CLOSED UP.

Mr. James Jones has closed his doors and made an assignment to Mr. J. T. Hay for the benefit of his creditors.

SCARCE.

There has not been a circus, minstrel or concert troupe in Camden in over a year. The chronic growlers against such things ought to feel happy.

A CALL.

We are pleased to learn that our talented young townsman, Rev. Thos. P. Hay, has received a call to fill the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church at Aiken, S. C. We are satisfied that the congregation will be pleased with their selection, as he has met with great favor wherever he has officiated heretofore.

TRY IT.

A recent act of the Legislature imposes a fine of not less than $200 and imprisonment for not less than six months on any one convicted of carrying concealed weapons. If this law was carried into effect, the State Treasury would soon have money enough to pay off the debt, and there would not be one murder then where there are ten now. We would like to see it tried, whether it is successful or not.

BUNGLARY.

The DeKalb House bar was broken into and robbed on last Friday night. The thief gained an entrance by prizing up the sash by the side of the door on Broad street. A few dollars in money—small change—a box of cigars and some whiskey were taken. Mr. Peebles says he has very conclusive evidence as to who the thief is, and thinks he will soon have him in limbo.

SURPLUS SCHOOL FUND.

Mr. Joel Hough, County School Commissioner, has received a copy of the act in reference to the unexpended balance of the school funds of Kershaw County remaining in the hands of the Treasurer. The act authorizes him to use $500 of the amount for the school expenses of the present year. This amount the Commissioner has prorated among the several school districts in the county.

FRUIT.

A few of our citizens about town are paying a good deal of attention to grape culture this year, but other fruits seem to be forgotten altogether. Now is the best time to plant a young orchard, and in a few years it will begin to pay a revenue. There is always a market here for good fruit, and we believe that any one who would devote a little attention to it would make money. Will not some of our citizens take hold of it and see what can be done?

MARK IT DOWN.

The town authorities are having Laurens street, west of Monument Square, worked on. It is the first time the town has had the street repaired in about twenty years, though it has often needed work to make it passable, but the parties living there had to have it done themselves. We shall ever praise the present Independent and Council for this one improvement, among many others in different sections of the town that they have instituted during their term of office.

FOR POOR FOLKS.

The other day a seedy looking old negro was seen walking up Broad street with a watch chain dangling from his neck. Now, there was a ragged and mischievous looking negro boy who knew he had no watch, but thought to have a little fun out of the old man by asking him, when he arrived in the presence of several other colored individuals, what time of the day it was, thinking that the old fellow would be made to feel very cheap; but he was mistaken, for the old man answered thus: "Nigger, dar' de town clock; dat's put up dar' for po' folks. Don't bodder a gen' on wid your 'pert'nence when he's in company." The boy left without any further questions.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, 2nd Floor, N. Y. C.

FERTILIZERS.

The war on fertilizers continues to stir the farmers of our State, and we hope they will continue it until the price has been reduced to its proper level, proportionate with the price of other articles. We want to see the farmers of Kershaw meet in convention and endorse the resolutions of their brother farmers in the other counties of the State, declaring that they will not purchase any fertilizers at the present exorbitant price, and also demand that they be reduced at least 25 per cent. This can be done, and then leave a large profit for the manufacturer. The move must be made at once, or it may be too late. The farmer can much easier afford to do without the fertilizers than than the manufacturer can afford to hold them.

TRAIN BEHIND TIME.

On last Saturday night the train did not arrive until about 11 p. m. The Camden branch is the poorest equipped of any road in the State, it receiving nothing but the old cast off engines and cars of the main line. There is but one train a day, and it has to deliver freight at all the stations on its way up, thus putting it behind time nearly every day. Captain Gilbert and his hands deserve great praise for getting along as well as they do with the old broken down stock they have to work with. We believe the Camden branch pays better than any other piece of road of the same length in the State, and we think it is a shame that the people here have to submit to such treatment by the railroad officials.

ATTEMPTED BRIBERY.

A few days ago Mr. Joel Hough, School Commissioner of Kershaw County, was approached by a sable Republican who asked for a certificate to allow him to teach in the public schools, and Mr. Hough referred him to the Board of Examiners. He said he could not stand the examination, but that Mr. Hough could give him the certificate if he wanted to, and he (the darkey) would make it all right with him. The Commissioner told him that that day had passed, and any one who received a certificate from him would first have to stand the examination and receive the recommendation from the Board. The nigger then looked blank enough, and seemed to realize that the day for rascality had indeed passed.

The following is a list of the letters remaining in the post office here, and uncalled for: Waymond Adamson, R. H. Doby, M. D. Fisher, Rev. B. Joyner, Miss D. V. McKay, Edmond Polke, Marcus Pickett, Mrs. N. M. Roper, Mrs. Harriet Warren, W. C. Yates.

PERSONAL.

We are glad to see that Capt. J. K. Witherspoon has so far improved in health as to be up and out again.

Bishop Howe, of the Diocese of South Carolina, preached at the Episcopal Church last Sunday morning and evening.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. J. W. Rodgers, formerly of the DeKalb House here, but now living in Columbia, is very sick with pneumonia.

