MILAN, TENN., OCTOBER 20, 1883.

NO. 34.

CHAPTER XII.

Ladies! don't fail to read this, it may be of service to you. A popular writer has said: "if the ladies all knew how to please their husbands and keep them in good humor, there would be less work for the divorce courts. A wag at our elbow remarks: 'the best way to do it is to feed them well.' A man's happiness has its beginning in the kitchen, and reaches its culminating point—when? Now on this point there is a difference of opinion, but there seems to be no reason to doubt that the acme of his happiness is reached when he enters the store of J. Winter & Co., corner of Third and Market Streets, Louisville, Ky., and sees displayed under the brilliant electric light by night, or by the clear light of day, stacks upon stacks of beautiful and attractive wares for the adornment of the outer man; an "audible" smile further illumines his countenance when the affable and accommodating salesman convinces him—without any trouble—that he can dress himself in elegant and tasty style at very moderate cost, and thus allow his wife a new bonnet, or a few yards more trimmings for her dress! and if there should be any "future presidents" in the family, J. Winter & Co. can fit them out in a cheap, substantial school suit, or Sunday suit, for less money than inferior goods can be bought for elsewhere. Children's Boys' and Youths' Clothing in endless variety, and they were never so cheap as now. It must be borne in mind that these are "home made goods." Superior in every respect to the "factory-made" stuff with which the country is flooded. Everything pertaining to the outfitting of man or boy, be he ever so large or ever so small, can be found in endless variety in the spacious bazaar of J. Winter & Co. Visitors to the city, either for the purpose to visit the Great Southern Exposition, or for business, and whether they wish to buy or not, should call and see this exposition of Louisville manufactured clothing, and hear the prices. Persons who will buy clothing from irresponsible dealers have only themselves to blame when they get "bit."

In "Gents' Furnishing Goods" this house carries the largest stock in the city; it is unnecessary to enumerate any particular article, as anything in this line that you can ask for the obliging salesman will promptly place before you.

Cut this out and paste it in your hat.

A Want Supplied.

Editor Exchange:

I wish to call attention to a new and much needed enterprise in Milan. I refer to Henry Blankinship's Restaurant and Oyster Saloon, in the Clark Hall, which is fitted up in the very best style, at great expense. This excellent new place was opened to the public last Monday night with an Oyster Supper, free for all, which was served in the very handsomest manner by the cook, "Elijah." He can't be beat. Mr. Blankinship deserves the praise of both country and town, and should be liberally patronized. I understand that a first-class square meal will be served in city style at 35 cents. The affable and polite W. B. Hopkins has charge, which is a guarantee that all will be pleased. "EPICURE."

The Great Shows.

S. H. Barrett & Co's., as can be seen elsewhere in our columns, will exhibit at Huntingdon, Friday, Nov. 2d; Dresden, Saturday, Nov. 3d; Union City, Monday, Nov. 5th; Trenton, Tuesday, Nov. 6th and Jackson, Wednesday, Nov. 7th.

It is astonishing to see the immense masses of Clothing and Goods that Conley is selling every day. People will trade where they can get the worth of their money.

SMALL CHANGE.

A fine rain fell here last Thursday. The L. & N. pay train was here Thursday.

Another new story begins with this issue of our paper.

Read our offer of premiums to subscribers, and profit by it.

The meeting at the Methodist church closed last Monday night.

Henry Dudley, a well-known negro man, died here last Wednesday.

The big circus goes to nearly all the villages around us, and leaves the best one of the lot out.

The Euzelian Society will give its entertainment at the Baptist church instead of at the College, next Friday night.

The reader will remember that the Great Jackson Fair comes off next week. Let our county be well represented.

Memphis does not allow locomotive whistles in her borders. Now let Milan follow this sensible example and we'll be happy.

The Louisville excursion passed here Tuesday with quite a large number of Jackson and Humboldt people. Ten or twelve of our citizens joined them.

The New Home Sewing Machine, one of the best ever made, is advertised elsewhere in this paper. Read the ad, and then go to A. Jordan's and see the machine.

Our staunch and never-failing friend, Mr. John Tucker, last Thursday brought us a big armful of fine roasting-ears, about the last we expect to get this season. He could not have pleased us better.

