

STOWAWAY GAME OVER FIRST CLASS ON OCEAN LINER

Penniless Joseph Gronberger Just Walked Aboard the Steamer and Made Himself at Home

LINGUIST SOUGHT JOB ON ISLAND

Fatal Mistake, for in Spite of His Six Languages he May Be Deported

There is on Ellis Island a young man with a studious air and the easy, cosmopolitan ways of a traveler. He is Gronberger, 28 years old, a graduate of the University of Heidelberg. He speaks six languages, but he has no money and is deficient in logic, as will appear.

He went to Ellis Island to get a job as an interpreter. His qualifications were found to be first class, but when the officials put to him some necessary questions they found the best of reasons for holding him as a prisoner and an alien subject to deportation.

STOWAWAY EXTRAORDINARY Gronberger is the most remarkable and highest class stowaway ever brought to the attention of the immigration authorities. After he had passed his brilliant examination for the post of interpreter he was asked how long he had been in America.

"Three days," said Joseph Gronberger, Ph. D. "On what ship did you arrive?" "The France," he replied. "In which class?" "First class," said Doctor Gronberger. The officials looked through the passenger list and his name was not there. Next they inspected the ship's manifest and his name appeared in no class, first, second or third.

Then the linguist acknowledged that he was a stowaway. He was well dressed. He had no baggage. He had no money. He just walked aboard at Havre. He kept moving around.

ASSIGNED SEAT AT TABLE The head waiter assigned him to a nice seat in the first class dining saloon. He was a very agreeable table companion. His French was perfect. His knowledge of European politics comprehensive and accurate, his fund of general information extensive and his manners were above reproach.

He dodged stewards and the purser at such times as his ticket was likely to be called for, slipped into vacant staterooms, nooks and deck corners, alcoves of public rooms and lonesome passageways for his lodgings, occasionally hid under a lifeboat and always succeeded in dodging the ticket collector.

When the France reached quarantine a bolt of lightning struck the foremast, gliding harmlessly off the spar and stunning the boat and seven sailors. The resulting excitement aided Gronberger's bold scheme.

When the ship was made fast just after midnight of June 29 he was among the first ashore, after politely lifting his hat and shaking hands with officers whose acquaintance he had made. He had no baggage to be examined and lost no time in leaving the pier.

DRIFTED FOR THREE DAYS For three days Gronberger drifted penniless around New York, looking for something to do. Then a brilliant

HEN IS NURSING SORROW

She's Pheasant's Foster Mother, Not Knowing What They'll Do

PHOENIX, N. J., July 9.—A brood of English pheasant hatched in the yard of Harry Landers, between this place and Richmond, with a hen for their foster mother. She had been on the eggs only a day when the strange looking chicks popped out. That broke all her hatching records.

Landers found the nest of eggs in his grain field a few days ago. He was startled by a flutter of wings as the whirling knives of his machine passed over the hidden nest.

The frightened mother pheasant flew to the cover of a wood. She did not return, and Landers determined a more commonplace bird should take her place.

"MOVIES" FOR THE BLIND Frenchman Invents Pictures to be "Felt" Instead of Seen

Startling as it may seem, Professor Dussaud of Paris, a scientist of considerable note, has produced a motion picture apparatus for the blind, by means of which they may experience the illusion of moving objects as people with full powers of vision do in viewing an illuminated screen.

The apparatus consists of a machine operated by electricity, which causes a series of reliefs, representing trees, birds or other objects, to pass rapidly under the fingers. The reliefs are so graduated that the delicate sense of touch of the blind translates these variations into apparent movements of the objects which are represented.

The device is mainly employed for educational purposes.

NEVER ILL, DIES AT NINETY

WINSTED, Conn., July 9.—Cavita Sylvester, aged 90, who had never ridden on a railroad train, died at his home in Norfolk last night. He and Mrs. Sylvester celebrated 70 years of married life last June 17 and both were apparently in good health then.