BREVITIES.

To-morrow is St. Valentine's day.

The elm trees around town are budding out.

Out West they call hanging artificial diphtheria.

Plant Irish potatoes now, and sow early cabbage seed.

A candidate is never tickled when the voters scratch him.

There is not a lawyer in either house of the Delaware Legislature.

A liberal old gent in Pike, Ga., offers a maiden $50,000 to wed him.

Fruit trees and grape vines should be planted without further delay.

Out West they call the pine boxes used to bury tramps in bum-shells.

The trees on DeKalb street are being trimmed, and the mistletoe is all taken off.

An exchange says that South Carolina will have more brains than legs in the Senate.

They mad some folks will be to-morrow when they get one of those comic valentines.

The upper part of Broad street is being put in good repair by the town authorities.

The New York Sun says that the fool can get valentines there this year costing as much as $500.

The "dry ticket" recently won in the municipal election in the town of Greenwood, Abbeville County.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Capt. J. C. Rollings. He has first-class fertilizers for sale.

The aggregate term of the sentences passed upon the prisoners convicted last week amounts to 27 years.

The comic valentine is said to be the most fashionable this season, and only the fool gets angry at receiving one.

A handsome woman pleases the eye, but a good woman pleases the heart.

The eye is a jewel, the other a treasure.

An exchange remarks that Grant's friends are going back very rapidly into the United States Senate and the penitentiary.

Farmers will do well to plant plenty of corn this year. It is now selling for seventy-five cents per bushel in this market.

The tomahawk was first buried, and the Indian now uses a first-class rifle in slaughtering a white man. Another step forward.

The Augusta folks are going wild over Modjeska. One fellow, to show her his appreciation, presented her with a pet alligator.

Mrs. J. D. Walker, of Lancaster County, recently killed a hawk that measured four feet four inches from tip to tip of its wings.

The Augusta News says the Atlantesse are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Modjeska-Bozenta-Nickle-plated-Car-Combination to put in an appearance.

Last week the grand jury surprised several parties around Camden who were consoling themselves that they would not be thought of. Nicodemus was waked up.

We would call attention to the advertisement in another column, of the sale of goods remaining in the store of George Alden. Great bargains are to be had by calling there at once.

Sam Lee, the notorious Radical negro of Sumter, was indicted last week by the grand jury, but when the constable went to look him up it was found that he had left for parts unknown.

Some of our young men wear such high collars that a stranger who was in town the other day took them for the "end men" in a minstrel troupe as they peeped over the "ear-outters."

Louis Passet, a young farmer living near Upper Sandusky, Ohio, on the 6th instant shot himself through the heart on account of the death, the day previous, of his wife whom he had recently married.

Mr. J. J. Mackey, in the Greenville convention of farmers, said he could not understand how it was that 20,000 tons of phosphate rock ground in Charleston last year could make 125,000 tons of fertilizers.

The Secretary of State has three agents traveling over the State constantly making collections from the settlers on the lands purchased by the famous Land Commission. They are paying up with moderate promptness.

Two fashionable young ladies in St. Paul, Minn., to win a wager of a fine silk dress, drove a cow through the principal street of the city. One led the cow and the other drove it. We wonder if any of the girls in Camden would do the same thing for a silk dress.

It is said that money is so plentiful in New York that holders cannot let it out at more than 4 and 5 per cent.—that is, and get good security. We don't think the people of this section would mind it if some were set afloat in this direction.

The Circuit Court.

FOURTH DAY.

The Court met promptly at 10 a. m., and resumed the case of the State vs. J. F. Sutherland for bastardy. Mr. Hay had concluded his argument and was followed by Capt. W. L. DePass, who, we candidly say, made an argument powerful, effective and unanswerable. Solicitor Abney, with his usual cool, but forcible manner, approached the jury and made what we thought a regular stinger. He did all that could be done, but the facts of the case did not sustain the charge, and after a careful exposition of the law by his Honor, the jury retired at 7 p. m., and remained until 4 o'clock the next morning. There was a hitch somewhere, but right finally, as it always will, prevailed, and a verdict of not guilty was rendered.

FIFTH DAY.

The next case called was that of the State vs. Moses Small, indicted for murder. A number of witnesses were examined, and an interest deep and profound was manifested by the entire Court House. Messrs. Leitner & Dunlap and J. D. Kennedy represented the defense, and upon the part of the State Messrs. DePass and Trantham appeared, the Solicitor having made the opening speech. We cannot dwell upon upon the great eloquence and power exhibited by all of the speakers. We can only say that ability, earnestness and beauty of language, fortified by all the law possible upon both sides was given, and none of the gentlemen upon either side failed to fully discharge their duty. The case was given to the jury at 4 p. m., and shortly after they returned with a verdict of manslaughter. The next and most interesting case was that of the State vs. Joseph Green, the man who made Capt. Burdell ride as fast as John Gilpen, with an indubitable amount of aliases; and really we would have been delighted to have had there to have drawn his picture, not only physically, but that too of a new fledged lawyer. His black snake eye, his white teeth in broad grin, his indifference to all that was around him, showed that he was nothing more nor less than a venomous reptile. He was smart and Messrs. Abney and Clarke, who conducted the case, enjoyed his performance in the play hugely although they knew that his guilt deprived them of having, even in any shape, a foe man worthy of their steel. "Guilty," from the jury, was quickly rendered, and the scoundrel received it with as much complacency as a girl would a beautiful bouquet in the balmy month of May.

