Frosty mornings. Battle of the ballots next. Winter won't be long in coming.

Hallowe'en parties are being arranged. Thanksgiving proclamations are about due.

The new paving on Mill street is fully appreciated. Prospects of a big vote being polled in Montour County.

Never mind the chilly breezes; misadventures will soon be ripe. The time is now approaching for the politicians to smoke up.

The revival session will soon be on in the rural settlements. This is the season of foot ball immortals—and immortalities.

Squire Ellis, of Exchange, one of Montour's staunchest Democrats, spent several days in this city.

These are days when many men take dinner at restaurants in order to avoid a job at carpet cleaning or erecting stove pipes.

For their excellent work exhibited at the World's Fair, the Bloomsburg Normal School has been awarded a silver medal.

A little rain in Manchuria now and then appears to be a pretty good thing. Fish and game warden should not be respecters of persons.

The first snow storm of the season visited Jamison City Saturday morning when a real snow storm greeted the residents of that section.

Have you paid the ice tax on all you own him? If not, better hold back the last installment and use it to get a good start with the coal pirate.

The long string of medals awarded for Pennsylvania's exhibit at the St. Louis fair cannot fail to be a matter of pride to the State's citizens.

The caving in of a sewer at Berwick on Friday broke water and gas mains and interfered with telephone and electric light and trolley car service.

Mrs. Edward Fisher, of Rushtown, who on Monday was butted by a bull, yesterday was reported as being much improved. Her sprained arm will bother her for some time, however.

A freight train consisting of 136 cars, was pulled from Sunbury to Williamsport, on the Pennsylvania Railroad the other day by a single engine. This breaks all records for long freight trains.

"The smart set" of Sunbury and vicinity are already talking about the Tenth Annual Assembly of the American Club of that city, which will be held in the armory, Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday, November 23rd.

C. K. Sober, the famous Union county chestnut grower and crack shot, has sent Governor Pennypacker a large bagful of the finest chestnuts ever grown in Pennsylvania. They were from his cultivated trees.

Three new rural delivery routes are soon to start out from the Bloomsburg post office to take in Pleasant and Montour townships and the part of Center and Scott townships now taken in by Light Street and Berwick.

N. Elmer Sidler, of Valley township, who has been so seriously ill from an attack of blood poisoning resulting from a scratch inflicted by a wire, was a visitor in this city yesterday, having partially recovered.

Mrs. Lizzie Whitmer and son James, of Dalmatia, and Miss Bessie Morgan, one of Sunbury's winsome and attractive young school maids, spent several days with Mrs. Lutz, on Bloom street.

Simon Hoffman, candidate for county treasurer, was the first on the list to give us a friendly call. Saturday he and County Chairman Blue were in to see us and contract for a little printing.

NEARLY THREE CENTURIES OLD

Three violins valued at thousands of dollars are owned by T. A. Schott, a well known coal dealer of this city, who talks interestingly of the history of his musical treasures and the assiduous care he has used in keeping the rare old instruments faultless and mellow in tone. Nearly three centuries old is the remarkable record of some of the violins.

The oldest violin was made in Italy away back in 1600. The second is a genuine Stradivarius made in 1720. The violins were brought to America by Mr. Schott's grandfather, Anthony Schott, in 1785, from France, when they passed into the possession of Joseph Schott, an uncle of the Danville man and from him to their present owner. It took Mr. Schott several years to get them together and in perfect condition in which he has his collection. The third instrument of the collection is a cello thirty 189 years old. Mr. Schott has recently proving the age and make of each instrument, estimating that the total value of the collection is $25,000.

Each violin reposes in a specially lined case of the finest workmanship. The owner explains that the purpose of such extreme care is to protect the pores of the wood, keeping the violins rich and mellow. Mr. Schott has made violins himself. One he connected with the use of a pocket knife taking months to complete it, and he knows every phase of the treatment of the violin requires.

