

Delayed. Owing to the absence of our principal compositor, the Journal is one day later in making its appearance this week.

The Tea Party. The object of this entertainment was fully accomplished, said object being to raise a sum to complete the purchase of a new bell for the Presbyterian Church.

Fire. On Friday morning last, about half-past 12 o'clock, the alarm of fire was given, and upon proceeding in that direction, it was ascertained that the store of Mrs. Scanlon, occupied by a colored man, named Allison Hough, was on fire.

These and a kitchen attached were consumed, and the building belonging to the Bank of the State, occupied by Messrs. Shannon & Lining, Attorneys at Law, on the lower floor, and by Mr. Barfield on the upper.

The store occupied by Mr. S. A. Benjamin, was saved, although it was on fire at one time, by the exertions of the Camden Independents, principally.

On Wednesday of last week, a shooting affray occurred at the Kershaw House, between Mr. John A. Boswell and the proprietor, Mr. John W. Rodgers.

We learned the particulars of the affray, but deem it best to suppress them, out of consideration to Mr. Boswell.

Mr. Boswell drew his revolver and shot at Mr. Rodgers, the ball passing through his coat sleeve and grazing his arm.

Now that the heat of the late conflict has cooled and the great hearts of the people feel bitter with disappointment, we must remember our gallant leaders, and give them the assurance of our profound respect and esteem for the noble and self-sacrificing manner in which they gave their time and talents to the cause of South Carolina's redemption.

Hand in hand, for nearly four months they labored earnestly and ably, combating the prejudices and passions of both whites and blacks and seeking to win over to the party of reconciliation and peace, the deluded victims of Radicalism.

Stamped in heroic mould, the self-sacrifice of our leaders, in heading the "forlorn hope" of Reform, seemed to be nothing more than duty.

Accustomed to see their hopes defeated, this new defeat seemed to them but the beaten track, in which they had often before journeyed.

Yet they carry with them to the shades of private life the best wishes for their welfare, the kindest sympathies from all of Carolina's true citizens.

as so the policy to be adopted, at this crisis. We suppose, it would have us all think exactly in the same way, thereby exhibiting that lack of brains, for which it is so eminently distinguished.

It says, further, that "many of these journals in the first flush of their fierce disappointment," endeavored to "revive the 'white man's party'."

There is no use to deny this proposition, for the reason, that it will be repeated in precisely the same manner, reckless of truth.

But we are satisfied that none of the late Reform journals are so lost to every honorable sentiment as to go back upon the measures they advocated during the late canvass.

This is what the white people have done—nothing more. The Legislature. This body met in Columbia on Tuesday last. As yet, but little more has been done than organizing both houses, and the appointment of standing committees.

Those who wish to re-furnish their houses with Carpets, &c., and intend purchasing abroad, as well as merchants who wish to replenish their Steaks, will find a large assortment at the store of Mr. Geo. A. Bowman, Agent, whose card we publish to day.

Attention is directed to the sale of a portion of the valuable landed estate of the late James C. Doby, advertised to take place on the 5th of next month, in the city of Columbia.

Dear Journal: To a person whose life is principally spent amid the retirement of a small locality, even though surrounded by the classic shades of venerable Camden, the occasional view of a city is most enticing and improving.

Improving, as being the centre of commerce; one of the busy outlets to the world of trade, and the arena of many amusements, unknown to the countryman.

The people here, are fully alive to the importance of keeping up the reputation of their City, as one of the most interesting, and at the same time, wide awake business places which the country can afford.

To an unbiased mind, although not fully concurring in their enthusiastic views, there are signs of improvement and prosperity, which are encouraging to those interested in the welfare of our metropolis. The general appearance of the business houses and the opinion of their owners, indicate a growing confidence in the hope that though South Carolina, and Charleston particularly, have endured many and great trials, weathered many financial storms and writhed under the mal-administration of ill informed and malicious officials, she will yet be the main-stay of the State, as she was in the days of yore.

City and country, mutually dependent as they are, seem to yearn towards a more substantial prosperity than that feverish state in which both were thrown immediately after the late war, by the very high prices of produce. That unhealthy exuberance has been looped off, and is being succeeded by a slow, steady, aggressive growth, which, whilst it does not exhibit its good effects in any startling manner, will, with the lapse of time, organize a permanent system of healthy, vigorous prosperity, never before known in this good State. No argument is necessary to prove this, but we rely a trustworthy review of facts and figures.

Stamped in heroic mould, the self-sacrifice of our leaders, in heading the "forlorn hope" of Reform, seemed to be nothing more than duty. Accustomed to see their hopes defeated, this new defeat seemed to them but the beaten track, in which they had often before journeyed.

To the Women of the South. The undersigned earnestly appeal to the women of the whole South, to aid them in obtaining contributions for the erection of a monument at Richmond, which is to stand as a lasting memorial of the love borne our great Chief by a mourning and grateful people.

The fourth Sunday in November (November 27) has been selected as the day on which a collection shall be taken up in every church throughout Southern land. This is the possible way by which a voluntary and simultaneous offering can be made to the memory of him whom we would honor in death as we have honored and loved him in life.

To those clergymen and congregations who object to collecting for such an object on the Sabbath, we would suggest that they should appoint some suitable day in this month when a meeting of their congregation should be held and the collection taken up.

All contributions from South Carolina must be sent to Mrs. C. C. PINCKNEY, Chairman of the Ladies' Lee Monument Committee, Charleston S. C.

Mrs. WM. M. McFARLAND, Mrs. GEO. W. RANDOLPH, Mrs. JAMES LYONS, Mrs. WILLIAM BROWN, Miss NICHOLAS, Richmond, Va.

Messrs. Shannon & Lining beg leave for themselves and clients, to express their sincere and earnest thanks to their friends, white and colored, who rescued their property from the fire of Friday morning last.

The subscriber returns thanks to the Fire Department for their exertions in saving his property on the night of the late fire. Also to the community for the kind feeling expressed on the occasion.
