

GAMBOJA'S NOTE TAKES TENSION OUT OF ISSUE

Minister of State Intimates to Lind Huerta Is Constitutionally Debarred From Candidacy

DIPLOMACY NOW TO PUBLIC PRINT

On Wilson's Suggestion Lind Returns to Mexico City of renewing negotiations along tangible lines. The two notes exchanged by Lind and Gamboa were published in full here today and official Washington read them closely.

FINANCES INVOLVED Interest was manifest in Lind's suggestion that all proposals be laid aside for the present, except that which asks Huerta not to be a candidate in the coming elections. It was learned that while President Wilson knew the gist of Mr. Lind's second proposals, he was not acquainted until today with the text of the communication in which Mr. Lind promised that, if his last suggestions were accepted, bankers would be given American assurances of the moral support of the American government for a loan to rehabilitate the finances of the present Mexican regime. The White House view of the offer of the loan was that, should the present effort to bring about peace appear to be bearing fruit, it would be incumbent upon the United States to help Mexico straighten out her financial tangles.

The statement of Senor Gamboa that Mexico, as provisional president of Mexico, was prohibited by the Mexican constitution from succeeding himself, and that the American contention, therefore, was unnecessary, was scrutinized closely. Some officials pointed out that no guarantee existed that President Huerta would not resign prior to the election and thereby make himself eligible. It was suggested, too, that to accept the situation of the Mexican constitution as sufficient restriction on Huerta's candidacy might be construed as a recognition of Huerta as the constitutionally chosen ruler.

SEE HOPE AHEAD However, hope was found in the vigorous disclaimer of Senor Gamboa that any one should have suspected Huerta of designing to become president. This was regarded as a tacit implication that Huerta finally would not enter the presidential race. The chief difficulties now, according to administration officials, are the questions of pride and national honor involved. Protests by Senor Gamboa that to yield to the contentions of the United States would be a surrender of sovereignty and would permit a foreign government to veto the candidacy of individuals in Mexican elections thereafter, have been met by the statement of officials here that the United States has not the slightest desire to interfere with the sovereign right of Mexico.

SITUATION CLEARING There was confidence in official circles that by the exchange of other communications, both Mexico and the United States would further clarify their positions on this point. Implications of dictation would be removed and any changes brought about in Mexico at this time would be the result of the voluntary acts of the Mexican administration. So far as the Washington government is concerned, it has been made plain that no more difficulties may be reached hereafter, regardless of how the Mexican authorities are influenced by the present situation. Confidence of this was given today through frequent cautions by the administration officials of the press to avoid injuring the sensibilities of the Mexican people by reference to "concessions," "triumphs" or "defeats."

In this connection pointed reference was made to the remark of Senor Gamboa in his latest note:

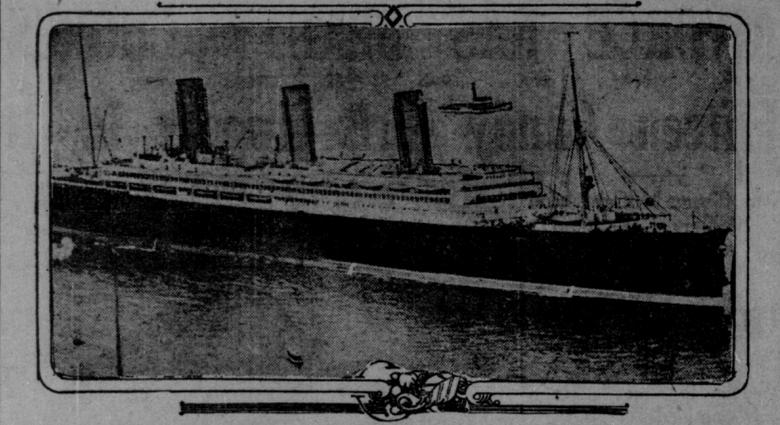

POINTS ARE CONVERGING "We are really in the way of arriving at an arrangement equally dignified for both sides. The situation as a whole was stripped of much of the tension. Secretary Bryan felt able to leave Washington today for a lecture at New Hope, Pa., though he will return early tomorrow. President Wilson will go to Cornish today for the weekend, and if the situation grows worse will leave late tomorrow. The machinery of Washington continued to operate in enforcement of the policy outlined by the more able. Customs agents and military authorities along the southern frontier were ordered to hold up all shipments of arms or munitions destined for any point in Mexico. Major General Wood, chief of staff, U. S. A., who returned to Washington today, did not go to the war department, but remained at the bedside of his sick wife. He kept in touch, however, with the situation on the border, where it is expected more troops will be used to enforce neutrality. Secretary Daniels of the navy department announced that no more conditional battleships would be ordered to Mexican waters.

