LOVE ORN GIRL TRIES TO DROWN SELF IN CHANNEL

Flora Cavender, Telephone Operator, Smitten With Married Man, Repulsed by Him After Attempt

(Special Dispatch to The Call)
STOCKTON, Aug. 2.—Miss Flora Cavender, a pretty 16 year old telephone operator in Stockton, residing at 427 East Poplar street, attempted to commit suicide this afternoon by leaping into Stockton channel.

The girl was rescued by Ollie Davis and Leo Moore, captain and engineer of a launch.

She tried desperately to free herself and leaped again into the water.

Miss Cavender was attended at the emergency hospital and will live.

Chief of Police Briars asked her if she would give any reason for her act and she handed him the following letter:

"To Any One—I can't afford to be deceived again. I don't want to die this way, but am tired of living. I love Bert Brame better than my mother loved me. I hope he will love me in heaven, but if I don't, I hope he will often think of me. God only knows the agony I suffered when I learned the truth. Oh God, how I love him—A Very Heartbroken Girl."

Miss Cavender asked Chief Briars to telephone to Brame to come over to the hospital and see her. Briars did so and asked Brame if he knew the girl. Brame replied that he did, but did not wish to see her.

F. Herbert Brame is connected with a weekly paper favoring the licensing of saloons and opposed to prohibition. Brame was seen later and denied that he had closed and locked the doors when a policeman was seen.

"I have a wife," said Brame, "and I do not wish to make any statement at present. Yes, I know Flora Cavender."

Miss Cavender is a beautiful girl and is being closely watched lest she try to finish the attempted suicide. She has been living with her grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Ellsworth.

MOTHER'S LOVE STRONGER THAN POLICE OFFICER

Passengers Help Her Defy Law to Rescue Her Child From the Demand of Court and Bluecoat

PITTSBURG, Kan., Aug. 2.—A policeman who attempted to execute the order of a court and take a 5 year old girl away from her mother, Mrs. Louise Schoenart of this city, on a passenger train here today, was almost mobbed by the passengers, who encouraged the woman to defy him.

"Where is your warrant?" the conductor asked the officer. The officer replied: "I have a verbal order from the judge himself."

"That doesn't go," the conductor said. "Show your warrant or get off the train."

The officer continued to tug at the child, trying to take her from the mother's arms. The passengers rushed to the woman's defense. The officer, fearing violence from the passengers, ran to a platform and jumped from the train while it was going at a considerable rate of speed.

At Girard, Kan. 10 miles west of here, three other officers boarded the train and demanded the child. Mrs. Schoenart seized the child, rushed into a toilet and barricaded the door.

While the train was traveling a distance of 10 miles the officers pounded on the door, threatened, argued and coaxed, but without avail. They forced the mother to come out and surrender the child. She left the train at the next station and returned to Pittsburg with the officers.

Mrs. Schoenart was divorced from her husband, Albert Schoenart, several months ago. The court divided the custody of the child between them. When Schoenart came for the child today he learned that Mrs. Schoenart was at the depot, preparing to start for Portersfield, Cal.

CROWDER FAVORS RECATRAZ CHANGE

Congressional Committees Get Plan to Transfer Military Prison

(Special Dispatch to The Call)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Brigadier General Enoch H. Crowder, judge advocate general of the army, has returned to Washington from a trip to San Francisco, where he went to confer with national immigration officials in connection with the proposed transfer of Alcatraz island, in San Francisco bay, to the department of labor as an immigration station.

Department of labor officials say that the present immigration station on Angel island is not sufficient for the department's needs. They declare that additional facilities will have to be afforded in anticipation of the increased immigration by six new steamship lines that will come from European ports through the Panama canal to San Francisco and will largely divert immigration from Ellis island, New York.

General Crowder inspected Fort Point, which would be suitable for use as a detention barracks after inexpensive alterations in place of the military prison on Alcatraz island. It is planned to have a disciplinary battalion at Fort Point.

The plan will require legislative authority and will be brought to the attention of the senate and house military committee.

The action comes directly as the result of the dismissal from the regiment of Lieutenant Atkinson, leader of the bugle band, who broke ranks to snatch the flag from the hands of a young American woman. The officers declared tonight that they will take the case before the imperial parliament in London.

According to Lieutenant Atkinson he deliberately was slapped in the face with the flag by the young woman.

"The lady slapped me in the face no less than three times before I took any notice of it," he declared tonight. "I then broke ranks and threw the flag on the ground. I regarded the action as a deliberate insult to the uniform of the fusiliers and the body will be the same thing over again if the occasion offered."
