

Bishop Unites Chinese Ceremony Is Translated

Mission Head Weds Leader of Chinatown's Social Set

Rev. Daniel Gee Ching Ng, head of mission and his bride, formerly King Yoak, who are married in Episcopal ceremony.

Interpreter Repeats Episcopal Vows Which Bind the Pair

Bishop Nichols of the Episcopal church officiated last night at a Chinese wedding.

The beautiful ceremony of the Episcopal church was translated into Chinese at the wedding of Rev. Daniel Gee Ching Ng and King Yoak, daughter of Mrs. Won Wo of San Francisco.

Rev. Mr. Ng is in charge of the True Sunshine mission and head of the Chinese work of the Episcopal church in San Francisco and Oakland. The family of King Yoak has a high place in the society of the Chinese colony of San Francisco.

Although King Yoak is sufficiently Americanized to forego the oriental marriage rites for the ceremony of the Episcopal church, she still clings to the oriental two piece garb of the Chinese woman, and was married in an elaborate oriental costume.

The service as read in English by Bishop Nichols was repeated in Chinese by an interpreter.

The wedding was more solemn and impressive than the pure Chinese ceremony. Most of the attendants were Chinese and half of the audience at Grace Pro-Cathedral was Chinese and the other half the American friends of the couple.

Rev. Mr. Ng is a graduate of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific and enjoys the highest confidence of his countrymen. He is often called in as adviser and judge when there are differences among his countrymen, and several times has sat in judgment on questions that caused trouble among the tongue.

Rev. Mr. Daniel and Mrs. Ng will make their home in San Francisco.

DOWAGER OF SIAM HAS AVIATION BUG

Grief for Dead Husband Made Her Take to Flying; Now Owns a Machine

According to Mrs. Clara Williams, wife of a wealthy Scot in Bangkok, Persia, she arrived here yesterday on the liner Persia, the aged dowager queen of Siam is an aviation bug of the most intense type.

Shortly afterward the first airship was taken to Siam. Mrs. Williams was present at this ceremony, and while watching the grim finish of one of the few of the world's absolute monarchs, her heart went out in pity to the aged widow, whose grief appeared to be inconsolable.

Her son, the new king, has sent the sacred white elephant, on which his father rode, to the royal alfalfa patch and travels at a high rate of speed in a fast French touring car. The dowager, Mrs. Williams, was imported by a wealthy Siamese, who was foolish enough to go joy riding in the vicinity of the palace. The king saw the car.

RIVAL GOT SOUL; SHE ASKS DIVORCE

Wife, Tired of Admitting Husband's Women Callers to Home, Sues

Too many women inquiring for Christopher M. Lynch, actor, eventually drove Mrs. Ethel Frisbie Lynch of the Welmar apartments, to the divorce courts in a suit filed yesterday by her attorney, Joseph Rothschild, in which she charges cruelty, neglect and desertion.

A woman named "Lacey," according to the wife's lengthy complaint, called upon Mrs. Lynch in December 1912 and told her all about Lynch's private affairs, informed the wife that the actor no longer cared for her and suggested that she get a divorce.

Although Lynch receives $300 a month, according to the complaint, he has given but $12.50 a week since December to the support of Mrs. Lynch and their four children, Eileen, Christopher, Kathleen and James. The community property is a Los Angeles lot worth $300.

Mrs. Lynch asks $200 a month alimony and the custody of the children. Judge Buck granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Mrs. Matilda Guber from Charles V. Guber, a Heidelberg farmer, upon her testimony that for two years her husband failed to give her any money for food or clothing.

Mrs. Guber lives at 1464 McAllister street. Her mother corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Guber. Judge Buck also granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Ida from Paul R. Martinelli, neglect.

Complaints filed: Mrs. E. against Warsaw A. R. Strickland, cruelty; Catherine against Robert Thomas, desertion; Mary E. against O. E. Elmond, cruelty; Arville against William E. Whigham, desertion; Augustus H. against Edward Krause, for annulment; Ida against John B. Gerino, desertion; Giuseppe against Alexander Priftakis, cruelty; and Sigmond against Emily Stern, cruelty.

Coleman, Fourth cavalry, Schofield barracks, returning from leave; First Lieutenant P. W. Stack, signal corps, Hawaii division, on leave, and First Lieutenant Robert T. Oliver, dental corps, en route to Manila on sick leave.

The Housewives' league will entertain at luncheon in compliment to Miss Isabel Beveler, Ph. M., professor of household sciences, University of Illinois, which will be held at noon, Saturday, August 2, in Hale's Pompeian court at the corner of Market and Fifth streets.

COLONEL FINLEY TO VISIT TROOPS

Cavalry Officer Will Not Assume Command of Presidio for Some Time

Indications are that Colonel Lea Febliger will continue in command of the Presidio post for some time although Colonel Walter L. Finley, recently returned from a vacation in the Yosemite valley, was scheduled to take command at the end of his leave.

Orders were issued yesterday detailing Colonel Finley to proceed August 17 to Fort Yellowstone, Wyo., to visit the second squadron of his regiment, and then proceed to the Presidio of Monterey to visit the third squadron for the same purpose.

Colonel Frederick Von Schrader of the quartermaster corps, formerly in charge of the depot of the post, is seriously ill at the hospital, Fort William H. Seward, Alaska, and orders were issued yesterday for his removal to the Letterman general hospital here. First Lieutenant Charles E. McBrayer, M. C. and Private John J. Holst, have been detailed to accompany him.

Second Lieutenant Lewis H. Breerton, C. A. C., has been detailed as a member of the general court martial appointed to meet at Fort Rosecrans, vice Captain Franc Lecocq.