Mr. Sylvester died of a cerebral stroke. He was in 1844 and had not missed an election since. He never had a cold and it was but lately he and his wife needed the services of a physician. Besides his widow, five children survive.

"CENTRAL" FOR DOCTORS

A plan providing for a "physicians' central" is to be tried in the telephone exchanges of Vienna and Berlin. When a physician leaves his office and there is no attendant to answer calls, he notifies the physicians' central and states where he may be reached at various times. Patients falling to receive an answer from the office are given the proper number, which requires only a case of accident.

This plan will also be used in case of an accident, as a call can be made on the central for as many physicians as are needed.

AIRMEN TO HAVE LICENSE

The state of Massachusetts has adopted a law to regulate the operation of flying machines, which requires every person operating an air craft in the state to have a license issued by the highway commissioners. Licenses may not be granted until the applicant has passed an examination by the highway commission, which must include a flight of not less than 100 miles in a standard type of machine. Airmen flying over cities must maintain a height of not less than 3,000 feet, and over towns not less than 500 feet.

Idea struck him. He would get an interpreter's job at the immigration station. He didn't know about the immigration laws and supposed himself safe, having gained admission to the country.

While they were quizzing Gronberger on Ellis Island a boarding officer examined the room and, taking a look at the German, exclaimed: "Huh, this is the fellow I took off the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria last December. He had no ticket, but he was in the stowaway that trip."

Now Ellis Island hasn't decided what to do with the audacious stowaway. He is a good interpreter. But if he is admitted to the country the French line is liable to a fine of $500 for bringing an alien stowaway to the United States, and if they deport him they will lose a first class interpreter. Maybe the department of commerce and labor will make an exception and remit the fine, allowing Doctor Gronberger, the only known stowaway who ever beat a first class passage in a swell ocean hotel, to stay here.

"EXPURGATED" REPORT OF GRAND JURY FILED No Allusion Made in Federal Document to President or Attorney General

A perfunctory report, from which had been eliminated all criticism of President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds respecting their action in postponing the trials of the Diggs-Caminetti and Western fuel cases, was filed yesterday and the grand jury was discharged by Judge William C. van Fleet.

The report, as it finally appeared dealt mostly with the improper ventilation of the room in which the grand jurors met during the time they were in session.

The "expurgated" edition was rejected and the jurors' compliments from the bench on the efficiency of their work. There was no reference made to the original report, which Judge van Fleet refused to accept on account of the arraignment of President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds.

The report closed with a few complimentary remarks about former United States Attorney John L. McNab and expressed the belief of the jurors that the "government has lost a useful and conscientious servant."

Attention was directed to the laxness at this port of steamship employes in allowing tropical fruit infested with the Mediterranean fly entry to this port.

AFTER 53 YEARS ASKS FEE NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 9.—A visitor to the clerk of court's office said that he had come to collect his witness fee. "When did you testify in a case?" asked the clerk.

"In 1860," was the reply. The man, now much advanced in years, said he was Houben Waters and the case he referred to was an important one, involving a deal in oil. He said he left these parts soon afterward and this was the first opportunity he had to return and make the claim for his witness fee. How to proceed, the aged man left, promising to return in a few days.

SNAKE NOT WANTED TO HARD EGGS EAST SWARTSWOOD, N. J., July 9.—Hunting for eggs in her hen house, Mrs. Jackson Rose beheld a black snake coiled in a nest. Her husband killed the serpent, which failed to show fight. Noticing a large lump in the snake's throat, Mrs. Rose cut the reptile open. A china egg was lodged in the throat. The snake's fondness for eggs had proved its undoing.

Head of Burma Police Says One May Be Established in This State

Selection of some part of California as the site of a big ranch to be devoted to the raising of polo ponies for exportation to all parts of the world is a possibility contained in an announcement made yesterday by Captain E. Percy-Smith, head of the imperial police of Burma, India, officer in the world famous Bengal cavalry and former star player with the crack polo team of the Twentieth Hussars, and big game hunter, who arrived here yesterday on the steamer Mongolia on a tour of the world.

