STANFORD HAS EDGE IN WEIGHT

By WILLIAM UNMACK
An advantage of 5 1/2 pounds per man is what California will have over Stanford in the scrum in the big game next Saturday. What difference will this weight make in the Stanford team?

Weight in a scrum is of considerable importance under certain conditions, and it may play an important part in the coming game. Should the weather continue in its present disturbed state, the California scrum should benefit with that extra 44 pounds of beef; but if the weather is good, with old Sol shedding his rays on the Stanford green, then a difference of 5 1/2 pounds per man will not be an extreme handicap to the cardinal kickers.

Weight in the scrum is an asset, but 49 pounds is not a very serious proposition, though it may tell its tale toward the end of the game. This matter of five pounds per man is not an advantage as it used to be a few years ago when Stanford was wont to outweigh California by some nine pounds or more. The combined nine pounds of eight men is bound to make an appreciable difference, but five pounds will not be so noticeable.

LINEUP OF THE SCRUMS

The weights of the two scrums of course depend on the final selection of the teams. At the present time the consensus of opinion is that the scrums will line up something like this:

California—Stanford—
Abrams Hall
Fenstermacher Beck
McKim Wines
Lockhart or Fish Glover
Saunders Pettigill or Blase
Fleming Gard
Watkins Darsie
Brant Dersie

The combined weight of the California scrum is 1,388 pounds, or an average of 173 1/2 pounds per man, to Stanford's combined total of 1,344 pounds, or an average per man of 168 pounds.

Both teams will play the 3-2-2 scrum formation and much will depend on the ability of the front rankers to get possession of the ball. The team gaining the ball can pretty near make the play and the sticky advance forward scramble is wanted there is nothing easier than for the back rankers to keep the ball locked up in the pack.

If on the other hand, the teams desire to play the open game, it is up to the back rank men to let the ball out to the fullback and for this individual to shoot the oval out to his backs and let them work out the salvation of the scoring.

The man to take the California fullback position is still to be named. Bogardus had no opportunity to show to real advantage in the game on Monday, but what he did under the circumstances was good. No one could form any opinion of any man's play under the conditions that existed in that sticky advance game made it impossible for the players to show their class.

Whether Bogardus is to be used at fullback remains to be seen. It is what Saturday will bring out in the way of weather will have considerable say in the filling of the position. Skinner, the freshman, is another lad who has been spoken of as a likely fullback, and there is a possibility that the coaches may use him on the team.

Down at Stanford the fullback position now seems settled. Helms Andrews played the game of his career this season against the Olympics and his work in that contest practically clinched the berth for him.

The consensus of opinion at Berkeley is that Hayes and Hunt will be selected for the three-quarter line for the Blue and Gold, and this trio will oppose Urban, Carroll and Reeves of the other side.

A slight doubt as to the final makeup of the Stanford back field. Captain Jimmy Thoburn has come back into harness and there is a possibility of his selection to play in the game. His injury has healed well enough for him to come out again, and from his work against the Olympics last Saturday, it looks good for him setting into the team.

FRESHMEN MAKING GOOD
Should Thoburn be used, it is not definite whether the coach will play him as a wing three-quarter or as five-eighths. He is a versatile lad and can be used to advantage in either position.

Lachmund, Patterson and Davidson are three freshmen fighting it out for a berth at five-eighths to accompany Charlie Austin, who can not be displaced from this position in front of the three-quarter line.

On the California five-eighth line there is also another possibility of a switch in case that Peart is used as a five instead of fullback. Should Peart go at fullback, Gianelli and Haseltine look the probabilities, but should the captain not be played there, it is on the cards that he will play the position with Haseltine.

Tilton looks to be the selection for halfback, with Erb making a final close fight for the position. Canfield does not seem to be bothered with an oversupply of opposition, though Montgomery has played some good games during the season.

Carney and De Oro Clash Tonight for Three Cushion Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A three game billiard series begins tonight, in which Alfred de Oro will defend his three cushion title against Joseph Carney of San Francisco.

The championship match will be played at Doyle's academy. De Oro has been putting in plenty of practice, and he and his friends are confident he will successfully defend his right to the Jordan Lambert trophy.

But Carney comes here with a great reputation as a three cushion player, and billiard followers will be surprised to see him defeat De Oro. In any event, the championship play promises to be interesting. They will play 50 points each night.

If Carney repeats his performance of last year against De Oro, the trophy will go back to the coast.

RIVAL ROOTERS PRAYING FOR A FAIR DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Charley Austin (left) and Otto Lachmund, two of the young Stanford hopes, who are figured on as starters in game Saturday. These lads have shown plenty of form in the preliminary contests.

Cardinal rooters are banking on these two lads to bring victory.