He has been offered large sums for single instruments, but he will not break his historic collection, which he says if ever sold will go only to one purchaser.

While Russia APOLOGIZES LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Russian reply to Great Britain's note on the subject of the North Sea boundary has been received by the British government. It expresses deep regret at the occurrence and promises full reparation so soon as an official report is received from Vice Admiral Benetevsky.

The reply was received by Ambassador Benetevsky during the night and was forwarded to Foreign Secretary Lansdowne in the shape of a formal letter, in which the Ambassador, waiting on cable instructions from St. Petersburg, gave the above assurances adding that while the Russian government at the time of declining to settle without official knowledge from its own sources of the occurrence in the North Sea, it feels so certain that an error that it wishes at once to express its regard and assures the British government that full compensation will be made as soon as the details are received.

A reply in identical language was expected to be handed to Ambassador Harding at St. Petersburg today.

Two Flagrant to Be Explained Say Japs TOKIO, Oct. 26.—A Japanese official in commenting on the sinking of the cruiser Orange in the North Sea by the Russian submarine No. 5, says that the act is beyond the capacity of comprehension of the ordinary sea mind.

"The vessel attacked," the paper continues, "were harmless sailing boats belonging to a neutral power, and to indulge in such a flagrant violation of international usage is only possible with one holding nothing in common with civilized people."

"The act is too flagrant to be explained as a mistake and does not belong to the category of the Japanese flagrant act against Russia."

The Japanese official says that to illustrate other illegal acts of Russia against neutral, it pronounces that the crowning act of an atrocious well known inhumanity, and declares that the Russians "completely lack a sense of humanity, an attribute of enlightened minds."

Officers Chosen at Convention. At the bi-county Christian Endeavor Convention at Light Street, Sunday evening, Hon. J. M. Hinkle, of Danville, made an able address on Nehemiah. John M. Kansas is the duck hunters' paradise this Fall, fifty thousand of the wild fowl having been killed since the season opened. At that rate the State can not long lay claim to its celestial honors. Hunters are too prone to snatch the joys of the present without a thought for future sport. Game laws are doing much to remedy this evil, but the vanished big-game birds of the West also once called the States' paradise has a lesson to take to heart.

John Wannamaker has again been chosen president of the State Sabbath School Association. Thomas H. Murray Esq., of Clearfield, has been chosen first vice-president.

KILL YOUR HUSBANDS IF THEY'RE PAST 35

—Mother Jones.

Addressing Miners, Woman Organizer Attacks Carnegie for Age Decree. Mahanoy City, Pa., Oct. 25.

"Mother" Jones, in addressing a mass meeting of miners and their wives here to-night, said: "If there are any women present whose husbands are more than 35 years old, let them get busy and kill them quick. Andrew Carnegie, the commercial cannibal, now on his way here from Skibo Castle, in Auld Reekie has decreed that men are unfit for employment after they have reached that age."

WHY WE OPPOSE ROOSEVELT. Had Mr. Roosevelt conducted his Administration on purely American lines this paper would not be heard in protest against his election. We are not politicians. There is but one cause that we hold dear in our hearts. It is Irish nationality. Therefore we are in this contest not for factional purposes, but in pursuance of a long settled policy to further Irish aspirations by every means in our power.

When the State Department at Washington becomes an appendage of the London Foreign Office, we fling ourselves with our whole heart against its perpetrators. We are not Saxon nor Anglo-Saxon. With all our souls we oppose Anglo-American unity.

Roosevelt, the man, concerns us not at all. What care we whether he be the father of many children or of none! What care we whether he is in the skirmish at Santiago against Spaniards or in a skirmish in New York against saloon-keepers!

He may think the Irish make good policemen, or that Catholics are not necessarily traitors; he may have tolerated Addicks and Quay or he may flit with the devil; he may be President of the Nation in fact as much as Old Bill Governor-Chancellor, both in fact and in name.

