THE MILAN EXCHANGE.

VOLUME V.

MILAN, TENNESSEE, OCTOBER 17, 1878.

NUMBER 33.

SMALL CHANGE.

Leave town.
Everybody leave.
Everybody should leave and stay away until frost.

Several couples were driving last Sunday evening.

Our citizens have gone into camps out at Hope Hill.

Parson came back and shut your doors, they are open.

B. Horner, J. Townes, T. Gorton and N. Deshong are holding the fort.

The quarantine at this place expired on the 15th inst., and will not be renewed.

Mr. John Grey is now here waiting on the sick. John is one that can be counted on.

Where is Grau Burrow and Hillard Williams? two good Howards. Echo answers where.

Where is Mr. Joe Ramsey, proprietor of the Michigan Central. Will some one answer?

Baker Smith left town yesterday to join Bro. Davis and J. A. Chambers in the hills. Noble Baker.

This morning as we came into town there were no houses open and it looked like a cold Sunday morning.

Can anyone give us any information concerning the whereabouts of uncle Jim Jones, a noble Howard?

Bro. Davis and J. A. Chambers, two good Howards, left Milan yesterday for the hills, in search of health.

There are only nine business houses open now. Two family groceries, two saloons, three dry goods, and two drug stores.

Mr. Geo. M. Dugan, Supt. of Telegraph, of the C. & N. O. R. R., spent a few hours in town yesterday evening.

The drug stores will always be open. You can find John Levy at one and Bob McClaran at the other, during the epidemic.

We extend our thanks to Dr. Harrison for help in getting out the Exchange this week. The doctor is a very good type.

We will state that Mayor Rankin and Policeman Lusk are here attending to their duty, and are not going to leave notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

Send in after the EXCHANGE, and get the news of the fever in your town. It will have a big ball of disinfectant wrapped up in it. No danger. We will try and pull through.

The doctors of Milan, who have left to stay until the fever is over here, ought never to be patronized by the people here. They are not fit to go and see a patient. Shame on them.

A team belonging to Mr. Elam, ran away last Tuesday, they started at the depot, and ran down Williamson street and up Main. Doing considerable damage to the wagon. They were stopped by the schoolboys. Nobody hurt.

Billy Bigham left about day-light yesterday morning, with a trunk on his shoulder for the hills. The last seen of him was turning the corner at the college, singing "Good bye my Lover, Good bye." Wonder if he has left his lover behind.

Mr. J. W. McKelvey, who lives about 6 miles east of town, tells us he has two boys on his farm, not over 16 years of age, and that one of them picked last Tuesday 264 pounds of cotton, and the other one 226 pounds. Where is there a boy who can beat that picking?

Hardy Deshong was heard to remark the other day, as he opened an envelope and pulled out an anti-facial circular, that he would willingly—yes, gladly and eagerly—strangle all his ambition could be but enjoy for two minutes and a quarter Kearney's gift of ready and vigorous expression.

Read the new advertisement in the Banner Street column. They have fixed a room over the store for their clothing department, and its a nice room. Dave Mills and John Townes will always be on hand to sell you the nicest, best and cheapest clothing you have ever seen in Tennessee. Go and see them.

Mr. Daniel Martin, who lives six miles south of here, has a pear tree that has brought forth its second growth; it has pears on it now, he says as large as hen eggs. He has some cherries of the second growth, and there are 2 cherries in each blossom which are perfectly formed. This is a great curiosity sure.

Two of our young men went to Trenton last Sunday, one of them to see a young lady of that place, but when they arrived in that city, the young lady had just left for the country. Say, my friend did she not know you were coming? Be honest and speak the truth, for "an honest confession is good for the soul."

In last week's issue we said that Mr. Wm Rhodes was recovering. After we had gone to press, we learned that he had just died. Mr. Rhodes was one of the first young men of Milan, and the All Wise One saw fit to take him from us just as he was starting in life. He had many friends and they will regret to hear of his death. We sympathize with the afflicted parents.

Mr. Jim Fuqua went out hunting last Monday and seeing something which he supposed was a wild turkey gobbler, turned loose a volley at it that could have been heard for miles around, after picking himself up, he approached his supposed dead gobbler, but soon discovered his mistake on finding a large stump torn to atoms. Jim we always thought you was cross-eyed.