Pelkey Agrees to Box Gunboat Smith For Local Promoter

Promoter Jim Coffroth is hot on the trail of Arthur Pelkey and Gunboat Smith, and from present indications he will have the pair of "white hopes" in a ring in this vicinity within the next 90 days.

Coffroth had a wire from Tommy Burns, manager of Pelkey, in which he agreed to accept Coffroth's terms for a 20 round match with Smith. Coffroth has been working on Pelkey's end of it, and now that he has his acceptance, he feels confident that he will be able to land Smith.

As both men are considered to be the peer of the "white hopes," a meeting between them will likely determine who is the best of the white heavy weights.

Pelkey will box for 30 per cent of the receipts, and according to Coffroth, the match will be staged during January, probably at Daly City. Coffroth has still to hear from Buckley, but he counts on having the New Yorker already.

FAIR JUDGE SEVERELY CENSURED

By JOHN BRADSHAW

The management of the toy dog show was criticized for engaging Mrs. Morris Mandy to judge all breeds. With the exception of two breeds, Pomeranians and Pekingese spaniels, Mrs. Mandy was a disappointment, and if her name appeared in an eastern premium list, as judge of the breeds assigned to her at this show, the exhibitors would think it was a printer's error.

Mrs. Mandy was paid, I believe, $200 to judge the dog show, which really means that she was paid $200 to judge 24 Pomeranians and 10 Pekingese spaniels and practice on the remainder of the show.

If the Pomeranian and Pekingese fanciers wanted her, that was all right, but why force a judge upon the French bulldog and Boston terrier fanciers that doesn't know anything about their breeds? Boston terriers and French bulldogs were the second and third largest entries in the show.

If the club could not afford to bring out another eastern judge, it could have got some capable local judges to officiate and thus have avoided having things mixed up as they were. Too many show giving clubs have members that are interested in one breed and do not care what happens in other breeds, or who judges them, just so their favorite breed is judged correctly.

When a judge is engaged for any of our shows, I will in future, through the columns of The Call, keep the public informed as to the breeds they are familiar with, shows they have judged, etc.

Lowell Rooters Are Full of Confidence

Lowell students are highly excited over the coming Rugby game with Cogswell to be held at the park stadium at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

If Lowell can win, the Red and White will be in line to win their first football championship in eight years, 1906 being the last time that these footballers were awarded championship blocks.

Daily the Red and White team is working out at the park stadium, striving to strengthen the back field, which, although lighter than that which represents Cogswell, is one of the speediest in the San Francisco sub-league. Such stars as Bender, Conrado, Klerlein, Flynn and Hawkes are to be found in the scoring department of the Lowell team. The latter two especially have been using their speed to the advantage of their team.

Although Mission was not reckoned in the running in the basket ball field, a glance at the material that turns out for practice daily will wipe away that idea. Working with the veterans are a score of unknown but promising aspirants for positions on the five.

ANCIENT AX BROWN PUTS IN PARADE MEN OVER JUMPS TODAY

The annual ax rally will be held at California field this afternoon. This will be the first big event prior to the game and with fine weather will bring out practically the entire student body at Berkeley. The history of the famous ax will be recounted by various speakers, including Judge Everett Brown, who was one of the original California men instrumental in confiscating the precious ax from the Stanford hosts.

Student Body President Griffith has issued a call for the varsity men to assemble at 8 o'clock this afternoon and the students headed by the varsity band will march down to the bank vault at Berkeley and take the ax from its resting place. The parade will then head to the California field, where the ax will be shown to the bleacherettes and speeches delivered.

The ax rally has now become part and parcel of the tradition and history of the university. It was originally stolen from Stanford at one of the baseball games many years ago and every year a "custodian of the ax" is appointed at the rally similar to the one which is to take place this afternoon.

The custodian is always a baseball man, and he is made responsible for the safekeeping of the ax for the year to come. The rally is always an enthusiastic affair and rouses the students to their highest pitch of enthusiasm for the big football game.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 5.—The varsity men gave over the Stanford field to the blue and gold this afternoon for a workout. The lot was left entirely to the visiting players. There was not a Stanford man in sight during the California workout, and whatever secret practice Coach Schaeffer wanted to put his men through was not interrupted.

The California men departed on the 4:35 train for the city and as soon as they left the Stanford men came out and went at their usual work. Coach Brown put the backs through a series of stunts, passing and stopping rushes and kicking being the chief features. Andrews took the fullback position and practiced for long gains on the line with his punting. He showed accuracy in this department and got in some kicks that skimmed the line for long and effective gains.

Danny Carroll headed the scoring men of the back field and put them through some good passing work. Carroll is in great shape and on his ability Stanford is placing great reliance to open up the game. With Austin playing five-eighths to him the Stanford student body is satisfied that they have the nucleus of a back field that is going to cause the California men considerable annoyance.

