In calling for the above letters say advertised. S. H. HALE, P. M.

Will have in stock in a few days the Dongola Kid Button Shoes, manufactured by the Bay State Shoe and Leather Co. Also a full line of Ladies' and Misses' jerseys, bought from the manufacturer, which will be sold at a low price, cheaper than ever sold in Milan. Jno. M. DICKSON.

SMALL CHANGE.

Some of our merchants are receiving new spring goods.

Trees are budding and the "grass grows green all around."

The sweet notes of the mocking bird are now heard in every direction.

Our lawyers and many other citizens have been attending court at Humboldt this week.

The members of the C. P. church have had their church enclosed with a handsome wire fence.

"All-the-year-round" Williams still holds the fort at his meat house. He is now the only butcher in town running a shop.

Few farmers have been in town this week. The weather has been perfect for farm work, and the man who doesn't improve the opportunity ought to be sent to Texas on a cross-tie ticket.

Dr. Jordan reports that the signal service thermometer registered 81° here last Thursday—the highest temperature experienced here in March in many years. It is said to be a sure forerunner of an early spring.

Mr. Joseph T. Williams is this week announced as a candidate for constable of this district. He has lived here all his life, has been a successful farmer, is a good business man, and is competent to make a good officer. He has many friends in the district who will work hard for his election.

Bro. Robison has just closed a successful revival at Dresden this week, resulting in about forty conversions. Five members of the Dresden bar professed Christianity. They are Messrs. Jno. McGlothlin, Chas. Ewing, B. B. Edwards, Jno. A. Rogers and J. R. Thompson. Judge Somers is also among the number.

M. H. Johnson, Esq., the present efficient clerk of the Humboldt law court, is announced this week as a candidate for reelection. He has made a most excellent officer for many years, as is proven by his reelection every time he has heretofore asked for it, and he will be a hard man to defeat. He has the confidence of the people and is a polite, painstaking official.

When excellent flavor and great productiveness is required in a raspberry, the Turner stands pre-eminent. For large size, melting sweetness, without hard bitter core, never failing crops, the Missouri Mammoth blackberry should be cultivated. Colossal asparagus should be in every garden, and for market purposes none excels it. See West H. Morton's advertisement in this issue.

In our announcement column, Mr John D. Carne presents himself as a candidate for reelection to the office of county court clerk. He is one of the politest, most affable and most efficient clerks the county ever had, and his friends are numerous in every neighborhood in the county. We don't know of a better man for the place, and it will be hard to find one who can command more votes.

Collins's excursion train to New Orleans left here Wednesday with about one hundred and seventy-five people, and the party was added to all along the line, leaving Canton, Miss., with sixteen cars jam full. Before arriving at New Orleans, there were 23 cars, run in two sections half an hour apart, together carrying 1468 people. Mr. J. W. Coleman, the efficient assistant general passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad at New Orleans, was particularly well pleased with the successful run. It was a big thing indeed, and goes to prove that the people will travel by the thousand when rates are put down.

Franklin correspondent Nashville American: Mr. Jas. P. McEwen has sold his entire herd of Holstein Friesian cattle to E. A. Collins of Milan, West Tennessee. The most of them were imported thoroughbreds. Price satisfactory, but not made public. Mr. McEwen did not sell because he did not like the stock, but because the price suited him. He expects to continue raising the finest cattle in the country, and will keep in the lead in this line.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. W. Kingree and family, of Jackson, are in the city.

Miss Emma Tharp, of Gibson, visited Miss Broomie Loving this week.

Miss Mary Grasty, of McMoresville, visited Miss Fidelia Woolen this week.

The aged mother of Mr. E. A. Collins, we learn, is very low and is not expected to live.

Mr. Jno. M. Dickson left Wednesday for Louisville and Cincinnati, where he will buy a large and beautiful stock of spring goods.

Mr. Zeph Conner has sold out his butcher shop and returned to Trenton. Zeph, while here, made many friends who regret to see him leave.

Mr. T. J. Claxton and family have moved back to their farm near Sumerville. They made many warm friends here and Milan loses an excellent family.

Jackson Whig: Mr. Allan Pearce, a sprightly young operator of Milan, was in the city Monday. Mr. Pearce enjoys the distinction of being the youngest operator on the road.

Judge Aden is holding court at Humboldt this week, while Judge Carhel holds his at Union City. We learn that he has made a fine impression on the bar and the people there as a quick, thorough and able judge and a most pleasant gentleman.

Col. Bob Gates, assistant commissioner of agriculture, called on us Monday for a copy of the Exchange containing Col. McWhirter's speech delivered to the farmers here. He proposes to embody extracts from it in a general circular to the farmers. Our edition of that week went off like hot cakes.

Hon. Robt. W. Haynes, of Jackson, candidate for chancellor of the ninth chancery division passed through here yesterday. Mr. Haynes is an excellent lawyer, a scholarly gentleman, and a Christian man—one who would honor the bench as he has honored the halls of legislation for two terms. Our readers in Carroll and Henderson counties will not find a better man nor a truer democrat to support for the high office to which he aspires.

Mr. P. D. Warlick has given up the hotel business here and moved with his family to Humboldt, where he will take charge of the Louisville hotel. Milan loses a good family and Humboldt has a corresponding gain by this move. Mr. Warlick kept an excellent, well-ordered house here, and no doubt will do as well in his new quarters, where we hope he will prosper. Mr. Ing moved into the house vacated yesterday, where she will continue the hotel business. She has the best wishes of the Exchange.

Overcoat Thief Arrested.

Anthony Seals, colored, an ex-convict from Mississippi, stole Conductor Hunt's overcoat from his caboose on the I. C. road a few days since and was arrested here by Marshal Lusk last Wednesday. Seals was tried before Esp. Jordan, who sent him to jail to await trial at the Humboldt law court.

