WILLIAM SULZER.

SULZER MADE APPEAL TO BOSS MURPHY AND ROOT TO STOP TRIAL, SAYS RYAN

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, the financier and trust magnate, testified before the court of impeachment today that Governor Sulzer had requested him to get Delancey Nicoll to use his influence with Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, to call off the impeachment trial.

This statement followed an earlier one made by Ryan to the effect that he had also visited Root and Barnes in an effort to accomplish the same purpose.

This was the first time that any testimony has been brought out to show that Sulzer had appealed, directly or indirectly, to the men who ordered his impeachment.

Ryan said Governor Sulzer told him he positively wanted Charles F. Murphy seen and that he was willing to do what was right if the impeachment could be blocked.

When Ryan had completed his story Samuel A. Beardsley was introduced to say that he had offered Governor Sulzer $25,000 and that it had been refused. The court, by 29 to 24, refused to admit this testimony.

During Monday's session Ryan had testified that Sulzer had asked him to appeal to Senator Root and have Barnes wield this influence. Presiding Judge Cullen had barred this testimony and had been upheld on appeal from the decision.

Senator Brown, republican leader of the senate minority, however, instituted a fight to have this and further testimony as to political deals involving the republicans entered in the records. He was successful. The vote upon which the court reversed itself was 41 to 14. Immediately after the decision of the court had been announced young Ryan was recalled to the stand.

Ryan admitted that he had made an effort to ascertain the attitude of the republican senators upon the validity of the Sulzer impeachment, as requested by the governor.

D-CADY HERRICK.

Besides Sulzer and his wife—the chief actors in the Albany drama—the pictures shown here are of three men who are taking leading parts in the proceedings. D-Cady Herrick, one of the most prominent democrats in the United States, and formerly a candidate for governor of New York, is leading the Sulzer forces. Chief Justice Cullen of the court of appeals, who is presiding, over the trial, has an international reputation as a brilliant and impartial exponent of the law. Former Judge Alton B. Parker, chosen to head the Sulzer prosecutors, has taken a prominent part in many important legal cases. He was democratic candidate for president of the United States in 1904. From 1898 till 1904 he was chief judge of the court of appeals.

Because Uncle Sam Did Not Contribute, R. Spreckels Balks

Millionaire Says Subscription to Exposition Stock Was Contingent on Government Appropriation

Because the national government did not subscribe $5,000,000 to the Panama-Pacific exposition, Rudolph Spreckels avers that he lost $25,000 which he would have saved in taxes, and, therefore, he is not to be held liable for a subscription of his own, which, he says, was obtained from him on the understanding that the federal government would "come through." This and a number of similar allegations are contained in an answer made today in the superior court in the suit of the exposition directors to enforce the payment by Spreckels of $17,500, the balance alleged to be due on his stock. Spreckels states that he is dissatisfied with the way affairs are being conducted, declaring that he was given no opportunity to participate in the work.

THOUSAND IN NOME ARE HOMELESS

Victims of Storm and Fire, Without Food or Shelter, Are Suffering

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 7.—Strenuous efforts are being put forth today to relieve the suffering among more than 1,000 persons made homeless by the storm that swept in from the sea and destroyed every building along the water front for a distance of nearly two miles, doing more than $1,500,000 damage. Winter has set in and most of those whose homes were blown to pieces are without food supplies or clothing. No relief is in sight until the arrival of the revenue cutter Bear, expected late today or tomorrow from Unalaska. The buildings left standing in the town are wholly inadequate to house the persons who were left without shelter.

Fire broke out today in the ruins. As the fire fighting apparatus was destroyed by the storm bucket brigades were formed to stem the flames. Women worked side by side with the men.

It is feared that isolated prospectors were overwhelmed in the storm. Searching parties started out at dawn. The storm started Sunday night, raged 24 hours and passed off in a southerly direction.

Efforts are being made today to restore the electric light plant and telephone service. The women have been made as comfortable as possible in the buildings farthest back from the sea, and every man has been called upon to gather scattered lumber and try to rebuild the demolished homes and stores.

SLAIN GIRL'S BODY HELD TO CONFRONT HINDU AND FORCE HIM TO CONFESS

Two more letters written by Said All Khan to Rosa Domingo bearing on the relations between the Hindu and the murdered girl were discovered by the police of Richmond this morning and are now being examined to see if they throw light upon the relations between the two and the causes which led up to the strangling of the girl.

In the hope of breaking down the making fear and remorse the forces which will bring a confession from him, Rosa Domingo's body will not be buried at once, as was first planned, but will be kept waiting for Said All. When he is caught he will be confronted with the mutilated remains that lay on the bottom of the bay for days.

FUNERAL OF GIRL POSTPONED The funeral had been set for this morning, and Father Robert Sampson of the Catholic church at Stege was to officiate at the services, but Coroner C. O. Abbott ordered the burial postponed.

Although the scene of the hunt for Said All ranges through the Hindu camps all along the east side of the bay, into San Francisco, down the peninsula and even to a supposed mysterious Hindu colony in the mountain district back of Mount Hamilton, the Richmond police are devoting strong efforts to finding traces of the past life of the Domingo girl and her companion in Oakland.

Rosa Domingo is believed to have worked for some time in an Eighth street shooting gallery, and an investigation will determine if the Hindu was seen in her company there.

On the other hand an Oakland photographer, Max Horwich, said he saw Said All standing in front of his photo shop for half an hour Friday night. Horwich also said three Hindus appeared at the place Saturday and asked to see all the pictures there were there.

MYSTERIOUS APPOINTMENT More immediate, however, is the mystery of an appointment Rosa Domingo is supposed to have had with Said All at Stege park at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. This was disclosed in a letter written by the girl to the Hindu, evidently an answer to the invitation penned by him on the Sunday before the murder.

Quarrels over money matters also figure in the mystery, according to yesterday's development. The girl told her landlord at the Gemma apartments in San Francisco that she feared the Hindu.

"I could go to him and get $50 or $60, but I'm afraid he'd kill me," she is reported to have said to the San Jose police who are searching in that city for Said All in pursuance of an alleged statement that he had said he was going there to visit a friend.