Lachmund and Davidson are still fighting it out for the five-eighths berth. Both lads were put through some strenuous work by Coach Brown and the stopping of rushes by both was one of the features. Tilton and Erb were given a workout behind the scrum and the student body is still in the dark as to which will be behind the pack when the whistle blows.

Jimmy Wines, Peck, Blase and others of the crack forwards showed to advantage. Their lineup work showed improvement, and in the loose they are fast and effective. Gard and Dersie at breakaways are playing a great game, and their work showed them to be in great condition for the battle.

TUBE FIELD AIDS THE LOGGERS

Blue and Gold Kickers Enjoy a Good Workout at Palo Alto

The California varsity tried out the Stanford turf field yesterday afternoon and the coaches came back to the city with a smile of satisfaction on their faces.

Coach Schaeffer had 23 men in uniforms and they thoroughly enjoyed the change of conditions from the slow dirt field to the faster turf. The turf was in good condition though a little wet, but this did not materially interfere with the work. If anything, the greasy conditions of the ball gave the boys a thorough trial for what is to come.

Assistant Coach Cerf took charge of the back field and Schaeffer had the forwards in tow. The backs went in for a series of line kicking, passing and rush stopping. Cerf paid particular attention to Bogardus and Skinner, the two possibilities for fullback. Judging from the amount of time spent on these two men it looks as though one or the other will be used at full next Saturday afternoon. If this is the case Captain Peart will play the five-eighths position.

FORWARDS WORK FAST

In the workout of the back field behind the forwards Skinner was used as fullback and speculation on the final selection of the team had it doped out that this will be the lad to go into the game. The backs were: Skinner, fullback; Lane and Hunt, wing three-quarters; Gianelli, center three-quarter; Haseltine and Peart, five-eighths, with Canfield half back. The forwards went through a series of scrums, lineout work and dribbling. The lineout work was particularly good, the big blue and gold forwards showing great aptitude to haul the ball down. There was very little work of batting the ball back to the half or three, as has been the custom previously, the men being content to get the ball and put it down to their feet and break through the opposing line with a dribble.

Big Bill King, Fleming, Brant and Fenstermacher all showed to advantage in these lineouts, and these four men are going to be a big stone wall for the Stanford men to oppose.

BIG SQUAD ON JOB

The whole squad indulged in plenty of passing rallies, and, though there was no opposition to intercept or break up these rushes, the passing was good, clean and fast. Just how the team would go against opponents is, of course, another story. The backs showed different methods in their work than have been seen in the New Zealanders' tricks being tried with good results.

The blue and gold squad that made the trip yesterday was in charge of Assistant Manager Deering MacLise, Coach Schaeffer, Assistant Coach Cerf and Trainer Charlie Vois went along with the trip.

The 22 players who made the trip follow: Fenstermacher, Abrams, Hayes, Douglas, Haseltine, Skinner, Brant, Fish, Montgomery, Bogardus, Lockhart, Lane, Fleming, Crane, Hunt, Gianelli, King, Russell, Saunders, Captain Sterling, Peart, Canfield, McKim.

On the day of the game Graduate Manager Wilcox has decided to cover the field with straw. The idea was suggested by one of the All-Blacks, who was a visitor at the campus yesterday, and met with the instant approval of the Stanford manager.

Should the rain hold off and the sun design to shine, the precaution will be unnecessary, but the deal is a good one, and will give the teams a practically a dry field on the day of the game should any more rain pour forth.

Urges Postponement Of Olympic Games

Urging that the opening of the Olympic games in Berlin in 1916 be postponed for at least one week, James E. Sullivan, American Olympic commissioner, has planned to cable the German Olympic committee immediately.

The action of the German authorities in setting July 1 as the date for the first track and field events will prove a handicap for the American team, according to Sullivan.

"But the young men ain't much better, at that. Too much education, too much talk about the way they look, I'm raising an adopted son up on my farm near Obston. He's 10 years old. I was talkin' to him not long ago."

"Son, I says, 'if you want to make good in this world let the booze alone—let women alone until you feel like you want to get married; work hard at the job you're on, no matter what it is; don't get the fool notion in your head that you ought to go to college, and keep out of politics.'"

Veteran Horseman Dies in Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Anthony Licalzi, an old time horse owner and patron of sports, is dead at his home, 4741 Sheridan road. With the beginning of the enforcement of legislation against racing 10 years ago he was one of the first to realize that the sport, for a time at least, was doomed, and transferred his activities to other lines. At the time of his death he was operating fruit ranches near Montrose, Colo., and Riverside, Cal.