Lieutenant Colonel Charles H. Grideron, cavalry, has been detailed as a member of the general court martial appointed to meet at the recruit depot, Fort McDowell, vice Lieutenant Colonel Champ C. McCulloch.

Major Benjamin J. Edger Jr., M. C., and First Lieutenant Augustus F. Dannemiller, infantry, have been detailed as instructors for the organized militia of Idaho during the encampment in Boise August 17 to 26.

Leaves have been granted to First Lieutenant Hugo D. Schultz, Twentieth infantry, four months, and Second Lieutenant Paul L. Ferron, C. A. C. Fort Rosecrans, 10 days.

Among the visitors registered yesterday at army headquarters were Lieutenant Colonel T. W. May, Twentieth infantry, Galveston, Tex., on leave; Captain J. Coleman, Fourth cavalry, Schofield barracks, returning from leave; First Lieutenant P. W. Stack, signal corps, Hawaii division, on leave, and First Lieutenant Robert T. Oliver, dental corps, en route to Manila on sick leave.

General Bixby will not leave the active service on account of age until next December, two months after the date upon which Colonel Bixby must retire. Hence he asked for retirement before that date in order that his brother officer might reach the highest place in the corps.

General Bixby, who is a native of Charlestown, Mass., is a West Point graduate and in his long career in the army has had to do with most of the great engineering projects which have fallen to the charge of the army engineers.

He is an authority on the construction of bridges, having demonstrated the practicality of a 3,000 foot span across the Hudson river in the face of strenuous opposition from engineering circles.

Colonel Rossell is a native of Alabama and is also a West Pointer, graduating in 1873. He has been in charge of some of the most important river and harbor projects in the south, and is at present engineer of the eastern division, with headquarters in New York. Germany has signified its intention of being represented by a rifle team at the international matches to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, from September 1 to 3.

CHILD WITH NECK BROKEN PLAYS ON

Virginia Reem, Aged 3, Object of Interest to Medical Profession of City

Five days ago while playing in bed she accidentally fell to the floor. Aside from a slight pain in her shoulder the child apparently was uninjured.

Yesterday the pain in her shoulder shifted to her neck. After an examination by Dr. Rachael Ash of 1275 Third avenue Virginia was taken to the affiliated colleges. When placed under the X-ray the doctors made the surprising discovery that she had been indulging in all the activities of a vigorous child despite the fact that her neck had been broken.

The injury is a complete fracture of one of the vertebrae. The broken bones are to be placed in a heavy plaster cast. It is expected that they will knit within two months.

Burglars flung open the front door of George Corey's saloon, 600 Mission street, early yesterday morning and got away with $142.75.

decided that it was just what he wanted and at once issued a royal requisition on his wealthy subject for the automobile.

Mrs. Williams was born in the United States, but lost her citizenship by marrying a Scot, and yesterday, before she was permitted to set foot on her native sod, had to pay Uncle Sam $4 alien tax.

HUSBAND RECEIVES BIG ESTATE IN SHORT WILL

Mrs. Katherine Rivers Gives $45,000 to Second Spouse; Balance to Daughter

The belief that death was imminent caused Mrs. Katherine A. Rivers, wife of former Supervisor Thomas W. Rivers to make a brief will on October 28, 1909, at her residence, 838 Hayes street, in which she left $45,000 to her husband and the remainder of her estate to her daughter, Mrs. Mary Adam Musto.

Mrs. Rivers did not die until July 23 of this year, and yesterday Mrs. Musto presented the will written nearly four years ago by her mother to Judge Dunne with a petition for appointment as special administratrix.

The property mentioned in the will is said to be worth several hundred thousand dollars and was left to Mrs. Rivers by her first husband, Thomas Adam. Mrs. Musto is Mrs. Rivers' daughter by a first marriage. The petition was presented by Attorney Alexander McCulloch.

JURY VINDICATES WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Mrs. Lea Delmont, the young Belgian woman who shot and killed her husband, Louis Sunday, was freed by a coroner's jury because he sought to force her to return to a mode of life which she abhorred. The verdict returned by the coroner's jury was justifiable homicide.

The Social Whirl

By RUTH CAMERON

It is a law which psychologists are coming to appreciate more and more, that every act we do has a subtle influence on every other act. Every time any one does work of any kind in a shiftless, slovenly way, he weakens his ability to do first class work in any other direction.

For instance, suppose your business is stenography. Being a woman, you usually make up the beds for mother of a Sunday morning. You don't like to make beds and you are inclined to make them in a very slovenly fashion, despite the knowledge that by so doing you forfeit a handsome husband. Now, if you yield to this inclination, you not only spoil the appearance of the room, but you also affect your ability to write a neat letter in the office on Monday. And conversely, if you insist on making those beds just as well as you know how, you also strengthen yourself as a neat and accurate stenographer.

Or, again, say that your profession is homemaking and you are elected treasurer of the local woman's club. Keeping books is stiff, up hill work for you, but if you persist in doing it in an orderly and systematic fashion, you will thereby strengthen the habits of order and system which you try to maintain in your own profession. Whereas, if you allow yourself to be careless about this task, you impair your ability as a housekeeper.

Of course, the influence which one single act exerts is not perceptible. But we seldom perform single acts. We let ourselves be slovenly in the making of beds or the keeping of the books again and again, until by and by the poison of slovenliness begins to affect our whole system.

"The habits that a man has to acquire to become efficient in one class of work," says one of the writers on efficiency, of whom we have had such a crop the last few years, "stand him in good stead in becoming efficient in other work. These habits of work are vastly more important than the work itself, for it is our experience that a man who has become efficient in one thing readily learns to become efficient at doing other things."

"The habits of work are really more important than the work itself." That means bad habits as well as good ones. If you want to be efficient in one direction, you must try not to be slovenly in any, even though the work itself does not seem to you important.