We had the pleasure of shaking hands with our young friend, Mr. Ed. Coleman, on last Saturday, who has been to Louisville to witness the death of his brother, Mr. Sam Coleman, who died of yellow fever a few days ago. He has returned to Macons Depot, and he will ever be remembered by the people of that place for coming to their relief in time of danger. Ed is a noble boy and deserves much credit.

Our death list is unusually large this week, yet we must add another to the list, Miss Matilda Fields, living about 2 miles east of town. She was an accomplished young lady just budding into the full bloom of womanhood. But death is stalking abroad in our land, and has laid his heavy hand upon her and snatched her from friends and relatives. We extend to them our heartfelt sympathies in the trying hour of death.

By reference to another column, you will see Mr. Lusk is announced as a candidate for city Marshal. It is needless to say that Mr. Lusk has at all times performed his duties ably, promptly and efficiently; especially in the trying hours with the trains during the present epidemic. He has never shirked from his duty, always willingly and joyfully doing his part. We bespeak for him a large vote on the day of election.

A certain young lady of Milan, went to a dry goods store and purchased some goods one day last week, and another clerk came up to her and said when you come to get the bundle for you. When she came around, he was on hand and he snatched up the (wrong) bundle, and when they got to the house, she untied it and there was in the bundle a coat, vest, pants, &c. The clerk says he didn't wait to see if they fit, but told her to judge for herself.

We are pained to announce the death of little Sammie, son W. A. and Mary Evans. It seems that the All Wise One in selecting a nosogay of choice flowers to decorate his kingdom above has seen fit to pluck this little bud ere it had opened into bloom, and transplanted it from Earth to Heaven. This is indeed evidence that death seeks a shining mark, and that the Dark Angel with his ruthless scythe is no respecter of persons. We sympathize with the parents in this their dark hour of affliction.

During the stampede here, one man who was too late to get a conveyance, started to Trenton, footback, arriving at that town in an almost incredible short space of time, fired a conveyance there to come back, hired his worldly goods left behind. Hurrying away again, he made another dash for Trenton, on arriving there he received that awful sentence, "depart from me." This is not all, his back was taken into town. And the poor fellow was seen to arrive at this place again at a late hour last night, in the mud and rain. Thankful for a good pair of walking appendages.

It is our painful duty to chronicle the death of another one of our highly esteemed citizens, W. B. Gunion, photographer at this place. Milan has lost a good and true citizen; his wife an affectionate and kind husband; his little children a fond and indulgent father. The strongest tie that exists on earth is broken, that of husband and wife, it is a missing link in the chain of life that can never be replaced. He belonged to the Knights of Honor, Masons and Widows and Orphans Aid Society. We sympathize with the doubly bereaved family and trust that the gaping wound may after a time heal.

There was a crowd of men went out o'possum hunting one night last week, and a certain man happened to get astray from the others, and he was near the grave of the tramp that had died of yellow fever. He saw something large and black coming down a little path, he had his ax and not wishing to be called a coward, he got behind a tree and waited patiently until the object got opposite him, he then let drive with his ax and downed the "black vomit." He left his ax and went home Holloway-ing and saying he had seen black vomit. He went next morning after his ax and before starting he thought he would call and take his dog "nigger," he called in vain, and asked where is "nig." He went on although after his ax, and when he got to that tree what did he behold? his own dog "nigger" lying there dead with his ax buried in the cranium of the faithful animal.

YELLOW FEVER NOTES.

Byram, Miss., reports 3 new cases yesterday.

The fever seems to be abating in Hickman.

There was 1 death at Bells Depot, Sunday night.

Brownville had 9 new cases and 3 deaths Tuesday.

We are glad to learn that Dr. Crawford is almost well.

Canton, Miss., had 16 new cases and 2 deaths Wednesday.

Thirty deaths and 119 new cases in Memphis, last Monday.

McComb City, reports 3 new cases and 1 death yesterday.

One death at Keener, La., yesterday, from yellow fever.

Tangipahoa, reports 4 new cases and one death yesterday.

