

GOING TO DIE.

That Seems to be the Sad Condition of the President of the Republic.

Special dispatch to the Chronicle.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16, 10 a. m.—At this hour the alarming symptoms which characterized the illness of the President yesterday and last night have subsided to a marked degree, and he seems to be improving. At 7 a. m. he woke, and for a few minutes experienced a slight nausea. This, however, did not affect his pulse perceptibly. At 4.30 he was sleeping soundly, and his pulse was becoming stronger every minute. The relapse was caused by trouble of the stomach, and has been looked for from the first as a probable complication. The doctors are very strongly reassured everywhere this morning for allowing the President to eat Bernadine onions in vinegar and drink strong coffee. They are very apprehensive, but hope, which very nearly died out last night, is again revived. Dr. Ryburn says they have reason to think that the trouble of the stomach has been covered. At present his pulse is 119, temperature 98.8, respiration 19. No decided change is considered probable for a day or two. Have just seen the Postmaster-General who is decidedly hopeful, and thinks things will yet be all right. J. F. R.

AN OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 2.30 p. m.—The last bulletin has cast a gloom over the affairs of the executive mansion, and the greatest anxiety prevails. The change which has occurred is even noticeable in the expression and conversation of Private Secretary Brown, who has, from the first, entertained the most sanguine opinion that the President would recover. The extreme quiet which prevails the mansion, even in the offices occupied by the clerical force, is almost oppressive. Conversations are carried on in monotonous and a general feeling of anxiety and actual alarm is plainly perceptible. The most sanguine are apparently fast losing hope, and others may be seen leaving the mansion with a look of despair upon their countenances. Rev. F. D. Parker, the pastor of President Garfield's church, was observed during the afternoon perusing a volume containing an account of the President's life. In conversation upon the outlook, the pastor expressed himself as feeling as though the present crisis was the commencement of the end. Mrs. Garfield is said to be as cheerful as circumstances will allow, and she also entertains strong belief that her husband will recover. Dr. Agnew is quoted as having said this afternoon that the patient was no weaker than he was yesterday and that there was no reasonable chance for his rallying. This statement, however, was not obtained in a direct manner. Whatever may be said, there is no denying that the case is extremely critical at the present moment, and unless a favorable change occurs within a short time it may prove fatal. THURSDAY MORNING.

THE WEALTHIEST COLORED MAN IN GEORGIA.

His name is Henry Todd and he lives at Darien, in that State. When a youth his master died and left him his freedom as a reward for his faithful attention during his slaveholder's last sickness. Young Todd was so esteemed by the family that they insisted on his remaining in their employ and paid him a handsome salary. He was a sort of assistant overseer on the plantation. By the kindly aid of white friends he soon became a landowner, and then a prosperous farmer. Henry Todd soon had enough money to hold slaves himself, and he purchased several as a matter of economy. When the Confederacy fell he lost twenty negroes and some money in Confederate bonds. This severe blow was in a measure counteracted by his good fortune, having on hand a crop of cotton which then demanded 50 cents a pound. After the war he continued his farming operations, but also engaged in the lumber business. His remarkable success continued, and to-day he owns two large lumber mills and exports very extensively. He is sixty-five years old and has an excellent education. He is worth $100,000 in good investments. He lives in a neat country home, surrounded by a family of five children, who enjoy the luxuries of life. Every summer they leave the coast and spend the hot months at a house which they own in one of the cool mountain nooks of North Georgia. Henry Todd has carefully kept from active participation in politics, though he has frequently been solicited to be a candidate. His example is in every way healthy for the negroes of Georgia. He is public spirited and generous, giving freely to charitable objects he has educated his children well and will leave them rich.

KING COLE IN GEORGIA.

Georgia Legislature Grants Him a Charter for Extension.

The passage of the bill Thursday granting the Cole charter, by such an overwhelming majority as 134 to 25, is not remarkable when the argument of the cases are considered, but it is a gratifying result. The enemies of the bill have been able, after weeks of bitter opposition to rally no more than twenty-five votes, in a house of 175 members, is the best proof of the weakness of their cause. We doubt if there has been a debated question on which the public opinion was so overwhelmingly one way, as in the granting of this charter. We are sure that there has never been a question in which the welfare of the State was more deeply involved—and there will be a general feeling of relief that the attempt to bar capital and enterprise out of Georgia has failed so egregiously. It is said by those who ought to know that the bill did even better in the senate than it did in the house, but its friends should remember that twenty-three votes are necessary to pass the bill. In a thin Senate a very few negative votes would kill it. It is due the gentlemen interested in the great enterprise covered by this charter that there should be no necessary delay in the senate. The bill has been so thoroughly discussed that its ever features is familiar to both houses, and it should be acted on as promptly as is consistent with the convenience of the Senate and the interest of the States—Atlanta Constitution.

