

PARENTS DECREE YOUTHFUL PAIR MUST SEPARATE

Child Wife of Russell Franck Is Taken to Her Home After the Second Elopement

BERKELEY, July 2.—The eventual careers of two youthful lovers, Miss Gertrude Currie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Currie, 2508 Benvenue avenue, and Russell Franck, son of Max Franck of Alameda, has been brought to a close by the parents of the couple.

Friday the young man and his bride of two months, who had returned to her home after a secret elopement and marriage in Los Gatos, eloped for the second time and went to Franck's home in Alameda.

The third chapter was added to the romantic account when John M. Currie, member of the real estate firm of Craig & Currie, brought his young daughter home in his automobile. While in Alameda he entered into an agreement with Franck's parent, Max Franck, to keep the infatuated boy and girl apart and later to have the marriage annulled.

Miss Currie is a student in the Berkeley high school. It was her parents' intention to send her east to a private school this fall. But their plans have been interrupted since they became aware of the marriage and it is not known whether the girl will continue her studies at the high school or leave.

The girl's mother is much broken up over the affair.

"Gertrude was always such a good girl," she said. "Her father and I had made so many plans for her future that I am downhearted over it all. We wanted so to have her continue her studies at a private school we had selected for her, and now that plan seems to be shattered."

"The young people are both under age and we shall keep them apart. We shall keep Gertrude in her home if we have to use drastic methods."

BLOOD FLOWS WHEN LINCOLN IS ABUSED IN GETTYSBURG

Seven Men Stabbed During Fight Which Begins When Union Veteran Berates Detractors of War President—Three of Victims Are in Serious Condition—Women Scream and Flee When Strife Starts

OLD ANIMOSITY PROVOKES MELEE

Constabulary of State Seek Instigators of Trouble—Incident in Hotel Mars the Reunion of Blue and Gray on the Battlefield—Storm Sweeps Over Camp, Giving the Old Soldiers Relief From Extreme Heat

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2.—Seven men were stabbed tonight in a fight in the dining room of the Gettysburg hotel as a result of a fight which started when several men aroused the anger of a veteran in blue by abusing Lincoln.

Several of the wounded men are in a serious condition at the Pennsylvania state hospital. The state constabulary is making every effort to find the men who did the stabbing.

The wounded men are: Edward J. Carroll, sergeant of the quartermaster's corps, U. S. A.; David Farber, Butler, Pa., a member of the state constabulary; John D. Maugin, Harrisburg; Malcolm Griffiths, Bedford, Pa.; Charles Suler, West Fairview, Pa.; Hayden Renisbecker, Gettysburg, and Harry A. Root Jr., Harrisburg.

Farber, Maugin and Griffin are in the most serious condition. Their wounds were in the left breast, and the surgeons at the Pennsylvania state hospital would not venture predictions as to their chance of recovery.

VETERAN IS IN PERIL According to the information the authorities could gather the fight started suddenly and was over in a few minutes. It began shortly before 7 o'clock when the dining room was full of people and caused a panic among the scores of guests. The veteran, who was unhurt and disappeared in the melee, was sitting near Farber and Carroll when he heard the slighting remarks about Lincoln. He jumped to his feet and began to defend the martyred president and berated his detractors.

The men who were stabbed, according to the information the surgeons got, jumped to the defense of the veteran when the other closed in. Knives were out in a second and the room was thrown into an uproar. Women fled for the doors and crowded to the windows, ready to jump to the street below.

It was all over before the other men in the room could get their breath and the men responsible for it all had disappeared. The fight spurred the medical men again tonight to an effort to have the Gettysburg saloons closed during the remainder of the celebration.

RUMORS ARE HEARD The constabulary tonight arrested a man who gave the name of W. B. Henry and said his home was in Camden, N. J., as one of the men concerned in the affray. They believe that more than one man was responsible. A rumor spread that a man with a stab wound was at the Reading railroad station and the troopers rushed there by automobile. They looked through the crowd, but found no wounded man.

A roaring storm swept down out of the Blue Ridge over the plateau of Gettysburg today, bringing relief to thousands of veterans in blue and gray who have sweltered for four days in an atmosphere that would do credit to a fireless cooker, which is dangerous in a city of 50,000 old and weary men.

For more than half an hour rain came pouring down upon the sun cracked and