LOCAL RESIDENTS GO BACK TO MEXICO A declaration by President Wilson that the United States would act with vigor to insure the protection of Americans in Mexico has had the immediate effect of turning travel back to the southern republic.

Among the passengers leaving here yesterday on the Pacific Mail liner San Juan were 20 Americans returning to Mexico City. More than half of them booked passage after the publication of the president's message. Some of them were accompanied by their wives. They will leave the San Juan at Manzanillo and will travel by rail to the Mexican capital. Under rush instructions from the war department in Washington, Major General Arthur Murray yesterday ordered Troop I, First cavalry, stationed at the Presidio at Monterey, to do patrol duty on the Mexican border. The company, numbering 42 men, under the command of First Lieutenant John Symington, left Monterey early in the morning by special train on the Shore Line Limited for Calexico on the American side of the line in Imperial valley. The dispatching of the United States troops is a result of an appeal from Governor Johnson, asking protection from the warring factions in Mexico. Governor Johnson immediately telegraphed General Murray of the circumstances. General Murray wired the war department and received this message in reply: "Leave no time in sending Troop I to Calexico." The soldiers were fully prepared for hostilities, being equipped with an ammunition and commissary requirement. They will go immediately to a point near Calexico, where they will protect the great dam of the Imperial Valley water company. Much excitement prevails in the Presidio at San Francisco. The officers and men expect momentarily to be ordered to the Mexican border, although this has not been officially confirmed. It is probable that detachments of the Sixth and Seventh infantry regiments and several troops from the First cavalry will be dispatched to augment the patrolling force along the troublesome Mexican line.

General Alarm Saves Big Vessel Tons of Water From Fifty Nozzles

again and again the wall of smoke kept them from rescuing Gobrecht and Slumpt. When the fire was checked the body of Gobrecht was taken ashore. Slumpt was sent to a hospital. The wisp of smoke curling into the second cabin when the flames were first discovered had by this time grown to a cloud. Through this cloud the Hoboken firemen rushed, dragging their hose.

The dining saloon of the second cabin suffered the greatest damage from smoke and the firemen's passage. The handsome appointments of the saloon were a wreck when the smoke cleared away. FIFTY STREAMS IN BLAZE With 50 streams playing hundreds of tons of water on the fire every minute the flames lost and the vessel began to list. At 8 o'clock there were only two streams on the blaze and it was practically extinguished. Officials of the line estimated that the damage to the vessel itself would not be great. Great quantities of supplies were made useless, however, by the flames, smoke and water. Nearly 2,000,000 gallons of water was poured on the fire.

The company announced that the ship would sail Saturday as scheduled, and the damage would be repaired as fast as possible at sea.

COAST MANAGER IS NOTIFIED OF FIRE

H. F. Dorgeloh, Pacific coast manager of the Hamburg-American line, yesterday received a message assuring him that the damage to the Emperor was not serious and that, provided there were no further complications, the company expects to dispatch the steamer according to regular schedule. The telegram followed about 4 o'clock this a. m. was confined absolutely to the compartment in which the provisions rooms are situated and under the control within a few hours. No damage to any other part of the vessel. Though we fully expect to dispatch steamer as scheduled, a. m. August 29, they may be delayed a few hours. If postponement, shall wire you again. Regular schedule to and from Europe will not be disturbed. The improvement of the apparatus on Emperor proved its splendid efficiency in confining the fire to the compartment in which it originated.

HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE GRAND OPERA FOR SEASON OF 1914