Impressed with the horse raising possibilities of this state and the knowledge that polo is increasing in public favor, Captain Percy-Smith stated that he will enlist the support of a brother in Vancouver in making the project a fact.

In addition to his record as head of the police department of Burma, Captain Percy-Smith is a big game hunter of note. He has established a record among his brother officers, all hunters of big game in India.

"As near as I can remember," said Captain Smith, "I have shot about 30 lions, a like number of tigers and any number of smaller game. My elephant record for the last season was four. I am having the tusks carved in Japan. 'Shooting in India is not as easy as in Africa, as you do not come upon the game in the open, but in the thick jungles, where you are apt to stumble on your quarry before you are aware of it.'"

OLD HORSE SALE NETS $1,200 FOR PENSION FUND Unclaimed Treasures in Police Station Are Sold in the Annual "Billed" Auction

The "Old Horse" sale, annual at the hall of justice, was held yesterday in the basement and netted the pension fund of the city about $1,200. All unclaimed articles that had been collected during the dead year were heaped together in 800 different packages and the bidders bought them "blind."

No one was permitted to see the contents and many a laugh was had when the purchaser found he had paid as high as $6 for a $1 watch. One little youngster waited in the auction rooms all day and he finally bought for $4 a bicycle, valued at $20. He was the most contented person in the place.

The purchases brought in $600 and $1,800, he divided equally between the board and the janitors.

SCHOOL BOARD IN FIGHT OVER PLANS

Directors Power and Jones Can't Agree When Question Comes Up

A wrangle between Directors Power and Jones over the question asked by the board of supervisors as to who was responsible for the change of the plans of the polytechnic high school occupied the attention of the board of education yesterday for nearly an hour. The minutes of the board showed that the changes were made without the knowledge of the members, but that the architects had reported that the change created a fireproof building, which increased the cost, and that the board approved the new plans because of the fireproof condition.

The two directors named disagreed as to what should appear in the answer to the supervisors, and the president had to act as mediator and make the reply a history of the building as appears from the minutes.

TEACHERS APPOINTED Miss Harriet D. Stark was elected a teacher of mechanical and freemasonry in the intermediate schools; Will L. Potts was appointed a teacher for the state schools for science and vocational training, and Gregg Kast was appointed a teacher of science and to supervise athletics.

Supervisor Kohland suggested that the board secure the services of Dr. M. E. Grooman of Plainfield, N. J., who will be in this city in a few weeks, to give instruction in segregation education. Announcement was made that the Patrick Henry school in Vermont street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, will be opened as a primary school on July 28. Miss E. Dennis, for many years a teacher in the Emerson school, will be the principal.

NEED ATHLETIC TEACHERS Director Power of the athletic committee reported that the proposed plan of physical training will necessitate the employment of at least three or four teachers of physical culture and folk dancing.

Nelle L. Campbell, a teacher in the polytechnic school, was granted a year's leave of absence to enable her to do advanced work in domestic art and household administration at the teachers' college in Columbia university, New York.

It was decided that the expense of window cleaning in the department, $1,800, be divided equally between the board and the janitors.

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

(From The Family Physician.) Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beautifying qualities of mercolized wax. Perhaps nothing discovered within recent years has accomplished so much, so quickly, without harm, without detaining one indoors, and at such small expense. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding or covering complexion defects, it removes them. The wax actually takes off the aged, faded, sallow, freckled or sunken tints, if you use it gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is Nature's way of renewing complexions. When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation or nerve tone, mercolized wax comes to the rescue and restores the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beautiful. If you never tried mercolized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.

Another natural beautifying treatment—for wrinkled skin—is to bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of saloxide in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably and instantaneously effective.