Dr. Kelsay had three hundred and ten patients in Paris this week. So says the Post. The Doctor has an immense practice all through this country. His patients will regret to learn that he will move to Memphis soon.

Henry Blankinship's new restaurant, in Clark's Hall, is fitted up elegantly, and would do credit to a city. His tables are handsomely furnished and well supplied with the best in the market. It is a pleasure to eat there, as we did last Tuesday, when we sampled his big fat oysters.

We noticed one of our worthiest young men, the other day, have his clothes fastened with a nail, for want of a button. He is good-looking, industrious and popular—but he needs a wife badly. If some good young woman does not pity him soon, he'll be in a bad fix. For further particulars, apply at Adams & Co's.

Mayor Hale is announced this week as a candidate for re-election. His course in office is so well known to our readers that it is hardly necessary for us to say anything. Suffice it to say that he has made an excellent officer, that the town is out of debt, that its warrants are at par, and that our streets and walks are in fair condition. Of course his board of alderman deserve large credit for this—and he has a most excellent, economic, hard-working board. But he has exercised the functions of his office economically and honestly, and we think he will continue to do so if re-elected.

Well Pleased with past week's Trade!
Our customers are all well pleased. We buy our goods of first-class jobbers. No second class goods kept. We sell for small profits.

A. B. CONLEY.

First-class Stock of Boots and Shoes at the new store of R. C. Adams & Co., Main street.

Our Cloaks and Wraps continue to be the attraction of the Ladies. They can't buy them in town as cheap as we sell.

CONLEY.

Death on the Rail.

Mr. Swin Bullington, aged about 35 years, and at the time of his death a resident of Atwood, was killed by passenger train No. 1, from Louisville, due here at 1.15, on Sunday morning last. The facts of the case, as near as we can learn, are about as follows: He had been in Milan for a day or two prior to his death and had been drinking pretty freely. He was seen and recognized by acquaintances a short time before he was killed. It seems that he had intended to take the 5 o'clock accommodation for his home, but by some means got left, and left the City Hotel sometime near the hour of midnight, evidently intending to walk to Atwood. He had gone about a mile and a-half from Milan, when (evidently overcome by whiskey) he sat or laid down to rest with his head, partially on the rail, and in this position met his death. The accident took place in a deep cut.

As soon after the accident as possible the case was reported to the authorities here, who summoned the necessary assistance and repaired to the place of accident to hold an inquest. Dr. Ellis made an examination of the body and found no injury sufficient to cause instant death, excepting the left side of head and face being shattered. His left arm was also broken in two places. The jury, after examining the surroundings, position of body, etc., rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated, and ordered the remains removed to town, where they were taken charge of by relatives next day. It was a sad, serious accident, and is but another of the horrible pictures that whiskey so often paints. The dead man was a quiet, peaceable fellow, and was not given to drinking; and his death in this condition is a shock to all who knew him.

We are informed that the same train, on the same night, struck a negro man near Gadsden, who was drunk on the track, and broke a leg for him. Drunken men should keep away from the railroad.

Chancery Court.

Chancellor Somers has been holding a special term of the Chancery Court at Humboldt this week. The Milan and Trenton bars were in attendance, and quite a number of cases tried and disposed of. The following disposition has been made of some cases from Milan:

Bolin vs. Bolin; Rhodes, adm'r, vs. Willi ms; Karnes vs. Karnes—final decree. McAlilly vs. Clements; Cunningham vs. Bryant; Rice, Stix & Co. vs. Porter—order of sale renewed. Singer M'f. Co. vs. McAlilly; Morris vs. Lovelace; Phillips, Jackson & Co. vs. Mathis—decree for complainants. Ragland & Kerr vs. James; Wheeler vs. McAlilly; Martin, administrator, vs. Crosby; Strong vs. Bryant—decree in accordance with the proceledo from Supreme Court.

To the People!

I wish to call the attention of the people generally to my restaurant and oyster saloon, which I have just fitted up in the best style, at a considerable expense. I feel that this is something that has long been needed here. I am prepared to give you a hot, square meal at any hour, day or night. In connection with this enterprise, I want to say that I have the largest and most complete stock of Whiskies, Brandies, Wines, Bitters etc., ever offered in Milan. Thanking the public generally for their very liberal patronage, and asking a continuance of the same, I am, Yours truly,
W. H. BLANKINSHIP.