"Cristoforo Colombo," First Time Produced in America, on Program The grand opera season in San Francisco will open for two weeks, beginning March 16, when the Chicago Grand Opera company will again make its bow behind the footlights of the Tivoli. The season of 1914 will be more brilliant than ever before, according to the promises of Bernard Ulrich, manager, who arrived yesterday to make arrangements for the operatic festival with William H. Leahy of the Tivoli. Mr. Ulrich was enthusiastic. He said San Franciscans had a keener ear and a fuller idea of dramatic values than any other city of his acquaintance on this side of the Atlantic. He promised to bring Mary Garden once again to the Golden Gate, where she will be heard in La Tosca, Thais, Louise, La Jangleur, and in Massenet's "Manon," which she has never before attempted here. The great opera of "Cristoforo Colombo," never before produced in America, will be a feature of the repertoire. It is spectacular and is said to rival Salome in real sensations. "Thais" Ruffo, the Italian prima donna, will make his debut in "Rigoletto," "Pagliacci" and "Cristoforo Colombo." There will be Alessandro Bonci, the tenor with the birdlike voice, who will sing "La Boheme" and "La Sonnambula" and "Madam Butterfly." Margie Teyte, the noted English soprano, will sing with him. Mr. Ulrich promised that "Parsifal," which has not been seen here since 1905, will be produced on a magnificent scale with a brilliant cast, including Julia Clausen, the Swedish contralto, who is known as one of the most beautiful women in Europe. Others who will sing repertoires during the two weeks' engagement of the company are Miss Florence Macbeth, a new discovery in the operatic world, Mabel Riesgeman, an Oakland girl, and the new tenor, Murah, a Hungarian, who has made a splendid record in the Munich opera season. The Tivoli orchestra, which made such a hit last season, will be augmented to 110 pieces for the production of "Parsifal." Cleofonte Campanelli will be the musical director, assisted by Charlier, Parelli, Perolo, Sturani and Winteritz. Rosina Galli and a ballet of 50 dancers are promised as a feature of the season.

SCHWEERIN WANTS MERCHANT MARINE

Manager of Pacific Mail Charges Government With Delinquency

R. P. Schwerin, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, charged the United States government yesterday with unfair treatment of American shipping interests and a concerted move to defeat a rehabilitation of the American merchant marine.

Before the Home Industry league, at its regular luncheon, he made strong statements. "There is no disposition on the part of the government to aid American shipping," he said. "What the American ships must have is support—the support of the government and the support of the American people. We could go ahead and successfully re-establish the American flag on the seas without government aid if we had the support of the people."

"The foreign commerce of the United States during 1912 was approximately $3,857,000,000 in value, and of this total American ships carried 10 per cent, or $340,000,000. The increase in our foreign trade in one year alone amounted to $500,000,000, or nearly double the amount carried under the American flag. Such is the horrid condition of dependency of the United States foreign commerce on the seas."

LONG AUTO RIDE GIVEN DEAD MAN

Body of Michael Moran Starts for Denver in Hearse Machine

Michael Moran's body started east yesterday morning on a 3,000 mile funeral procession in an automobile hearse, giving a charity patient in the San Francisco tuberculosis hospital honor, or perhaps notoriety, such as no dead millionaire, statesman or warrior ever had. The body was taken to his grave in an automobile had a novel result the first day of the trip, when the cortege was arrested at Mountain View for speeding. The party will go through Salt Lake City, Denver, Chicago and New York. It left Martin & Brown's undertaking parlor at noon yesterday.

CONFIDENTIAL AID TO DEPOSED SULTAN ABDUL SEEKS ALMS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—The Thomas-McNab Film-theater society is investigating today a story told the police by a man representing himself to be Prince S. L. G. P. Commanee, Paleologus of the Turkish nobility in support of his plea for alms for his destitute family. The prince, according to his story, was confidential aid to Sultan Abdul Hamid, the last of the old Turkey rulers. He said he had suffered many reverses since the overthrow of Abdul and his finances were completely exhausted in a recent investment. Temporary aid was extended to the petitioner.

Between the first time she went out with Diggs, last October, and the second occasion, in November, Miss Warrington said he "called her up" several times and she refused to go out with him. "Mr. Camiretti called at my home and was known there as Mr. Whittman," she said. "Mr. Diggs never came to our house."

SCOLDS LAWYERS FOR TALKING "For some time prior to the Reno trip Miss Norris was attending night school," Miss Warrington said. "When she came to the Reno police station, Mabel Riesgeman, an Oakland girl, and the new tenor, Murah, a Hungarian, who has made a splendid record in the Munich opera season. WOMEN IN MORBID CORNER So the judge took down his switch again and told Mr. Roche the prosecution was not going to be so far from the court just as quickly as the defense, and school resumed its set program. Expecting the girls would testify, the crowds came back. There were not so many men in line in the corridor, but more women. For the first time women were admitted to the courtroom. The judge took down his switch again and told Mr. Roche the prosecution was not going to be so far from the court just as quickly as the defense, and school resumed its set program.