We repeat, we are not in politics to approve or disapprove of these things. But we will fight to the last ditch while he retains John Hay. We will fight to the last carriage while he allies himself with England. We will do battle for his enemies. We will oppose the Anglo-Saxon power before the world.

The power of England will never grow less while the diplomacy of England directs the State Department's policy at Washington. Let every Irish man who supports Roosevelt get the full length while he is at it. Let him sing "Rule Britannia" as he drops his ballot in the box. Let him blot out from his memory the centuries of struggle and all the blood and treasure that have been spent in opposing English domination. Let him forget never the land of his ancestors and cease the memory of Emmet and Wolfe-Tone.

We repeat it, Roosevelt the man is nothing to us, Roosevelt with Hay and the policy of Hay and the increasing prestige of England through Republican success, these and these only make us take sides.—The Gaelic American.

Boom Danville. There is nothing too good for Danville. Every citizen should keep that thought constantly in mind. Now that the town is being improved in so many ways, let us get after some new industry. We should never rest on our laurels but keep on the move for more industries, more business. There is more game to be bagged if we seek for it diligently and keep our powder dry.

Dream of a greater Danville, think of a greater Danville, write for a greater Danville, talk of a greater Danville and work for a greater Danville. It is every business house would have its stationery printed with the advantages of Danville set forth prominently at the head, stating railroad facilities; desirable locations, cheapness of fuel, solid financial institutions, etc., it would probably reach a larger number of people than any other method. Every letter sent out would be a boon for the city and constant booming will have its effect. Boom Danville at all seasons and in all places and to all people. Boom Danville.

GORGED BY AN ANGRY BULL

Mrs. Edward Fisher, of Rushtown, Monday forenoon narrowly escaped being gored to death by an angry bull. She was lured severely by the maddened brute and only the fact that the animal had no horns and help was near saved her. As it was she was painfully injured and sustained a great shock from the terrifying experience.

The attack of the bull took Mrs. Fisher totally unawares and she had no chance to get away. The bull charged to the front and again, knocking her to the ground and attacking her each time before she could arise. A pole was chained around the brute's neck. In trying to grasp this to keep the bull from going her Mrs. Fisher badly sprained one of her arms.

The woman was in an extremely dangerous and distressing position when her husband came to her rescue, just in the nick of time. He belabored the bull with a heavy club and finally drove it off so he could assist his wife to a place of safety. Scarcely was the animal that it even cleaned the barn of the woman and paved the ground widely.

Dr. Smith, of South Danville, was called to attend Mrs. Fisher. He found her suffering from severe bruises especially on the stomach, and one of her arms is sprained but he does not think that her condition is dangerous.

Postal Books for the Public. General postal information for the public is published in a very comprehensive little book being sent to the post offices of the country by the Post Office Department, office of the third assistant postmaster general. The following instructions given the postmaster also enlighten the public as to the way in which to get possession of the book.

Signed by Edwin C. Madden, third assistant postmaster general, the order to postmasters reads as follows: "Under authority of an act of Congress a pamphlet of general postal information has been issued. It contains the classification, conditions and postage rates for domestic and foreign mail matter. It is for free distribution to the public through postmasters. No copies will be supplied direct to the public from the Department.

"A supply of this pamphlet will be sent to each postmaster as soon as practical. It is unnecessary for any postmaster to apply for his initial supply. Proper economy must be observed in the distribution and all waste must be avoided. As nearly as practicable, one copy to each family and each business establishment within a postal district should be sufficient. They should be served from the stamp windows of the main office and principal stations, and on request only.

"In Summertime Down by the Sea" This is the title of a new and magnificent Song and Chorus written by Alfred J. Doyle, with a remarkably pretty Waltz Chorus.

This song will surely be admired by everybody.

CHORUS. In Summertime, down by the sea, The only real place for me, Taken ride on a trolley, get there before dark, Take your sweetheart to dreamland or Luna In Summertime, down by the sea, Park the place where we like to be; Where the breeze softly blows, And where every one goes, In Summertime, down by the sea.