TEXAS CONTAINS 151 COUNTIES, MORE THAN ANY OTHER STATE IN THE UNION.

Georgia comes next with 137. Kentucky has 117, Missouri 115, Virginia 105, Illinois 102, Iowa 99, and Tennessee and North Carolina 94 each. As a rule the Southern States have more counties than the Northern States. The new count will be clearly visible to the naked eye on the 21st. Make your engagements at once boys. CHATTANOOGA expects a regular festival over their laughing on September 2nd.

APPALLING ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday, N. Y., Aug. 15.—A terrible accident occurred on the Grand Trunk railway at 3.30 o'clock this morning, which resulted in the instant death of the engineer, the serious wounding of the fireman and baggage master, express messengers and various injuries to a number of passengers. The train was the ten p. m. express from Montreal to Toronto, and consisted of six sleepers, four first and two second class cars, and the postal, express and baggage cars.

The cars were filled with returning excursionists from Montreal, who were nearly all asleep. The train arrived at Preston Junction on time, and the Ottawa sleeper was there attached to it. After leaving Preston there is a downgrade and soon the train was going fast. An obstruction was encountered and the locomotive jumped the track, carrying the tender, baggage, mail, express, smoking and two passenger cars with it. They ran on this fully a thousand yards, when the engine went down the embankment. The tender passed by, and together with the express car, landed on the other side of the track. The baggage car, still further on, was thrown off along the side of the fence. In fact every car except the sleepers were thrown upside down. The express car was smashed into kindling wood, while nothing remains of the tender but a few pieces of iron. It is truly wonderful how passengers escaped instant death. When the passengers recovered from their fright, search was made for those who occupied the forward cars. The engineer, John A. Howarth, of Montreal, was found with his arm around the whistle, the rope of the locomotive having blown for breaks twice before he met his death. He was a terrible sight. The fireman, Wm. Taylor, of Montreal, was discovered in a field alive but insensible. Robert Scarle, of Montreal, baggage-master, was also insensible, but soon recovered. His shoulder was dislocated and arm sprained. How the two express messengers lives is a mystery. Their car was smashed to splinters, and McKenzie, although injured himself, bravely rescued his partner. Both are injured internally. The second class passengers got badly shaken up, and escaped through the windows of the upstears. One French woman threw her two children out the window, first breaking the glass with her hands, cutting herself severely. S. P. Harnshorn, of Halton, Mich., was in the back and laterally. Others suffered sprains and bruises. The cause of the accident was a cow on the track.

SEVERED THE HAIR, MY BOY.

A Miner from the Guntison and General Sheridan Talk Over a War Incident. Denver, (Col.) Tribune. It is only natural that great Generals who commanded thousands of men in the late war should frequently meet in different parts of the country who cherish some incident in war life with which private and General are closely connected. It is doubtful if Gen. Phil Sheridan, whose famous twenty mile ride to Winchester has made his name familiar in every household, ever met a man who brought up a pleasanter reminiscence than a brown-faced hardy miner did in this city a day or two ago. Gen. Sheridan was lily sauntering up and down the lobby of the Windsor Hotel deep in thought and complacently puffing at his Havana and blowing the smoke into pretty little rings. Suddenly a rough-looking man with face so heavily bearded that one could see nothing but twinkling black eyes approached him, and raising his hat with awkward embarrassment said: "Good morning, General."

PREPARING FOR SEA.

A Suite of Rooms on a Steamer Prepared Expressly for President Garfield.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Secretary Hunt, accompanied by Harry Garfield and some other friends sailed in the United States Steamer Dispatch for Norfolk to-day. The United States Steamer Talaposa, which has been undergoing repairs and fitting out for sea during the past month, will be manned to-morrow. A suite of rooms has been prepared expressly for the use of President Garfield in the event of his being found practicable to take him on the water when he becomes sufficiently strong to warrant his being moved from the Executive Mansion. The suite consists of four comparatively large rooms, including a bed chamber, reception and ante-room and bath room. It is determined to take the President on a vessel a swinging bed will be hung in his chamber, for the purpose of preventing the patient from being annoyed by the motion of the vessel. A steam heating apparatus is being placed in the President's quarters, whereby the four rooms can be kept perfectly dry and warm. This arrangement is said to be principally for use during the continuance of foggy and wet weather. When Dr. Bliss returned to the White House to attend the mid-day examination to-day he carried his hand in a sling. Upon being asked the cause thereof, the doctor said, I have received a little pus poisoning. Further inquiry elicited the information that during the operation which was performed on the President, Monday morning last, the doctor accidentally struck the instrument which had been used to make the incision, receiving a small cut on his forefinger. The wound, although slight, has become irritated and is now considerably swollen, and it is supposed with the cut he received some of the pus which had adhered to the instrument.