The sweat of honest toil poured from the faces of three young men of Los Angeles yesterday afternoon. They were covered with dust and the limped—each of them limped in both legs. Their bedraggled condition was explained when they registered. "My pals, Paul W. Anderson and Herbert G. Henning, have got to brace up if we are ever going to reach New York. Then Murphy laughed, and the others explained that he was the only person who had found the journey difficult. They are walking to New York on a wager and they expect to break some records for walking time across the continent."

BRIEF REVIEW OF EVENTS IN TRIAL OF CAMINETTI

Marsha Warrington will resume her testimony today. Lola Norris will be the last witness for the prosecution, which will rest this afternoon. The defense will submit its case Tuesday and Wednesday. Camiretti should know the verdict Thursday night. Thirty-three women spectators refuse to budge when Judge Van Fleet rebuked them for sitting through the worst of the testimony. Both girls have received many letters offering wealth and happiness in return for marriage. Camiretti said he and Diggs have turned down several offers for theatrical engagements, and positively will not make capital out of their disgrace. Diggs announces he will go into business in San Francisco soon. Counsel for the defense and prosecution rebuked for making statements to the newspapers, and threatened with fines for contempt for any recurrence of the offense. Expected appearance of girl principals filled the corridors of the postoffice building with curious crowds again. Mrs. Diggs heard Miss Warrington tell of her intimacy with her husband.

his knowledge of the doings of the four during their first night in Reno at the hotel. F. J. Peck of Reno, a member of the real estate firm which owned and rented the bungalow, retold his story. He said Camiretti was with Diggs when he made out the receipt for the month's rent. E. W. Miller, the grocer's clerk, related his experiences on delivering provisions to the bungalow. He said he and Miss Westover had some of the deliveries. Constable Read said when Diggs remarked to the girls when the party was headed here from the Reno police station, "It's up to you girls whether you go to the pen," Camiretti added, "that's right, girls."

J. D. Hillhouse of Reno, chief of police, who arrested the couple, said Diggs said, "I hope the Sacramento officers put me in a strong box. I'm afraid old man Warrington will kill me." He said Diggs told him the four were going to stay in Reno only a short time and then were going on to St. Louis.

In the morning, Miss Westover and dressed Judge Van Fleet a newspaper clipping containing an interview with Marshall Woodworth of the defense, in which she said the Mann act never was intended to prosecute young men like Camiretti, and which would up with the statement: "The Mann act is as much on trial as Camiretti's law."

Judge Van Fleet could not believe his ears and had to see the clipping and obtain Woodworth's verification. "If you can't get into court so far forgetting himself as to try a case in the newspapers," said the court. "It is entirely improper, and if there is any more of this kind of thing, I shall consider it a serious contempt and act accordingly."

Returning from the noon recess, Van Fleet said, "You look like you've been in a fight. In which Roche was quoted concerning relations of Camiretti with some minor girls. "You look like you've been in a fight. In which Roche was quoted concerning relations of Camiretti with some minor girls."

Miss Alice Westover Makes Rounds of Hospitals for Jack Clark

Love is piloting Miss Alice Westover of 480 Pine street in a diligent search which she is making through the hospitals of San Francisco for her flange, Jack Clark, who disappeared from the Westover home a week ago. Clark, a hotel man, had been in San Francisco, saying he was going to Paso Robles, where he had accepted a position of assistant manager of the Paso Robles hotel. Miss Westover had acted as nurse for Clark during a recent illness. She fears that Clark became ill en route to the spring city and is now in some hospital, here or elsewhere, and unable to communicate with her. She has requested the aid of the central emergency hospital service in finding her sweetheart. Clark is 38 years of age, 5 feet 5 inches in height, dark eyes, medium dark hair and wore a heavy signet ring on the little finger of his right hand. Clark, who is well known as a hotel man, not only in San Francisco but in Los Angeles and other of the southern resorts, made his home here at the Hotel Bellevue.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR TRIED FOR MISCONDUCT

Private Hearing for Long Beach Minister—Young Women Are Witnesses

LONG BEACH, Aug. 28.—A hearing to precede a final decision on charges of misconduct and indiscretion against Rev. O. H. L. Mason, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Long Beach, was in progress here today before a commission of six pastors and five elders of the Los Angeles Presbytery. The hearing was conducted in private, witnesses appearing singly. Among them were several young women members of the church to whom it is alleged, the conduct of Rev. Mr. Mason had been improper. An alleged confession of Rev. Mr. Mason, said to have been made by him immediately after the accusations against him reached the ears of officers of the church, was introduced by the faction opposing him.