DEMAND FOR CHALMERS CARS

E. P. Brinegar Receives Telegram of Congratulation From Factory

E. P. Brinegar, president of the Pioneer Automobile company, was much gratified to receive the following telegram from Hugh Chalmers, president of the Big Chalmers organization:

"Shipped during October 1,111 automobiles, just 215 more than in any previous month of our existence. Orders continue at 35 to 40 daily. I congratulate and thank you and each member of your organization for your part in accomplishing this wonderful record."

"That the 1914 Chalmers 'Six' was destined to prove exceedingly popular," remarked E. P. Brinegar, "was the unanimous opinion of the many dealers and men high up in the motor car ranks who had the opportunity of inspecting this wonderful car before it was placed upon the market, but even these optimistic judges were surprised by the manner in which the automobile buying public has taken to this 'Master Six'."

In fact, right from the very start the 4914 Chalmers 'Six' has kept the dealers and distributors on the jump, to say nothing of the big Chalmers factory, which is putting forth every effort to produce just as many cars as it can consistently manufacture and still keep up the high standard of quality, which has so long distinguished the Chalmers product."

In order for the Climbers to get Carey, either by purchase or trade, it would first be necessary for the Pirates to obtain waivers on the players from the other clubs in the National league, but this, it is believed, could be done if Dreyfus, the Pirates' owner, was anxious to put through some sort of a trade.

Pirate Carey May Become a Senator

Max Carey, left fielder of the Pittsburgh National League club during the last season, may wear a Washington uniform next year, for it was learned that Manager Griffith was dickering for Carey and that the deal might go through.

Gotham Horse Show Draws Entries From Nations of Europe

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The International jumping competitions this year at the annual horse show will be the best since the start of the show in 1909. The show opens here on November 15. No less than seven countries will be represented in these competitions, and as the conditions require that the officers shall ride in the uniforms of their own country the scenes in the ring will be very attractive. This year Russia and Norway are to take part in these events with England, France, Belgium, Canada and the United States.

The United States has not been named. Colonel Henry T. Allen has charge of it. The names of the number of horses and the names of the officers to ride them, have been received by Secretary Hyde and it is expected that this week a definite announcement will be made of those who are to represent this country.

Hedges Declares He Will Not Sell Team

President Robert L. Hedges of the Brown promises all his players that he will refuse all offers to sell and will remain at the head of the club for the next 10 years, no matter how it fares in the league standing. The players in turn made the usual pledge of support.

POWER WAY MAKE NEW RECORD

Boston Runner Will Attempt Great Feat at Stanford Saturday Morning

The Stanford men are taking a keen interest in Powers' appearance on Saturday morning, and there is every indication that a big crowd will be on hand to witness the race.

Earle Crabbe, Zettle and Wright of the University of California have already entered the race, and it is possible that one or two other blue and gold men will start in the handicap event. Bobby Vlueth of St. Mary's college is expected to be a starter, and Dad Montford, the Stanford trainer, may have a couple of cardinal cracks in the event. Slim Wilson, who gave Power a race at the Portola, is a probable starter.

The Stanford men are taking a keen interest in Powers' appearance on Saturday morning, and there is every indication that a big crowd will be on hand to witness the race.

The University of California and stadium tracks have been put out of commission by the rains, and Power is unable to do any work locally. The Stanford track is in good condition, and, with every prospect of no further rains, he will have a good opportunity to get sock work for the balance of the week.

Alvah Meyer of the New York Irish-American Athletic club, who is to be the sprinter of the American team, left New York for Berkeley this morning. He will arrive here Sunday morning. Meyer is the present New York sprint champion and formerly held the American sprint title. Last year at Stockholm he took second to Ralph Craig in the 100 meters.

Reginald Caughy of Ukiah is due in the city on Friday morning, and will continue his work with the shot, hammer and discus until the day of sailing.

NEW WOMEN FAIL WITH JOHN L

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—"The modern woman"—John L. Sullivan's left first crashed down on his knee with a force that made the little blonde woman who sat looking at him in awe streek wonder jump—"I'm against 'em, dead against 'em."

"Too much society," the former pugilist growled. "Too much thinking about what other women think of, her looks and not enough about what her husband thinks of her character. Half the time they haven't got any husbands at that. Acholor girls, half my idea of nothing to be."

"Get me on this, too—we're going to have race suicide, sure as a black man loves cornbread and fat meat. Know why we're going to have it? 'Cause the ladies want to keep a stylish figure. It's getting so that if a man wants a family he's got to guarantee his wife he'll buy her a plaster of paris cast so she won't lose her shape."

"Now," he continued, "give me the old fashioned, girl, like I used to know when I was a youngster. I ain't sayin' anything about morals, mind you. I'm just talking about the way they look at things—at life."

"But the young men ain't much better, at that. Too much education, too much talk about the way they look, I'm raising an adopted son up on my farm near Obston. He's 10 years old. I was talkin' to him not long ago."