PRICE 10 CENTS PER COPY. Any sending 19 cents in postage stamps to the THEATRICAL MUSIC SUPPLY CO., No. 44 West 28th Street, New York, a copy will be sent post paid.

State to Build Bridge. The Dauphin County Court has overruled the exceptions of the Attorney General in the matter of rebuilding the Catawissa river bridge and has directed that the bridge be rebuilt by the Commonwealth.

The Columbia County Commissioners are of the opinion that the above decision of the Dauphin County Court may possibly mean an entirely new bridge at Catawissa. This would seem to be implied, they say, by the fact that the opinion dismisses the Attorney General's exceptions to the viewers' report, which, it will be remembered, called for an entire new and stronger bridge with two additional piers.

Twenty Children in Twenty-Four Years. New York, Oct. 24.—"How many does this make?" replied Emanuel Leidesdorff, in response to a question to-day. "Let's see. Nineteen; no, twenty. That's right, twenty."

Mr. and Mrs. Leidesdorff have been married twenty-four years.

BONES OF PREHISTORIC MONSTER UNEARTHED. Petrifed Skeleton, Dug Up Near Susquehanna, Will Go to Lehigh University. Susquehanna, Pa., Oct. 24. While workers were excavating for a cellar at Red Rock they unearthed the petrified bones of an animal estimated to have been sixteen feet long.

The body lay head downward on a shelf under a projecting rock. The left foreleg was missing. A hind leg had been broken off at the knee, but the foot was found under the root of a tree nearby. Lime water falling on the bones had turned them to stone.

The outlines of the body were perfect. On a soft rock footprints as large around as a half bushel measure were found. The teeth were six inches around.

The bones will be sent to Lehigh University.

Some one has described a cigarette as a small roll of paper, tobacco and drugs, with a little fire at one end and a big fool at the other. Some of its chief enjoyments are condensed night mare, fits, cancer of the lips and stomach, spinal meningitis, softening of the brain, funeral procession and a family sitting in gloom.

Agents of the Mikado Study Coal Mining. Noted Japanese Engineers Ask Multitude of Questions in Pennsylvania Colliery. Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 24. The Cameron Colliery was visited to-day by Kuchiri Takagi and Tsunema Kuroda, eminent Japanese mining engineers, sent by their Emperor to learn how anthracite collieries are kept dry.

The visitors were given a warm welcome by officials and miners, and took many notes in addition to asking scores of questions regarding the construction and movement of the pumps which forced water from the sumps to the surface.

The Japs seemed highly impressed with the machinery. They conversed fluently in English, and thought the method of getting the coal to the surface was of the most advanced kind.

Parker Will Win. General Nelson A. Miles, in an interview at Boston, said: "Judge Parker's vote will not only equal Bryan's vote, but all indications point to his running far ahead of the ticket of 1900. In some States I think he will even exceed the vote for Mr. Cleveland, and that should forecast Democratic success."

Baby's Nose Bitten Nearly Off by Rat

ELLEFFONTE, Oct. 26.—A very rare occurrence took place here Monday night as a result of which a child might get lose its life. Howard Sneed, driver on William Lyon's summer wagon resides in what is known as Pike alley, a row of tenement houses. Last night he and his wife went to bed and took with them their child, about four months old. The child lay between the parents and during the night, sometime toward morning, began to cry, awakening the father, who at once sought to quiet her. Having succeeded, he went to sleep again. A short time afterwards the child began to cry again, even harder than before. Thinking something was seriously wrong the father this time got up and struck a light. On going to the bed he saw blood on the pillow and making a close examination found that a large rat had bit off nearly all of the child's nose and had eaten a deep hole in its forehead. A physician was summoned and cleaned the wounds to keep blood poisoning from setting in. The house is located among stables and the place is infested with rats. They ran all over the house and one night thirty-three of them were caught in a trap. The little child is still in a precarious condition.