Next, and last, was that of Jake Paterson. J. W. DePass, with solicitor Abney were the prosecutors, and a verdict against the prisoner soon showed that he, too, was to go to the penitentiary.

This cleared the criminal docket, and his Honor proceeded to sentence the prisoners that evening, as follows:

Owen Mills, highway robbery—two years in the penitentiary, at hard labor.

Ben Love, grand larceny—two years in the penitentiary, at hard labor.

Jake Patterson, grand larceny—two years in the penitentiary, at hard labor.

Richard Carter, grand larceny—two years in the penitentiary, at hard labor.

Moses Small, manslaughter—three years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

Stokes' Bridge Items.

The work of preparing for the coming crops is being performed with the activity usual to this part of the country. The young out and wheat crop was not injured to any extent by the freezes, and now looks fine. The usual amount of cotton will be planted.

With but few exceptions the farmers here have decided that it will not pay to use fertilizers at the prices now asked. A meeting of farmers and grangers is called to be held at the Court House on the 12, for the purpose of taking organized action against the prices asked by the guano men. Every portion of the county will be represented, and I feel safe in saying that unless a concession is made, very little commercial fertilizers will be used here this year. We, of this neighborhood, are rather indifferent about the matter, any way; and it might prove a profitable experiment to discard the use of guano and pay more attention to home made manures.

The tax collector has been around after delinquents, and there are some men in this community who now wish they had paid their taxes a little sooner. The back of a tax execution is dotted all over with figures, which stand for extra costs.

Mr. Charley Bruce, now of your town, was through here not long since with a drove of mules and horses. He sold several to our neighbors. When Charlie talks horse to you and begins to take those long steps, like he was measuring off a task for a freedman, 'tis sure to convince you that you are getting a good bargain.

The hog cholera has made its appearance, and our people are uneasy. If you will publish a sure cure for this disease, we will send you a bushel of fine sweet potatoes and all the sausage we have left.

Marriages out here this season have been about in proportion to the population. As the event will no doubt come off before your paper reaches us, I will state that quite an interesting affair of a matrimonial nature will take place on the 13th instant, at the residence of Mr. J. Edward Woodham, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. R. Sidney Kelley and Miss Lanie, eldest daughter of Mr. J. E. Woodham. These two young people have many friends here, who will wish them a long life and continued happiness. Another marriage on the same day is whispered, but as it is to be a "stealing," and the young man might be caught, I will not call names now.

While fishing in the creek the other day, Mr. Stephen Woodham got a 'bit' and thought he had hooked a big fish. After pulling at his prize a short time, his line was cut and a large otter came to the top of the water, trying to get the hook out of his mouth with his fore paws. W. W. J. February 7th, 1879.

A Preacher's Idea of the Future of This Earth.

One Sunday night recently, at the Cambria street Philadelphia Methodist Church, Rev. L. B. Hughes preached on the future of the earth. His theory was, that at the last judgment, the world, which, as the scriptures say, is to be destroyed by fire, is not to be annihilated, but, rather that, under the action of fire, its present form will merely undergo a change. He argued that the language of prophecy and the whole tenor of the scriptures pointed to this idea, and that it was impossible to believe that this earth, which God himself declared to be good, and upon which the Saviour lived and died, should be entirely given over to the flames. The transformation of the old earth into a new earth would, so the preacher argued, take place after the day of judgment. The new earth will be as firm as the present one, and with the same heavenly dome spread over it. Beauty would delight the eye, music attract the ear, and there would be blissful intercourse between man and man. There would be green hills, majestic mountains, fertile fields, fruit-bearing trees, flowing streams, fragrant flowers—over a clear, bright sky, an ever shining sun, with all the materialism which sense sees in the present, but without the sensualities that in create and impress on our present existence. In short, it will be the present earth, so renewed and regenerated that it will appear in all the graces of its first formation. "This," said the preacher, "will be Paradise Regained."

Our Tenure of Life

Depends in great measure upon our regard for or neglect of the laws of health. If we violate them we cannot expect to "make old bones." But that the span of existence allotted to a naturally delicate constitution, or one which has been shaken by disease may be materially lengthened, is a fact of which we have daily proof. The vivifying and restorative influence of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters upon a falling physique affords a striking illustration of the power of judicious medication to strengthen the hold of life. Restored digestion, complete assimilation, renewed appetite, sound repose, these are among the benefits conferred the debilitated by that supreme renovator. With a circulation enriched, a frame invigorated and a nervous system tranquilized, the invalid feels that his life-tenure is no longer the precarious thing that it was—that he may yet enjoy a "green old age."