One death from yellow fever, in Jackson, Miss., Wednesday.

Two new cases and 1 death reported at Lagrange, Tenn., Monday.

New Orleans claimed 135 new cases and 29 deaths on last Monday.

McComb City, Miss., had 9 new cases and 3 deaths last Monday.

In Canton, Miss., last Monday 4 deaths occurred from yellow fever and 4 new cases.

In Osyka, Miss., yesterday, there were 3 new cases and 2 deaths from yellow fever.

Jackson Tenn., had a big stampede last Saturday, on account of one suspicious death.

In New Orleans Wednesday, there were 110 new cases and 26 deaths from yellow fever.

There were 10 deaths and 28 new cases in Chattanooga Monday, and 20 new cases and 6 deaths Tuesday.

Bolivar was thrown into intense excitement on last Monday, on account of two deaths, Dr. Coleman and daughter.

The situation is no better in Martin, there being 5 new cases and 1 death Tuesday. They need money, help and every thing.

The fever has about played out in Paris. There being not a single case there now, and no sickness of any kind in town at present.

There were 7 cases and 1 death last Monday four miles north of Grand Junction. The fever seems to be spreading considerably in the country around infected points. When and where will this end?

Yellow fever has broken out again in Fulton, Ky., 5 new cases reported there last Monday. Dr. Luke P. Blackman, of Louisville, who has been doing much good for the sufferers of Hickman, went there immediately.

One death in Jackson, Miss., on Monday last, and 151 cases of yellow fever up to that time. It does not seem to be so fatal now, according to the number of new cases, but it has spread rapidly, wherever broken out.

Our friend John Grey, who has been nursing the sick at Martin, is now running on the L & N R. R. until the quarantine is raised, so he can return to this place. We hope he may have the pleasure of being with us again soon.

Mr. Willie Pledge, express agent at Grand Junction, and son of F. L. Pledge, died of yellow fever at the above place on last Sunday evening. It was thought by all that he was getting better a few hours before he expired.

Water Valley, Miss., had 2 deaths and 2 new cases from yellow fever last Monday. The railroad company, at the above named place has lost one of its best men. Mr. L. M. Pennington, train dispatcher and operator of considerable reputation, and J. E. Beeton, M. M. Their places will be hard to fill.

Col. W. Irie Westbrook, of the Brownsville Bee, died Tuesday of last week, in that place of yellow fever. As soon as the fever broke out in his town, he stopped his paper, and went to work among his suffering fellow-men. He was taken sick with the fever when it first broke out at Brownsville, he recovered, and afterwards joined the Howard Association, and was the secretary of the association at the time of his death. The Press of Tennessee and Brownsville has lost one of its best men. Peace to his ashes.

At last the fearful scourge is upon us, and our little city is in the grasp of that awful fiend that has scattered such misery and despair ever so many of our southern towns. But we for the first time realize its significance. On last Tuesday our town was alive with trade, the streets were crowded with country people, wagons and cotton. About twelve o'clock the announcement was made by the physicians, that yellow fever was in town, and advised every one to leave. A general stampede ensued, worse than any preceding one, and in less than two hours not a country-man or wagon was in town and our town people needed no second warning; every possible means of conveyance was brought into demand, and our people were scampering away like a herd of wild buffaloes, some scarcely knowing where. This is our third stampede this year. Mr. Humphreys was a well developed case of yellow jack. He died yesterday. His little child also has the fever. Capt. Loving telegraphed to Memphis for a physician and nurses. Our doctors, however, were doing their duty towards him. Dr. Hunter and some nurses arrived yesterday and on examination confirmed the diagnosis of our physicians, and that he had no change to make in the treatment. He left a nurse and went back to Memphis, promising to return again in a day or two. A good many are of the opinion that the fever here will be confined to comparatively narrow limits and we trust it may soon be entirely eradicated from our midst. The lateness of the season is one thing decidedly in our favor. Those who are left are organizing a Howard Association and have agreed to stand firmly by each other to the last. This is the proper course to pursue, and we are glad to see some here are not afraid and who will not shrink from duty in any form. Such people will not be forgotten by the people of Milan and are an ornament to any town.