LITERARY NOTES.

The April Bivouac will have the first of two illustrated articles on the Virginia Cavaliers, written by Miss K. M. Rowland of Baltimore. The illustrations are portraits from a number of old photographs and are unusually interesting. Robert Burns Wilson has a short reply to Mr. Howell's recent onslaught on the poets. Richard Realf's opinion that the poem "Lilith, Princess of Ghouls" was the production of Poe, is upheld by Henry Austin in an article which will appear in the April number of the Southern Bivouac, and the poem itself will be given entire. R. T. Durrett, in the April number of the Bivouac, describes the reception given by the other legislatures to the Kentucky Resolutions of '98, which brought forth the resolutions of '99. An official copy of this last series accompanies the article. The invention of a cotton picker means as much to the south as did the invention of the mowing machine to the north and west. H. N. Starnes describes in length in the Southern Bivouac for April, the latest claimant to this honor, which he judges to be successful. This article is accompanied by a series of drawings and illustrations which, for the first time, make the principles of the invention intelligible.

Three new serials enrich the April Harper's. The authors are Charles Dudley Warner, R. D. Blackmore, and Dinah Maria Craik. Mr. Warner's series of papers, entitled "Their Pilgrimage," is a story of American society at our principal summer resorts. Mrs. Craik's novel, "King Arthur, not a love story," is a tale of mother's love, and is to be published in three long parts, each occupying over twenty-five pages of the magazine. R. D. Blackmore's novel deals with rural English life during the exciting times of Lord Nelson, the great admiral. A stirring story of life on Prince Edward Island, by Helen Hunt Jackson, is one of the good things in the April number of Harper's Magazine. Pigeon fanciers will find suggestive reading under the title, "Plebian and Aristocratic Pigeons," by F. Satterthwaite. The writer is an authority on that topic, and gives many useful points on the rearing and care of these birds. Six illustrations by W. H. Gibson embellish the article. The second of E. P. Roe's papers on "The Home Acre," contains sound advice concerning fruit trees. Mr. Roe's experience in fruit raising makes his counsel of value, and the opinions of best authorities are cited and carefully weighed. He treats of the selection of choice varieties for apples, pears, cherries and quinces, how to plant and cultivate them, and the most advisable methods of pruning, grafting, protection against insects, etc.

DIED.

Mrs. Harriet Warmoth, aged fifty-seven years, wife of Mr. Thomas Warmoth, died of consumption last Tuesday at their home near Zion church, seven or eight miles southwest of Milan. She was a member of the Methodist church and was fully conscious and willing to "cross the dark river." Her funeral was conducted Wednesday by Revs. W. C. Water and W. J. House.

R. A. CLOPTON,

Physician and Surgeon,

Offers his service to the people of Milan and surrounding country. Special attention given to all kinds of chronic and surgical diseases and surgical operations. Office, up stairs, Collins block, room No. 4. May be found at office during the day and at residence at night. Thanks for past favors.

Mysterious Disappearance.

As our readers have learned through these columns, Mr. Albert Wilson, of Toledo, Iowa, was here several weeks working up an interest in a creamery, and in our last issue we announced, by his authority, that he had selected a location for the buildings. Last Saturday morning he was to meet Mr. W. Y. Williamson in half an hour to run off the land and close the trade. He failed to meet Mr. W. and has not been seen or heard of since. We cannot hear of his borrowing money from any one, nor of any reason for his disappearance. He owed a few days' board, but left his baggage and creamery instruments in his room, which we are told are worth more than he owed. He asked no money from the people to aid his enterprise, but professed to have several thousand dollars, which he said he would invest here. Our people were favorably impressed by him and were becoming enthusiastic in preparing to supply him with cream. It is said that all the clover seed in town has been sold and that two or three thousand acres have been seeded in this neighborhood. So he has done the country good if he never returns, and there is now one of the best openings here in the south for a butter and cheese factory. If some good man will come along, well recommended, he can step in on a good thing, if he has some money and experience.

More Fine Stock for Milan.

For high bred blooded stock, Milan is certainly taking the front rank of all the West Tennessee towns.

Mr. E. A. Collins has recently purchased, after careful examination of numerous choice and leading herds of Middle Tennessee, the entire herd of registered Holsteins of Mr. J. P. McEwen, of Franklin, Williamson county. This herd, though small, is of the very choicest strains of this magnificent breed of animals, representing the famous families of Aaggie, Jaunek, Mollie Bawn, Lady Beaconsfield, Porcelaine, Aaggie Rosa, Langspeen, Trintje, De Goede, and Jansje, and running back on the sire's side to the famous De Valk, Sir Henry 2d of Aaggie, Jacob, Jacob 2d, Jacob 3d, Italy, Keas, Wouter, Willem, Neptune and Rooker. These fine animals, added to Mr. Collins' present herd, representing De Brave Hendricks, Meije and Arnold, will make his little herd the choicest from which to select headers of herds that we know of.

We feel that Milan and vicinity are to be congratulated on the enterprise of this live gentleman, and that with the above choice selection of Holsteins, with George Wilkes, jr., at the head of his stud of trotters, George Washington as a Norman, and his choice registered Poland China hogs, Mr. Collins has taken position at once as a breeder of the very choicest animals in the line in which he has embarked.

His grand Holstein bull, Beaconsfield 3d, he tells us, will be allowed to serve a few cows at the remarkably low price of $5 00, just to encourage the grading up of the cattle of the country, but for his services to Holstein cows, the fee will be $10 each. This distinction made in favor of the common cattle of the country, we are sure, will be appreciated by our people.

Mr. Collins requests us to say that he will take great pleasure at all times in showing his cows, horses and hogs to any one interested in fine stock, whether they wish to patronize him or not.
